NOT A RIPPLE AT THE FINISH OF THE BULL CAMPAIGN

His Assertion Concerning Exhaustion of Reserves Is Confirmed.

"Fireworks" Anticipated Fail to Materialize in the Chicago Pit.

Chicago, May 29.—The great and successful bull campaign in May wheat passed quietly into board of trade history today. Not a ripple disturbed the speculative sea. James A. Patten, the cult leader, with his gray Federal hat pushed back on his head, betrayed no elation. The deal to all intents ended weeks ago when the shorts gradually driven in, pocketed the losses. Still, a lot of sentimental interest attached to the last day. Among lamben "fireworks" had been anticipated, and the solitary transaction in the option during the first hour, marking up a quotation of 1.34 was a great disappointment.

The first sale of wheat for delivery this month was made June 25 last at 86½c per bushel. Last Tuesday it sold at $1.33¾, a rise of 47½c.

Mr. Patten's assertion that reserves have been almost exhausted is apparently confirmed in a comparison of receipts during the last month. During May a year ago 1,061 cars were received here, this month there were but 13 cars. Today but one car arrived.

Yesterday 471 cars bushels of actual wheat were delivered on the board of trade and today 500 carloads additional were transferred. Most of this went to Patten. Accurate information as to the amount of wheat now held in the Patten warehouses, and the stocks in public and private elevators aggregate only 4,700,000 bushels. It is generally believed that most of this belongs to the bull leader and that he has paid in the neighborhood of $4,000,000 for it. Before Mr. Patten can calculate his profits on the deal he must merchandise this wheat—turn it back into money by selling it to millers here and abroad.

Any endeavor to estimate his profits is futile. The Bartlett-Patten house has by no means purchased all the May wheat that has been traded in for its own individual account. Much of it was for customers. Other houses have participated in the advance. These and other factors render any attempt to estimate the financial gains of Mr. Patten the veriest guesswork. Close followers of the market are content with statement that he has made a huge sum which may grow or decrease as the merchandises his actual wheat.

IN QUANDARY DUE TO THE ECONOMY

War Department Must Cut Expenses as Taft Orders.

Washington, May 29. — Secretary Dickinson said today that, in accordance with instructions of the president, the estimates for the military establishment for the fiscal year 1911 would be $20 000,000 less than the appropriation for the fiscal year 1910. He explained that it was impossible to make any reduction in the pay of the army or in the expenses for feeding and transporting the officers and troops, or in providing for rare for horses and mules or in the pay of the regular expenditures for the maintenance of the patrols military establishment.

Consequently, it will be necessary, he said, to confine the reduction of expenses almost entirely to public works, including river and harbor works, fortifications and barracks and other buildings under the quartermaster's department.

The only way the estimates can be reduced to the desired figure is by the omission of estimates for public and new work of all kinds, and confining the estimates to the bare maintenance of the establishment. The effect of this will be to delay the completion of many public improvements now under way.

UNKNOWN MAN IS KILLED BY CARS

Mangled Body on Great Northern Tracks in Brookston Yards.

Brookston Minn., May 29.—(Special to The Herald.)—The remains of an unidentified man were found in the Great Northern yards here about 3 o'clock this morning. The head, one leg and arms had been severed from the trunk. The man was apparently about 32 years of age, and probably lost his life while stealing a ride by falling from his seat between the cars when the train came to a sudden halt.

The coroner of St. Louis county has been notified and an effort will be made to identify the remains.

Kansas is Really Dry.

Topeka, Kan., May 29.—Kansas last night went absolutely dry. The new prohibitory law went into effect at midnight. Under its terms no liquor can be sold for any purpose by druggists or anybody else. Even the sale of liquor of any kind for medicinal uses is forbidden. Doctors' prescriptions will not be recognized as entitling the holder to liquor as heretofore. Attorney General Jackson declares the law is valid and all infractions will be punished.

THEIR ACT RESENTED

Denounces Effort to Influence Legislation in Washington.

Washington, May 29.—Senator Aldrich today denounced as "impertinent" the effort of the German government to influence American tariff legislation by supplying anonymous information as to wages paid German workmen.

His characterization followed a statement by Senator Depew intimating that German manufacturers are striving to influence congress through the German government and American importers of German goods.

The duty on cereals occupied the attention of the senate today. The senate committee has increased the rate on both barley and wheat from 25 to 30 cents per bushel and on other cereals in proportion, all of which will probably be promptly agreed to. The entire portions of the agricultural schedule, not previously acted upon, was taken up and considered.

YANKEE GIVES TIP TO EDWARD

New York, May 29.—A London cablegram to the Herald says: When the king was in the paddock at Epsom between races an American from Philadelphia walked up to him and said:

"Your majesty, I want to compliment you on the success of your horse yesterday. It the Derby you did good. You won. Now, why don't you go up to London and kick out that silly government that is giving you such a bad reputation all over the world? You can do it easily, and the English people and Americans will stand by you."

The speaker was William W. Umbenhauer, banker and railroad official, who had just arrived in England and goes to Paris Saturday. He is the same man who created a furore there and in London two years ago with certain checked suits of clothes. This year he is dressing almost like a human being. He has been in London only two days and in that time closed a $6,000,000 American deal.

The king made a gracious but noncommittal reply. Mr Umbenhaur says that if King Edward ever becomes an American citizen he is going to vote for him for president.

STEEL WAS NOT IMMUNE.

Catches Attack of Smallpox Second Time That Proves Fatal.

Park Rapids, Minn., May 29.—Special to The Herald.)—An unusual death occurred at Yola last saturday when Chauncey Steel, an old resident of Park Rapids, died of smallpox.

He had the smallpox fifteen years ago and was badly pitted from the effects of the disease. He came to Park Rapids and visited at the home of his cousin, Jerry Steel, where a part of the family were having the disease. Feeling himself immune he had no fear of taking it a second time. Soon after his return to Yola he came down with smallpox. The disease was unusually virulent and death followed in a few days. These cases are not frequent. A local physician has a record of six cases in a practice of forty years, or nearly 1 per cent of cases treated.

TAFT IN PITTSBURG

President Sees Drinking Fountain Dedicated By Women.

Goes to Gettysburg Monday to Attend Monument Exercises.

Pittsburg, Pa., May 29.—President Taft and party reached this city at 8:40 a. m. today. The president left the train at the East Liberty street station, where he was extended a hearty welcome by as many Pittsburgers as could crowd into the big depot. Secretary of State Knox, Mayor Magee, United States Senator Oliver, Congressman Burke, well known Yale men from all the Middle Western cities and men prominent in business circles of the city were at the station to greet the president. Mr. Taft was driven to the home of Thomas K. Laughlin, Jr., a brother-in-law. An address at the Rodelph Chalom temple, a brief address at the dedication of a drinking fountain erected by the daughters of 1812 in Arsenal park, a drive of five miles to the Fort Pitt hotel and talking part in the business session of a convention were the main events of the morning.

The president will remain here until late tomorrow evening when he departs for the battlefield at Gettysburg, Pa., where on Monday he dedicates a monument in honor of the regular army. As a member and former president of the Associated Western Yale clubs President Taft came here to take part in the fifth annual convention of the organization, which began at the Fort Pitt hotel yesterday. Excepting the two brief addresses the president dropped official cares and with Judge Henry E. Howland of New York, President Hadley of Yale, Prof. George E. Vincent of Chicago, dean of the University of Chicago; William N. Frew of Pittsburg, president of the Associated Western Yale clubs and many others the executive entered fully into a spirit of college good fellowship.

From the Oakland district to the downtown section of the city, a distance of several miles, a majority of the buildings were covered with the colors of the nation and Yale. Fifth avenue was roped and thousands of persons stood for hours in order to get a glimpse of the president.

LAND WORTH $47,000 FORTY YEARS AGO WORTH $925,000 NOW.

New York, May 29.—An illustration of the enormous increase in New York city real estate valuations was given when F. V. and J. H. Burton paid $925,000 for a plot 29.9 by 117 feet at Fifth avenue and Thirty-eighth street, which their father sold forty years ago for $47,000. Burton brothers paid over nineteen times what their father received. As the property's area is about 3,530 square feet, the purchase price is about $265 a square foot, the highest price ever paid for Fifth avenue realty.

DENIES CUBA IS NAUGHTY

Minister to United States Alleges Misrepresentation.

Says Organized Movement Aimed at Government Exists.

New York, May 29.—In reference to the persistent report that conditions in Cuba are unsatisfactory and that President Taft is concerned about the financial affairs of the young republic, Gen. Carlos Garcia Velez, Cuban minister to the United States is today quoted by the Herald as saying:

"There appears to be an organized movement to misrepresent in this country Cuban affairs and to spread alarm through the United States with a view of arousing public opinion against the Cuban government. There is no cause whatever for criticism and the financial problems of Cuba are easily solved without tying up the treasury with the issue of the new loan which President Gomez is authorized to make.

"Proof that the financial situation in Cuba does not warrant any concern is the fact of the suspension, accorded by congress and sanctioned by the president on the 21st of last month, of the export tax on sugar, tobacco, cigarettes, cut tobacco and liquors."

"ADAM GOD" GETS LONG SENTENCE

Kansas City, Mo., May 29.—The jury today, in the case of James Sharp or "Adam God," charged with the murder of Policeman Michael Mullane in a religious riot here, Dec. 8, returned a verdict of guilty of murder in the second degree. Sharp was sentenced to twenty-five years in the penitentiary.

AFTER MINE CONCESSIONS.

Steenerson Consults Russian Embassy in Interests of Minnesotan.

Washington, May 29.—Representative Steenerson is doing his best to secure mineral concessions in Siberia for C. A. Sharkey, formerly of Crookston and now of Nome, Alaska. Mr. Steenerson had the question up at the state department several days ago, and yesterday called at the Russian embassy to find out something about the Russian laws on the subject. Information here is that Sharkey must have a Russian subject as a partner in order to secure mineral concessions. In order to secure more definite information, the matter will be referred to the Russian department of agriculture, which has charge of mines in the empire.

NO LYNCHING SIGN IS FOUND

White Men Take Negro From Jail; Rest a Mystery.

Port Allen, La., May 29.—The taking of the negro "Hobo" Brown from the jail here early Friday morning by scores of white men may or may not have indicated the lynching of the negro. No trace of the negro's body has been found and there is a strong belief that he was taken from prison with a view to obtaining from him a confession which might lead to the implication of other persons.

Brown was charged with complicity in the killing of L. Revert, a student of the Louisiana state university. One negro has already been legally hanged for his part in the crime.

GRAND FORKS MAN HAS BAD STROKE OF APOPLEXY.

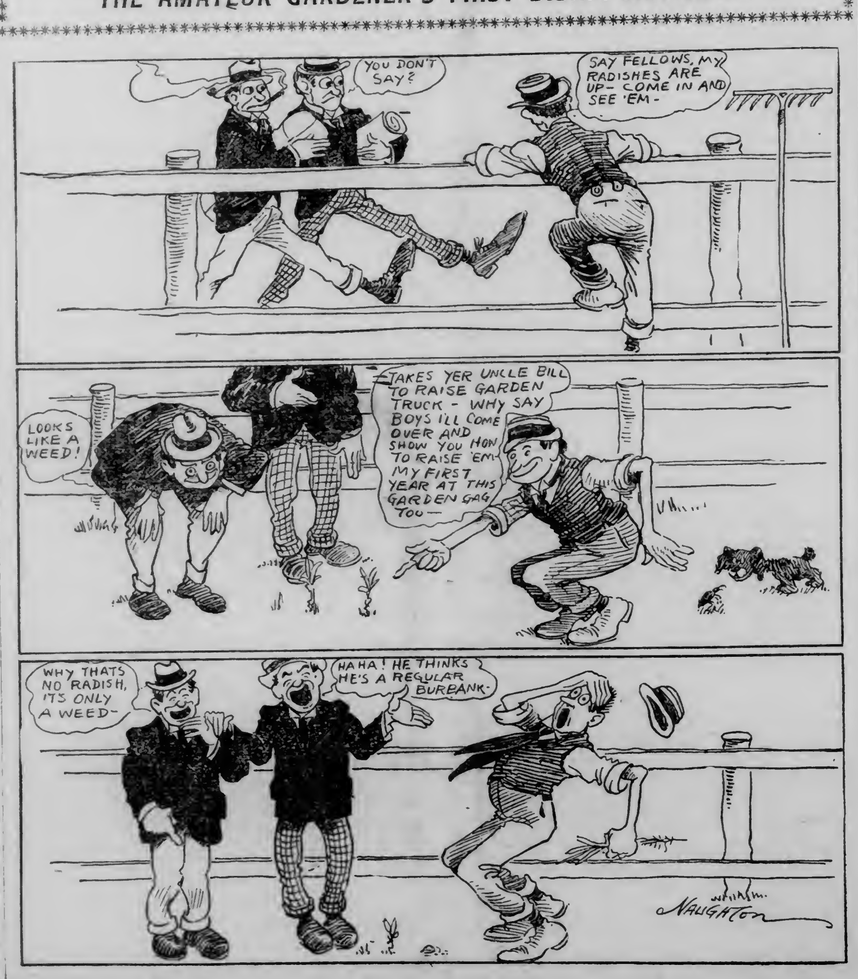
Grand Forks, N. D., May 29.—(Special to The Herald.)—C. H. Robinson, one of the pioneer brokerage merchants of Grand Forks, suffered a stroke of apoplexy Friday afternoon and is in a very critical condition. He is at the head of the Robinson & Co. firm of this city and has resided in the state for many years.

HARRIMAN TO SLEEP ON ROOF OF HIS HOME.

New York, May 29.—With the intention of spending all the time possible in the open air, E. H. Harriman is having alterations made to his city home at Fifth avenue and Sixty-ninth street which, when completed, will enable him to virtually live and sleep on the roof of his house.

The improvement will cost $30,000. Mr. Harriman expects, it is said, to transact much of his railroad business by correspondence from the roof of his home, where he can have plenty of air and sunshine.

THE AMATEUR GARDENER'S FIRST DISAPPOINTMENT.



ROW OVER CARMAN IS IN COURTS BY ARREST OF CASEY

Bisbee, Ariz., May 29.—(Special to The Herald.)—J. P. Casey, until recently vice president and general manager of the Carman Consolidated Mining company, was arrested at the Copper Queen hotel on a bench warrant issued by Judge Doan because of an indictment found against him by the territorial grand jury. The indictment was one of five returned by the territorial probers and placed on secret file late last week, and news of the arrest created a sensation about the city when it became known.

The indictment against Casey, who is one of the best known mining men and promoters in Sonora, is said to have been brought about by the faction of Carman stockholders which has been opposing him in the recent legal entanglement, which has been widely reported in local and Duluth papers and in which charges and counter charges have been made by Casey and W. J. Power of Hibbing, Minn., the president of the company. Both have charged each other with fraud and the trial of Casey will undoubtedly

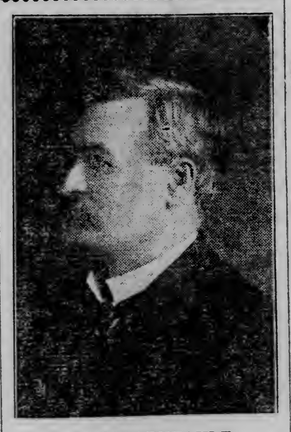
AITKIN MAN MAY BE STATE BANK EXAMINER



J. B. GALARNEAULT.

St. Paul, Minn., May 29.—(Special to The Herald.)—There is good reason to believe that J. B. Galarneault, a banker of Aitkin, Minn., will be named for the office of state bank examiner, a department created by the last legislature. The new department does not come into existence until next August.

TAFT ACTS IN STRIKE

Knapp and Stewart Are Sent Down Into Georgia.

Train Broken Into Three Sections By the Mob.

Atlanta, Ga., May 29.—The strike of the firemen on the Georgia railway was declared off late this afternoon.

Atlanta, Ga., May 29.—With deep interest the arrival is awaited today from Washington of Chairman Knapp of the interstate commerce commission and Second Assistant Postmaster General Stewart, who came at the instance of President Taft to investigate the strike situation on the Georgia railroads with a view to aiding in bringing about a settlement.

After a very brief conference late last night with Commissioner of Labor Neill, E. C. Evans, fourth vice president of the Louisville & Nashville road, in the city, nothing being given out as a result of his visit. Negro firemen today occupied seats opposite the white engineers on the different mail trains that are operated over the Georgia railroad.

If the engineers have objection to these men because of their color there has been no indication of it, but out on the line the feeling is unmistakable and it is decidedly adverse to the presence of negro firemen. The thousands of patrons of the Georgia railroad between Atlanta and Augusta are in sympathy with the striking firemen

JURY STILL OUT IN MADDEN CASE

Chicago, May 29.—When court opened today, the jury in the extortion case against Madden, Boyle and Pouchot, labor officials, was still unprepared to report, although the members had been out since Thursday afternoon.

The courtroom was packed with an eager crowd, which extended into the corridors and out into the courtyard.

DETROITERS ARE BEING ENTERTAINED IN MILWAUKEE

Milwaukee, Wis., May 29.—The big steamer City of Cleveland, with 400 members of the Detroit chamber of commerce, arrived in Milwaukee this forenoon. The Detroiters will be the guests of the Milwaukee Citizens' Business league until an early hour tomorrow morning.

The visitors are being entertained in automobile sight-seeing trips and visits to some of Milwaukee's big manufacturing institutions, the entertainment closing with a banquet this evening.

Ex-Governor Crittenden Dies.

Kansas City, Mo., May 29.—Former Governor T. T. Crittenden died here this morning, 77 years of age. He was born in Selby county, Ky. He came to Missouri before the Civil war and later formed a law partnership with Francis M. Cockrell, afterward United States senator. In 1878 Mr. Crittenden became governor of Missouri, and it was to him that Frank James, the noted outlaw, laid down his arms. He was consul general to Mexico under President Cleveland. T. T. Crittenden, Jr., is mayor of Kansas City.

WOUNDED THIEF WILL RECOVER

Merrill Bank Robbers Who Got Away Are Pursued.

Milwaukee, Wis., May 29.—A special to the Evening Wisconsin from Merrill, Wis., says: Two of the four robbers who robbed the German-American bank yesterday afternoon, are being pursued by the sheriff of Marathon county, in the direction of Wausau. The bandits secured $1,000, which later was recovered.

Two of the bandits, John Laya and Martin Krigebos, who were captured, claim that they and the two escaped robbers, one known as Charles Borman and the other as "Fred," all came from Chicago.

Laya, who was shot and taken to a hospital, had a card in his pocket from the Associated Employment bureau, directed to the Williams Air Meter Company of Chicago. It read: "The bearer, John Laya, wants a pohition as lathe hald." On the reserve side was the address of F. A. Theis, 266 South Twelfth avenue, Maywood, Ill., and the address of G. Manfrold, 115 South Twelfth avenue, Maywood. Laya also had in his pocket a description of a maximum "silencer," but so far as known none of the men had silencers with them.

Krigebos, who is in jail, claims he came from Sweden a year ago. He is a Russian. He gave his age as 18 years. He lived at 872 Halstead street and in Maywood at different times.

Physicians who are attending Laya, who was shot while being pursued, say he will recover.

BURNING FOREST SCARES ANIMALS

Negaunee, Mich., May 29.—(Special to The Herald.)—The forest fires that have been raging in the Upper Peninsula during the past two or three days have caused a great deal of damage and suffering among the farmers.

The fire at New Dalton is now under control and no further damage is anticipated, although the woods in that vicinity are still burning and homes are being wiped out. The lumber yards and mills were owned and operated by J. A. Dalton, E. S. Harris of Eaton Rapids, and B. S. Harris of Diamondale, Mich. The mill, which is partially destroyed, was established five years ago and was the largest and finest equipped to be found in that part of the country.

It is estimated that the owners will realize a loss of about $60,000 as a result of the fire.

Owing to the rain Thursday night, the fires in the woods have been checked somewhat, but bad fires are reported along the north shore and up in the Copper country.

As the flames enveloped the woods in the vicinity of Lathrop on the North-Western railroad, which district is one of the wildest places in the state, many wild animals could be seen, terror stricken, fleeing before the flames. Undoubtedly a countless number of game birds have perished, as this is their nesting time, and hunter this fall will find very poor hunting in ome sections of Upper Michigan.

CHILDREN WITH SHINING FACES AND CAREFULLY BRUSHED HAIR, WORSHIP AT SHRINE OF MUSIC

To make a good story of it, it would be well to say that the audience of 2,000 school children which filled the Lyceum yesterday afternoon at the Minneapolis Symphony orchestra matinee, listened in rapt and breathless attention from the first strains of Mendelssohn's "Wedding March" and the hellsate breath of the "Spring Song" through to the closing strains of "The Beautiful Blue Danube."

That wouldn't be quite truthful, but certainly there never has been anything in Duluth that was quite so promising and altogether satisfying as the matinee yesterday. Every nook and corner in the Lyceum was filled with children—children with soap polished faces, and much parted hair, and white starched dresses, and, most of all, with all the enthusiasm and interest and alert attention of very early youth. The crowd was admirably handled, and there was not the least disorder or inconvenience. The children were like most children, at times a bit restless, maybe, but there was always some school fellow near who was interested enough in the treat provided to growl a low and threatening "Shut up." It was not to be expected that during one concert these little untrained minds should be converted completely to a whole-souled worship of music, but the orchestra and the numbers so finely chosen for their pleasure left their mark.

The children's matinee was to many the most valuable and interesting feature of the festival, and the orchestra will probably never be brought to Duluth without efforts being made for this provision for the children's pleasure and education.

THE WEEK AT THE NORMAL

One of the most delightful parties given at the normal school was the cotillion at which the faculty entertained the students at the school last saturday evening. The decorations used were suggestive of June, pink roses being used with charming effect. Garlands of pink roses were hung from the walls, and the chandeliers were a mass of pink petals.

The grand march, in which all the students took part, was led by Miss Reistvenger and Miss Van Stone, and was most effective with all the girls in their pretty light dresses. This was followed by a number of special dances, some of which had been arranged by Miss Quillard and Miss Van Stone. The first one was a Spanish dance, with castanets, in which eight girls took part, followed by a "Wind Mill" number, both of which were pretty. At the end of the evening two lines of girls, one from either end of the hall, marched to the center and presented the "Candle Drill." With their little white night caps and lighted candles in the darkened hall, the result was beautiful. In the closing part of the drill the girls were arranged in circles, one inside the other, and the circles, one at a time, snuffing out their candles and melting into the darkness, left a group of three in the center, who bowed their "good night" to all, blew out their candles, and left all in darkness.

The favors of the evening were very pretty—poinsette wands, Japanese umbrellas, pink sunbonnets, Chinese hats and quirks and others. In the grand march each student was presented with a rose garland, which made the march beautiful. Refreshments were served by the girls of the eighth grade on the chair landings, which were transformed into cozy corners.

Memorial day exercises were held in chapel yesterday morning for the students of the Normal department and the fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth grades of the model department. A number of the old soldiers of the city were present and addressed the pupils, telling them stories of the war and what Memorial day should mean to the boys and girls. Following is the program of the morning:

"Battle Hymn of the Republic"..... School.
..... School.
Response—"My Country 'Tis of Thee" ..... School.
Solo—"Our Emblem" .....
..... Miss Van Stone.
Introduction of veterans by President Johnson.
Addresses by the following: Rev. N. J. Upham, S. W. Higgins, S. W. Urick, Jacob Lanx and M. W. Bates.
"Star Spangled Banner" ..... School.

Exercises were held later in the morning in the model department for the pupils of the kindergarten, first, second, third and fourth grades. The pupils sang their patriotic songs and some of the old soldiers again spoke to them.

The Thalian Literary society held the last meeting of this year yesterday in the assembly hall. The program was appropriate for the occasion, although the attendance was not as large as usual, those who did go were well repaid. The first number on the program, Mendelssohn's "Wedding March," a piano duet played by Miss Helen Coburn and Miss Ruby Krause, was delightful. Both Miss Coburn and Miss Krause have added much to the interest and pleasure of the society during this, its first year, by their musical talent. Miss Adeline Buckeley then read a "History of the Society," in which she told of the accomplishments of the society during the few months since its organization and mentioned that the most memorable event during this time was the entertainment and reception which the Greyselon society gave in its honor. Miss Long, who is the counsellor of the society and a willing helper at all times, read an entertaining selection, entitled "Obadiah Baker's Elopement." Miss Van Stone, one of the society's most faithful friends, sang a vocal solo, which was followed by a paper, "The Thalian Society in 1910," read by Miss Ada Price. Miss Price, in this paper, prophesied the bright future for the society, its efficacy and work for next year. Miss Eckert then gave the critics report.

Miss Quillard, head of the Kindergarten training department, spent the last three days of the week visiting the schools and kindergartens in some of the range towns, especially Eveleth and Coleraine. During Miss Quillard's absence, Mrs. Fay Cook was in charge of the kindergarten.

Miss Ruth Ely, school librarian, was absent Wednesday and Thursday while attending a wedding in Minneapolis. Her place was filled for the time of her absence by Miss Gertrude Ellison.

The reading of "The Rivals" at the Blaine high school in Superior by Henry Lawrence Southwick of the Emerson School of Oratory, Boston, Mass., was announced in chorus during the week. A party of students chaperoned by Miss Long, went over to hear it Thursday evening. Those in the party were: Ella Carlson, Sophia Sodaburg, Lois Quinn, Estelle Clare, Anna Larson, Edith Hopkins and Gladys Goldsmith.

The members of the senior class received invitations this week for a reception to be given in their honor by Mrs. E. W. Robarnon at her home next Wednesday.

The first dress rehearsal for the senior play was held Wednesday of this week. The plays to be presented next week from next Monday and Tuesday, Monday especially for the girls of the senior class of the high school. Invitations were issued to them this week for the play and the reception, following which the normal seniors will give in their honor.

The class in school management completed the course yesterday and will take the examination next week. Another spelling examination will also be given next week.

MARINE WILL VOTE TO STRIKE

Believed That Men Will Vote to Quit Work.

It now seems practically certain that the union longshoremen about the Great Lakes will declare for a strike within the next week or ten days.

A referendum vote is now being taken among locals, and there is no doubt of the outcome. It will take about a week to gather and record the vote and file the results with the officials of the International Longshoremen's union.

Last Sunday at a meeting held in Cleveland, fifty-six representatives of Lake Erie locals declared overwhelmingly in favor of a strike. They put it up to President O'Connor. The latter did not feel that the sentiment of the Lake Erie unions was alone sufficient and accordingly ordered a general referendum vote.

President O'Connor has tried to get the dock managers to recognize the union in a satisfactory way, but has not met with much encouragement. The vessel owners and dock managers have stood aloof from all attempts made by the longshoremen to meet them and come to an agreement. They have essayed to ignore the union entirely.

The longshoremen say that unless their union is recognized and the demands made are acceded to, the strike is bound to come. They claim that most of the lumber pushers and ore and coal handlers will stand by them, and that these interests are better organized, especially on the Head of the Lakes, than is commonly supposed.

With the longshoremen out on a strike there will be about 35,000 or 40,000 marine workers idle. The engineers, seamen and firemen, while in no way involved in the contentions of the longshoremen, claim that a strike on the part of the latter will lend great strength to their cause and force a settlement quicker than would otherwise come.

SAYS REPORT IS UNFOUNDED

Livingstone Declares the Owners Will Not Submit to Conference.

Detroit, Mich., May 29.—"Such men as Rockefeller, Carnegie and Morgan are behind the National Civic federation and Seth Low in his efforts to bring about a settlement of the Lake Carriers' strike," said Rev. Frederick Klump, president of the Michigan board of arbitration, in announcing that another conference of the joint arbitration of six lake states would be held in Cleveland June 1. "Pressure has been brought to bear on the Lake Carriers' association, with the result that when heads of the boards of mediation of the six states meet at Cleveland next Tuesday representatives of the owners' organization and of the union will get together and talk over the trouble, and I feel that we will then effect a settlement."

"I know nothing about such a conference, nor do I believe that any such conference will be entered into by the Lake Carriers' association," said President Livingstone of the association today after reading the Columbus, Ohio, dispatch stating that a meeting between vessel owners and their employes had been arranged.

MISSING MEN ALIVE AND SAFE

Otter Head Lightkeepers Picked Up By Fish Tug.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., May 29.—(Special to The Herald.)—Robert McMenney, lighthouse keeper at Otter Head and companion Wilson, who started out several weeks ago in a small sailboat for supplies at Herron Bay and for whose safety all hope had been abandoned have returned to Otter Head. The men were taken aboard the fish tug Ainsworth a few days ago. She reported to the steamer Caribou, down bound last night. Because of the location it is difficult to learn details as to the escape.

FRIGHTENED THE CANUCKS

Gunboat Nashville Gave Officials at Montreal Heart Failure.

Looking so formidable that the Canadian authorities deviled feverishly into the international rule book to find out if they could let her slip by the unprotected Dominion towns along the St. Lawrence river, the Nashville, the United States gunboat, that in '98 chased Spaniards up and down Cuban waters and fired the first and last shots of the Spanish-American war, has passed Montreal on her way to Chicago.

The regulations stipulate that 100 feet is the limit in length of armed cruisers provided for in the agreement between Great Britain and the United States, and the Nashville is over twice that. The agreement also calls for but one gun. In this respect the Nashville filled the bill, for while passing through the St. Lawrence river the only gun on board was an old musket in the captain's cabin and a revolver in the mate's cabin.

The warship sinkers, which go with her equipment, however, consist of well over a dozen, besides a torpedo tube, and all of them voiced their sentiments during the war of '98. The lot were sent overland to Buffalo, from Boston, where the Nashville was fitted out for her cruise to the lakes.

There is rather a fine point in question as to whether or not the captain can legally take on armament at Buffalo, but while at Montreal he declared he was going to let the other fellow do the worrying and that he was going ahead until it was pointed out to him where he was violating any of the international rules.

MODERN MEDICINE

And Its Scientific Achievements---How to Be Cured Permanently.

Experience is a thing of quality as well as quantity. Years in practice is no true measure of a physician's skill. Medical specialists, as a rule, give prominent mention to the number of years they have devoted to the practice of the various specialties. In this regard we do not differ from most other specialists. We frequently state that we have practiced the specialty for 20 years. This is a thing of importance that can be told in a few words. That's why we tell it so often. The thing we now wish to tell about requires more space in telling, and we may or may not tell it more than this once.

Experience isn't worth much unless it has quality in it. In fact, it isn't worth anything. It is just like other bad things—the greater the quantity the more business there is.

We have carried no moss-grown theories or methods with us. Others may cling to theories—we prefer truths. We have put thought and study into all our work that we might ascertain the truth and make our treatment scientific. We have felt a personal interest in the welfare of our patients, and have treated them carefully and conscientiously. We have studied each case we treated. We have learned the truths that we have sought, and have made our treatments scientific. We attempt to cure only those cases that we are positively certain that we can cure, and the diseases that we can cure and do cure are all diseases peculiar to the sex of men. We are able to cure them because of the quantity and quality of our experience.

YOUNG MEN.

The period between 15 and 30 years of age is undoubtedly the most important in a man's life. During this interval are developed and matured the Physical and Mental powers. Circumstances and surroundings have much to do with the formation of character and individuality of the man, but to a great extent the carving of the future depends on himself. Any deviation from or transgression of Nature's laws may alter or change a whole future. Hard work, long study, intemperance, gambling, evil associates, etc., have broken down many a hardy youth and wrecked what promised to be a brilliant career. Temptation, dangers and dissipations are everywhere, and it requires discretion and strong will power to resist them. Of all the evils besetting our young men, none is more prevalent and destructive than dissipation, and the poor victims find out when too late that they have made fatal errors. We see the victims on every hand. The sallow, pimpled face, dark-circled eyes, stooping form, stunted development, bashful, melancholy countenance and bearing proclaim to all the world his folly, and if neglected, ultimately lead to a premature and untimely end.

MIDDLE-AGED MEN.

The springtime of youth with you has passed. Life is now a sober reality. Experience has been your best teacher. You are wiser and can look back over your past life and point out the mistakes you have made. You see, feel and understand differently now. For some of the sins of your youth you have no doubt already paid the penalty. You have drifted along, relying on Nature and a robust constitution to carry you through. Dissipation has been added to your list of transgressions. Private and Blood diseases have ravaged your system and undermined your health. Weakness, Backache, Nervousness, caused by dissipation, are hindering your success and have made your life a miserable existence, devoid of all happiness. You know in your own mind that you are not the man you should be. You lack the energy, confidence and personal magnetism which are so precious to every man, and which go to make up perfect manhood. Your neglect has developed such ailments as Varicose Veins, Debility, Blood Poison and innumerable other maladies, which are dragging you down, filling your life with misery, suffering and woe. You are old before your allotted time, but if you will awaken to a full realization of your true condition and take steps to have it remedied there are yet many golden years in store for you.

OLD MEN.

You have reached the pinnacle of manhood and are now on the descent to the river of death. There is no turning back. You have crossed the long bridge of life and are now on the third and last span. The journey has been full of trials and tribulations, with just enough happiness to make it worth the living for. You have seen Nature's Triple Punishment—Sickness, Decay and Death—meted out to every transgressor of her laws. The pitfalls have been many, your comrades have faltered and failed at every step. The ambitions of youth are now fulfilled, you have gold in plenty. You have worked hard to attain this end, and contemplated taking a long rest and enjoying much happiness when it had been accomplished. But your long neglected health is giving way. Bladder and Kidney afflictions are breaking your rest, your vital organs—the Heart, Lungs, Kidneys and Nervous System—are worn out and exhausted. You realize when too late the mistake you have made. The health you so little appreciated is now more precious to you than all your gold. We can not make you young again, but we can help you. We can bring back the old-time vigor, energy and power, strengthen the overworked organs, enable you to enjoy happiness and rest, and prolong your life for many years to come.

Come to See Me and Note the Difference in the Way Expert Specialists Will Treat You and How Soon You Can Be BENEFITED and CURED BY THE RIGHT KIND OF TREATMENT—THE DISEASE DISSOLVING METHOD.

Are you one of the unfortunates who have made a wrong commencement and failure in life? Is your weakened system crying out for help? Are you nervous, irritable and despondent—our treatment is entirely different from others whom doubtless you have been to. We can not understand why any man will stand idly and see his health being wrecked and slipping away, when he knows that he can be safely and permanently cured. My long experience has rendered me thoroughly familiar with all the causes and effects, and we have lifted up enough fallen men to make an army. What I have done for others I can do for you if you will but give me an opportunity of demonstrating the virtue of my treatments. Our special treatment for weak men will remove all ill effects of your former dissipation, clear up the clouded brain; in fact, will strengthen you in every way and quickly restore you to what nature intended—a healthy and happy man, with physical and mental powers complete. The treatment that we employ contains no injurious drugs, nor leaves any bad after effects. It builds up gradually and permanently strengthens, and is entirely different from the many cheap, worthless, temporary stimulants which you got from doctors in general or any drug store.

SPECIAL NOTICE—Those Who have been disappointed by unskilled specialists and doctors, are earnestly requested to investigate our methods and terms without delay.

HOW TO USE OIL TO CALM WATERS

Uncle Sam Sending Out Pamphlets Containing Instructions.

The Duluth branch of the naval hydrographic office is sending out copies of a small pamphlet dealing with the use of oil to calm the seas in rough weather. Full instructions are given for the benefit of vessel men and also a number of diagrams showing how vessels in different positions may utilize oil bags with economy and good effect.

Capt. Albert Swenson of the local office once had occasion to use oil bags to calm the waters of Lake Michigan when was master of a storm-tossed lake freighter. His experience at the time was the subject of an exhaustive report to the federal hydrographic office at Washington. The pamphlet sent out cites numerous instances where oil has been used effectively, though all were during storms on salt water.

EARLING AT THE SHIPYARD

Repairs Necessary as Result of Running on Rocks.

The steamer E. J. Earling, which ran on the rocks off Madeline island last Wednesday, has been taken to the Superior shipyards for repairs.

The vessel was coming up light for a cargo of ore at the Allouez docks. The accident occurred durig a heavy fog about 5:20 in the morning. It was twenty-four hours before the Earling was released.

A survey of the vessel at the Superior yards yesterday showed the plates to be badly bent and the boat otherwise damaged about the bow and keel. It will require about two weeks to repair her.

AMERICAN MAN WEDS BARONESS

Bosom Friend of Queen Wilhelmina Will Drop Her Title.

New York, May 29.—Baroness Marie W. A. von Haeften, bosom friend and chum of Queen Wilhelmina of Holland, sprung a surprise on her many friends in the exclusive set and her friends in Europe by announcing that she would become the bride of Charles Phillips Hatch yesterday. The marriage was the culmination of a brief romance, scarcely three months having elapsed since Mr. Hatch first met the handsome and wealthy noblewoman. She announces that she will drop her title of baroness, which she holds in her own right.

The wedding was a "small and private" affair, and only the most intimate friends invited to attend. It was solemnized in the chantry of Grace church in the afternoon. Jenkheer John Loudon, minister from the Netherlands, came over from Washington to give the bride away. Her attendants were Miss Abbey Austin Stevens, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Austin Stevens of Newport, and Miss Alice Cruger Hassell, laughter of Lewis Cruger Hassell. Cyril Hatch was his brother's best man.

The baroness was Wilhelmina Adrianna von Haeften, daughter of the late Baron John Cornelius Adrian von Haeften, and was born in Java, where her father had large estates. She was married a number of years ago to the late George Moeller of The Hague, who assumed his wife's name. He died three years ago, when the baroness came to this city, making her residence in this city, and being welcomed with open arms by the most exclusive social circles.

Mr. Hatch is a son of the late Henry and Marie Phillips Hatch of Philadelphia and Newport, and belongs to one of the oldest and most prominent families of the East.

VERSE WINS SUIT FOR GIRL.

Gets $12,000 for Injuries After Lawyer Quotes Byron on Love.

St. Louis, Mo., May 29.—"Man's love is of man's life a thing apart. 'Tis woman's whole existence."

This from Byron's "Don Juan" was quoted to a jury in Judge Hitchcock's court in the $20,000 personal injury suit of Leona Castaine against the United Railways company. The trial resulted in a verdict for the plaintiff for $12,000.

A. G. Moseley, counsel for Miss Castaine, quoted the verse in his speech to the jury. Attorney Moseley laid particular stress upon Miss Castaine's inability to "charm admirers or to win fame in the world of industry" because of her injury.

EPISCOPAL CONVENTION

Gathering Will Bring Many Churchmen to Duluth Next Week.

The fourteenth annual convention of the Episcopal diocese of Duluth will convene in Trinity Pro-Cathedral Wednesday, June 2. The Episcopal clergy from the diocese of Duluth and the Indian Mission together with the lay delegates from parishes and missions will mean a gathering of about seventy-five more.

The diocese of Duluth comprises the northern part of the state of Minnesota, north of and including the counties of Big Stone, Stevens, Pope, Stearnes, Benton, Mille Lacs, Kennebec, and Pine. This is a territory of 57,000 square miles which is under the jurisdiction of Bishop Morrison, every important section of which is annually visited by him for the purpose of confirmation and the strengthening of the work.

St. John's church, Moorhead, Rev. Ainsley Young, rector; St. John's church, St. Cloud, Rev. John Atwill rector; St. Andrew's church, Cloquet, Rev. F. C. Coolbaugh, rector; St. Paul's church Brainerd, Rev. J. R. Alten, rector; St. James church, Fergus Falls, Rev. J. G. Ward, rector; Our Savior's church, Little Falls, Rev. G. E. Platt, rector; Christ church, Hibbing Rev. F. Durant, rector; Good Samaritan's church, Sauk Center, Rev. S. L. Mitchell rector; Christ church, Crookston, Rev. Reginald Weber, rector; St. Paul's church, Virginia Rev. A. Carswell, rector; Holy Communion church, Grand Rapids Rev. F. S. Murphy, rector; St. Luke's church, Detroit, Rev. A. E. Bruce, rector; St. John's church, Hallock, Rev. J. F. Cox rector.

Besides these parishes, there is a large number of missions among the American and Scandinavian settlers, and nine stations, of which seven are for the mixed Ojibway Indians.

The opening service of the convention will be held in Trinity Pro-Cathedral at 10 o'clock on Wednesday morning. The full choir, under the direction of Miss R. K. Bradley, will sing a choral service. All the clergy will be robed and will be assigned seats in the chancel.

The Bishop of Duluth will deliver his annual charge, which will consist of a resume of work done during the past year and a forecast of the future, together with an earnest exhortation to his servants and laborers.

One interesting part of the address is the memorial section, where a tribute of respect is paid to those leaders of the church who have joined the communion of saints in paradise during the past year.

The special preacher of the convention will be the Rt. Rev Samuel Cook Edsall, D. D., of Minneapolis the Bishop of the diocese of Minnesota. Bishop Edsall was consecrated in 1899 as Bishop of North Dakota, and was later transferred from the missionary diocese of North Dakota to the diocese of Minnesota. He is a well-known preacher and a man of splendid executive ability and his sermon will give the key note of the convention.

A luncheon will be served at Trinity hall by the ladies of the Park Point guild at 12 o'clock on Wednesday.

The afternoon meeting of the convention will be business and legislative session. Reports will be read by the Venerable Archdeacon Parshall superintendent of Indian missions, Rev. F. C. Coolbaugh, president of the standing committee; Rev. A. H. Wurtele, chairman of the Sunday school commission, and by other workers.

The principal work will be the final adoption of the canons and constitution under which the diocese of Duluth will be governed.

In the evening all the visiting clergy, lay delegates and Sunday school workers will be the guests of the ladies of Trinity Guild at a banquet that will be given in Trinity hall at 6:30 o'clock. The speakers on the occasion will be Bishop Morrison and Bishop Edsall, Rev. C. C. Rollit, Page Morris, W. E. Magner, Dr. Beatty and others. Rev. A. H. Wurtele, dean of Trinity pro-cathedral will preside at the banquet. The speeches will deal with Sunday school ideals, and the Sunday school as a missionary agency. A beautiful banner, which is annually given to the school displaying the greatest missionary zeal, will be presented by the chancellor. Last year, St. Stephen's Sunday school, Paynesville, won the banner, and in all probability will be the successful school this year.

On Thursday morning, at 10 o'clock, the Women's Auxiliary, which is a diocesan branch of the National Association of Church Women, working for missions, will hold its annual service in the pro-cathedral at 10 o'clock. The preacher on this occasion will be the Rev. C. C. Rollit of Minneapolis.

Rev. Mr. Rollit was chosen last October at the Fargo conference, as the secretary and organizer of the Sixth missionary district, comprising the states immediately west of the Mississippi river.

After the service, the women will hold their convention, when reports will be read from the various parishes of the diocese. Officers will be chosen for the ensuing year and then Mrs. A. H. Passmore of St. Paul will address the ladies on "The Value of Missionary Work." Mrs. Passmore has visited the mission field, and can talk from experience of the growth of the church in foreign lands.

The luncheon on Thursday will be given by the ladies of St. John's church, Lakeside.

Thursday evening the annual reception of Bishop Morrison, in honor of the visitors to the city, will be held in the episcopal residence, 2123 East Superior street.

The work of the past year has shown many important advances in all departments, and the prospects for the future are bright with promise.

WARD COUNTY HEALTHY.

North Dakota County Makes Fine Showing in Statistics.

Bismarck, N. D., May 29.—(Special to The Herald.)—The North Dakota board of health has made public the statement of births and deaths for the month of April. Under the new system that has been inaugurated by the state vital statistics bureau, which is a department of the board of health's activities, more complete reports are obtainable than has before been possible. The last legislative assembly made a special appropriation for this work and the results accruing are already quite noticeable in improved and more complete statistics.

The report for April shows the total number of births to be 839, while the deaths for the same period were 345. The contagious disease report follows: Tuberculosis, 6 cases with 3 deaths; smallpox, 50 cases and no deaths; typhoid fever 12 cases with no deaths; diphtheria, 68 cases with 6 deaths; scarlet fever, 169 cases with no deaths; measles, 7 cases with 1 death; whooping cough, 8 cases with no deaths; other infections 25 cases with 2 deaths.

Ward county made the banner report, 92 births and 60 deaths.

Special Car. Excursion, Tues., June 15 Free Fare to Buyers

Come and join this excursion party and see this world famous section, which is noted for its wonderful productiveness, unrivalled climate and picturesque location on the grandest body of water in this country. You will be under no obligation to us, we want you to see on your way out to the coast or Seattle this land and what Attalia has to offer to the man looking for a future home in a climate compatible with a sure income.

"I believe that in five years' time this will be one of the prettiest and most profitable valleys in the state and that Attalia will be a city of at least 5,000 population." Mr. LeRoy purchased a tract which he is now improving. F. R. LeROY.

"I am well pleased with the country and have purchased ten acres right north of the Columbia fruit farm." CARL HOLMLAND.

"I went to Attalia, Kennewick, Yakima and other places, thence to Idaho and Montana. My feeling in the matter is, I shall make your valley and Attalia my home in the future. The many railroads, fine location on the Columbia, climate, soil and water appealed to me stronger than any of the rest." J. A. RIVERS.

REMEMBER

That Attalia has four railroads, electric line and water transportation. That Attalia is a terminal of one big road, for which shops will be built. That Attalia has the deep rich volcanic ash soil, no alkali and rocks, having a perfect air-soil drainage on account of the location near the Columbia Gap and a fine subsoil, making it the ideal orchard and vineyard land. That Attalia matures the fanciest varieties of apples, grapes, peaches, nuts, etc., two crops of vegetables and strawberries from two weeks to a month earlier than any other section in the country. First on the market means higher prices. Poultry thrives amazingly, and four to five cuttings of alfalfa a year.

That Attalia has a bounteous water supply from two big sources. Also a soft, pure drinking water.

That Attalia has an unrivalled climate known for its salubrious effects on catarrhal, rheumatic and nervous troubles.

That Attalia lands have attracted the attention of the most prominent fruit-growing experts out West and in the East as well. These men are to be found at Attalia today planting and transforming the lands into beautiful orchards. These men are not only gardeners, but investors of their own land at Attalia.

That Attalia lands will render receipts of from $300 to $1,500 and more per acre annually, if due care is given, and that it is an investment of the highest type—safe and conservative.

That the Attalia lands will not remain on the market much longer, more than two-thirds having been sold.

That we will plant the land into orchards and care for same, giving you one-half of the gross receipts every year.

Settlers can obtain work at good wages. Come into a country where you can make a living from the start and be independent in a few years to come. Price on land ranges from $150 to $325 and upward per acre. For booklets and information in regard to Attalia and the Western country call or write undersigned. MEET NEXT IN ATLANTIC CITY

Denver, Colo., May 29.—Missionaries, who lead too much toward "the blue laws," will get but little solace from the church if the action of the Germany assembly of the Presbyterian church is a criterion.

The assembly today practically dismissed from the service Alexander and James Waite, both missionaries in a Presbytery in Northern China because they complained when their brother missionaries played tennis and indulged in worldly athletic pastimes with their charges.

The aWite brothers were of the opinion, as outlined in their charges to the assembly, that the Waites' assistants in China could not apply themselves to the business of saving the heathen and playing tennis at the same time. The Waites therefore asked the assembly to censure the tennis-playing brethren. The request was a boomerang however, for the committee on church polity in a report received today by Dr. J. Gray Bolton of Philadelphia, commends the religious zeal of the Waite brothers, but suggested that the Waites might do better in another field and recommended a change of residence. The report was adopted.

The assembly unanimously voted to accept the invitation of Atlantic City, N. J., to convene there next year. The music hall on the steel pier will be turned over to the sessions of the assembly. The assembly probably will adjourn sine die late today.

MAYOR CLOSES ALL SALOONS

Philadelphia Executive Fears Violence During Street Car Strike.

Philadelphia, May 29.—Fearing that the street car strike may lead to disorder, and desiring to minimize the danger of violence, Mayor Reyburn this afternoon ordered all saloons to close at 6 p. m. AN AUCTION MARKET

Auctions Under Present Conditions Invariably Cause Trouble.

Superior street merchants appear to be unanimously in favor of having an auction market established in Duluth, in accordance with ideas suggested by Mayor Haven. With such a place in existence, every auction would have to be conducted there, which would do away with indiscriminate auctioneering all over the city.

The auction business has been a nuisance in Duluth for many years past, and practically every license that has been granted has caused trouble in one form or another. The general public is opposed to the system that has prevailed, and the merchants and city officials are not at all satisfied with it. When Mayor Haven's communication relative to the question comes before the council at its next meeting, it is rather expected the aldermen will take action in the way of providing a market of the sort suggested.

The direct reason for this communication is the license granted by the council at its last meeting to A. Oreckovsky, to auction off a stock of jewelry on the lower side of Superior street, between Lake and First avenues west, next to Freimuth's. Mayor Haven at first intended to veto the license, on the strength of opposition that was raised, but Mr. Oreckovsky overcame this opposition, and the mayor let the license go through, although he did not do it very willingly.

The argument is advanced that auction sales along the leading business thoroughfare cheapens the appearance of the street, making a particularly bad impression on visitors. Another argument is that several of these sales in the past have not been fair, and above board. It is known that in different instances "boosters" have been employed to run the price up on cheap and shoddy goods, to make the sucker pay a fancy price for a third-class article.

Getting the license under pretense that it was so he could dispose of a limited quantity of second-hand goods, the auctioneer often has brought in a large stock of cheap new goods, selling them at auction at a much higher figure than they were worth. In some cases the amount of new goods has been three or four times as much as the original stock of second-hand goods. Under the terms of the license, the auctioneer must file a list of the articles to be sold with the city clerk but there is no satisfactory means of confining the sales to this list.

ANOTHER ROW IN THE D. A. R.

President-General in Hot Water Over Supervising Committee.

Washington, May 29.—Unless Mrs. Matthew T. Scott of Bloomington, Ill., president-general of the Daughters of the American Revolution, is forthcoming with an explanation of certain actions she has taken since being elected to the chief office of the society, there is going to be an pheavsal such as has not been known in many years.

Members of the conservative forces are hot on Mrs. Scott's trail and keen for knowing just why she has made certain appointments since the adjournment of the last convention.

Chief among these is the appointment of a "supervising committee," only one member of which—the chairman—is a member of the national board of the society. Formerly the duties of this committee were confined to running the affairs of the offices here, but the committee appointed by Mrs. Scott, it was said, has much to say concerning the way in which the national officers dispense their duties. Members of this committee are:

Mrs. Smallwood, chairman; Mrs. Woodbury Pulsifer, defeated candidate for librarian general on the McLean ticket at the last convention; Mrs. Robbins, Mrs. Earnest and Mrs. G. W. Hanger.

The kick now being registered against all members of this committee except Mrs. Smallwood is that none of them is even an officer in the society, and that their appointment gives them supervision over regularly elected national officers.

Another thing which the conservative clientn is very anxious to hear about is why Mrs. Scott selected members of the society who were defeated as candidates for national offices on the ticket which supported her in the last congress and appointed them to the chairmanships of important committees.

None of these matters can be settled until the meeting of the board next Wednesday, but the large element which supported Mrs. William Cummings Story in the last congress avows that it is going to know why.

RAKISH LOOK TO NEW CAR

"Maroon Devil" Will Make the Suburbanites Stare Some.

Now in St. Paul Yards and Will Arrive Wednesday.

The motor car that will operate between Duluth and Fond du Lac via the Northern Pacific railroad is at the present time on exhibition on a switch track adjoining the general offices of the road at St. Paul. The car will be sent to Duluth the first of next week.

The car will be used in the suburban service of the Northern Pacific and will be the first experiment with gasoline motor cars in this part of the country.

The car has been used upon the branch lines of the Union Pacific with the greatest success. The motorman, who will operate the car on the Fond du Lac run, has been at the shops of the manufacturing company for the past thirty days learning the details of the operation. With him has been the regular demonstrating man of the manufacturing company. He has made the trip to Minnesota, and for the next thirty days will be with the car, drilling the Northern Pacific motorman in all the details of operation.

It is an entire steel car, pointed at the forward end to encounter the minimum of atmospheric resistance. Finished on the exterior in brilliant maroon with gold lettering and brass trimmings and on the interior in Cuban mahogany, with ceiling in light buff, seats in green leatherette and specially designed acetylene side lights and oval roof, lighting system. Its nose pointed forward end and pilot, give it a look of speed and a "built-for-business" air which is a delight to the eye not alone of the railroad man, but of the casual observer as well.

The width of the car is ten feet three inches, height twelve feet two inches, seating capacity sixty passengers. It has a 200-horse power, six-cylinder internal - combustion engine, brakes operated by the direct air system, gross weight 60,000 pounds. A unique system of ventilation by suction, whereby air is changed every four minutes, insures an ample supply of pure air at all times. The car is heated by jacket water from the engine, with radiation from exhaust pipe.

The car is capable of a speed of sixty miles per hour. The round windows give an extended view and are absolutely dust, water and wind-proof. Being all steel it is fire-proof and practically indestructible. The engine is in the forward part of the car on the front truck, which prevents vibration. Immediately following the engine room is a baggage compartment, followed by a smoking room, behind which are a central entrance and exit. In the rear of the car is the passenger section with unusually wide seats and a semi-circular settee around the rear end, which might well be termed the "observation parlor" because of its generous supply of windows. The aisle and entrance, as well as the steps, are carpeted with rubber matting. A door opening inwards entirely encloses the steps. It is, therefore, impossible to board the car or alight from it while it is in motion.

MARSHALL TO SEEK TOGA.

Former Representative Has Ambition to Succeed McCumber in Senate

Washington, May 29.—Former Representative Marshall of North Dakota is in Washington. He has just returned from a tour of Europe, having sailed soon after the adjournment of congress in March. Mr. Marshall will leave for his home in North Dakota early next week.

"Are you a candidate for the senate to succeed P. J. McCumber?" Mr. Marshall was asked. "I am not yet ready to make any announcement as to my future plans," he replied. It is known, however, that Mr. Marshall will be a candidate for the senate and that soon after his return to North Dakota he will make a tour of the state to size up the situation. Senator McCumber regards Mr. Marshall as his most dangerous rival.

A day or so ago an announcement was made that Former Senator Hansbrough would make an effort to defeat Senator McCumber. Mr. Marshall said that Hansbrough would never be elected to public office in North Dakota again.

"He is a dead one, politically," said the former representative. "He is permanently enrolled in the down and out class."

BURGLARS ATTACK STORE.

Are Scared Away by Proprietor of Brookston Establishment.

Brookston, Minn., May 29.—(Special to The Herald.)—Between 12 and 1 o'clock Thursday morning three men attempted to gain entrance to J. F. Ryan's store.

Mr. Ryan, who sleeps over the store, was awakened shortly after midnight by a noise at the rear of the building, and upon opening a window discovered two men diligently at work trying to get a window sash out. A third man was stationed at the foot of an outside stairway, apparently on the lookout for the approach of any intruder. Mr. Ryan shouted at the men at work at the window, and they dropped their tools and escaped in the darkness. The village marshal was aroused and with Mr. Ryan made a search of the town, but no trace of the men could be found.

One of the Great Northern handcar houses had been broken into and a pick and an axe were taken. These were found under the window, where the men were trying to gain entrance. Aside from a slight defacement of the window casing no damage was done. This is the second time within two years that burglars have attempted to rob Mr. Ryan's store.

WOULD PARDON LIFER.

Effort Being Made to Release Murderer From Penitentiary.

Marquette, Mich., May 29.—(Special to The Herald.)—The man having served fifteen years of a life sentence for murder, an effort is being made to procure a pardon for John Borghetti, a convict at the Marquette penitentiary. Borghetti killed his wife at Iron Mountain in July, 1893, and his crime appears to have been a particularly atrocious one. The woman was attacked with a knife as she slept, and her head was nearly severed from her body.

It is hardly thought probable that the movement to obtain Borghetti's release will be successful. A. C. Cook, prosecuting attorney at the time the murder was committed, has refused to indorse the application for a pardon.

READY FOR OPENING

Alaska-Yukon Exposition Awaits Electric Ring From President.

Large Numbers of People Already on Hand for Opening.

Seattle, Wash., May 29.—When President William H. Taft of the United States of America at noon Tuesday presses the electric button that is to signalize one of the greatest achievements of the twentieth century, the gates of the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific exposition will be formally opened, and the great fair, for which six years of preparation have been devoted, will be in full swing.

The slogan spread throughout the land, "The Fair That Will Be Ready," has already been justified. The fair stands ready today and only awaits the electric ring from the executive hand to make it officially complete. It has been an accomplishment of a well-planned purpose such as has not been previously chronicled in exposition annals, for this exposition, of all those recorded, might have opened before its scheduled day.

Seattle's 300,000 population has already been swelled by an influx from all quarters of the globe, and as the tide of Eastern visitors has only begun to arrive it seems certain that the almost unbelievable predictions as to the thousands that are to come from near and far to attend this 1909 congress of nations will be borne out by facts.

The Alaska-Yukon-Pacific exposition is primarily beautiful because of its remarkable location. Mount Rainier, the highest mountain in North America, exclusive of not very definitely measured peaks in Alaska, seems almost within walking distance of the grounds, when as a matter of fact it is some eighty miles away. The Cascades, the Olympics and the Selkirk ranges make an amphitheater of the low land about Seattle in which the exposition has been reared, and two beautiful lakes, Washington and Union, together with far-famed Puget sound, fringe the boundaries with a sheen of water. There has been little or no need for artificial landscaping, and one of the remarkable features of the scene is the sky line of Douglas firs that tower above the stateliest buildings and are in strange contrast with the formal, classical architecture of many of the main edifices.

The Court of Honor.

The heart of the exposition is the court of honor. Here the United States government building, the largest it has ever constructed, stands as the central figure, in the scheme of cream-colored, blue-roofed, ornately decorated edifices. Cascades of water, to be brilliantly illuminated at night, and bounded by flaming masses of the most brilliant flowers, tumble down the center of the court. On either side are the buildings of Alaska, Hawaii, Europe, the Orient, agriculture and manufacture, all designed with a view toward the symmetry of the whole. A monument depicting the spirit of the fair looks down upon the scene.

Seven of the exposition buildings are to be permanent, and upon the closing of the fair, Oct. 16, will revert to the University of Washington, upon the grounds of which the exposition stands. These are fine examples of dignified art, two of them the forestry and the Arctic brotherhood structures, being constructed of logs, and perhaps the most striking buildings on the grounds. The first named is remarkable for its colonnade of log pillars, 184 of them in all, and each five feet in diameter.

Washington, Oregon and California have state buildings that bear comparison with the handsomest structures on the grounds, and various counties of the Evergreen State evidence local industry and pride with elegant structures devoted to their individual interests.

As its three-part title indicates, the exposition is to exploit Alaska, the Pacific Islands and the Orient, as much as the dashing Western states. Perhaps the most interesting of the exhibits installed go to show the re-of these contributers, Alaska is proven to be more than a land of gold and snow, and the Pacific and Orient are revealed as homes for civilization and industry as well as native melodies and fascinating art.

A great pile of gold, said to amount to $5,000,000, is deposited in the center of the Alaska building, and panoramas of the Northland, of Hawaii and of the Northwest counties and cities are among the remarkable things numbered among the exhibits.

The Oriental Displays.

China and Japan have outdone all previous attempts at comprehensive and artistic displays, and Korea and Formosa have become their rival exhibitors. The Philippines have a building typical of their simple architecture, and various of the most famous of the island tribes, including the savage Moros and Igorrotes, will have picturesque villages among the many toy colonies that are to show the curious how the wild and semi-civilized tribes of America, of Alaska, and of the Pacific islands live in their native haunts. Charming Japanese and Chinese tea grounds give their picturesque color to the scene, and many races, languages and religions are found.

The Pay Streak is the amusement way of the exposition and promises to have much that is new and novel. Various sensational concessions, such as the "Jollier" and "Vacuum Tube," never before constructed on exposition grounds, will be in readiness on the opening day, and old ideas will be found in new and enlarged forms. The largest scenic railway ever constructed will be one of the features, and various Alaskan and Oriental amusements lend variety to the street.

Athletics and acquatic sports will not be neglected. The A. A. U. championship contests will be only one of the big events for which a monster stadium has been built, and on Lakes Washington and Union the various tribes of Indians, Eskimos and islanders will battle for supremacy, unique challenges in all manners of jargon and lingo having stirred up old and new rivalries.

Music will be represented by numerous band, orchestral and choral concerts, and the other muses will find splendid housing in the fine arts building, one of the permanent structures.

The governmental exhibits, the most extensive the nation has ever presented, will show the many industries of America and mines will be represented by comprehensive displays. Livestock will be made a special feature and a model farm will appeal to agriculturists.

Flowers Everywhere.

Flowers will grow riot everywhere. There are formal gardens, with sundials and conventional garden furniture, and there are masses of roses, of tufted English pansies, of Roman anenomes, of rhododendrons, and in fact of every flower calculated to enhance the beauty of the grounds, making a wilderness on every hand. The cactus dahlia is the official blossom of the fair, and the briars of the flower-growers have arranged that these shall bloom over the top of the rhododendron foliage, when that tree's bloom, shall have expired with its season.

A natural amphitheater is one of the striking unique sights offered the visitors. It is merely a semicircular hollow, invested with the growth of nature, but was so wrought in its formation to make an ideal gathering place for the purposes of public exercises. It is here that the important official and formal events of the exposition will be held.

The grounds are easily reached by many electric cars, and every prospect is that the great crowds of the summer will be easily handled. In an ante-exposition statement the men who have planned and executed this latest of expositions declare themselves more than satisfied with the result of their labors, and express every confidence in the financial, as well as the artistic and educative, success of the World's fair that has sprung up as if by magic where a short time ago there was only a primeval forest.

RAY FENTON HIT BY A BASEBALL

Ear So Badly Injured That a Physician Was Called.

Ray Fenton, secretary of the Trade News Publishing company, met with a painful accident during the baseball game yesterday between the Fitwells and the Duluth league team.

Mr. Fenton was playing shortstop for the Fitwells. It was during the second inning, after Mr. Fenton had passed first base that the ball was thrown to the first baseman. It caught the runner square on the left ear.

Mr. Fenton dropped out of the game fortwith and hunted up a physician, who took several stitches in the wrecked ear. The injury will not affect his hearing. He was at his office as usual today.

ADDITIONAL SPORTS

PRIZE FIGHTER DIES FROM OPPONENT'S BLOW.

Savannah, Ga. May 29.—James Kuriases, known to the sporting world as "Greek Jimmy Ryan," died at St. Joseph's hospital today from concussion of the brain. He fell and struck his head on the floor last night in a prize fight with "Young" Evans before the Southern Athletic club. Evans is in custody pending investigation.

Wisconsin Field Meet.

Madison, Wis., May 29.—Athletes of nearly every high school and academy in Wisconsin met at Camp Randall this afternoon in the fifteenth annual Wisconsin interscholastic track and field meet. Counting upon the work by the different high school athletes this spring, first honors seem to lie between the Milwaukee south and west division highs, Wausau, Ripon and possibly Appleton.

ROBBERS HOLD UP ILLINOIS BANK; $3,000.

Benbow City, Ill., May 29.—Robbers armed with shotguns held up the cashier of the Peoples' bank and escaped with more than $3,000.

The money consisted of a shipment of $2,500, which Stephen Moore, the cashier, had just received and was counting the bills and coins from the cash drawers amounting to more than $500.

The men ran from the bank without attracting attention and were out of the town before Moore could summon assistance. A posse was organized to pursue the robbers.

IS CONVALESCENT.

A. M. Fenton Recovering From the Effects of An Operation.

A. M. Fenton, district freight and passenger agent for the Omaha road, who recently underwent a successful operation at Rochester, Minn., for the removal of gall stones, has progressed sufficiently to be able to leave the hospital, and is convalescing at the Kahler hotel in the Southern Minnesota city. He is expected to return to Duluth in about two weeks. Mrs. Fenton, who was with her husband during the critical period, returned home yesterday.

WILL HAVE NEW STUDIO

Additional Story Built for Dworshak to Be One of the Finest In America.

Duluth is to have a photographic studio it may well be proud of. The building in which the Dworshak Studio is now located is being remodeled completely. The first and second floors are to be occupied by a large men's clothing firm, represented by M. S. Burrows; Webster's restaurant will have beautifully decorated quarters on the third, and Dworshak will occupy the fourth floor, which is to be built at once. Everything necessary to produce the finest work in photography will be arranged for. The posing light will be the much desired clear light from the north without obstructions or reflections which makes it the best posing light in the city.

The arrangement of the finishing, sketch and reception rooms, office and dressing rooms will be practically ideal, and the equipment the most modern. Already the decorative scheme is in the hands of an expert—the idea being to satisfy the most critical, fashionable and refined conception of exclusiveness and cultured environment, yet have it within easy reach of a busy public in the heart of the shopping district.

The building will have a fine white marble hall and elevator service, which will eliminate stair climbing, particularly objectionable to parents with children. There will be no interruption of business during the alterations, which are to be completed Aug. 1st. The undertaking of such a thoroughly up-to-date photographic establishment is not without its element of risk, but Mr. Dworshak is enthusiastic and says Duluth is large and appreciative enough to make it a success.

Heart Trouble Nervous Prostration

After suffering five years from nervous prostration and heart trouble, Mr. Elias Hollinger, 82 years old of Beaverton, Mich., was completely cured by the great tonic-stimulant, Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey.

"I have taken Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey for the past two years. For five years previous to that time I was afflicted with heart trouble and nervous prostration. I tried doctors and many nerve remedies, but received little benefit therefrom. After taking Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey for a short time all symptoms of heart trouble disappeared, and I began to get stronger. I lack a few months of being 82 years of age. I am one of the few surviving veterans of the Mexican War, and aside from a disability contracted in the army, I can say that I feel spry and nimble on my feet, and am vigorous indeed, all of which is due to the taking of Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey. It makes the old young. Although a strong temperance man, for many years, I heartily recommend Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey to all afflicted, whether young or old.—ELIAS HOLLINGER, Beaverton, Mich.

Thousands of men and women, who have almost reached the four-score mark, tell the same story as Mr. Hollinger about what Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey has done toward renewing their youth and keeping them vigorous, hale and hearty and in possession of all their faculties. As a leading doctor says, the secret of the whole thing is that Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey, if taken as perscribed, drives out all disease germs, invigorates the brain, enriches the blood, quickens the circulation and prevents decay and old age.

This wonderful remedy has been extolled throughout the world for what it has done for suffering humanity. The success of Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey in curing diseases has caused many unreliable dealers to put up substitutes and imitations with which to fool the people, claiming that their substitutes are good as Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey. Insist on the genuine. It will cure you.

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey is sold throughout the world by druggists, grocers and dealers, or shipped direct for $1.00 per large bottle.

If in need of advice, write Consulting Physician, Duffy Malt Whiskey Company, Rochester, New York, stating your case fully. Our doctors will send you advice free, together with a handsome illustrated medical booklet containing some of the many thousands of gratifying letters received from men and women in all walks of life, both old and young, who have been cured and benefited by the use of the world's greatest medicine.

FIGHTING FIRES ON FOREST RESERVE

Supervisor Baird of Lake Superior Reserve Has Busy Week.

Ely, Minn., May 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Supervisor Baird and Assistant Supervisor Leavitt of the Lake Superior reserve have been out on the forest reserve this week, superintending the work of checking the forest fires.

Mr. Baird is in the northeast end of the reserve, on the Kawishawa river, and Mr. Leavitt in the Vermillion river end of the reserve, where they had been hastily summoned the first of the week, when the fires reached an alarming stage.

Forest fires are raging near this city, having been started by careless campers and homesteaders, who use fire in clearing up swamp land. Some of the fires are no doubt started by sparks from railroad engines. Many thousands of dollars' worth of ties and posts and cordwood have been destroyed around here within the past week.

MUKOVITCH BOY AGAIN ARRESTED

Ely Youth Appears to Belong to Incorrigible Class.

Ely, Minn., May 29.—(Special to The Herald.)—The young Mukovitch boy, who was found guilty of burglary and arson, and of turning in midnight fire alarms, and who was paroled by the juvenile court in Duluth a week ago, was been rearrested and once more taken to Duluth.

The last offense was turning in the fire alarm last Saturday night shortly before midnight, costing the city some $60 for firemen's services and for teams for the carts.

The city's scavenger department has put the streets and alleys in fine condition here, and the work of the Oliver Iron Mining company in requiring the renters in the locations to clean up or move out has made all quarters of the city quite presentable, and all should take pride in keeping the city in this condition. Ely is one of the cleanest and best kept cities on the Vermillion and Mesaba ranges, having been so reported by Inspector G. O. Virtue, who was sent here by President Roosevelt a year ago to investigate conditions among the employes of the Steel corporation.

GILBERT TO PIPE WATER.

Supply for Village to Be Taken From Gilbert Mine.

Gilbert, Minn., May 29.—(Special to The Herald.)—The village council Thursday evening, instructed the village clerk to advertise for bids for 3,900 feet of three-inch pipe, which will be used to conduct the water from the Gilbert open pit to the village. At present, water is being brought by means of wagons.

Supt. Sullivan of the Gilbert has allowed the use of the Gilbert water. For the present only surface pipes will be laid, but standbyes will be erected at each street corner. The water from the Gilbert mine will be used both for fire and domestic use.

The question of a permanent water supply has also been talked over considerably and the proposition has been forwarded to the Steel corporation officials in the East for their approval. It is understood that they are willing to put up a pumping station at Ely lake and have the water conducted to Gilbert, about two miles distant.

CURRENT HIBBING EVENTS.

Old Soldiers' Memorial Sunday—Other Range Town Happenings.

Hibbing, Minn., May 29.—(Special to The Herald.)—There will be an old soldiers' memorial service Sunday, at 10:30 at the Methodist church.

Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Hunner will leave Hibbing the first part of next week for Duluth, where Mr. Hunner will take up his duties as head of the engineering department. Mr. and Mrs. Hunner during their stay here have taken a very prominent part in Hibbing society functions.

H. A. Levine, who for some time past has been chief clerk for the Niles Bros., has resigned, to take effect June 1. Mr. Levine will engage in business in the near future for himself.

On Tuesday evening, at the Erspamer hall, the Modern Brotherhood of America will give a social entertainment, at which Kleffman's orchestra will furnish the music.

The alterations which have been going on for the past two months to the National hotel are rapidly nearing completion, and it is expected that the upstairs and cafe downstairs will be entirely furnished and ready for business by the middle of next week.

This afternoon a large delegation of the local Elks have gone to Eveleth to attend the installation of an Elk lodge.

Mayor Frank Ansely was presented by his wife with a son yesterday afternoon.

The ladies' reserve fund of the Presbyterian church will give a bake sale at Kohrt Bros.

Mrs. A. H. Kleffman and Mrs. William Danahy are visiting friends in Duluth.

W. J. Rezac left yesterday for a business trip to Calumet.

Mrs. William Close and the Misses Nora and Ethel Grenier have returned from Cloquet, where they went to attend the wedding of their sister, Miss Elizabeth Grenier, to William Deess.

Mis Rachuel Schmidt has resigned her position in the local public schools and has left for her home in the southern part of the state. Miss Schmidt has accepted a position for next year in the public schools of North Yakima.

Ed Kaleble, who was formerly located here, spent the day in town on his way to Virginia.

Mrs. D. E. Harkins and her mother, Mrs. Corcoran, expect to leave next week for an extended tour of the West as far as the coast.

Mrs. B. McReady of Mahoning street is entertaining Mrs. B. Woodring of St. Paul.

Mrs. Joseph Aleman, who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. S. O. Geiser, of Center street, has returned to her home in St. Paul.

Stewart Smith has purchased the interest of William E. Dees of this city in the Orpheum theater and thereby becomes sole owner. C. R. Rhoades will manage the theater for Mr. Smith.

The case of Fish vs. Kohrt Bros., in which Fish demanded the sum of $140 for extra work done in the new Kohrt block, was heard in the municipal court yesterday. After an argument which lasted two hours the case was given to the jury, which found a verdict in favor of the plaintiff was the sum demanded.

The annual exhibition of the manual training and domestic science departments of the Hibbing public schools yesterday attracted many people. Exhibits were shown of work by pupils of the fifth grade and upwards, including high school classes.

Oscar Bay, the local liveryman, who was fined $50 for disorderly conduct in a dispute with a police officer, has appealed the case to the district court.

TOO ILL TO TRAVEL.

William Aho Expires in Eveleth Before Being Brought Here.

Eveleth, Minn., May 29.—(Special to The Herald.)—William Aho, who was found very sick Thursday in rooms over Hietala's saloon and was to have been removed yesterday to a Duluth hospital for treatment, was unable to make the journey, being so wasted by fever.

He sank rapidly last night and expired about 3 o'clock this morning. An effort is being made to locate his relatives.

SOUDAN WOMAN DEAD.

Mrs. Andrew Thompson Expires Following Operation For Cancer.

Tower, Minn., May 29.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mrs. Andrew Thompson died yesterday morning at her home near Soudan. She has been ill for several years, and recently had an operation for cancer, which eventually caused her death. She leaves a husband and grown family.

The family have been here for over twenty years and have many friends, who sympathize with them in their bereavement. The funeral will be held Sunday.

The body of Johnnie Nichols, who died at St. Mary's hospital, Duluth, Tuesday after a lingering illness of cancer, was brought here Thursday for burial. Funeral services were held yesterday afternoon from St. Martin's Catholic church. Young friends were pall bearers and the school children turned out in a body to attend the funeral. Deceased was a bright boy of 15 and his early demise is mourned by all who knew him.

FIRES STILL SMOLDERING.

Although Not Dangerous Rain Is Badly Needed on Ranges.

Two Harbors, Minn., May 29.—(Special to The Herald.)—The forest fires in this vicinity are still smoldering and any wind is likely to blow up dangerous fires. Rain is needed badly. The atmosphere is becoming strong with the smoke.

Quite a number will leave this evening for camping on the various trout streams tomorrow and Monday.

The Alger-Smith company has increased its logging shipments to Duluth to sixty carloads per day.

The Bachelors' club will give an informal dancing party at the K. of P. hall Tuesday evening.

A class of thirty-six will be confirmed at the Swedish Lutheran church tomorrow morning.

TWO HARBORS PARADE.

Formation and Movement of Procession for Next Monday's Event.

Two Harbors, Minn., May 29.—(Special to The Herald.)—Following is the plan of the Memorial day parade here Monday:

Form on First avenue after services, which will be held at the Metropolitan Opera house, 2 p. m., marching in this order: School children in charge of teachers, citizens on foot, drum corps, Two Harbors band, firing squad, Sons of Veterans and Spanish War Veterans and old soldiers in carriages. The line of march will be west on First avenue to Cedar street, thence north on Cedar street to Fourth avenue school, where the school children will open ranks and allow procession to pass through and then disperse. The procession will continue to Seventh avenue, thence west to the cemetery, where the G. A. R. exercises will be held.

DESPONDENT MAN CUTS HIS THROAT

John Christy Found Dead in Shack Near Adriatic Mine.

Aurora, Minn., May 29.—(Special to The Herald.)—Lying in his shack, covered with blood, the body of John Christy was found yesterday, with his throat cut from ear to ear. Christy was a single man about 45 years old and lived in a shack near the office at the Adriatic mine. He was addicted to drinking liquor and it is thought that in a spell of despondency he committed the rash deed. The man had been dead about ten hours when found. The body was brought to Aurora and efforts are being made to find his relatives. A check for $117 and about $25 in silver was found in his clothes.

Christy's death is the third Adriatic man to die an unnatural death this week, one having broken his neck by a fall and another being caught in a cave-in.

TO ENTERTAIN SAMUELSON.

Scandinavian Aid Society Supreme President at Eveleth.

Eeveleth, Minn., May 29.—(Special to The Herald.)—Supreme President Oscar W. Samuelson of the Scandinavian Aid and Fellowship society, will be tendered a banquet here tonight by the Monitor lodge of the order, at Vail hall. President Samuelson will speak on the history of the lodge, but there will be no lodge ceremonies. Mr. Samuelson was in Virginia last night, and came over here this morning. A large number of the members will be on hand tonight to welcome Mr. Samuelson.

EVELETH CHURCHES TO HOLD FINE MEMORIALS.

Eeveleth, Minn., May 29.—(Special to The Herald.)—The memorial exercises to be given tomorrow evening at the Methodist Episcopal church, promise to be well attended. The Civil war and Spanish American War veterans will be present, as will also Company F of the local state militia. As the pastor, Rev. R. C. Johnson, has himself been in the thick of the battle, he will give some of his reminiscences, and will speak on "Our Nation's Fighting Men." Special music is being arranged for by the choir, which will be appropriate to teh day.

In the other local churches there will also be memorial services in the morning. Rev. F. A. Schwartz of the First Presbyterian church is arranging for a fine program to commemorate the day.

BOVEY SALOON KEEPERS ARE BEING ARRESTED.

Bovey, Minn., May 29.—(Special to The Herald.)—Warrants have been issued, it is stated, for the arrest of a score of saloon keepers for violating the liquor laws relative to selling liquor on Sunday, and after closing hours. Charles Peterson and M. S. Knoblock have been arrested, and more arrests are expected today.

Knoblock's case was continued until next Monday, while Peterson's will come up today in justice court at Coleraine. During the arraignment of the men in Justice Prescott's court at Coleraine yesterday afternoon Attorney Bither for the defense is said to have struck the judge and later to have hurried here and pleaded guilty before Judge Franti and to have been let off with a $1 fine and costs punishment.

COMPANY M MINSTRELS.

Hibbing, Minn., May 29.—(Special to The Herald.)—Louis McPike will be introcutor for the big minstrel show which will be given June 5, by Company M. The end men will be Capt. George O'Sullivan, Lafe Kirby, L. L. Baskins, Joe Healy, Sam Polkinghorn and Holly Shepherd, who has been coaching the cast for the past three weeks. Miss Bonnie Bonnier, who made such a hit in the Elk's minstrels of a year ago will sing an up-to-date negro song assisted by four young ladies. H. S. Diller, who possess one of the most remarkable and sweetest voices ever heard in Hibbing will sing several beautiful ballads. L. L. Baskins and Mrs. H. S. Diller will introduce an interesting dancing step, assisted by a chorus of six young ladies.

George O'Sullivan and his cops and McPike and Shepherd in their talking and dancing act will no doubt put the house in an uproar. The members of the company are people who have all had more or less experience on the stage and these performances are expected to be the best of their kind ever shown in Hibbing. The songs are the latest and the comedy is also high-class. The performances will be given in the Power theater.

AURORA AGAINST ELY.

Interesting Game of Ball Expected in Vermilion Town Sunday.

Aurora, Minn., May 29.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Aurora baseball team have received their new suits and are practicing for the game Sunday with Ely at that city. The suits this year are gray with red trimmings. Last season the Ely boys beat the Aurora nine by a close score and the local team expect to even things up Sunday.

There is some talk of leasing the forty at the corner of Jackson street and Sixth avenue and making the same into a baseball park. If this is done a canvas fence and grandstand will probably be bought and be put in readiness for the games during the firemen's tournament to be held here on Aug. 25 and 26. The grounds now being use are the stockpile grounds of the St. James mine.

AMATEUR BASE BALL LEAGUE ON THE RANGE.

Eveleth, Minn., May 29.—(Special to The Herald.)— An amateur baseball league, which will include the Eveleth Lyceum Stars, the Virginia Stars, Biwabik, McKinley, Aurora and Gilbert, has been organized. A schedule of games will be arranged and good crowds will no doubt turn out. The Lyceum Stars will play the Virginia Stars tomorrow afternoon at the ball grounds. Richards, who has been pitching winning ball for the local team, will be in the box, while Huben will be behind the bat.

The committee to secure funds for the regular Eveleth team has been so see most of the business men about buying shares and quite a number have been sold. From present indications enough will be sold to get a team started here in a week or two. The fans are hungry for some fast ball, and they will get it if possible.

NEW CHIEF ENGINEER.

Hibbing, Minn., May 29.—(Special to The Herald.)—William T. Tilderquist, for some years engineer at the Hull mine, has been appointed chief engineer of the Oliver Iron Mining company for the Hibbing district, succeeding E. E. Hanner, who goes to the Duluth office.

To Open Sidewalk Bids.

Eveleth, Minn., May 29.—(Special to The Herald.)—Next Friday night the bids for the laying of the cement sidewalk will be opened by the council and the work on the sidewalks will start as soon as possible after that date.

Eveleth Alumni Banquet.

Eveleth, Minn., May 29.—(Special to The Herald.)—The High School Alumni association is getting ready for the banquet they are going to tender the present graduating class at the Globe hotel Wednesday, June 2. Most of the alumni will be in town on that date.

Hilda Holmgren Dead.

Two Harbors, Minn., May 29.—(Special to The Herald.)—Miss Hilda Holmgren, who was so low with typhoid fever, died at the Budd hospital on Thursday evening. She was 19 years old and leaves one brother and other relatives here to mourn her loss. The funeral was held this afternoon.

FLYNN IS SENTENCED TO YEAR AND ONE-HALF.

Washburn, Wis., May 29.—(Special to The Herald.)—One year and six months in the state penitentiary is the sentence Charles H. Flynn received in the circuit court from Judge Parish, following his conviction of assault with intent to do great bodily harm upon Martin Larson, cutting him in the neck with a knife, during a quarrel at a roadhouse east of here. Flynn was once a prosperous brewer, but has been rapidly descending the social scale.

EX-COUNTY OFFICIALS BEFORE THE GRAND JURY

Marinette, Wis., May 29.—Testimony of state prison convicts, several of them former Marinette county officials, is featuring the investigation of the Marinette grand jury. A. A. Cole, former clerk of the court and recently completed a two-year term at Waupun, for embezzlement, gave evidence concerning alleged shady transactions occured during his term of office. Several prominent citizens are said to be involved.

VERDICT FOR LA POINTE.

Washburn, Wis., May 29.—(Special to The Herald.)—The trial in the district court here of the damage suit of Howard West, administrator of the estate of Philip La Pointe, against the Bayfield Mill company for $10,000 damages, on account of the death of La Pointe, who was killed in the mill, resulted in a verdict for $4,750 for the plaintiff.

ROBBERS CAPTURED

But Two Who Looted Merrill Bank Are Still Free.

Money Taken From Wisconsin Institution Is All Recovered.

Merrill, Wis., May 29.—Yesterday afternoon about 3, four highwaymen entered the German-American bank, and while three covered Cashier R. C. Balstade with their rifles, the fourth entered the vault and took all the money in sight, probably amounting to upward of $1,000, and put it into a satchel. They immediately fled.

A posse headed by Chief of Police Calder, Sheriff Emil Maas, Policemen Herman Newman and Charles Bauperiant, Fire Chief Andy Millspaugh, John Teeling, Assistant Postmaster John Niles, Albert Wendel and Fred Mead, followed, chasing the men out of the woods at the park into a clearing beyond, where a running fight took place.

One of the robbers was wounded, it is thought by Chief of Police Calder. He succeeded, however, in getting to a swamp with his companion, where they were captured half an hour later. Two of the party took a different route from the park, and were seen to swim the Wisconsin river a short distance below the park.

Both the robbers caught are young men, one probably 16 or 17 years old, the other about 25. Both are strangers here and apparently inexperienced as highwaymen. They had automatic 10-shot Mauser rifles. In their haste they overlooked the vault containing many thousands of dollars.

The money was recovered. They had thrown the satchel containing it into a brush pile.

At the hospital the wounded man stated that his name was John Yaya and his home, Belwood, Ill. The younger man refused to give his name or address. They were all well dressed.

Released on Bonds.

Casey was arrested at the Copper Queen hotel by Under Sheriff Hopkins and Deputy Harry Wheeler, who served the warrant on the mining man before he was up for the day. Immediately after the arrest Casey secured bondsmen to furnish bail in the sum of $2,500. M. J. Cunningham and Mike Medigovich are the bondsmen.

A reporter of the Miner visited Casey at the hotel shortly after the arrest and asked what his position was in the matter and what the charges were. Casey stated the charge in the indictment is "knowingly acquiescing in a false report of a corporation." In speaking about this serious charge, Casey says that he does not know to what it refers, but believes it is in connection with the charges made some time ago in regard to what he says was an overissue of stock.

Denies Charges.

In regard to this Casey said: "I have the original letters in proof of the paying of a false dividend over my vote as manager and director of the Carman Consolidated Copper company, the overissue and selling out of the entire treasury fund without an account by the president, his dummy board of directors and attorneys and the payment of $37,000 to the treasury for over 100,000 shares, the original allotment being only 25,000 shares, sold at $2.50 per share par value and from that up to $17.00.

"The president and his cohorts have made the grand clean-up and are trying to cover up their unlawful acts by the use of the courts.

In Fight to Stay.

"I have been minority director and have never made any report of any kind except in this fight, which I have carried on for over two years against the false dividend and the overissue of stock against the same parties in the Cananea-Duluth trouble and I won that fight and will win this one. I do not care for publicity, but I will protect the stockholders in the Carman Consolidated and will stay with them until the inferno freezes over."

Casey does not seem to be worried about his arrest and says he is absolutely confident of clearing himself of the charges and promises a sensation which will involve citizens in a serious matter before the litigation is ever.

The indictment against Casey charges "knowingly concurring in making a false corporate report" and that on Aug. 22, 1906, he issued a statement as general manager of the company in which it is stated that the company owned certain valuable mining claims in the Arizpe district of Sonora, which were rich in minerals, whereas the company did not own said claims or any claims, and that Casey was aware of that fact.

Meeting of Stockholders.

Douglas, Ariz., May 29.—(Special to The Herald.)—The annual meeting of the Carman Consolidated Copper company was held here. From all that could be learned it was not as much of a success as was hoped for, as the minority stockholders declined to take any part in the meeting whatsoever.

Several sensations were expected to be sprung during the meeting, and in this there was no disappointment. In fact, there were more surprises than were even hoped for by those fond of sensations.

When W. J. Power, president of the company, arrived from Hibbing, Minn., he at once went into conference with his attorneys, Richardson & Doan, to prepare for the affray, as the main object was to oust J. P. Casey, vice president and general manager of the company. Later C. B. Bell returned from Duluth, where he had been for several weeks collecting data to present at the meeting which would tend to help out Power.

Next J. P. Casey arrived from Bisbee with his counsel, J. E. Morrison of the firm of Morrison & Dorr and they at once took up their headquarters at the Gadsden and prepared to lay siege for the minority stockholders.

Casey Did Not Attend.

The meeting was called as advertised by President Power and business proceeded, but to the surprise of the Power officers, Casey and his following did not attend. This caused no small amount of surprise, as they were wondering what point of attack Casey had selected. Soon City Marshal Frank Clark appeared before the meeting and read a demand from the minority stockholders upon the majority stockholders to bring an action against President Power for announcing an over-issue of stock and the return of money which had been paid out of the treasury to pay dividends.

When this was refused, Attorney Morrison telephoned to Tombstone, and had a complaint issued from the district court and forwarded to Douglas on the afternoon train, bringing an action in behalf of Casey and the minority stockholders.

Chase After Power.

This was immediately turned over to Officer Frank Clark to be served upon Power before he could get out of Douglas on his way East on the evening train. But Power could not be found on the train. A hurried hunt was made by the officer, who learned that he had left Douglas in an automobile. It was reported that he had had one of his lawyers go to the hotel and pay his bill and had his baggage taken to the machine, while he waited at one of the side streets of the city. He was picked up by the auto, which was then headed toward Pierce.

Officer Clark hired a big Mitchell machine and started after Power with his complaint, with orders to chase him clear to Pierce if he could not overtake him before. At the last reports both machines had on the high speed and were making terrific time up the Sulphur Springs valley.

Casey put up $150 to be turned over to Officer Clark in the event that he served the papers on President Power before he gets out of Cochise county.

strictly to religious services," said the president at Temple Rodeph Shalom, where he made his first address of the day to Rabbi Levy's congregation. "and it has not remained for Pittsburg to bring me to church both on Saturday and prospectively on Sunday. It is a great privilege I feel to appear before this intelligent and patriotic audience at the instance of your leader, your rabbi, who was a close friend of my predecessor and who I believe has transferred that friendship for the time to me.

"I do not feel altogether out of place in a Jewish tabernacle, for the church I attended in Cincinnati during my boyhood and early manhood was next door to the tabernacle of Rev. Dr. Wise, and there was oftentimes a change of pulpits between the two churches. I am glad to be here on this beautiful morning in this beautiful edifice, to show, if possible, by my presence how much ours is a government of all the people, and how wise were the Constitutional provisions that no religious requirement or qualification should be necessary in this country. In this Jewish tabernacle, as president of the United States, I feel as much at home, and feel as much support as I would in any other church in the whole country. The prayer to which we have just listened, so full of love and human kindness, should make us feel ashamed of all narrowness and bigotry. Never in the history of the country, in any crisis, or under any conditions, have the Jewish people failed to live up to the highest standard of patriotism. I am not a preacher and not in the habit of appearing in pulpits. I never had done so until I went to the Philippines where I stood first in a Presbyterian pulpit and then in an Episcopalian. Returning to this country I have appeared in the pulpit of my own church, the Unitarian and now I am in a Jewish tabernacle. That is a round which I think justifies me in saying that I hope to be the president of all the people and hope to have your support, as you have given it to my predecessors without stint and with every desire to make this a truly good and great country."

CAR MEN ON STRIKE

on all cars. The service was irregular. No disorders were reported.

Philadelphia, May 29.—Although a general strike order was issued to the conductors and motormen of the Philadelphia Rapid Transit company by the executive committee of the street car men's union to take effect at 4 a. m. today the order was not generally observed and cars were running at 8 a. m., in all sections of the city. The service, however, is somewhat curtailed. The number of men who obeyed the order is not known.

Claiming that the positive refusal of officials of the company to receive a committee or entertain complaints of men forced labor leaders to declare a strike, motormen and conductors of the street car lines of this city and those in the suburbs controlled by the rapid transit company, voted to quit work. According to figures of the transit company, there were 6,600 men employed as motormen and conductors on lines controlled by the company. Labor leaders say the number of men regularly employed numbered only 4,800 and that of this number 3,300 are members of the union and will not take out their cars today.

Although the men were recently granted an increase of wages amounting to 1 cent an hour, to take effect July 1, their grievance committee states that they should receive 25 cents an hour instead of 22 cents, which they would have received when the increase became effective. The men also demanded the privilege of buying uniforms in the open market and the recognition of their union. They want a nine or ten-hour day substituted for the present "swing" system.

The executive board of the union remained in session all yesterday and last night, waiting for some official notice from the transit company.

Officials of the company stood by their claim that the street carmen's union did not have the numerical strength claimed for it, and that a strike would quickly be defeated.

Chairman C. O. Pratt of the street carmen's international executive board is in close communication with the national headquarters of his union in Detroit, and received the indorsement of every step taken by him and the local executive board.

In West Philadelphia where feeling was strongest against the company for raising the rate of fare the company experienced most trouble. The Fifty-second street line was tied up. In other lines in this section sympathizers jeered at passengers, many of whom left the cars. In some instances cars were abandoned by the crews. At Fifty-second street and Girard avenue an abandoned car was partly wrecked by boys and men before police arrived to disperse the crowd. One policeman accompanied each West Philadelphia car in the early hours, but when results of disturbances began coming to police headquarters two policemen were put on each car.

An official of the transit company said that at 4 a. m., 860 out of 1,400 cars went out on the regular runs. At noon he said:

"Every hour more cars are being put on the most badly crippled of the lines and conditions are steadily improving. Considerably less than half of the men who make the early runs went out and the places are rapidly being taken by others. None of the lines are completely tied up although it must be admitted that the company has been badly crippled.

and their sympathies, as has been demonstrated within the last few days, may get the better of their judgment.

The violence in Lithuania last night known within an hour in almost every town along the Georgia railroad. Every one of the mail trains sent out today carried United States postoffice inspectors, as was the case yesterday, and it is realized that an overt act directed against a member of the crew on one of these trains may result in still further and more serious complications.

The first violence to railroad property in the Georgia railroad firemen's strike occurred last night to a moving freight train at Lithuania, Ga. A negro fireman was apparently the cause of the trouble. He was rushed to Atlanta on an engine and saved him from a threatened mobbing. The trouble started in the throwing of one or two stones and the boarding of the freight by men who set brakes and broke it into three sections.

White Man Aboard.

Atlanta, Ga., May 29.—The mail train on the Georgia railroad which left for Augusta this morning, had for its fireman a non-union white man, instead of a negro, as was the case on the trains run to and from Atlanta yesterday.

KILLED IN A RUNAWAY

Mrs. Henry Wright Meets Death in a Shocking Manner.

Leaps From Rig and Strikes on Head---Others Hurt.

Mrs. Henry Wright, 12 St. Paul avenue, Woodland, was almost instantly killed in a runaway accident yesterday afternoon. As the frightened team dashed past the corner of Anoka street and Woodland avenue, she made a leap for safety, but her head struck against a car rail as she fell. The skull was fractured, and the unfortunate woman was dead a few moments later.

Mrs. John Flood, sister of Mrs. Wright, who was also in the carriage at the time, was thrown out farther down the street, and was seriously enough injured to need the services of a physician, although none of her hurts were bad ones. Mrs. James Drohan and her daughter, the other occupants of the rig, were thrown to the street, but escaped with a few slight bruises.

The party, with Will Flood in charge of the team, had driven to Calvary cemetery. The young fellow tied the horses with the reins, and when he started to town, he found the horses had moved about in such a manner as to break the reins.

He patched them up as best he could, but one was still shorter than the other, making it difficult to drive. After they had started, and while the horses were going at a good trot, Flood attempted to tie the ends of the reins together, hoping thereby to make the driving more easy. In making the attempt one of the lines slipped from his hands and dropped to the whiffletree. As he reached over to regain it, the carriage struck an obstruction, the jolt throwing him forward, beneath the wheels. He escaped without injury, but the horses became frightened and tore off down the street at top speed, the carriage swaying wildly from side to side.

Seeing her danger, and evidently afraid to remain in the rig, Mrs. Wright, who occupied a front seat, leaped to the street. As she fell she struck her head against the street car track. She was still alive when Flood, who had seen her leap for safety, arrived at her side, but she died a few moments later, before aid could be summoned.

Mrs. Wright's friends remained in the rig as long as they could, but were thrown out at a turn in the road. Mrs. Flood was rather badly bruised and was removed to her home, where a physician attended her. The others escaped almost entirely without injury. The team came to a stop after it had run a few blocks.

The remains of Mrs. Wright were taken to the undertaking rooms of Flood & Horgan, where it was found that she had also sustained a broken ankle. The deceased was 54 years of age and is survived by five grown children, Edward, James, Albert, Gertrude and Anna. She also had four sisters, Mrs. Thomas Finn of St. Paul and Mrs. John Walsh, Mrs. John Flood and Mrs. James Drohan of Duluth.

The funeral will be held at the cathedral Tuesday morning at 8:30 o'clock. Interment will be at Calvary cemetery.

TWO IDENTIFIED AS TRAIN ROBBERS

Omaha, Neb., May 29.—Developments in the running down of the men who last Saturday night held up and robbed the Overland limited train on the Union Pacific railroad near the Omaha city limits, had their climax in the discovery in the attic of Brown Park school in South Omaha of six large and two small registered mail pouches, the contents of which had been taken.

Following the arrest in the vicinity of the schoolhouse of three suspects as they were approaching the place where, it is said, they had hidden revolvers and other material 100 secret service men, private and city detectives early in the day, began to search the locality for further evidence.

Two men climbed into the school attic and found eight registered mail sacks, two rain coats, a long top coat and a pair of overalls.

Examination showed that every letter and package had been torn open and the contents of value removed. There were several jewelry packages, the contents of which had been thrown together, hoping thereby to make the driving more easy. In making the attempt one of the lines slipped from his hands and dropped to the whiffletree. As he reached over to regain it, the carriage struck an obstruction, the jolt throwing him forward, beneath the wheels. He escaped without injury, but the horses became frightened and tore off down the street at top speed, the carriage swaying wildly from side to side.

Seeing her danger, and evidently afraid to remain in the rig, Mrs. Wright, who occupied a front seat, leaped to the street. As she fell she struck her head against the street car track. She was still alive when Flood, who had seen her leap for safety, arrived at her side, but she died a few moments later, before aid could be summoned.

Mrs. Wright's friends remained in the rig as long as they could, but were thrown out at a turn in the road. Mrs. Flood was rather badly bruised and was removed to her home, where a physician attended her. The others escaped almost entirely without injury. The team came to a stop after it had run a few blocks.

The remains of Mrs. Wright were taken to the undertaking rooms of Flood & Horgan, where it was found that she had also sustained a broken ankle. The deceased was 54 years of age and is survived by five grown children, Edward, James, Albert, Gertrude and Anna. She also had four sisters, Mrs. Thomas Finn of St. Paul and Mrs. John Walsh, Mrs. John Flood and Mrs. James Drohan of Duluth.

The funeral will be held at the cathedral Tuesday morning at 8:30 o'clock. Interment will be at Calvary cemetery.

OIL FUEL TO BE USED ON FIVE TORPEDO BOATS.

Washington, May 29.—Bids for the construction of five torpedo boat destroyers authorized by the last naval appropriation bill were opened at the navy department today. The vessels are to be of 742 tons trial displacement and will have a speed of about thirty knots. It is probable that all the boats will be constructed on the Atlantic coast. They will be equipped with turbine engines and will burn oil fuel.

AUGUSTUS HEINZE REFUSES TO SHOW COPPER CO. BOOKS

New York May 29.—The federal grand jury's investigation of F Augustus Heinze's affairs in connection with the alleged misapplication of the funds of the Mercantile National bank took a sensational turn yesterday, when United States Attorney Wise applied to and obtained from Federal Judge La Combe an order directing certain directors of the United Copper company to produce the full and complete books of that concern in court forthwith or be declared in contempt.

The directors named, Sanford Robinson, Carter Glass, William J. Curtis and Horace Abel, reported to the court at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, the time set by Judge La Combe, that they were unable to comply with the court's order because Mr. Heinze, the president of the United Copper company, had refused to give them the books or tell where they were, giving as his reason that he was under indictment and further investigation. They also reported that they were helpless for the moment, but would make every effort to get into the company's vaults and search for the books there if given time.

The directors further declared that they had called a special meeting of the directorate five days hence, when Heinze and Secretary and Treasurer Gifford, who, it is alleged, has gone to Europe, will be deposed from their official positions with the company. Heinze, the directors went on, told them that Gifford took the minute book with him to Europe. Frederick Eckstein, assistant secretary and treasurer of the company, who was included in the court order, said that he knew the combination of the vaults and was ready to aid in getting the books if they were still there.

Judge La Combe declared that under these circumstances he would be lenient and give the directors further time to recover the books. He fixed Tuesday afternoon as the time for him to report in court again, and added:

"The court appreciates the honest efforts of the directors to get out of the scrape. They are unfortunate in getting associated with a man who is too terrified to allow his books to be examined. As long as the books are on earth and have not been burned, the effort must be made to produce them."

The mutilation of books of a corporation, as charged by United States District Attorney Wise when he procured the order for their production, is a crime under the statute, and the matter will be called to the attention of District Attorney Jerome. The federal statutes cover the removal of books, and under them such an act may be construed as grand larceny.

The directors involved, Mr. Eckstein, Assistant District Attorney Smith and two deputies went to the office of the United Copper company on Broadway last night to hunt for the books. F. Augustus Heinze had gone, but Eckstein readily opened the vaults. He stepped inside, turned on a light, and then exclaimed:

"They're not here."

The subpoenas called for a total of sixteen books, including ledgers, journals, cash, letter and stock books of 1907, but none was found in the vaults.

ILLINOIS HOUSE AND SENATE LOCK HORNS

Springfield, Ill., May 29.—Sine die adjournment of the forty-sixth general assembly today was made extremely doubtful last evening by a clash which occurred between the house and the senate. When the house adjourned at a late hour, after the most exciting day of the session, it seemed a physical impossibility for the work to be completed with an adjournment until next week.

A general slaughtering of house bills by the senate yesterday caused the trouble. At 6 p. m. the house learned for the first time of how the senate was massacring bills which had passed the house, practically by unanimous votes.

A speech by Minority Leader Lee O'Neill Browne aroused the Republicans to action. He urged reprisals and the house membership was willing to follow his lead. It began by killing Senator Funk's bill, which was under consideration at the time. Then it tabled every senate bill on the order of second and third reading in the house and took a recess until 8 o'clock. Upon reconvening, Mr. Tippit moved a reconsideration of his motion, which had caused the tabling of the bills. The motion was reconsidered and the bills reinstated upon the calendar. In this discussion Mr. Browne declared that every desk in the senate was a graveyard for house bills. He characterized members of the upper body of the general assembly as a "lot of supercilious cads called senators." Mr. Browne objected to the house proceeding to the passage of senate bills, but Speaker Shurtleff urged him to let the work of getting appropriation bills out of the way proceed for a few hours, and possibly some agreement could be reached today.

MINNESOTA UNIVERSITY

The Varsity Intercollegiate Debate Team Has Been Chosen.

Minneapolis, Minn., May 29.—(Special to The Herald.)—Despite the inclement weather and other unpropitious conditions, the University Cadet corps, at the annual government inspection Monday, did themselves proud. Capt. P. D. Lockridge, general staff, U. S. A., the inspection officer, waxed very enthusiastic in his praise of the cadets and stated that the showing excelled his fondest expectations. Among other things, Capt. Lockridge was especially pleased with the general appearance and bearing of the cadets, with the snap and enthusiasm that was put into the work. He commented favorably upon the work of the crack drill squad, stating that it was one of the very best of its kind in the country. The battery and company drill also came in for honorable mention. The inspector stated that the men's rifles were in better condition than those at the majority of schools he visited.

First call was sounded at 9 a. m., and it was almost 6 p. m. when the recall was sounded. The morning was occupied with a review of the cadets, parade of the entire corps and inspection. The artillery and the crack squad all performed in the forenoon. In the afternoon there were the regimental, battalion and company drills; normal attack and advance and rear guard. There were close to 500 men in line, including the officers, band men and artillery, agricultural companies and the eight regular companies. One of the features of the afternoon was the fifteen-gun salute, fired by the artillery.

Foragers from the cadet corps, unknown to cadet officers and Miss Ada Comstock, dean of women, made a raid on Alice Shevlin Hall Monday. The guard detail were the offenders, and as a result, kitchen supplies were badly in need of replenishing. The guard detail in question had been sent foraging, and to prove themselves real soldiers, they swarmed down on the woman's building. They crept into the kitchen, thoroughly scaring the cook, who fled in terror. After devouring the remnants of the noonday feed, and confiscating all the provisions that they could lay their hands upon, they made their escape.

• • •

The Varsity intercollegiate debate team was chosen Friday night. The eight men chosen were C. E. Carlson, Norman Houck, Fred R. Johnson, Sigurd Peterson, Lambert Prigge and Ostlund. Over twenty-five embryo orators tried out for positions on the team and the decisions were very close. The teams have not yet been organized. Wisconsin will debate against Minnesota here; Minnesota against Nebraska at Lincoln.

All cadets are to march in the Memorial day parade, by order of the military department. They will fall in at the armory at 10 o'clock and march in company formation from the armory to Seventh avenue and Fourth street; from there they will be carried down town in special cars. The route of the parade this year will extend along Third avenue south to Twelfth street; over to Nicollet and down to Fourth street, thence to Hennepin and back to the armory.

Minnesota has been invited to send a team of six students to participate in a championship rifle match to be held June 19 at Seagirt, N. J., between the various colleges and universities of the country. The match will be carried on under the direction of the National Rifle Association of America, which will donate to the winning team a championship trophy, to be held for one year, at the expiration of which time it will again be put into competition. Only bona fide students will be allowed to make up the teams, and certificates of eligibility must be shown by the contestants. Three previous matches have been held. In 1905 the trophy was won by Princeton and in 1906 and 1908 by the George Washington university.

The "Comedy of Errors" cast has been having trouble. They were putting on dress rehearsals the first of the week, and the trouble lay in the fact that when Frank Bibb and Harold Taylor got on their makeups as the twin Dominos, not even the actors can tell them apart. By labelling each one, the difficulty has been solved, however, and practice continued in the usual way.

Three students of the engineering department have been kept in college this semester solely through the fund organized by engineers to loan to such students as are in need of money with which to complete their college courses. There is now about $400 in the fund, but it is hoped to increase this amount by subscriptions from Twin City business men.

HAYNES

Don't Fool Yourself Into Thinking

That You Can Buy a Really High-Grade Automobile at a Low-Grade Price!

It cannot be done.

No automobile manufacturer is putting more into his car than he is getting out of it.

Regardless of what enthusiasm may be displayed by manufacturer or dealer—

Regardless of manufacturing facilities—

You get exactly what you pay for.

Possibly some manufacturers (because of inadequate manufacturing facilities or other reasons) offer you less than they should at a given price; but we know, and you know, and they know, that no manufacturer will give you more than he can afford to.

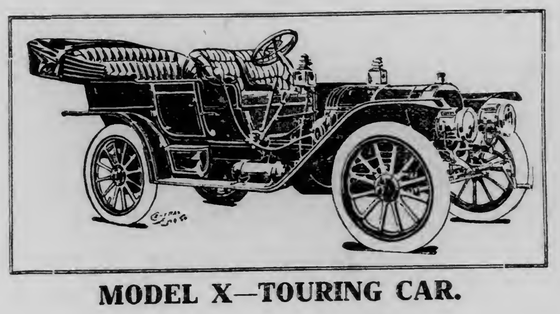
There are plenty of low-priced cars on the market, but the bed-rock argument in favor of buying them—and practically the only argument that influences sales—is the argument of cheapness.



MODEL X—TOURING CAR.

And we submit, as a reasonable business proposition, that cheapness is a mighty poor guide in the purchase of as complicated a piece of mechanism as is an automobile.

The Haynes appeals to the buyer from an en tirely different standpoint.

It is emphatically a car for the man who is ready to buy an automobile on its merits—who either knows car values himself or recognizes the protection afforded by established and unquestioned reputation—who has gotten past the "makeshift" period and wants a mechanically perfect car for both pleasure and economy's sake.

The Haynes is not only the oldest car on the market, but it has from the first, and without deviation for a single year, been a car of superb mechanical construction.

No concession whatever is made to cheapness.

No concession is made to mere beauty.

No concession is made to the man who cannot afford a thoroughly high-grade car.

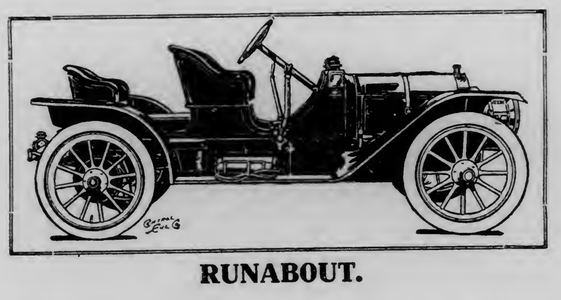
Elwood Haynes, widely known as builder of the first successful motor car in America, has an international reputation as a mechanical expert.



RUNABOUT.

And every Haynes car on the market has been built under Mr. Haynes' personal supervision.

He was the first manufacturer in the United States or Europe to use nickel steel.

He was the first to employ aluminum in motor cars.

He was the first to introduce Roller Bearings in automobile construction.

The frictionless, noiseless roller pinion drive is also an exclusive Haynes feature.

The Car throughout is made to last—not merely to sell.

The Haynes principle—that every part of the car shall be as perfect as it is possible to have it, both in material and workmanship—is responsible for the famous Haynes record of 41 perfect scores, first prizes or medals in 41 contests.

And it is this principle, religiously applied to every car, that is the safest, most binding guarantee that any automobile buyer can have.

The price, $3,000, represents a degree of car excellence that is not, and cannot be, excelled in any make of automobile, American or foreign, at any price.

DROWNS IN CASS LAKE

Peter Rossar of Superior Loses Life Fishing From Boat.

Abe Shaw of Proctor, in Same Boat, Rescued By Rossar's Son.

Cass Lake, Minn., May 29.—(Special to The Herald.)—Peter Rossar, foreman of the Superior Great Northern car shops, was drowned in the lake here this morning while fishing from a boat with Abe Shaw of Proctor.

A party of eight or ten arrived here this morning to enjoy a few days' fishing. They took four rowboats, two living in each boat and separated when out fishing.

Rossar's son, who was in another boat discovered that something was wrong with the boat in which his father was. Quickly rowing, he arrived where the boat had capsized just as Shaw was striking a third time and pulling him into his boat. Shaw is in a critical condition and may not live.

The other Rossar was drowned.

How the accident occurred is a mystery. Shaw is unconscious and unable to give any details of the accident. Mayer Lange has sent out a launch with men to look for the body of Rossar. The accident occurred near the Missn school, about nine miles from here.

JOHN MORAN HAS PECK OF TROUBLE

Nearly Drowns and Horse Falls Into Well on Same Day.

Park Rapids, Minn., May 29.—(Special to The Herald.)—John Moran is paraphrasing the popular tune to run "Wednesday is my Jonah Day," as he certainly had plenty of trouble on that day this week.

While working on his farm south of town, he found the boys had taken his boat across the lake and left it on the west side. He had to travel around the lake to get to the boat. He got in and started to row back. When in the middle of the lake he found the wind too strong and as the boat began leaking he put back for shore. When within four rods of shore the boat foundered and filled with water and sank. He waded neck deep in water and reached shore.

In the afternoon he began plowing near his house where an old well had been abandoned and covered with logs. One of the horses in passing over the well broke through and fell to the bottom. The ground began caving and in a moment the horse was entirely buried in the earth. Moran hurried work his men discovered, so he could get at it. About a dozen neighbors were called by phone and all set to work digging the horse. Block and tackle was used and after two hours hard work the horse was brought to the surface. Every one expected that the horse would be laden injured, but instead it was waiting for its mate, none of his head and entered off apparently as well as if nothing had happened.

MINER'S ACTION QUITE SUICIDAL

Warned of Approach of Skip But Does Not Move and Is Killed.

Hancock, Mich., May 29.—(Special to The Herald.)—Evidence was introduced at the coroner's inquest this week to show that the death of Matt Markovic, who was struck by a skip and instantly killed in No. 2 shaft, Wednesday afternoon, was almost suicidal and the jury entered a cause in its verdict to that effect.

The deceased, an Austrian miner about 35 years old, was working at the twenty-fifth level of No. 2 shaft. He started up the shaft, according to his companions, just ahead of the skip and despite the warning from his partner, who told him that the skip was due. An instant later he was struck by the heavy skip, his skull crushed like an egg-shell and the body carried for twenty feet up the shaft, where it dropped back to the level.

Life was extinct when the body reached the level.

The coroner's jury after taking testimony to effect as stated, returned a verdict stating that the deceased had come to his death through being struck by the skip at the twenty-fifth level of No. 2 shaft and that the accident was due to his own carelessness. The deceased has no relatives on the hill so far as is known.

Final Concert Success.

Grand Forks, N. D., May 29.—(Special to The Herald.)—The closing concert of the third annual May musical festival was given Thursday evening in the new auditorium. The building was packed to capacity, and it was pronounced to be the greatest musical concert ever held in North Dakota. The oratorio, "Elijah," was sung by the Grand Forks Oratorio society chorus, and the soloists and Minneapolis Symphony orchestra assisted, making it, all in all, one of the most artistic events of its nature ever attempted.

POLICY IS PAID AFTER SUICIDE

Suspicion of Fraud in Grand Forks Man's Disappearance.

Grand Forks, N. D., May 29.—(Special to The Herald.)—The local police are working on a new clue in the case of the mysterious disappearance of P. A. Lykseth, a plumber, who has been missing since the morning of May 18, when, after leaving his home, he wrote a note to his wife from East Grand Forks to the effect that he would kill himself.

The new phase of the question that the police have under consideration is that of the payment of the premium due upon a policy in the Equitable Fraternal Union of La Crosse, Wis. This payment was made by a money order purchased at the local postoffice May 22, four days after Lykseth disappeared, and was received by the company in response to a notice sent by them to Lykseth, telling him that his policy had lapsed.

Inquiries have been made of the postal authorities, but as yet nothing has been learned as to who sent the order in payment of the policy premium. The order was unaccompanied by any letter or note of any kind, except to the effect that it was the premium due.

The police are working on the supposition that Lykseth sent the money, but it is also understood that they are working on the preposition of its being an attempt at fraud. Should Lykseth have committed suicide on May 18 the payment of May 22 will have no effect in continuing the policy, as it had lapsed previous to that date.

OLD CROOKSTON PAPER NO MORE

Pioneer Publication of That Section Consolidated With Times.

Crookston, Minn., May 29.—The Crookston Daily Journal suspended publication with the issue of today, a consolidation having been effected with the Crookston Daily Times.

The first issue of the Times-Journal will appear Tuesday, June 1. M. S. Davis, who has been managing editor of the Journal, will be managing editor of the Times-Journal, while Thomas R. Brown, formerly managing editor of the Times, will retire and devote a portion of his time to the Chronicle, a society weekly established a year ago by Mrs. T. R. Brown, Jr.

The Journal was the oldest paper in this section, having been established thirty-two years ago the first of this month by H. E. Cooke, who printed it at his plant at Audobon, Minn., the late Judge John McLean having been the first editor, who "wrote up" his items on a pine stump and sent them in once each week. Cooke was the publisher until twenty-one years later, when he died, and N. S. Gordon of Austin, Minn., purchased the plant and shortly afterwards started the daily, which he published until 1903, when the Crookston Journal Printing company, Charles Lorig president, took the helm for a year and was succeeded within short periods by Crawford & Berkland, Packard, Kirlisch & Reed, John N. Kirsch, M. E. Kirsch & Sons, and lastly by J. P. Ietson, publisher of the Crookston Times, who bought the plant last October and has now consolidated the two papers.

Y. M. C. A. CAMPAIGN OF CLOQUET SUCCESSFUL.

Cloquet, Minn., May 29.—(Special to The Herald.)—There are yet remaining two days of the membership campaign being conducted by the Y. M. C. A. and the 500 mark will undoubtedly be reached, the number attained being over 480 members.

A thorough canvas of the city has been made and the results of the campaign are very flattering to the association. It is shown that the Y. M. C. A. work is meeting with the approval of the great mass of the people. A grand rally will be held tonight to celebrate the excellent progress of the campaign. The boys' membership campaign will begin in a few days. They have set their number at 200 and will conduct their canvass along the same lines as the men employed.

The Y. M. C. A. baseball league is proving a great success. Two games a week are played in the evening, five innings or more to a game. All the baseball talent of the city is in the lineups and some fast ball is being played. These games serve also to keep the managers of the city teams posted on the merits of promising players.

DRAGS HIS WIFE THROUGH WINDOW

Farmer Living Near Iron River Saves Helpmate From Burning.

Iron River Wis., May 29.—(Special to The Herald.)—The home of Mr. and Mrs. John Mollenhoff, located one mile south of town, was destroyed by fire between 6 and 7 o'clock Wednesday morning.

The family all arose before 6 o'clock, with the exception of Mrs. Mollenhoff, who was sick in a room upstairs.

The origin of the fire is a mystery, as it seemed to start in the front on the outside. The building was covered with tarred paper, and the fire had gained great headway before it was discovered. Mr. Mollenhoff was in the barn, some distance from the house, when his daughter called to him that the house was on fire. When he reached the house it was impossible to enter the front of the building, and he rushed to the rear and heard Mrs. Mollenhoff scream from the inside near the kitchen window. He broke the window and succeeded in getting Mrs. Mollenhoff out, but not until her face and hands were badly burned. She was brought to this city, where medical attention was given her. Her burns are serious, though not dangerous. All of their clothing and household effects were destroyed. There was no insurance on the property.

The schoolhouse at Fire Lake was destroyed by forest fire the first of the week.

HELD TO GRAND JURY.

Philip Tonrup Bound Over on a Kidnaping Charge.

East Grand Forks, Minn., May 29.—(Special to The Herald.)—After a preliminary examination, conducted before Judge T. A. Sullivan of the municipal court, and which continued during almost the entire afternoon Friday, Philip Turoup, charged with kidnaping, was bound over to the grand jury of Polk county.

Turoup may have more than one charge to face, as information from Winnipeg is to the effect that he is wanted there on a charge of selling mortgaged property.

The charge against Turoup here is that of kidnaping a child, which he claims is his own, but Mrs. Turoup, who brought the charge, claims otherwise.

CAN'T WITHDRAW LOTS.

Judge Kneeshaw Makes Important Ruling in Langdon, N. D., Case.

Grand Forks, N. D., May 29.—(Special to The Herald.)—An important case before Judge Kneeshaw at Langdon involved the withdrawal of certain portions of the townsites of Langdon, Osnabrock and Milton. The North Dakota Land & Townsite company made the application, which was denied. This company is the holder of the original townsites in the various towns mentioned, and the lots which it would withdraw are some that have not been sold, and which are said to be so far out that they can hardly be considered a part of the town. The question of taxes enters into the proposition. It is not probable that an appeal will be taken.

A term of district court will open in Pembina county Tuesday, a petit jury being called for Wednesday. The district court of Walsh county will convent June 15, the petit jury to report for duty the following day.

JOB FOR DETECTIVES.

To Find Out Who Fired Alleged Blindpig at Conway, N. D.

Grand Forks, N. D., May 29.—(Special to The Herald.)—Judge W. J. Kneeshaw of Pembina was here Friday evening, enroute to his home from Langdon, where he has held court for several days. Judge Kneeshaw announced that he had decided to deny the petition asking that a grand jury be called in Walsh county to investigate attacks that have been made against the property of John Worth of Conway, because the petition did not carry the proper number of signatures. Under the state law the signatures of 10 per cent of the legal voters is necessary, which would mean about 400 names, while the petition presented only had about fifty names.

Worth is the proprietor of a pool and billiard hall at Conway. About a year ago his place of business was burned down, it being claimed that he was at that time operating a blind pig. A few weeks ago another effort was made to destroy the place and the petition for an investigation at the hands of a grand jury was filed.

Judge Kneeshaw states that if he had sufficient reason to believe that a grand jury investigation would have cleared the matter up he would have called such a jury, but in his opinion it is a matter in which detectives might do better work.

VIOLATE FISHING LAWS.

Game Warden Catches Several Derelicts Near Cass Lake.

Cass Lake, Minn., May 29.—(Special to The Herald.)—State Game Warden William Munch of Crookston arrived here a few days ago and silently "sized up" the game situation around here. Yesterday afternoon he caused the arrest of C. Christianson, charging him with unlawfully shipping pike caught in the inland waters of the state to an outside state. Christianson pleaded guilty and was fined $20. Since then several more have been arrested by the warden and they also paid fines and were warned not to repeat the act.

BELTRAMI COUNTY BOARD HAS RESCINDED ACTION.

Bemidji, Minn., May 29.—(Special to The Herald.)—The board of county commissioners, has accepted a resolution rescinding the action of the board taken May 4, at which time the board rejected the application of Samuel Tribbey to have the 1908 taxes of the Pine Tree Lumber company abated from an assessed valuation of $546,557 to $459,473, a difference in valuation of $81,084.

Manistique—The general conference of the Swedish Lutheran denomination in the United States will meet in annual session here the second week in September and will continue in session for four days.

Hancock—Mrs. Charles Thybault, a well known Point Mills matron, passed away at St. Joseph's hospital Thursday morning following an unsuccessful operation. The deceased entered St. Joseph's hospital last Sunday in a critical condition, and the operation was performed as a last resort.

Houghton — Capt. Foley of the Houghton Light Infantry announces that a squad of eight members of the company, headed by one of the lieutenants will go to Lake Linden Sunday to assist the Spanish war veterans and members of the G. A. R. in decorating the graves of departed soldiers.

Calumet—The members of Calumet temple, No. 76, Pythian Sisters, will entertain the Pythian Sisters of the upper peninsula during the Knights of Pythias convention to be held here June 21, 22 and 23.

Houghton—Robert G. Rickard, aged 63, died Wednesday afternoon at his home, West Houghton, after a long illness. Mr. Rickard had been an invalid for years. He sustained a permanent injury to his back while engaged in mining at the old Central mine seventeen years ago and his final illness was a result of that injury.

Calumet—According to present indications, the school census for District No. 1, of Calumet, the largest district in the Copper country, will show a slight falling off from that of last year. The enumerators have completed the returns in the Red Jacket shaft district, where an increase of two over that of last year is noted.

Houghton—Dr. D. D. Martin of Albion college, who was in Houghton some weeks ago, will be the principal speaker at the anniversary of the dedication of the Trimountain M. E. church on June 5 and 6. Dr. Martin will speak on "The Larger Life."

FITWELLS PROVE EASY

White Sox Have No Trouble With the Semi-Pros.

High School Boy Pitches Well But Has No Support.

Errors behind Cummings and ragged support at critical times turned what started out to be a close and well contested game into a rather one-sided contest. Had young Cummings been given the right kind of support he would have held the Duluth team down to a very even score.

The Fitwell aggregation garnered nine hits off Murray and Danss, yet they did not take advantage of their opportunities. The Duluth team turned its seven hits into four runs through the ragged playing of the Fitwell infield and outfield. First Baseman McCrone was allowed to make a circuit of the bases upon a single, through errors upon the part of Center Fielder Bergell and Third Baseman Boyle.

Cummings had everything that a kid pitcher ought to have. He had steam and good curves, his drop proving a puzzler to several of the Sox. He made nine of the Sox retire via the air route and only in one inning did they get to the high school boy.

The game yesterday showed the White Sox up in a good light. Their fielding was fast and clean, and if they only gathered seven hits off Cummings it must be remembered that this chap is of class D ability.

FAST ENTRIES IN MARATHON DERBY

Eight Well-Known Sprinters Compete for Big Money.

Chicago, May 29.—Eight of the fastest long distance runners of the world faced Starter James J. Jeffries at 3 o'clock this afternoon on the American League baseball park of this city for contestants in the international Marathon derby.

A track eight laps to the mile has been constructed in the park. The distance is 25 miles, 385 yards, and the record is 2 hours 49 minutes 29 seconds. There is $10,000 in prize money. The derby promises to be one of the greatest foot races ever run. Hardly a champion of recent fame is absent with the exception of Dorando Pietri. The men in the race are as follows: Mike Gleason, the winner of the recent Marathon Hoard St. Yves, winner of the two big New York races; John Svanberg, the Swedish champion; Fred Simpson, the Ottaway Indian; Tom Longboat, the Canadian Indian; Mark Mahaney, the New York runner; Fred Appeley, holder of the 15-mile record; Alex Thibaut of Chicago.

Several of the contestants have been training here for days. St. Yves and Longboat are quoted as the favorites in the race.

Martin B Herbert, official handicapper of the A. A. U., will handle the race after Jeffries fires the pistol. The judges will be William H. Arthur and William Hale Thompson. Ten checkers will mark off each lap made by the various runners.

"PLAY BALL" SIGNAL WILL BE WELCOME SIGNAL TO THE EARS OF DULUTH FANS

Unless the skies, threatening all day, leak copiously between the hours of 3 and 5 this afternoon the league ball season of 1909 will be inaugurated in Duluth with all of the incidental music, the parade, the cheers and the pop-drinking which mark similar occasions everywhere in this board land of baseball enthusiasts.

The shortcomings of the team on the recent trip, the percentage column and other little things will be forgotten in welcoming the White Sox to their home grounds. It will be an occasion of joy unconfined, and the prospects for an auspicious opening are great, except for the threatening clouds aforementioned.

Interest in the opening extends all over the city, and every fan who is not tied down to his job will probably be on hand at the park to see the locals line up against the Superior team.

The fact that the opening game will be with Superior furnishes additional interest and promises some great rooting, as there is, perhaps, nothing that brings out more quips and sallies from the grandstand and bleachers than an athletic contest with any team from across the bay.

Jack Desmond, Tom Clark and all the well known fans will be in front seats. Jack Desmond has apologized for having missed three games last season and says it will never happen again. Superior will not be unrepresented, either, as a large delegation of swamp rooters is coming over to cheer Lew Drill's aggregation.

The parade, which will begin the festivities, will start from the city hall at 2 o'clock. Mayor Haven, the aldermen and a number of city officials will have places of prominence in the calvacade. This group of officials will be augmented by the presence also of Mayor Crumpton and a group of aldermen and officials from Superior. They will also have prominent places in the parade, so that the caravan promises to furnish the sight of the greatest collection of officials in captivity, if nothing else.

Then there will be the officers of the ball club, and last, but by no means least, the Duluth and Superior ball teams. Of course, there will be a band.

DARBY O'BRIEN,
Manager of the Duluth Team.

A. W. KUEHNOW.
Secretary of the Duluth Club.

AL CUMMINGS.
Who Will Pitch the Opening Game.

"TOMMY" CLARK, JR.,
One of the Leaders of the Rooters' Brigade.

"JACK" DESMOND,
At the Head of the Rooters' Contingent.

The game is scheduled to start at 3 o'clock. A. W. Kuehnow, secretary of the ball club, will introduce Mayor Haven, who is to throw the first ball. Timid persons are assured that there are nets over the front of the grandstand, so that there will be no danger of injury to spectators when his honor throws.

After those preliminaries, the game will be on. Al Cummings will be in the box for the White Sox.

Lew Drill, who manages the Superior team, has been strengthening his team, and a number of new faces will be introduced this afternoon.

Mueller will catch for Duluth and the rest of the White Sox lineup will be the same as yesterday, except that Green will be at third, instead of Kohl. The gardening will be done by Taylor, Cooper and Wertz or Cole.

The grounds are in excellent shape and unless spoiled by rain, the chances of pulling off a snappy interesting exhibition are excellent.

BOTH MEN ARE CONFIDENT

The Battler Is, However, Still a Ten to Four Favorite.

San Francisco, Cal., May 29.—Judging from the appearance of the ticket rack, there will be a big crowd at Jimmy Coffroth's Mission street arena this afternoon, when Battling Nelson and "Fighting" Dick Hyland will fight for the lightweight championship of the world. As usual on the eve of a battle, both men express themselves as being confident that they will win.

"I'll whip Dick in one round if I can, but I won't stall," was Nelson's laconic remark.

"It looks like my only chance at the championship, so you bet I'll go after the honors strong," said Hyland.

The betting continued heavy today, with Nelson a 10 to 4 choice. Considerable California money is being wagered on Hyland. The big event is scheduled to go forty-five rounds, beginning at 3 o'clock sharp. Eddie Smith of Oakland will be the referee, and the men will fight according to straight rules, which provide that they may "bang away" so long as there is one arm free and neither man is holding.

ED. CORRIGAN IS NEARLY BROKE

"Master of Hawthorne" Said to Have But $2,000 Left.

Chicago, May 29.—That Edward Corrigan, "Master of Hawthorne," not many years ago one of the largest turf owners in America, is not as opulent as in days gone by is the story that has gained circulation following the interest in the Hawthorne racetrack transfer by him of his three-quarters yesterday for a cash consideration of $2,000 and the canceling of a note of $24,000 held against Corrigan by a banking house. Published reports say that this $2,000 is all Corrigan now has left of his fortune.

Thomas Corey, a politician, took over Corrigan's interest in the Hawthorne track. When Corey handed Corrigan the check for $2,000 the turfman is reported to have said: "Tom, that check looks bigger to me today than $100,000 did in years gone by."

SPORTS TO BE FEATURED

Relative Strength of East and West to Be Tested.

Seattle, Wash., May 29.—The sportsman's show of the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific exposition will be held on Aug 26, 27 and 28, and entries for the various events are sufficient to insure an interesting meet. The program covering the meeting has not yet been completely arranged.

Aug. 28 is the date now announced for the handicap trap shooting match, for which 200 entries have been received.

A number of aquatic events are scheduled for the first two days of the meeting, and these include canoe races, canoe tipping and all the popular competitions for which the paddle craft are adapted. The aquatic contests will probably be held on Lake Union.

The Lake Washington landing of the exposition supplies an ideal spot for the fly casting tournament, and the interest manifested by angling clubs throughout the United States and Canada give promise of a noteworthily gathering. Trophies and prizes will be offered for competition, and the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific championship cup will go for the highest score in all classes of fly and bait casting classes.

Track and field sports will flourish at the exposition in the monster stadium, built to seat 20,000 persons, and affording such spectator an unobstructed view of the running track, two baseball diamonds and a football field of regulation length.

The red letter day in the calendar of track contests will, of course, be the Amateur Athletic union contests to be held in August. The events will be more than championship contests, for the first time they will test the relative strength of the East and the West. In the past they have never been matched in equal numbers and under circumstances fair to both. At the big meets held in the East, the West has made only a desultory showing because but few athletes would journey across the continent to enter. At the contests held at Portland, Or., a number of Eastern record holders entered, but not enough to pit East against West.

The Irish-American, New York, Chicago and other east of the Mississippi clubs will all send full teams to Seattle. The Olympic club of San Francisco, the famous Multnomah club of Portland and the Spokane and Seattle clubs will enter their best men in competition. Among the famous athletes now with these organizations are Smithson, Gilbert, Dan Kelly, Snedigar, Cheek, Rose, Cox, Nelson, Plaw, Gerhardt and others. The return of Plaw, the hammer thrower, to his Berkeley form means that John Flannagan will have to heave mightily to win his event.

The National Y. M. C. A. championships will be almost equally important and the contests will be the most notable the association has ever held.

JEFF WILL NEVER FIGHT AGAIN

Manager Says Big Fellow Worked Public for Theater Attendance.

New York, May 29.—W. A. Brady, Jeff's manager, declares that the boilermaker will never fight again, that he has never had any idea of meeting Johnson and that his recent pugilistic challenge to the negro was due to a lack of interest in his vaudeville act.

Since Johnson's poor showing in the bout with Jack O'Brien in Philadelphia last week many sporting men have been wondering how long the negro would last in a fight with James J. Jeffries, providing, of course, that the boilermaker was in his best condition.

Veteran ring followers who saw Johnson fail to outpoint O'Brien, or even score a clean knockdown, in six rounds, lost no time in saying after that affair that Jeffries, fit and himself, would probably have no trouble in putting the black away in about a dozen rounds.

They argued that Johnson's cautious defensive tactics would doubtless puzzle Jeff for a while, but that as soon as the burly Californian solved the problem he would quickly stop the negro with the same terrific body punches that put Sharkey, Ruhlin, Corbett and Fitzsimmons out of business.

But will Jeffries get into condition? He says he will, and so does his manager, Sam Berger. Jeff has just engaged Jim Corbett to help him train and declares that he weighs 243 pounds at present and will take off twenty-three pounds before he enters the ring some time after next Christmas.

For Golf Championship.

Memphis, Tenn., May 29.—Jack Edrington of Memphis was a pronounced favorite over G. C. Oliver of Birmingham as the two stars started their thirty-six-hole match for the Southern championship today. The brilliant work of the Memphis veteran in defeating Ellis Knowles of Pensacola in the hard-fought match in the semi-finals yesterday caused enthusiasts of the links to look for a decisive victory over the man from Birmingham.

That the first flight cup will go to Memphis is a certainty, as both R. G. Morrow and J. H. Doughty of this city are in the finals.

Gotch Throws Three Men.

Sioux Falls, S. D.—May 29.—Frank Gotch, world's champion wrestler, last night won a handicap match, throwing three men, Dan McDonald, Joe Ackeron and Prof. Miller in 8 minutes, 13 seconds, 11 minutes, 26 seconds, and 14 minutes, respectively.

AUTO NEWS OF THE WEEK

Mesaba Range People Have the "Bug" in Aggravated Form.

Virginia Forming Automobile Club—Duluth Owners to Organize.

"Some of the most enthusiastic automobilists in the state are to be found in the cities of the Mesaba range," said E. J. Fimstrandt of the Mutual Auto company today.

Mr. Fimstrandt is just back from a week's trip of business and pleasure combined during which time he visited Evaeth, Hibbing, Virginia, Chisholm and other of the range towns.

"Some of the best roads to be found anywhere are on the Mesaba range," he continued. "I did not go up there in a car on account of the condition of many of the roads between here and there. But I was surprised after visiting in several of the range cities to note the general fine condition of the country through there.

"No wonder they are enthusiastic on the range with the opportunities they have to take long runs over such excellent roads. Virginia is just now forming a new automobile club and Hibbing and Evaeth will soon have enough resident machine owners to follow suit.

"Speaking of roads, it is about time the state road system did something toward paving the main trunk road to Duluth. Conditions are as it is the worst piece between Duluth and the Twin Cities and it ought to be one of the best kept in the county. Because of this it is almost impossible to go up.

"S. Lutz, the mining man of Buhl, was here down Tuesday making the first trip by automobile from that city to Duluth this year. He says the roads between Evaeth and the St. Louis river are in splendid shape but between Evaeth and the state ditch they are absolutely bad. The road between the county road and Pike Lake has been scraped to heavy number lately during the winter and Mr. Lutz says it is impossible to attempt the trip that way at present.

The organization of the Duluth Automobile Club has been postponed until next week. It was decided to have a mass meeting of auto owners this week but the rooms at the Commercial club had been engaged for every night in the week.

Notices will be sent to owners in and about Duluth, requesting their presence at a meeting which will be held in the Commercial club rooms either Thursday or Friday of next week.

The object is to be so much a work of interest in effecting an organization as there is an initiative. It is hoped to get enough enthusiasts together at the meeting to select officers and draft by laws, committees to take up the work and push it.

Divides a Double-Header.

New York, May 29.—Philadelphia and New York divided a double-header yesterday. The visitors took the first game, 11 to 1 and the locals the second, 2 to 0. In the second game New York batted Covaleskie hard in the fifth inning when scoring all its runs. The game was called with Philadelphia at bat in the seventh owing to the approach of a storm. Scores:

First game—			R.	H.	E.

Detroit, 2; Chicago, 1.

Detroit, Mich., May 29.—Yesterday's game went fourteen innings, and was a brilliant exhibition on both sides. The two third beasmen largely determined the result, O'Leary's hitting being responsible for both Detroit's runs, while Purtell, by almost impossible plays, repeatedly cut off other Detroit scores.

The eleventh was the only inning in which Chicago failed to have a base runner on, fifteen of the visitors being left on bases. Burns was more steady than Killain, but the latter was strong in pinches.

Detroit won with two out. Cobb, who had forced Crawford, stole second and scored on a single to left by O'Leary. Atz had a chance to win in the thirteenth, but was thrown out at the plate, trying to score from first on Sullivan's double to deep left field. Score:

Minneapolis Shut Out.

Milwaukee, Wis., May 29.—Stoney McGlynn pitched a magnificent game yesterday, holding Minneapolis to three widely scattered hits and shutting them out by a score of 2 to 0. This was his fifth shutout of the season. Olmstead pitched fine ball for the visitors, but hits at opportune times by McCormick and Robinson gave the leaders enough runs to win. The third base play of Jimmy Collins furnished the fielding feature. Score:

BASE BALL!

TOMORROW

DULUTH VS. SUPERIOR,

At Superior.

Game called at 3 p. m. Good Car Service.

Lil' Arthah Johnson has decided after all that he will not sail to London town. Heavy hangs the head that wears a crown, some application in the case of the big black. Arthah is a skittish person at best. When he left London town he left a number of uncompleted theatrical contracts hanging over his head. That is one of the reasons why he isn't going to London. Just as the Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse was about to leave from the pier, a big black streak shot up the dock, and with beads of perspiration making ink spots upon the dock pavement, begged the captain to hold the vessel. All the fancy togs of Lil' Arthah's were in his stateroom, and if the dark champion can't change his scenery at least once a day, he becomes petulant, as well as peevish.

But there may be another reason why Arthah has no stomach for this English trip. Since the easy victory of Samuel Langford over one Ian Hague, he becomes the logical opponent of Johnson. If Johnson went to England it is only natural that efforts should be made to get the two blacks into the ring together. That is one of the things that Johnson doesn't apparently wish for at the present time.

The fear of Stubby Sam may have played an important part in keeping the big champion out of King Edward's domain. In his later years Samuel has been developing a tremendous wallop, and it may be that Lil' Arthah has no appetite for that same wallop. The match with Al Kaufman looks, on the surface, like an acceptance of some easy money rather than being forced to take a chance with the Langford person.

Johnson should win from the Kaufman cheese, and win quickly. The big Dutchman has never beaten a good man. Some people believe, from the mere fact that he is in the hands of veteran Billy Delaney, the man who made two world's champions, James J. Corbett and James J. Jeffries, that there is good material in the Kaufman person. If there is, he has to date failed to show any promise of becoming a champion. He will have his great desire in the battle with Johnson. If there is the stuff that champions are made of in the Pacific slope boy, he will show it in the clash with the present champion.

It might be interesting to note that at the present time three men lay claim to being the world's champion heavyweigh. First, there is Jack Johnson, who, by his defeat of Temmy Burns, claims the crown that formerly adorned the curly head of Jeffries. Second comes the claim of Jeffries that he has never been defeated, and that therefore he is at the present time the champion of the world. Jeff denies the general belief that he ever gave the championship away. And lastly comes the modest claim of Sammy Langford. Stubby Langford claims the championship through the refusal of Johnson to meet him before the National Sporting Club of London. If Sandy Ferguson had only been successful in his fight against Joe Jeanette, it is very likely that we would hear the blatant claims of a fourth aspirant to the title.

There are again rumors that the magnates of the American association are planning a war against the majors. A baseball war nearly occurred this winter, through the stand taken by the Eastern league and the American association, over the drafting of players and the class that the two largest of the minors were to have.

At that time it looked as if the threatened war might really occur. However, it blew over and things in the baseball world have been tranquil since then. Seven of the eight magnates of the American association met in Chicago the day before yesterday. It was stated that the meeting had to do with the payment of over $1,000 for Pitcher Andy Coakley by the Louisville club. There is an agreement among the clubs of the American association forbidding them to pay over $1,000 for a player from the big leagues, for whom waivers have been asked, and this infraction of the ruling of the association, according to one report, is what called the magnates to the Chicago meeting.

However, it is stated upon very reliable authority that there is something deeper than the Coakley case at the bottom of the meeting. A war waged between the miners and majors looks like a futile and useless way to settle disagreements. If such a struggle occurs, the majors are almost certain to have the better of the argument.

There is talk of matching Jack Johnson and James J. Corbett over the 6-round route. If the ex-champion relishes anything like the speed that once made him the greatest boxer that the world has ever seen, he would box rings around the negro for the 6-round route. It is hardly probable that the Corbett of the present time is anything like the Corbett of old, in which case Lil' Arthah would probably pick up another soft piece of money.

This afternoon at San Francisco Oscar Battling Nelson and Richard Hyland, better known to the world of fistiana, as "Fighting" Dick Hyland, are indulging in a little fistic debate. The wise old dope that often goes wrong by the way, selects the durable Dane as the winner. The fight should be a hummer. It will show whether the Battling one is the Nelson of old.

The mortality list of the city has been greatly increased. Most of the deaths and serious cases of illness have not been reported to the coroner and to the health department, but rather to peevish employers of small and restless boys. They may use their own judgment about reporting the case to the proper authorities. The cause of the many reported fatalities is baseballitis, a disease that every spring causes many reported deaths of near relatives.

Baseballitis manifests itself in the form of a fever. It is virulent, and in its worst stages has been known to make boys steal pennies from pool boxes. When the team is winning baseballitis is particularly contagious. However, though it generally rages in the spring, the young are liable to contract the disease at any time.

READY FOR BIG MEET

Coach Stagg of Chicago Is Busy Man These Days.

Chicago, May 29.—The college dual track season is over and Coach Stagg of the University of Chicago will now start pointing his men for the conference meet which takes place on Marshall field June 5. Comparing records made in the different dual meets held this season it looks as if the Midwayites had as little chance of winning the banner as they had last season, after having been defeated in dual meets by both Wisconsin and Illinois.

There has been an over supply of middle-distance runners developed this spring. At the start of the season Chicago thought it was going to score most of its points in the conference meet in the mile and a half races, but things have changed and followers of the sport say Chicago will be lucky to get a point out of either the half-mile or the mile.

In the half-mile there is one man who stands out and above all the rest of the entrants, and this is Miller of Stanford, who runs the half-mile in 1:57. In the conference meet last year he won in a canter in 1:58 2-5 and has improved more than a second since then.

Miller is the premier entrant, but there are a few more who, under ordinary circumstances, would be considered champions. Dohmen of Wisconsin is about next to Miller, as he ran in 1:59 2-5 this season after having competed and won a mile race in 4:28 2-5. Some of the cardinal fans say if he keeps out of the mile and races Miller in the half-mile he will beat him, but only Badger rooters say this.

Rohrer of Illinois defeated Comstock and Timblin of Chicago, and if Dohmen won from Rohrer and Miller, and Miller has made better time than Dohmen, where do the two Maroons get off? It is thought Stagg will shift both of these men to the mile, where they will stand a better chance of annexing a few tallies. But in this also they will have stiff competition.

There is a little short fellow with a mammoth stride at Notre Dame university called Dana, and he has run some fast miles, having beaten the mighty Kinkaid of Purdue. He has gone the route under 4:30, and there are plenty who are willing to back him in the mile in the conference meet. Herrick of Illinois isn't very slow when it is considered that he has beaten Comstock of Chicago and ran the race in 4:34 in the face of a gale, but he in turn was beaten by Dohmen of Wisconsin.

The two-mile does look like a Chicago event with Stophlet. This lad ran in 9:55 2-5 Saturday, and this is fifteen seconds better than any other Westerner has done this year. It is said there is a fast two-miler at Stanford, but he will have to go better than 9:40 to beat Stophlet. Chicago fans say.

Stagg started developing his quarter-milers for a relay team to run in the big eight meet. This event counts the same as any other, and will be well worth winning. It is thought Shuart, Lingle, Comstock and Timblin will make up the Maroon quartet.

JOHN L. DENIES HE IS LOVE SICK

Old Gladiator Says He Has No Intention of Marrying.

Phoenix, Ariz., May 29.—"I have not seen Mrs. Charles Johnson for fifteen years, and have not been in Brooklyn for over a year. I have not married Mrs. Johnson, nor do I intend to be married. I have just got through one matrimonial experience and that is enough to last me a while."

John L. Sullivan made this reply last evening to a reporter who asked him about the report that he had married the wife of his former trainer and manager.

"I got a letter from Jack Wilson of New York some time ago, telling me he had been informed that I was about to get married," added John L. "I think that was the start of the story."

Jimmy Ryan May Die.

Savannah, Ga., May 29.—Greek Jimmy Ryan of Memphis is unconscious, with a fractured skull, and probably is dying, and Young Evans of New York is held as the result of their 15-round fight before the Southern Athletic club here last night. The men were matched at 138 pounds. Soon after the bell rang for the last round the fighters rushed, endeavoring to land a knock out. Quick blows were exchanged and in the clinch the fighters fell, Ryan beneath. Ryan's head snapped against the floor, crushing his skull. An operation was ordered in the hope of saving his life.

Cross Bests Young Erne.

New York May 29.—Leach Cross of New York had the better of a 10-round bout with Young Erne of Philadelphia at the Fairmount Athletic club last night. The lightweights put on a rattling good fight, with Cross the aggressor throughout. Erne was a bit slow, but woke up as the bout progressed and for a time it was give and take. Cross, however, was fast and clever all through.

Frayne a Favorite.

New York, May 29.—Johnny Frayne, San Francisco's champion lightweight boxer, came to New York today from his training quarters in Connecticut for his fight tonight with Mike Glover. Frayne is a favorite in the bout.

JACK SPENDING HIS MONEY FAST

Heavyweight Champion Has a Weakness for Diamonds and Autos.

Philadelphia, May 29.—Jack Johnson, the heavyweight, has proved that he is a two-handed spender as well as a fighter. He pulled down $5,000 as his share of the bout with O'Brien, and in two days has let $4,800 of it go for two purchases.

"What can this machine do?" asked Johnson.

"Make seventy-eight miles an hour," returned the salesman.

"That's my speed," replied Johnson; "you're on."

Then the big negro handed out three $1,000 bills and received the machine in exchange. He lost no time getting into it, and sped away from the garage, leaving the salesman astounded by the quickness in which he purchased the automobile.

The day before Johnson purchased a big diamond for $1,800, and, as he let a number of $20 bills go for less expensive articles, the fighter virtually has none of the $5,000 left which he received from Promoter Edwards of the National Athletic club on the day of the bout.

It has not been entirely one round of pleasure for Johnson. He has felt the arm of the law again. While leaving his training quarters in Merchantville in an automobile he was approached by Sergeant-at-Arms Fred Voight of the district court of Camden, who attached the machine because of a claim of Clara Keir of Philadelphia, who declares that Johnson owes her $406 for board for his blind brother.

Before Judge Jones, Johnson declared that he did not own the machine, but that it belonged to George T. Little, his manager, who produced a bill of sale. The court let Johnson go on his own recognizance. He was also allowed to take the car. Johnson's baggage, consisting of ten trunks, have been transferred to Philadelphia.

JOHNSON HAS MANY WEAK SPOTS

New York, May 29.—No man is better qualified to express an opinion as to the result of the 20-round fight between Jack Johnson, the present heavyweight champion of the world, and Stanley Ketchel, scheduled for Oct. 21 at Colma, than Philadelphia Jack O'Brien.

O'Brien declares with unmistakable assurance that Ketchel would wrest the title from the big negro and he gave several important reasons.

"In the first place, Ketchel is the hardest hitter in the world," said O'Brien. "He is the greatest puncher I have ever met, and that means he excels Bob Fitzsimmons in this respect. Fitz never had a superior as a walloper, not even Jeffries, so that you can appreciate what a terrific puncher Ketchel is.

"In the second place, Johnson, in my opinion, cannot take severe punishment either in the stomach or on neck or jaw, even in his most rugged condition. He is an awkward man to hit, I'll admit, and he knows much about the art of self-defense, but when I made him back up with body blows I realized in a minute that he would prove a mark for a slugger of Ketchel's type and ability.

"In the third place, Johnson is overrated in many ways. He is a big, strong fellow with a good punch, but he does not know how to land except when in a flat-footed position. He cannot hit while in motion when up against a shifty opponent like myself, and is easily rattled.

"His weight, height and reach are much in his favor, of course, but he is not a quick thinker by any means, and I believe that if he receives several hurtful smashes in mixups at close range, he is likely to lose his bearings completely."

Western Tournament.

Seattle, Wash., May 29.—The third annual tournament of the Western Bowling congress was opened at the Madison Park pavilion last night. The Denver delegation, eighteen strong, and San Francisco's five-men team arrived yesterday. Spokane and Salt Lake City teams are expected today. Tacoma will send a large delegation tomorrow and Portland's delegates will reach the city Wednesday morning.

Barry in Paris.

Paris, May 29.—Jim Barry, Chicago heavyweight, last night knocked out Tom Bolan, an Englishman, in the first round, and a Frenchman, named Hogan knocked out Dick Green, an American, in the third round.

HANGMAN'S NOOSE IS FOUND IN COURTHOUSE.

Centerville, Iowa, May 29.—A perfectly tied hangman's noose was found secreted in the courthouse near the room in which John Junken, negro slayer of Clara Rosen, is kept in his trial. Spectators at the trial yesterday were greatly wrought up as Chief of Police Gallagher told of the confession which Junken made and later repudiated. Detective John Gray also told how Junken described the murder to him. The defense will put Junken on the witness stand, it is said.

It transpired yesterday that Junken Thursday night made a futile break for liberty through a window of the grand jury room, in which he is confined on the third floor of the courthouse. Six armed men sat around Junken's cot last night to guard him from lynching and to prevent his escape.

News of the Theater

AT THE LYCEUM

LILLIAN RUSSELL WILL BE SEEN IN DULUTH FOR TWO NIGHTS IN THE RACING COMEDY, "WILDFIRE"—SUMMER STOCK FOR DULUTH.

Lillian Russell is booked for the Lyceum and will be seen there on next Monday and Tuesday evenings in the racing comedy "Wildfire" presented by Joseph Brooks and which was written by George Broadhurst and George V. Hobart.

The play comes from a long run at the Liberty theater, New York, where Miss Russell scored a triumph in it. Her work in straight histronic endeavors has been a revelation. The play concerns the adventures of a beautiful widow, who has been left a racing stable secretly operated by her husband in his lifetime. The machinations of crooked race track men and the needs of concealing her identity make the task a ticklish one, but the successful manner in which the widow comes through and gets it all straightened out to the satisfaction of her admirers, makes "Wildfire" a play of absorbing interest. It is beautifully staged in three acts, the second of which shows the interior of a racing stable at one of the big tracks. Miss Russell is gowned exquisitely and is provided with a company of popular favorites, including Frank Sheridan, Will Archie, Thurston Hall, Sydney Booth, Joseph Tuohy, Gilbert Douglas, Franklin Roberts, Ernest Truex, J. Hayes Hunter, Ellen Mortimer, Mary Elizabeth Forbes and Annie Buckley.

MME. NAZIMOVA COMING.

She Will Appear in Duluth in in June in Repertoire.

The word "repertoire" has fallen into misuse of late, being mainly applied to the stock companies playing the smaller cities. Formerly it represented a company of the highest class and was recognized as applicable to the more important attractions only. Madame Nazimova has given it a new dignity, for her organization of a repertoire company in all that the term implies. During her coming engagement at the Lyceum on June 14, 15 and 16, this organization will be seen for the first time. When Madame Nazimova started her remarkably successful run in New York, she staged all her plays. Every detail was thoroughly gone into. The result now is five productions, which are complete to such an extent that every picture, hanging, furnishing, and ornament for each play, is carried. The company has been trained in this repertoire and although there are nearly a score of players in her support, Nazimova uses only a limited number in each play. Some players are engaged for but one play in the entire repertoire. Not many stars nowadays carry more than one play on tour.

THE QUIGLEY PLAYERS.

"When Knighthood Was in Flower" as the Opening Bill.

The advance sale of seats for "When Knightwood Was In Flower" opens Monday morning. There are indications that it will be one of the largest first day's sales ever recorded in the history of the Lyceum, based upon the large number of requests for reservations which have been received by mail and otherwise. This splendid production of the romantic drama will be seen at the Lyceum for one week, commencing June 7, when the Quigley players will make their initial bow to the Duluth public.

"When Knighthood Was in Flower" is one of the standard modern dramas. Its comedy is genuinely good; its dramatic scenes are of the highest order; its scenic environment is of the most gorgeous and massive description; its costuming is elaborate and the whole performance moves with ceaseless animation. Originality is the distinguishing characteristic of "When Knighthood Was in Flower." It is a splendid production from all points of view.

Of the Quigley players, Duluthians will have to judge for themselves.

LILLIAN RUSSELL,

AT THE BIJOU

FAMOUS FIRE DANCER HEADS EXCELLENT VAUDEVILLE BILL, COMMENCING MONDAY AFTERNOON AND CONTINUING ALL WEEK.

A well-balanced program of vaudeville acts will be at the Bijou the coming week. It will contain a little of everything in the amusement line. Heading the list will be the noted European dancer, Ameta, who will introduce her spectacular mirror and fire dance in Duluth for the first time. The act has been a great success since she has been appearing in this country. Ameta is one of the few dancers imported to this country to play the New York Hippodrome, where she appeared for six weeks as a special feature.

A big comedy hit will be John J. Black and Maurice Frank and company in the roaring comedy success entitled "The Advance Agent." This is one of the funniest acts that has appeared at the Bijou this season, and from the press notices from different cities, the act is far above the usual run of comedy sketches. Another good comedy act will be Gruet and Gruet, the eccentric black-face comedians. These two comedians have appeared in Duluth several times with different minstrel and musical companies, and their name alone is a guarantee that they have an act that is full of bright and sparkling comedy, as both are considered head-liners in the line of funmakers.

A clever novelty will be the Tora Japanese family, who are expert equilibrists and novelty artists. They introduce many new and sensational feats in the gymnastic line.

An interesting act will be presented by the Telegraph Comedy Four, who are singers, dancers and comedians. They sing a number of the newest song hits and quartet selections.

Harry Webb, who is making a big hit singing the illustrated songs, will sing "Mad Moon," a new song craze in the East.

The moving pictures will be new and exclusive subjects. Matinees are given daily at 2:45 and evening performances at 8 and 9:30. Seats may be reserved by either telephone. A special school children's matinee will be given Saturday at 2:30, and performances Sunday afternoon and night.

Among some of the feature attractions that are booked to appear at the Bijou in the near future will be J. K. Emmet and company, Crimmings and Gore, the Five Juggling Jordons, Cogan and Bancroft, Eddie Girard and Jessie Gardner, Brothers Wood, Bissonette and Newman, W. C. Hoofler, Long and Cotton, Rinaldo, Montrose troupe, Selbini and Grovino, the Four Stagpoles, Vera De Bassitini, Cort and a great number of big European features.

GOSSIP OF THE RIALTO

INTERESTING REVIEW OF THE THEATRICAL SEASON JUST CLOSED IN NEW YORK—A GLANCE AT ITS SUCCESSES AND FAILURES.

New York, May 29.—Although the dramatic season has already closed in a number of the larger cities New York managers are actively preparing for new productions and revivals. Grace George is preparing to bring her run in "A Woman's Way" to a close at the Hackett, and her place will be taken by "The Narrow Path." Olga Nethersole closed at the Savoy last Saturday night in "The Writing on the Wall," but the theater will remain dark for only a short time. Miss Nethersole says she will reopen the same playhouse in the autumn with the same play. Maris Dressler is shortly coming into town for an all-summer stay at the roof garden theater of the New Amsterdam, and Marie Ziegfeld is almost ready with the "Follies of 1909," his new burlesque show, which is to be the summer attraction at the Jardin de Paris, otherwise the roof of the New York theater. I am quoting from memory and those are by no means all the novelties in immediate prospect.

The season has not been satisfactory from a financial point of view, and the season's record shows some queer conditions. The total number of productions reaches a round century figure. The longest continuous run is credited to "The Man From Home." It began an engagement at the Astor Aug 17 last, and so far has announced no closing date. Next comes "The Traveling Salesman" with a record of eight months, followed by "A Gentleman From Mississippi," which is still running, after completing almost an eight months' engagement at the Bijou, falsely accused of being the home of hoodoos.

"The Fighting Hope," in which Blanche Bates appeared at the Stuyvesant and the Belasco, has the record of the longest run of any of the serious plays, six months and a half. "The Blue Mouse" has been running five months and a half, and is slated for an all-summer stay at the Maxine Elliott theater.

J. M. Barrie's comedy, "What Every Woman Knows," will have about completed a six-months' run at the Empire by the time it closes the season, which beats the record of the wicked "Queen of the Moulin Rouge" by a month, while "The Patriot," "The Easiest Way" and "The Dawn of a To-Morrow" will have scored an almost neck-and-neck run of four months and a half by the time the latter two drop the last curtain. Another good run was made by George Arliss in "The Devil," which held the Belasco theater for five months. The only problem to succeed in scoring a record was "The World and His Wife," in which William Faversham managed to entertain New Yorkers three months, all told.

Forty-nine new plays of American and twenty of foreign authorship were produced on Broadway this season. The ratio of American plays to the number of adaptations produced represents 71 per cent of the whole. It is more difficult to reduce to a mathematical basis the proportion of unqualified successes to the number of artistic successes which were unremunerative, such as "The Mollusc" and "Mater." Long runs do not invariably indicate either the artistic or financial values of a play. Many a piece of obvious mediocrity is Many a piece of obvious mediocrity is run under forced draught, afterward to recoup on the road losses sustained on Broadway. Some of the real successes of the season apparently have just started. The big successes on broad lines, either artistically or financially, or both, have been, in addition to those enumerated above, "Love Watches," "The Third Degree," "A Woman's Way," "The Climax," "Jack Straw," "Samson," "Lady Frederick," "A Fool There Was," "The Battle" and "Mary Jane's Pa."

Of the forty-nine American plays produced, twelve are credited with having redeemed the faith that was put in them, or about 17 per cent of the total number of productions. It has thus been necessary to produce four American plays to get one success. But 32 per cent of all the plays produced proved successful, or one out of three, including those which came over with the prestige of European success.

Robert Mantell has had an unusually long season in New York. He opened at the New Amsterdam on March 8 in "King John," and, after five weeks in a standard repertoire, moved to the Academy of Music, where he will continue top lay until tonight, when E. H. Sothern and Julia Marlowe begin a three weeks' engagement there in "Hamlet," "Romeo and Juliet" and "Measure for Measure." Last Wednesday afternoon he took up his first romantic role outside of Romeo, appearing in "The Lady of Lyons," but fact greater interest attached to his first appearance in twenty years as Raphael in Barriere's famous of dplay, "The Marble Heart."

All the critics were on hand, and the event was treated as a first night. It turned out to be the best bill Mantell has offered, although there was an abysmal difference of opinion in the tone of the press the next day. It was apparent that many of the young men overlooked the fact that "The Marble Heart" was written in 1853, and is fifty-six years old. The dialogue was described as old fashioned, the plot as harrowing and the banal fun was forthcoming at the expense of our grandmothers, who thrilled to the pathos of the tragic love affair of Raphael and the marble-hearted Marco, the living reality of the sculptor's dream. Left to us old timers—and this scribe confesses that he never saw the play on the stage—making allowance for change of time and conditions, not to say manners, the piece appeared to exercise its reputed spell, and Mantell never acted with a more genuine display of feeling or with finer delicacy of expression.

The parting scene with Marco in the third act was superb, and his death scene after going insane was played with power and discrimination that was tremendously effective. Marie Booth Russell, too, rose to the occasion as Marco. She looked entrancing in a costume of the period, and aside from a certain statuesque grandeur played the heartless coquette with every show of verity. The audience wasc evidently pleased, if some of the critics were not.

Accounts from London describe Maxine Elliott's appearance with Waller in "The Duchess," an adaption from Balzac's novels, as little short of a fiasco. Her Duchess was not taken seriously, and during the performance the "hooting" was almost intimidating. Miss Elliott now is hardly less severe on the London public, with whom she was long a favorite, than was Marie Dressler, who, after her return, expressed her dislike of the "hoohers" in a tirade of choice albeit ladylike invectives recently. Miss Dressler's experience dates back to her attempt to introduce an American musical comedy at a theater she had especially leased for the venture. The conduct of the audience was disgraceful, while Miss Elliott has written to friends in town that she was so humiliated she wishes never to appear before a London audience again.

All doubt as to the choice of an artistic producer for the new theater has been set at rest by the news that Louis Calvert, the English actor, has been chosen for that position. Mr. Calvert starts operations in August in anticipation of the opening of the theater on Nov. 2. He himself will appear in four roles in standard plays, two of which are Sir Peter Teazle and Caliban in "The Tempest."

The New theater, by the way, is making progress, as represented by the magnificent pile that is to house the new art. Its situation facing Central Park is one of the most delightful of any public building in New York. It is seldom, in fact, that one sees a building so elegibly located as this one. The fact that Lee Shubert was made the business manager of the enterprise has been a thorn in the side of several theatrical magnates ever since the choice of the directors fell upon the head of the Shubert clan. Repeated attempts have been made to discredit the enterprise, which have become particularly active since the theater has assumed its present structural magnificence. Many believed it existed only in the imagination of certain mysterious and intangible spirits who had a way of filling the papers with their artistic vagaries. But now that it is obvious that another Metropolitan opera house is behind the New theater, the alarm over its possible influence is spreading.

The later rumor is that Charles Frohman and Oscar Hammerstein have combined during their stay in Europe to counteract the New theater scheme with a similar enterprise, to be conducted by them jointly. This may and may not be true, but it is vouched for, and Mr. Frohman announced but recently that he had a similar plan in view with the Empire theater, intending to revert to his former policy of producing repertoire. If it is true it is evidence of the new alignment that has been created by the recent shakeup by which Belasco and Fiske nominally joined the syndicate. Down to that time Hammerstein was always counted on the side of the independents. If now he and Frohman, one of the big factors in the syndicate, join hands to fight the New theater bonanza of Lee Shubert's prominence in the business end of the undertaking, it is accepted as a good sign that overtures have also been made to Oscar to come in out of the wet.

But the arrangement with Belasco and Fiske is said to have left some loopholes, and while Belasco will be playing more generally in houses controlled by the trust than he has for six or seven years, Fiske is said to maintain a dignified independence. Instead of booking exclusively with the trust he will book Mrs. Fiske and whatever other attractions he may control next season indiscriminately at Shubert and syndicate houses, and it is said that he is able to do this because neither side is in a position to refuse any legitimate attraction. The outlook for new productions next season is very much less encouraging than it has been in years, and both sides will be hard put to it to find plays to fill time.

Arrangements have been made for an extended tour of Joe Weber and his travesty company in the burlesque of "The Merry Widow and the Devil." According to the present plan, the season will extend to the Pacific coast.

"Follies of the Day," the musical comedy that has created such a sensation in New York city is now entering upon its fourth big week at the Lincoln Square theater. The book and lyrics were written by Barney Gerard and the music is by Albert Von Tilzer. These two have conceived a musical piece that is a tuneful sensation. Every song is already being whistled along Broadway. Not since the erection of this theater has there been such large audiences as have greeted "Follies of the Day," the receipts for the first two weeks eclipsing Harry Lauder's business by $5,000. So unanimous were the New York press in their criticism of the show that it swept New York like a cyclone and the theatergoers welcomed the entertainment with open arms and further demonstrated their appreciation by encoring every number about a dozen times. By actual count there proved to be seventy-two encores in the first act and forty-eight in the second. These seem like exaggerated figures, but several of the critics commented upon this point and claimed that never was there a musical comedy show in New York that extracted so many encores. The production is a spectacular one, showing two elaborate sets of scenery, the first being Fifty-ninth street and Fifth avenue, the leading residential district of New York and the second set is Atlantic City showing the Boardwalk in all its splendor. The costuming and electrical effects are bright and cheerful and exploit a lot of novelties which are very pleasing to the eye. There are sixty-five people in the cast, mostly girls, tall and small, and all pretty. There are laughs galore, in fact you laugh all the time and that is what theatergoers demand at all times, particularly in the summer time. The company will remain at the Lincoln Square theater indefinitely.

The first act of "Lo," the musical comedy, which O. Henry and Franklin P. Adams are writing for the comedian, John E. Young, takes place in Washington, where "Hoky" McGee, a Tammany "live wire," is receiving an appointment as anthropologist with a government expedition of research among the Indians of Mexico. Both authors and the composer, A. Baldwin Sloane, with Mr. Young, have secluded themselves in the Adirondacks and have promised Harry Askin, the producer, the manuscript by July 1.

Helen Ware, who is appearing in "The Third Degree" at the Hudson theater, New York, before taking up the dramatic profession, had serious thoughts of going into light opera, and with that aim in view studied for several years under a competent vocal instructor. Miss Ware prides herself on her singing voice, and a few days ago while in Henry B. Harris' office, in a spirit of jest entered the office of Jesse L. Lasky, the vaudeville producer, and not being known to Mr. Lask's musical director, made application for a position in one of his vaudeville acts. The musical director immediately asked her to let him hear her voice to which request Miss Ware complied. After singing over three or four selections, the musical director asked her to wait a minute, and going into Mr. Lasky's office, said: "Mr. Lasky, there is a young lady out here looking for a position in one of your companies, and I have heard her voice and she has got a corker. I would advise you to make a contract with her at once." Mr. Lasky came out to meet the lady, and immediately on seeing Miss Ware, recognized her, and as a result Mr. Lasky's musical director has been buying drinks for the gang ever since.

James Forbes, the author of "The Chorus Lady" and "The Traveling Salesman," two of the biggest comedy hits produced in years, has just closed contracts for his latest play, "The Commuters," with Henry B. Harris. The production of this play is to be made this coming season, as its title indicates, this comedy will deal with suburban life. Unquestionably Mr. Forbes will introduce to the stage many of the comedy situations that crop up in the life of the man whose business is in the city, but who lives at the mercy of the railroads in the country districts nearby a metropolis.

At Daly's theater Joseph Weber is presenting "The Climax," a melody drama by Edward Locke. The history of the play so far as it has progressed has been one of unalloyed success. Mr. Weber first presented the play at his own theater for a series of special matinees. These performances were so successful that Daly's theater was secured, and on Monday, April 26, "The Climax" began what will undoubtedly prove to be an all-summer run.

Having closed his season in "The Call of the North," Robert Edeson has settled down in his home for the summer months. Opening his house after its being closed since last fall, Mr. Harris found it necessary to engage a number of servants. Among them was a young girl who was hired as a waitress. The other morning the milkman failed to put in his appearance, and Mr. Edeson requested the maid to go out to a dairy and buy enough cream for the breakfast. He gave her a half dollar to pay for it. The girl came back and gave Mr. Edeson 2 cents in change, remarking: I couldn't get 50 cents' worth of cream. The biggest bottle they had only held 48 cents' worth."

What sealed her fate as a servant in the Edeson household was, when asked by Mrs. Edeson to bring in a vegetable dish, she loaded up a tray with every kind of a dish in Mr. Edeson's large collection of Haviland china and innocently inquired: "Which one of these is a vegetable dish?"

Fighting Is Renewed Among Heawah Clans in China.

Amoy, China, May 29.—Fighting among the clans has been resumed in the Heawah district, sixty-five miles north of Amoy and is interfering with business.

The trouble began three years ago because of the abduction of a bride and has continued intermittently.

More than 300 men have been killed. Troops succeeded in restoring order last summer, but improvement in the situation was only temporary.

FRENCH FEDERATION OF LABOR SEEMS TOTTERING.

Paris, May 29.—The prestige of the General Federation of Labor has gone to pieces since the collapse of the general strike. The secretary has resigned and the more powerful unions have withdrawn with the intention of forming a new federation divested of the revolutionary characteristics of the old one. The general association of postmen has repudiated its connection with the workmen's organization.

CONTEST NOTICE—
Department of the Interior, United States Land Office.
Duluth, Minnesota, May 4, 1909.

A sufficient contest affidavit having been filed in this office by Rachel E. Kjostad, contestant, against homestead entry No. 23328, made November 13, 1907, for Lot 1, 2½, NW¼ and NE¼SW¼, Section 19, Township 65 N., Range 17 W., 4th P. M., by Stanislaw Dziadusz, contestee, in which it is alleged that said Stanislaw Dziadusz died and killed himself some time during the latter part of May, 1908. That prior to his death he, the said claimant, never built a house upon or cleared or cultivated any portion of said land. That he never established residence thereon, but wholly abandoned all claim thereto forward from the time of making said entry. That since his death neither his widow nor his heirs or legal representatives, or any of them, have appeared and laid claim to said land, or in any way or manner built upon, cleared, improved or cultivated said land or any portion thereof. That the names and residences of the heirs of said deceased entryman are unknown to this deponent. That none of them are residents of the United States. That said deceased claimant came from Russia alone to this country, leaving all his relatives in said Empire of Russia; and that said alleged absence from said land was not due to his employment in the Army, Navy or Marine Corps of the United States during any war, said parties are hereby notified to appear, respond and offer evidence touching said allegation, at 9 o'clock a. m., on June 30, 1909, before the Register and Receiver at the United States Land Office in Duluth, Minnesota.

The said contestant having, in a proper affidavit, filed February 5, 1909, set forth facts which show that after due diligence personal service of this notice can not be made, it is hereby ordered and directed that such notice be given by due and proper publication.

INTERIOR OF THE NEW LODGE ROOM.

GEORGE S. MUNSEY,
Member of Building Committee.

The magnificent new home of Duluth lodge No. 133, Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, will be formally opened to the members of the order on Wednesday, June 9. It had been planned to have the first meeting in the new building on June 2, and everything will be in readiness by that time, but owing to the work involved in turning the management over to the house committee, it was thought best to defer the opening until one week later.

No formal ceremonies will mark the event although a program of unusual excellence has been arranged for the occasion. Justice Edwin A. Jaggard of the state supreme court has accepted an invitation to be present and take a leading part. Justice Jaggard is a prominent member of the St. Paul lodge of Elks and is well remembered by the local brethren for the eloquent address he delivered on the occasion of the laying of the cornerstone last October.

Many New Elks.

There is a long list of candidates to be initiated into the order on that day. The work of initiation will be commenced in the afternoon and will continue during the evening. Orchestral music and refreshments will have their places on the program and the closing hours of the evening will be occupied with a social session and smoker. Between now and June 9 every member of 133, whose address is known, will receive an invitation to be present, and it is expected that the attendance on that night will tax to the fullest the capacity of the new building, commodious as it is.

The Elks building, including the interior appointments, represents a cash outlay of about $100,000. It is located on the north side of West First street adjoining the Board of Trade and is one of the most handsome and substantial structures in the downtown district. It has a street frontage of fifty feet, is 140 feet long and three stories in height. The two upper floors will be used by the Elks for club and lodge room purposes.

The lodge room is located on the third floor at the rear and is without doubt the finest in the state. The furniture throughout the building with the exception of that of the dining room and card and billiard rooms, is of solid mahogany. Each piece was built to order with special reference to the place it occupies. The lodge room is fifty feet square and the seating capacity is ample. There is also a balcony at the south end. The furnishings of the billiard and lounging rooms, and, in fact throughout the building are the best that money could buy. The billiard room is finished in birch with oak settees. One may gain some idea of the expense involved in furnishing the entire building, from the fact that one mahogany table which adorns the center of the lounging room, alone cost $560.

The dining room on the second floor will be open to members at all times. It is light and roomy and the furniture is of solid English oak. Certain days will be set apart for the ladies and a parlor for their use has been provided. The halls and stairways are laid with royal Wilton carpets, the windows are all hung with curtains of imported Irish point, Morris chairs and luxurious davenports are everywhere. In fact, everything has been selected with an eye to beauty and comfort, rather than cost.

Great credit is due the six gentlemen composing the building committee for their untiring efforts to erect a structure that will be a source of pride to every member of Duluth lodge for years to come. As chairman of this committee, A. E. McManus has taken a leading part in the work. The actual construction of the building has been under the supervision of John W. Hilliard, and the other members of this committee are: Henry Folz, P. McDonnell, George S. Munsey and H. W. Andridge. Their labors are now over, for the future care of the building will be in the hands of the house committee, and they close up the work that has occupied them unceasingly for ten months, with a feeling that they could not have done it better.

The plans on which the structure is built were not adopted from any other source. Many features were original with the building committee and the arrangement of the building as a whole has been well indorsed by the announcement that the Masons of Superior aim to follow it in many particulars in the construction of their new temple.

RARE AND CURIOUS HISTORY OF LAKE SUPERIOR BY TWO EXPLORERS WHO ANTEDATED DU LHUT, OWNED BY LIBRARY

Among the rare and curious books in the possession of the Duluth public library is one that, apart from the unique circumstances connected with its publication, is of especial interest to the people of Duluth.

This book is an account of the adventures of Groseilliers and Radisson, the first white men to make explorations and discoveries in what is now the state of Minnesota and who traded with the Lake Superior Indians at or near the present site of the city of Duluth nearly twenty years before Daniel Du Lhut called his great convocation of Indian tribes in the same locality in the autumn of 1679.

Strange as it may seem the manuscripts of Radisson were never published until more than 200 years after he had penned them, and it was only by the merest chance that they were not lost forever. After the death of Radisson, about the year 1710, the manuscripts fell into the hands of Admiral Samuel Pepys, who was head of the British admiralty during the reigns of Charles II and James II. Several years after the death of Pepys his manuscripts became scattered about London, numerous tradesmen buying parts of them for waste paper.

A London collector, Richard Rawlinson by name, made an effort to get these manuscripts together again and to a large degree succeeded. Parts of the Radisson manuscripts ultimately found their way into the archives of the Bodleian library at Oxford and portions to the British museum. In these two libraries the manuscripts remained unknown and unprinted until 1885 when a Boston society for the preservation and publication of documents bearing on early American history had them published.

The edition was limited to 250 copies and there are but two copies in the state of Minnesota—one in the public library of Duluth and the other in the library of the state historical society in St. Paul. Of the total number printed it is not positively known that more than ninety-five are in existence and this number included twenty copies owned by the British museum. It is its extreme rarity and the fact that the book is a first edition that has placed it in the first rank of rare and expensive volumes.

On the title page is the following: "Voyages of Peter Esprit Radisson, Being an Account of His Travels and Experiences Among the North American Indains, from 1652 to 1684."

The book is a small quarto volume of 358 pages and follows the manuscripts precisely in spelling and punctuation. Radisson and Groseilliers, as their names would imply were Frenchmen. They were also brothers-in-law. Groseilliers having married Radisson's sister after the death of his first wife, who was a daughter of Abraham Martin, after whom the Plains of Abraham were named.

For thirty years the two men lived in the closest intimacy. All of their explorations were made jointly. They made in all four Western expeditions or voyages as the author calls them, the published narrative of which in the recent years has established their title to be called the first white men who ever traveled in what is now the great state of Minnesota. Radisson was the historian and author of the manuscripts, but he seems to have been fair and impartial and have given his relative his full share of the glory.

Radisson passed several times between the service of the French and of the English though all of his voyages that have historical value as bringing to light new discoveries were made under the flag of France.

During the second of the four voyages the two Frenchmen traveled along the south shore of Lake Superior, made a portage of the Keweenaw peninsula and established a fort at Chequamegon bay, the first dwelling on the shores of Lake Superior erected by white men.

The peculiar style of Radisson is best shown by quoting a portion of the narrative, telling of their sufferings by famine during the winter of 1660, spent in the vicinity of Chequamegon bay. He says:

"The first 2 weeke we did eate our doggs, in the next place, the skins that weare reserved to make us shoose, cloath and stokins, yea, most of the skins of our cottages, we burned the haire on the coals, eating heartily these things most abhorred. Finaly we became the verry image of death. We mistook ourselves very often, taking the dead for the living and the living for the dead. We wanted strength to draw the living out of the cabans, of if we did when we could, it was to putt them four paces in the snow."

And further on in the same account of the famine he tells of stealing a lean dog for food. "There came 2 men from a strange country who had a dogg; the buissinesse was how to catch him cunningly. Neverthelesse wee offred gulfts, knowing well those people love their beasts, but they would not, which made me stubborne. That dogge was very leane and as hungry as we weare, but the masters have not suffered so much. I went one night neare that same cottage to doe what discretion permitts me not to speake. These men weare much respected that nobody durst not offende them, being that we weare upon their land with their leave. The dogg comes out, not by any smell but by good like. I take him and bring him a little way. I stabbed him with my dagger. I brought him to the cottage where he was broyled like a pigge and cutt in pecces, gutts and all, soe everyone had his share. The snow where he was killed was not lost; for one of our company went and got it to season the ketles."

It was during this same expedition that Radisson and Groseilliers crossed the ice of Lake Superior from a place somewhere between Superior and Ashland to a place on the north shore not far from Duluth, probably somewhere south of Knife River.

The book is replete with interesting descriptions of the travel and hardships of these two intrepid Frenchmen. It would be impossible to do the book justice in short space. It has served to give the two men their just place as the first pioneers of Minnesota. They were not missionaries as so many of those who succeeded them in the same territory were, but rather traders intent on making money for themselves and the French crown.

Those in charge of the public library are fully aware of the value of the book and it is kept under lock and key in one of the reference rooms. At an auction sale of books in New York not long ago a copy of the same edition was sold for nearly $500. It is a book much sought after by collectors of Americana and students of the early periods of discovery on the North American continent.

NEWS OF THE WEEK AT THE CENTRAL HIGH SCHOOL

Approach of Vacation Is Eagerly Greeted By Students.

The end of school days for the term of 1908-09 is at hand. Next week the regular examinations will be held for the three lower classes. The approach of examinations has caused a great flurry among the students of the school. The approach of vacation is greeted eagerly by the students and teachers alike. This year has been exceptionally hard on the teachers on account of the loss of the principal which placed a great load of responsibility upon them.

However, the school days are over for the seniors. The functions marking the close are yet to come, but the real days of work are over. It is not the finish of school work for most of the classes, however, for most of the graduates will continue their studies in the colleges or the universities of the country. During the past week Mr. Denfeld has been having little talks with each of the seniors as to their plans for the future. Almost all the seniors declared their intentions of going to school after leaving the high school. Most of the boys are planning to attend the state university and some are planning to go East. The normal will get most of the girls, but quite a number will leave for some college.

The Memorial day exercises were held at the high school Friday morning at chapel. The exercises were not as long as last year, because some of those who were to take part were not able to attend.

The program was opened by an appropriate selection by the choir, after which Mr. Denfeld made a few remarks on the occasion and the reverence that was due the fast thinning ranks of the old survivors of the Civil war. Then came the singing of "Taps," a song composed by Mr. Custance, the words of which were written by a student at Annapolis, a roommate of a former member of the class of '09. The most beautiful part of it is the bugle accompaniment which, with the singing was perhaps the finest thing ever heard in chapel. This is the first time it has ever been given, but it will no doubt be heard a great many times in the future. Miss Frances Burris sang the vocal part, and Charles Helmer played the bugle parts, both of which were excellently rendered. Comrade W. W. Wood of the G. A. R. then spoke and recited a poem, telling of the thrilling feat of the First Minnesota at Gettysburg. Mr. Wood spoke the stirring words of the poem with great feeling, and the students showed their appreciation by the tremendous applause which was given him. A "Requiem" was sung by a quartet, composed of Frances Burris, Myrtle Pierce, Robert Ely and Erling Mostue, after which Ripling's "Recessional" was sung by the choir. The exercises were closed by the singing of "America" by the whole school.

The debate between the juniors and the sophomores for the championship of the school was held last Wednesday in chapel. The question was: "Resolved, That prohibition is the best solution of the liquor problem in Minnesota." The juniors, upholding the negative side of the question, won out by a decision of 2 to 1. However, the sophomores made an excellent showing, some of their ardent supporters even contending that they should have had the decision. It was a very close debate, and strongly contested on both sides. The victorious junior team was composed of Alfred Ott, Rupert O'Brien and Harry Zlatkovski. The sophomore orators were Rodger Leech, Mortimer Bondy and Stanley Lamb. Mr. Colton, Mr. Grannis and Mr. Clapp acted as judges.

The 1909 Zenith is now complete and has been viewed by several of the seniors and faculty. Every one who has had a single glimpse of the book is loud in his praises of it and declare that it far surpasses anything previously put out. The appearance of the book is one of its strongest features. The cover is of suede leather, colored brown, with the name and class pin on it in gold letters. The paper is of the finest grade, being also colored a light brown. The drawings and cuts are all very pretty and clear, while the contents are all very clever and are the strongest feature of the book. The advertising section is also very well gotten up, there being only full page and two-page ads in it. The printing of the book was done by O. F. Collier & Co.

It has not been definitely decided what the memorial to Mr. Smith will be, but the plan that is meeting with the most support is to establish a scholarship in Mr. Smith's name in some college, most likely Amherst, which was Mr. Smith's school. It would take some time to collect such a fund, but it certainly would be one of the most fitting tributes that could be paid. This fund will be started on class night, when a collection will be taken up. This will give the friends of the school a chance to contribute very liberally.

The last meeting of the Zenith board was held last evening at the home of Dorothy and Elizabeth Olcott. After a short business meeting the members went over the book, admiring every part and discussing it from every viewpoint. During the evening a candy pull was held to test the syrup made by Harlow Watkins on his farm. It made delicious candy, at any rate.

The Zenith will be on sale class night, and also during school on Tuesday and Wednesday, at which time those holding Zenith slips can also get their books.

FROM THE MINES AND THE SMELTERS

MINES IN GOOD CONDITION

Properties of Calumet & Arizona and Superior & Pittsburg Are Improving at Depth---Over 1300 Men Now on the Payrolls.

Bisbee, Ariz., May 29.—The past week has been one of reassurance in the Warren district, the principal event being the starting of two additional furnaces at the Copper Queen smelter in Douglas. This plant relies almost wholly on the Warren district for its supply of ore. Aside from the concentrates from the Moctezuma Copper company at Nacozari the nine furnaces now in blast at the Queen smelter are fed from ores from the Copper Queen mines in this district. Each of the additional furnaces put into commission during the week has a capacity of 500 tons daily. This increased smelting capacity points to an increased ore production on the part of the Queen, though this may not result at once because of the large ore reserves stored in the pits at the smelter.

The properties of the Calumet & Arizona and the Superior & Pittsburg companies were never in better condition or giving greater assurance for the future. The Calumet & Arizona continues work at three points. From the Oliver and Mag shafts is being taken an abundance of ore daily to meet the desired output. At the Powell shaft the work is purely development as yet, though the bottom of the shaft now fifty-five feet deep, is in promising ground. It will not be long until the first station will be cut in the Powell shaft at the 600-foot level and from this point crosscutting towards the Shattuck property and in the opposite direction will begin. This work will show with almost absolute certainty that important ore bodies will be entered.

The Superior & Pittsburg's working shafts are now the Cole, Junction and Hoatson. All are producing ore sufficient for a monthly copper output of 2,300,000. This output could easily be increased if desired. The development work continues in the lower levels of these shafts and results continue to prove the ground. The best showing today, not only in the Superior & Pittsburg shafts, but in all the workings of the district are found at the deepest levels. Those well acquainted with the Superior & Pittsburg ground declare that the country between the Hoatsen, Junction and Briggs will astonish even those having the greatest confidence in the Warren district when it is properly explored, crosscuts are now being run into this promising country from both the Hoatson and Junction.

On the pay rolls of the Calumet & Arizona and Superior & Pittsburg are now over 1,300 men, showing that these companies are almost at the maximum in the matter of operation.

The Shattuck continues its work of developing the specular ore body on the 600 level. This ore body is regarded as one of the very best ever encountered in the district. Its extent is yet unknown, but it has been cut for more than 200 feet by crosscuts, upraises, etc. The ore is very high grade, and for three months the ore taken from the development work has been sufficient to pay all operating expenses and leave a neat surplus. The working force at the Shattuck amounts to between thirty and forty men.

At the Dean exploration work continues on the 1,250 level without special incident worthy of note. A crosscut is now being run at this level in the direction of the Junction, which will soon reach the point corresponding with the location of ore encountered at the 100 and 1,100 levels in this property.

HIGH PRAISE FOR SAVANNA

General Manager Wayne Says Condition of Company Is Very Satisfactory --- Large Bodies of Concentrating Ore Have Been Opened.

Bisbee, Ariz., May 29.—E. A. Wayne, general manager of the Savanna Copper company was a visitor in the city a few days ago, on his way back to Silver City from the West. Mr. Wayne was formerly a mine foreman at one of the Bonanza Circle properties, and since leaving Bisbee, about four years ago, his rise in the mining world has been rapid. He was the first superintendent of the Globe Consolidated at Globe, and a little over two years ago he went to Silver City as general manager of the Copper Gulf Development company. He resigned from this position on his appointment as trustee in bankruptcy for the Comanche company. He was largely instrumental in effecting the merger between the Comanche and Copper Gulf, and is now in charge of the merger company.

Mr. Wayne states that the Burro Mountain company is rapidly coming to the front and will, in the course of time, become one of the largest producing districts in the Southwest. The Savanna company has larger holdings than any company in the district, and in addition has a concentrator and smelter at Silver City. At present work is being confined to developing the vast property, and large bodies of concentrating ore have been opened. One body on Copper Gulf ground is about 300 feet wide and over 400 feet long, and is a good concentrating ore. The company expects to begin active mining and smelting operations upon the completion of a spur which the Santa Fe will build from its main line in the near future.

HAS STRONG DIRECTORATE

Santa Rosalia Gold Mines Company, Composed Largely of Upper Michigan Men, Holds Meeting and Selects Officers---Properties in Mexico.

Calumet, Mich., May 29.—The meeting of the stockholders of the Santa Rosalia Gold Mines company, held in the Washington school hall, Calumet, last Saturday evening to hear the report of Manager R. K. Claney, was a successful one, it being attended by about 300 stockholders of that company. This organization was brought together by local capitalists and investors to mine rich gold properties about fifty miles south of Cananea, Mexico. Mr. Claney made a report upon this property before it was placed upon the local market, and at the meeting held Saturday evening he explained the geological as well as the physical conditions at the property for the benefit of the stockholders. From the statements which he made, Mr. Claney believes that the company will develop good ore values, and he thinks that within one year's time it will be put on a paying basis. The statement of Mr. Claney was very similar to that which was made when the organization was effected.

Word has recently been received from the property announcing that a rich body of ore has been encountered at the 250-foot level, and the general manager is confident that there is much more in sight.

The following officers of the company were announced for the first time at the meeting which was held Saturday evening, and the board appears to be composed of thorough and competent mining men from this district and the Southwest: President, A. D. Johnson of Calumet; vice president and general manager, R. K. Claney of Cananea; second vice president, Harry Hill of Calumet; secretary, B. F. Daggert, a son of ex-Governor Daggert of California, of San Francisco; assistant secretary and manager of the local offices, Oscar Brunn; treasurer, F. J. Kahlhass. All of these officers, with the exception of the last two named, are members of the directorate, and other members are C. L. McReynolds of Bisbee and Peter J. McLalland and William M. Harris of Calumet.

THE SANTA CRUZ DISTRICT

Many Companies Meeting Encouragement in Development of Properties--- Option Given on I. G. King Properties to Alabama Iron Man.

Nogales, Ariz., May 29.—I. G. King is in town from his properties, which are situated about fourteen miles northeast of this town, on the western slope of the Patagonia mountains. He speaks enthusiastically of the future of his immediate vicinity. He says within the last three or four months there have been field men from some of the richest copper corporations scouting through the locality and their reports are of the most flattering nature.

Mr. King is the principal owner of 600 acres located in the great copper zone of Cananea and the Santa Cruz districts of Sonora, following the line of the Patagonia mountains—and defined as the central or backbone of the zone, thence through the Santa Rita mountain range, following its course of mineralization through Arizona, Nevada and Utah, with perhaps a slight variation in its geological features.

Mr. King reports the many companies in operation within a radius of twelve or fifteen miles of his holdings as daily meeting encouragement, among them the Four Metals, National Consolidated, St. Louis, M. & D. company, Golden Rose, the famous World's Fair, the Harshaw, the Mowry, and most original name, conveying as it does a wealth of promise in this land of sunshine, the Never Sweat, owned by Dr. Doherty of Nogales.

The King properties comprise what are known as the Prudential, Sycamore Canon and the Iron group. He has recently sunk a 50-foot shaft on one of these and has very recently taken out a carload of copper. The entire 600 acres is rich in surface rock, characteristic of Arizona ore. Near him at a distance of two and a half miles is the Red Hills. This mine carries as large an ore body as any in Arizona. At present the property is shut down, thought it is generally understood that Supt. Johnson will shortly sink a shaft to the depth of 200 feet.

An option on the King properties has been given to a representative of a prominent iron concern of Alabama, who is said to be a relative of Senator Aldrich, but he is a trifle secretive in regard to the deal. He stated, however, that if the deal went through it would be financed by private individuals.

VERY RICH COPPER GROUND

Disclosed by Michigan's Operations in So-Called North Amygdaloid Lode—Adventure Sinking Shaft on Lodes Shown by Drilling a Year Ago, Prospects Considered Good.

Houghton, Mich., May 29.—(Special to The Herald.)—Michigan's operations in the so-called North Amygdaloid lode disclose copper ground of more than ordinary richness at the point where opened by an adit on the old Bee tract. The drifts both ways from the end of the adit have opened up a total of about 245 feet of first-class copper rock at this level, and the showing at this particular point is probably without equal in the Ontonagon district today. A further investigation of the lode is now being made by crosscuts and drifts from the older workings tributary to "C" shaft. The newer openings will tap the lode at greater depth than where the present fine showing obtains and will serve to prove the extent of this mineralized zone for several thousand feet below, and to the westward of the adit. Operations in the Calico vein reveal great changes from conditions noted in the past, and are generally satisfactory. The Branch vein is not looking so well, and operations there during the past few months have been less productive of mass copper than for some time past. The company is shipping around 600 tons of rock daily to the Atlantic mill, that tonnage representing a 75 per cent selection from the total tonnage mined, and is securing therefrom a recovery of between 15 and 16 pounds fine copper per ton of rock milled. Work on its own mill under construction at Keweenaw Bay has been practically at a standstill for quite eight months past. This mill stands about 90 per cent completed.

Ojibway.

Ojibway is crosscutting the formation at a depth of 800 feet, preliminary to drifting upon the lode at that level. The No. 2 shaft is sinking steadily for the 950 level, and the No. 1 shaft will sink to the same depth as soon as crosscutting at the 800 level has progressed sufficiently to make that step permissible. Drifting on the 800-foot level to connect both shafts should be under way early in June. This work will be the first lateral investigation made within the Kearsarge lode on this property, with the exception of about 140 feet of drifts at the first level in the No. 2 shaft, all previous work in the lode being confined to crosscuts at the several levels in both shafts. The lode exposed in these crosscuts shows good mineral values in that portion of the lode tributary to the No. 1 shaft, while the showing in the portion tributary to the No. 2 shaft has been rather indifferent at the upper levels, though a great improvement is noted in the lower crosscut. The north and south drifts at the first level came into fair copper ground after driving approximately 80 feet and 60 feet respectively through somewhat shattered ground.

Adventure.

Adventure is engaged in sinking a shaft upon the so-called Adventure lodes disclosed by the diamond drill operations of a year ago. The present rate of sinking and for the next few weeks as well will necessarily be slow until power drills that will be installed are available. The work is now being done with hammer and drill

WEST END

PLAYGROUND DISCUSSED

West End Commercial Club Has Two Sites in View.

Petition for Sub-Postoffice Is Being Generally Signed.

The West end children were not forgotten last evening at the meeting of the West End Commercial club and breathing spots for children in the West end were discussed. The recommendation of a special committee pertaining to the location of the playgrounds were indorsed.

The committee, which is headed by J. J. Moe reported in favor of locating the playgrounds between Twenty-second and Twenty-third avenues west and between Fifth and Sixth streets. It is a vacant spot dry, gently sloping and ideal for the purpose. It is in the center of the population of the West end.

The property can be purchased cheaply it is understood, and initial steps were taken last evening to push the matter through and provide a recreation ground for the younger people of the West end.

Another location, which also met with much favor is on Thirty-first avenue in the vicinity of the Bryant school.

* * *

Any resident, whether a property owner, business man or professional man may became a member of the West End Commercial club now if he has at heart the welfare and progress of that section of the city.

This was decided upon last evening at the meeting of the club at the office of George M. Jensen, West First street, when an amendment to the constitution was passed, by which the bars to members were thrown out.

* * *

That sentiment at the West end is strongly in favor of a sub-postal station was evidenced last evening at the meeting of the club when it was shown that practically every business man in the West end had signed a petition asking the postal authorities to establish a branch postoffice in that section of Duluth.

The papers will be sent to Postmaster Enton and he will take the matter up with the department at Washington.

The Garfield avenue paving matter was also taken up last evening. The committee to circulate the petition reported that progress is somewhat slow on account of indifference met with among property owners.

PASTOR IS GUEST OF HONOR.

Surprised On His Birthday By Five Other Clergymen.

Rev. M. O. Stockland, pastor of the Grace M. E. church at the West end, was pleasantly surprised by five other of the city clergymen and their wives last evening at his home and later was guest of honor at a dinner tendered him at the Hotel McKay. The occasion was his birthday anniversary.

The evening was spent in an informal after-dinner program, consisting of short impromptu talks. Those present were and Mrs. Theodore Grace, Asbury M. E. church, West Duluth; Rev. and Mrs. F. S. Stidd, Merritt Memorial church, Oneota; Rev. and Mrs. C. R. Oaten, Lester park; Rev. and Mrs. Ronsham, Lester Park M. E. church; Rev. and Mrs. A. J. Roberts of the City mission.

SKY FOR A ROOF.

Camping Fever In Acute Stage Hits West End Youths.

The camping fever has invaded the West end and nine West enders have caught the spirit. They will leave this evening for a short outing trip to Boulder Lake, Minn., about twenty-five miles out of Duluth.

The unique feature of this camping party is that no tents will be taken along and the members will sleep out in the open air.

The boys expect to bring back a big catch when they return Tuesday morning. The party includes Oscar Moe, Oscar Christiansen, Christ Christiansen, A. B. Anderson, George Trafby, August Petersen, Henry Anderson, Fred Hanson and Joseph Hanson.

Last Revival Meeting.

Rev. C. P. Eklund will close the series of revival meetings held at the West end tomorrow evening with a sermon at the First Norwegian-Danish M. E. church, Twenty-fourth avenue west and Third street. He will leave Monday for his home at Burlington, Iowa. The last mass meeting held for men only will be held Sunday afternoon at the First Norwegian-Danish M. E. church. He will speak on the differences between the Swedish and the Norwegian people.

This afternoon a children's meeting was held at the church and it was well attended. Tonight Rev. Eklund will conduct services.

ADDITIONAL SOCIETY NEWS

The main house of the boat club and the Gatka pavilion will be informally opened Monday, and informal dances will be held at both houses in the evening. The cafe at the main house will also be opened for the season Monday, and lunch and dinner will be served there. There will also be informal sailing races during the afternoon. This impromptu entertainment has been provided for the members, although the formal opening of the season will not be held until June 12.

The Spirit Lake house will be opened later in the week. The alterations will be completed at that time.

The Memorial day service for the sailor dead is always one of the most important features of Memorial day in Duluth, the members of the Women's Relief corps being always in charge of this feature. Monday afternoon the services will be held at 3 o'clock. The relief corps will be accompanied to the canal by the Trinity Pro-cathedral Cadet corps. The guests will be taken to the basin just outside the canal in government launches. Delegations from the Culver and Gorman posts, the Sons of Veterans, the Ladies of the G. A. R. and the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Sons of Veterans have been invited to be present with the corps at this service.

A firing squad from the Sons of Veterans will give the salute, and taps will be sounded by the naval reserves. School children will also take part in the exercises.

The Gopher is being repaired, and consequently the launches will necessarily be used this year, and for this reason the invitation list is much smaller than ever before.

The members of the corps will serve dinner to the members of J. B. Culver post and their families Monday at Rowley hall.

Hoarseness, bronchitis and other throat troubles are quickly cured by Foley's Honey and Tar as it soothes and heals the inflamed throat and bronchial tubes and the most obstinate cough disappears. Insist upon having the genuine Foley's Honey and Tar. Sold by all druggists.

FUNERAL OF CHIEF BLACK

Services Will Be Held on Monday at Masonic Temple.

The Mayor and Other City Officials Will Attend.

Funeral service sover the remains of the late John T. Black, chief of the Duluth fire department, will be held at the Masonic temple Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock. They will be in charge of the Masons, of which order the deceased was an active member. Private services will be held prior to this at the family residence.

The remains will lie in state today and Sunday at the Masonic temple, but the casket will not be opened at any time Monday. Interment will take place at Forest Hill cemetery.

Mayor Haven this morning sent a personal letter to each alderman and to the heads of the several city departments, requesting them to meet at the city hall at 2:30 o'clock Monday afternoon. From the city hall they will proceed in a body to the Masonic temple. Employes of the different departments are also expected to meet with the higher officials to attend the funeral.

There will be appropriate floral offerings from the city. There will be a special honorary guard of policemen to escort the body to the grave.

On account of the death of Chief Black, Mayor Haven, who was to have attended the first league ball game of the season in Duluth this afternoon, and who was to have pitched the first ball, notified the management that, in respect to the memory of the dead, he would be unable to attend the game. Some of the aldermen took the same position.

Whooping Cough.

This is a more dangerous disease than is generally presumed. It will be a surprise to many to learn that more deaths result from it than from scarlet fever. Pneumonia often results from it. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has been used in many epidemics of whooping cough, and always with the best results. Delbert McCeig of Harlan, Iowa, says of it: "My boy took whooping cough when nine months old. He had it in the winter, I got a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy which proved good. I cannot recommend it too highly." For sale by all druggists.

COPPER CHIEF GETS DUCKING

John D. Ryan Misses Jump and Has a Narrow Escape.

New York, May 29.—Hatred of water is a well-known characteristic of all Wall street operators, and particularly of that group designated as "The Standard Oil Crowd," yet one of the biggest of them—he weighs 256 pounds, and is six feet two inches—plunged into the East river at the landing of the New York Yacht club, at Twenty-third street, John D. Ryan, president of the Anaconda Copper Mining company, which has an office at 42 Broadway, was the unlucky man.

He had taken a yacht ride with Urban H. Broughton, son-in-law of the late Henry H. Rogers, and when the yacht ran along the north side of the New York Yacht club pier, Mr. Broughton made the jump from the deck to the pier in safety, but Mr. Ryan with a tremendous splash, tumbled between the yacht and the pier.

"He can't swim!" Mr. Broughton called out. Michael Mulligan, a youthful attendant of the club dived off the pier and grabbed Mr. Ryan just as the latter floated to the surface, shouting like a whale and with the help of several men the big copper man was drawn into a launch.

PRESBYTERIAN ASSEMBLY COMES TO CONCLUSION.

Denver, Colo., May 29.—When the general assembly of the Presbyterian church convened this morning it was with the feeling that the afternoon would see the end of the sessions. The first matter to be taken up was the consideration of the plan to reduce membership. In the assembly. Yesterday a resolution was passed voicing sentiment in favor of reducing the membership, but beyond this no action was taken. This morning, the whole matter came up for debate.

LABOR

SAVE MONEY IS ADVICE

Urges Them to Build Up Big Funds for Emergencies.

"In time of peace prepare for war," was the text of a stirring address made before the Duluth Federated Trades assembly last evening, in Kalamazoo hall, by George B. Howley, president of the State Federation of Labor.

Every union, said Mr. Howley, should keep the dues high enough to permit the organization to lay aside a good sum every month toward a fighting fund; a fund to pay the expenses of the union and its members in time of a strike.

"The trades' unions should get closer together now than they ever have in the past, and they should see to it that when a strike threatens, or actually comes, they have enough money to carry on their battle and make victory sure," said Mr. Howley.

He said that many of the unions collected only enough money to pay their current expenses, and that every one of them should make strenuous efforts to collect a good nest egg in the treasury for the proverbial rainy day.

Speaking of the policies of the new head of the Manufacturers' association, which is the employers' union, Mr. Howley said an evidence of them had shown in his own city of Minneapolis last week, when an organizer for the manufacturers had arrived in town and announced that he was going to increase the membership of the association in the Flour City from thirty to 300, and then go over and do the same thing in St. Paul.

"I do not exactly know what their intentions are, but I believe this is the first time the manufacturers' association ever had an organizer in the field and we should leave no stone unturned in our preparations for any emergency that might arise," said Mr. Howley.

Following his announcement of the present operations of the manufacturers' association in the Twin Cities, Mr. Howley again impressed upon his hearers the wisdom of each union having ample money in the treasury against that time when money is needed.

He scorned the idea of unions crushing blindly into strikes when their money boxes were empty. He said every union should follow the example of the typographical union, which had money enough to carry on its strike two years or so ago without asking aid from any of the other unins.

President Howley asked the delegates to the assembly to report his remarks to their respective unions. He will be in Duluth most of next week and will speak at several of the different union meetings then.

* * *

The assembly voted to allow each one of five delegates to the convention of the State Federation of Labor at Red Wing, June 14, the sum of $25 to defray their expenses. This is the same amount allowed the delegates last year. A member of the assembly's delegation will be appointed by President Howley to the committee on credentials and will leave for the convention earlier than the others. The appointment will be made some time next week.

* * *

Beside President Howley, A. R. MacDonald, associate editor of the Labor World, was a guest of the assembly for the evening. He delivered a short address on "Government by Commission," in which he flayed the arguments in favor of the method, propounded at the last meeting by E. M. Morgan, assistant city attorney.

Mr. MacDonald said that government by commission was merely the present form of municipal government operated under a different name. What was the difference, he asked, between calling the members of the city council aldermen or commissioners?

However, Mr. MacDonald argued for a change in the present method of electing the aldermen. He said one should be elected from each ward and a corresponding number of aldermen-at-large should be chosen.

As an argument against the commission form of government, Mr. MacDonald stated that the taxes in Des Moines, where the commission plan is said to work so effectively, were little more than one-half higher than they were in Duluth.

A delegate from the garment workers' union announced that it was the intention of that organization to give an annual ball Tuesday, June 8, in the Lincoln park pavilion. She apologized for not renting the Fairmont park pavilion, which is controlled by the labor unions, but stated she was unable to locate any members of the pavilion committee.

This aroused some talk, as some of the pavilion committee were present and they resented the statement that the renting of the pavilion was a difficult matter. They said, anyway, it was the business of all the unions to know who comprised the board of managers of the pavilion and to send representatives to the meetings of the pavilion association.

* * *

P. G. Phillips, whose affection for the Socialist party is well known, started a criticism of the methods of the state political committee during the last campaign, and several members arose to defend it, declaring that Socialist candidates were given just as fair a show as the candidates of the two other leading political parties.

* * *

"We expect the meeting at Red Wing next month to be the greatest convention labor has ever held in the state of Minnesota," said George B. Howley, president of the State Federation of Labor, today.

"Not only will all the unions affiliated with the state federation be represented by delegates, but the different orders of railroad employes, whose societies are not members of the federation, will have fraternal delegates there, and things are looking toward a closer relationship between the different branches of organized workers than ever before.

"The co-operation of the railroad men will be asked in many matters, and it is planned to have a strong legislative committee, composed of the federated union members and the engineers, the firemen and the trainmen from the railroad orders, which will be more efficient in the work of securing legislation favorable to workingmen and women than those which have exerted their efforts in the past."

President Howley will be in Duluth for about a week and will address the meetings of several unions. He will confer particularly with the building trades unions, to which bodies, he declared last night, he had something of importance to say. He did not divulge the theme of his message.

* * *

A meeting of the five delegates from the Federated Trades assembly and the delegates from the different unions to the state labor convention will be held some time before the party leaves for the session at Red Wing. The delegation will discuss several of the matters that are to come before the meeting.

* * *

The Women's Union Label league will have a representation at the convention, and it is the plan of the women who will be there to form a league at Red Wing. They did the same thing at the convention city last year.

* * *

As soon as the state convention is over the members of the Women's Label league of this city are planning to invade Superior, to encourage the members of the league over there. It is reported that the league across the bay is not the flourishing organization that the society of the same name on this side is, so the Duluth women will try and do some bolstering up.

* * *

At the assembly meeting last evening, Peter Morando suggested that a gigantic "smoker," to which all the union men in the city would be invited, should be held, to the end of the getting of the unionists better acquainted with one another. No action was taken on the suggestion, however.

* * *

The Union Labor pavilion in Fairmont park, West Duluth, will open for the season Monday, May 31. There will be picnics in the afternoon and dancing in the evening.

Hugo V. Koch, a factory inspector of the Minnesota department of labor under State Commissioner McEwen, was a visitor in Duluth during the week.

Chamberlain's Liniment.

This is a new preparation and a good one. It is especially valuable as a cure for chronic and muscular rheumatism, and for the relief from pain which it affords in acute inflammatory rheumatism. Those who have used it have invariably spoken of it in the highest terms of praise. Lame back, lame shoulder and stiff neck are due to rheumatism of the muscles, usually brought on by exposure to cold or damp, and are quickly cured by applying this liniment freely and massaging the affected parts. Soreness of the muscles, whether induced by violent exercise or injury, is allayed by this liniment. For sale by all druggists.

THREE CASES IN ONE HOUSE

Tuberculosis Carrying Off Family of Nichola Pedro.

According to a complaint made to the police today, the home of Nichola Pedro, 133 Eleventh avenue west, is infected with tuberculosis. Two children have died within the last few months, the last, a daughter of 12 years, dying this week. The father is now ill with the disease. There are four other children in the family. Mrs. Lee, nurse employed by the local branch of the tuberculosis society, is investigating the case today.

WANT PAY FOR LOSS OF TIME

Christie Company Sues Bonding Concern for Contractor's Delay.

The Christie Lithograph & Printing company started suit yesterday in district court against the American Bonding company of Baltimore for $30,000, the amount of the bond given by J. W. Hilliard, the contractor who erected the Christie building, and has since gone into bankruptcy.

According to the original contract, Mr. Hilliard was to have received $58,626 for the work of putting up the building, less $25 a day for each day that elapsed after Nov. 30, 1908, the date it was to have been finished.

It is charged that the building was not completed until Feb. 16, 1909.

The company claims that there are now on the building liens amounting to $15,000, of which the plaintiff says there are valid liens amounting to something over $10,000.

The Christie company does not know what the loss in all amounts to, and is therefore suing for the whole amount of the bond in order to protect itself.

PATTEN GIVES TO EMPLOYES

Each Gets 10 Per Cent of Annual Salary as Present.

Chicago, May 29.—Despite the immobility of Mr. Patten's countenance, his satisfaction became apparent an hour after the close, when a small army of the house, each wearing a broad, surprised smile on his face, filed into the cashiers to cash a check for 10 per cent of their annual salary, a present from Mr. Patten.

RAILROAD Y. M. C. A. MEN ENJOY AN EXCURSION.

St. Louis, Mo., May 29.—The actual work of the organization was emphasized at today's meeting of the thirteenth annual conference of the railroad department of the Y. M. C. A. The principal meetings were held in addition to a number of noon-day gatherings at shops, roundhouses and freight depots. Among the speakers were Rev. Clarence A. Barbour, C. J. Hicks, associate general secretary; G. I. Babcock, Mexico; C. V. Hubbard, Manchuria; C. D. Turner, Indiana; Earl B. Smith and Rev. Robert Freeman. Later the delegates crowded an excursion boat and steamed up the Mississippi.

SAVES DAUGHTER'S LIFE.

Judge Shoots Mad Dog Which Jumps on Young Girl.

Peoria, Ill., May 29.—The remarkable quickness and coolness of Probate Judge L. O. Eagleton saved his 13-year-old daughter Marion from the fangs of a mad dog that attacked the girl in her home yesterday.

Miss Eagleton screamed and struggled to defend herself as best she could, and her cries reached the ears of her father in another part of the house.

Judge Eagleton entered the room and saw the peril of his daughter. He seized a shotgun from a rack in the hall, and, at the risk of wounding his daughter, fired both barrels at the beast, killing it instantly. A hasty examination showed that the girl had received several scratches from the dog's teeth, and prompt precautions were taken to guard against hydrophobia.

MEMORIAL DAY POEM BY DULUTH CADET

TAPS.

Out of night a bugle blows;
Soft and clear the cadence flows;
Sweeter, stronger still it grows—
Taps is sounding.

Sobbing low the last note goes;
Now no more the tent-light glows;
Soldier's day is at its close—
Taps has sounded.

The above beautiful poem, entitled "Taps," was written by H. S. Spencer, a Duluth midshipman in the United States Naval academy at Annapolis. The poem, set to music, was sung during the Memorial day exercises at the Central high school yesterday afternoon. By request it will be repeated, with bugle accompaniment, at the services at the Glen Avon Presbyterian church tomorrow. Mr. Spencer has written several short verses that show marked ability, though the one here given, is probably his best. He is at present sojourning for his health at Las Animas, Cal.

KINK IN RAILS IS BLAMED FOR WRECK.

Fosston, Minn., May 29.—(Special to The Herald.)—At 3:30 Thursday afternoon the through freight train on the Great Northern westbound was wrecked at the east end of the switch here, sixteen cars leaving the track, two of which were badly smashed up.

Fortunately there was no one injured. It is believed the wreck was caused by a sun kink in a rail. A wrecking train was sent from Redlands to clear the track for the evening trains.

THE INCOME TAX.

There is no basis for hope that congress will do anything with the income tax, in this session, at least. Senator Bailey is talking income tax, and has an income tax bill; so has Senator Cummins. It may be possible to combine the Democrats who believe in fair taxation with the Republicans that believe in fair taxation, in spite of apparent differences over the two bills. But that won't make votes enough to override Aldrich. Aldrich is feeling very comfortable about the income tax; he knows he has votes enough to shelve it in the judiciary committee, or anywhere else he pleases.

But it is a great pity that there isn't a chance for this measure. Nothing shows the wretched character of popular representation at Washington than the fact that there is no chance for it. A proper income tax bill would tax wealth; the Aldrich tariff bill will tax poverty: hence the organization is for the Aldrich bill and against the income tax. Even President Taft isn't very keen about it.

The Aldrich machine has two reasons for being against the income tax: First, that it would place some of the burden of taxation upon their principals, the plutocrats, thereby relieving the people; second, that it would yield a revenue large enough to make the maintenance of high protective schedules unnecessary, and would therefore add a new reason for real tariff revision.

Proof is lacking, naturally, but we haven't the slightest doubt that the cabal that is responsible for unjust tariff legislation has deliberately fostered elaborate government expenditures, because big expenses create a need for big revenues, and the need of big revenues bolsters up the protective tariff system. If the truth were known, it would be found that reactionary high tariff statesmen have encouraged lavish government expenditures with this end in view. That statement The Herald has made many times, and it confidently expects to see the day when it will be proved.

A fair system of taxation is that which distributes the burden of public expense so that it will bear as nearly as possible upon each individual according to his ability to pay. No better test of ability to pay can be devised than the income. If each man paid taxes according to his income, those who have most would pay most, and those who have least would pay least.

Under the tariff tax it is just the other way about. The tariff tax is largely upon the necessaries of life, so that those who need most pay most. Not only does the tariff tax rest lightly upon the rich, but it pours into their greedy hands the greater portion of its proceeds from the poor.

That is why the Aldrich combine is against the income tax and for the tariff tax. That is why the people ought to be against the tariff tax and for the income tax. That is why the people ought to rise in their might and cast out from the temple of popular government the rascals who are prostituting their power to levy tribute upon the people for the benefit of the plutocracy.

TRYING TO GOSSIP WITH MARS.

Prof. David Todd of Amherst is going to try to get up above the air—or outside of the air—in a balloon, and the other evening The Herald published an interesting interview in which Leo Stevens, the aeronaut who is going to manage the air navigation part of the trip while Prof. Todd makes his attempt to get a message to Mars from the rare fringe of the atmosphere ten miles from the earth's surface, talked of their plans.

The project is very fascinating, and we think that undoubtedly Prof. Todd—and also Aeronaut Stevens—will find out something if they carry it out. What they may find out nobody can tell, and there is just enough chance that they will never live to relate the results of their explorations to give the adventure an entertaining thrill.

What they are going to try to do, however, is to get as near to the edge of atmospheric air as they can, and from that point to attempt to get a wireless message across the ether void to Mars. Whether Mars will know what is happening if the message gets there, whether the Martians will understand it if they receive it, and whether we shall know what it means if we get a reply in the Martian language—or in one of the Martian languages—no man can say. People are going to be rather skeptical about the message feature, but the experiment of a voyage farther away from the earth than anybody else has ever gone will in itself be of great interest, if not of scientific value. Of course nobody has ever gone over eight miles, and then it was so bitterly cold and the air was so rare that members of the expedition perished. To guard against this fate, the venturesome voyagers are to be equipped with two aluminum cages with glass fronts, in which they can sit and breathe oxygen when the air gives out. Five or six miles up they will get into these cages and close the air-tight doors, and at ten miles from the earth they will attempt their wireless message, using a wire that will trail the ten miles down to the ground.

It may be, of course, that the balloon will refuse to go so high. The air is pretty light up there, and while hydrogen gas is as light as you can make anything, it may not be light enough to keep the balloon going that far.

And of course if Mars were trying to hail us—some people think she is, you know—there might be a bare possibility that the vantage-point thus gained in the outer atmosphere would make it possible to respond, and once communication is established, even though it were as unintelligible as the hail of a Hottentot to a strange Eskimo, it might be possible, with this as a basis, to enter upon an important and informing conversation.

If the balloon were big enough to hold a crowd, however, it is doubtful if many would care to take the excursion. The possibilities of peril are thrillingly numerous. The suggestions of perils that may not be met with are enough in addition to daunt the bravest heart.

Suppose, for instance, the excursion succeeded only too well. Suppose the party got far enough away to lose the effect of the centripetal force which holds the balloon in its embrace, and to feel the effect of the centrifugal force which would cast it off into the void. In that event Prof. Todd and Aeronaut Stevens might go hurtling through space through all eternity, the sport of the laws of nature and the awe of a mystified solar system.

THE PRIMARY IN ILLINOIS.

The fact that the primary election, in the case of the United States senatorship, is at best only a doubtful substitute for that direct election of United States senators of which there is a distant hope, is made plain by the result in Illinois.

Illinois has a primary election law covering nominations of United States senators, and ex-Senator Hopkins was a minority winner in a three-cornered contest with Congressman Foss and "Billy" Mason. In other words, the vote was so divided that nobody got a majority, but Hopkins got a plurality, though a good many less than a majority voted for him. On the face of it, Hopkins won the nomination and should have had the election if the primary law were to be obeyed. Yet the objection to Hopkins was so widespread and so strong that it was no surprise when his victory was contested in the legislature. Theoretically, the legislature was not bound by the primary election, because constitutionally the legislature is the sole judge of the senatorial election. Morally, probably the Republican members were bound to vote for Hopkins. Yet Hopkins was so thoroughly objectionable that if there ever was an excuse for disregarding a primary election result he furnished it.

Foss was a good man, and it is too bad that he didn't get the nomination. If he had, Illinois might have had decent representation in the United States senate. As it is, with Cullom and Lorimer, that great state is very little better represented than New York was with Platt and Depew.

Clearly, it is best, if the states are to anticipate popular election of United States senators, to go further than Illinois did, and adopt the Oregon plan. There the party members not only nominate, but the people elect, the members of the legislature being pledged to abide by the people's choice.

THE INTELLIGENCE OF THE HEN.

For a very long time the stupidity and lack of intelligence of the hen has been proverbial. The poor thing, finding itself in your way, will waddle excitedly straight ahead along the path without ever thinking of so obvious a thing as turning to one side and getting out of the road. So everybody has argued that the hen lacks intellect, and until now nobody has ever risen in her defense.

Two German scientists, however, gravely unconscious of anything humorous in the situation, have been making psychological investigations of the hen's mentality, and they have made a pretty fair case for the homely but useful and industrious fowl which supplies the eggs to go with the breakfast bacon.

They took a card, and glued to it twenty grains of rice in such a fashion that they couldn't be picked off. Then they placed ten grains of wheat loose among the anchored rice grains, and the material for the experiment was ready. They selected a hen of about the average intelligence, and laid the card before her. At first he tried to pick up all the grains. After a time, finding that her attacks upon the rice were untruitful of results, she avoided the rice and picked up the wheat only.

Then the scientists put ten more grains of wheat among the fastened rice grains, and let Mrs. Hen have another chance. Again she made ineffectual efforts to eat rice, and again she concluded, after a time, that she wasn't hungry for rice, but that wheat was just what she wanted. After three or four trials of this character, the hen knew enough to make no more attempts at the rice, but contented herself with wheat. Says the reporter of the experiment: "But there is no use in hurrying the hen's education. If these cards are offered her one after the other she will make mistakes up to the sixth grain before she remembers that this is the same old sell. But let her have an hour to ponder, reflect and sort out her impressions, and then offer her another of these deceptive cards; then the third grain will be enough to show her that the wheat alone is good to eat today."

But these German savants rather overplayed it if they were trying to make a case for the hen's intelligence. After this puzzled fowl had been thoroughly trained in the first lesson, they threw before her a lot of loose rice, unmixed with wheat. She began absentmindedly to eat it, and then, evidently remembering her lesson, hastened shamefacedly away from the place before the laugh broke out again. But the case for the hen was very much improved by the result of experiments with children less than 3 years old, who made worse mistakes and more of them than the hen.

After all, therefore, it is a pretty good case for the hen. Those specimens of humanity who can always be landed on a gold mining deal, a sure thing in wheat or a ground-floor proposition in green goods of one kind or another, or any of the world-old sells which designing sharpers get up that they may prey upon the never-ceasing credulity of humanity, will have to admit that the hen needn't take any back seat when it comes to intelligence. The hen did finally find out that the anchored rice was a gold brick game, but some of the human suckers never do cease pecking away at attractive schemes that couldn't be loosened with a ton of dynamite.

THE "ZENITH," '09.

Hearty congratulations to our brother—and sister—editors of the Duluth Central High School Zenith, the annual publication of the senior class which makes its appearance at the class night exercises Tuesday. Richly bound in soft leather in the class colors, handsomely printed on good paper, lavishly embellished with photographs and with good drawings by high school talent, with an abundance of wise, witty and excellent literary material, it is the best of its kind, and the class and board of editors that prepared it are entitled to the highest credit. The staff is as follows: Editor-in-chief, Harvard Rockwell; assistant editor, Mary Marvin; business manager, William Eklund; assistant business manager, Leonard McHugh; associate editors, Harlow Watkins, Helen Hawkes, Robert Ely, Dorothy Olcott, George Ostergren, Marjorie Shipherd, Donald Paddock, Marie McDowell, Curtis Pillsbury, Clarice Henderson, Victor Lanigan, Elizabeth Olcott, Madeline Miller and Dorothy Gordon.

WAR AND CIVILIZATION.

Suppose you ran across a man who was spending 60 per cent of his income every year in taking measures either to protect himself and his property from attack or to attack the persons and property of others.

If that man's income was $1,200 a year, that would mean that $720 a year, or $60 a month out of his $100 salary, was being spent in buying guns, revolvers and ammunition, setting spring-guns, or policing his grounds.

What would you think of that man? You would think he was either singularly pugnacious or plain crazy, wouldn't you?

And if he was sane, and if his precautions were necessary, what would you think of the neighborhood in which he lived? You'd think it a barbarous community, wouldn't you? You would fancy that civilization had left that particular corner of the world untouched.

Of course there is no such individual, because society is highly organized, and people don't fight out their differences as they used to. There are policemen to protect society from burglars and thieves, and personal differences over business and other matters usually go to the courts, which are maintained for that purpose.

But there are countries that do that very thing, and one of them is the United States, whose people believe it to be the most civilized nation on earth. Congressman Bartholdt of Missouri said at the recent Lake Mohonk Peace Conference that this country is spending 60 per cent of its income on its military establishment. Militarism hasn't taken hold of the people of this country as it has of the people of European countries, but it seems to have a pretty tight hold, too, when 60 per cent of the total government expense is for the army and navy.

Other countries spend even larger proportions of their income in this way. The chief cost of war is not incurred in war time, but between wars. Most of the money is spent in getting ready for war, not in waging war. The cost of military establishments the world over constitutes a tremendous burden upon the people, and as in most countries taxes burden most heavily those who can least afford to pay taxes, the effect upon the poor is tremendously oppressive.

And what for? There oughtn't to be the slightest excuse for war between nations, and if the world were as civilized as it professes to be there wouldn't be any excuse. It is quite as sensible for Smith and Jones to resort to blackening each other's eyes over a party fence dispute as it is for two nations to go to war over a disputed boundary.

Most of the world's great nations are fully equipped for war at a moment's notice; at least they believe they are, and certainly they have paid for being prepared. This state of preparedness makes it very easy to go to war if occasion offers. If nobody was prepared there wouldn't be so much danger of war. A man who carries a revolver or a pair of brass knuckles is much more likely to get into trouble than a man who has neither.

Some time it will come about that the world will be as civilized as the average community thinks it is now; and in that day there will be no burdensome taxes for military establishments, because disputes will be referred to international courts to be sensibly argued and sensibly decided.

WHAT LORIMER WILL DO.

Very likely nobody had any doubt about where Lorimer will stand in the senate to which Illinois has so shamefully raised him. He will be counted upon by Aldrich just as certainly as Aldrich would have counted upon Hopkins. It needed no statement from Lorimer to prove that; his public career and private character proved it sufficiently.

Yet in case there happened to be somebody with hope that this elevation to a high office might bring about some improvement in Lorimer's attitude, it may be as well to quote what he said to the legislature in thanking it for the honor it had conferred upon him.

"The only thing that perplexes me," he said, "is whether my vote will be more useful in the house or the senate for the passage of the Aldrich bill—a bill which I believe meets with the views of the great mass of all the people of this country."

That is where Lorimer stands on the tariff. He believes that the Aldrich iniquity meets the wishes of the great mass of the people—or at any rate he says he believes that—and his only anxiety is as to whether his vote to pass it will be needed most in the senate or in the house.

There is just one exceedingly faint ray of hope in the situation. The transfer of Lorimer from the house to the senate loses the bill a vote in the house and gains it a vote in the senate. There is no longer any doubt that the bill will pass the senate anyway, just as Aldrich wants it. There isn't much doubt that it will pass the house, too; yet there is a very slender hope that the house may comes to its senses; in which case that one vote will be a valuable loss.

HOTEL GOSSIP.

James McLenehan, from the Beaver Bay district, a close neighbor of Arthur O'Dea, was at the St. Louis yesterday. Mr. McLenehan was asked what amusements the settlers up the north shore found in the winter time.

According to Mr. McLenehan the loneliness of many of the settlers, some of whom are unmarried and therefore doubly lonesome, has driven them to seek amusements of an original character.

Mr. McLenehan is authority for the statement that one settler, named Petrious, who lives not far from his homestead, has two trained squirrels that are his constant companions. According to the story of Mr. McLenehan, who looks honest and as if his imagination was not over cultivated, these pets even eat at the table with the lonesome Petrious.

All of the settlers have dogs. McLenehan says that dogs are one of the greatest companions to man in times of solitude or depression. Two women settlers, who are in the Beaver Bay district, have cats. Like the little squirrels Mr. Petrious so fondly calls each early morn, the cats are also constant in their attention to the women of the lonely cabin.

One settler has a pianola, according to McLenehan. His cabin is the popular rendezvous of many of the settlers of the settlement. Upon the night before Christmas a social gathering was held in the two-room cabin of the settler with the pianola. Wagner, Beethoven and other classical authors, of whom a majority of the guests of the evening had never heard, were played upon the instrument. This is the only pianola in the Beaver Bay district, according to Mr. McLenehan, though two of the other settlers with artistic tendencies have phonographs.

But when you have not a phonograph or a pianola, you must look inward for the amusements that turn the leaden hours into smoothly gliding time. A party of homesteaders who were returning from a hunting expedition one evening, were startled by hearing cries of "Help! Help! Help! The villains are upon me!" They rushed to the cabin of the settler that was some distance from the trail they were following, and found him in shirt sleeves and frowsled hair, intent upon learning by heart one of the popular orations that is contained in Harper's Fifth reader.

One settler has a trained pig. The animal was raised upon a bottle. The pig is evidently an affectionate beast, for it follows the settler through the district, and early in the morning creeps from its sty, though pigs are of a naturally indolent disposition, and grunt energetically at the door of the master of the domicile. If the settler leaves the premises and the pig is not allowed to go, McLenahan says he fills the air with groans and piercing squeals.

But this one is the limit. The settler says that one man has tamed a polecat. They are beautiful little beasts, if you can forget their pernicious habits. The odor sack of the beast has been removed and a prettier little pet or a more constant companion you couldn't imagine, if the information of Mr. McLenehan is correct.

The amusements in the Beaver Bay district are varied. Settler Artie O'Dea has the walls of his hut hung with old gloves, bats and other paraphernalia of the diamond, according to McLenehan. In moments of deep gloom and introspection, Artie looks fondly and musingly at the souvenirs of the national game and becomes lost in reminiscences of the past.

Solomon Sax of Eveleth, who was at the McKay the present week, is a great believer in the future of Gilbert, the town that has taken on additional size and importance with the consolidation with Sparta. Mr. Sax says that the price of real estate is already advanced over 25 per cent, and that in every way the consolidation of the towns will have a beneficial effect.

For one thing, Gilbert will pass from a village into the importance of a small city. The population of Gilbert was almost doubled within a few months by the moving of the citizens of Sparta to Gilbert. New homes have been built, and Mr. Sax is of the opinion that the joining of the interests of the town, made necessary by the Steel company taking the site of Sparta for mining purposes, will result in one of the best towns upon the range.

Frank Skinner of Eveleth, who has just returned from a trip to Panama, was at the McKay yesterday. Mr. Skinner says that under the supervision of the government engineers the work upon the canal is progressing more rapidly than in the days when Engineer Stevens was in charge of the work. Mr. Skinner also states that the sanitation at the present time is very good, and that no yellow fever germs have been discovered since last February. There are many American employes at Panama, according to Mr. Skinner, but most of the manual labor is done by Jamaican negroes. There are also some Spanish and Italians on the work.

THE WEATHER.

RAIN

Last night's beautiful weather was followed by cloudy skies, and the weather man looks for showers or thunder storms tonight and Sunday.

A year ago there was a northeaster blowing.

The sun rose this morning at 4:13 and will set this afternoon at 7:52, making fifteen hours and thirty-four minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"A disturbance of considerable intensity is central over Nebraska and the Dakotas. During the past twenty-four hours it has caused light to heavy showers or thunder storms over Western Canada and the Northwestern states. Showers also fell over portions of the Mississippi valley, Tennessee and North Atlantic states, partly due to the depression that has advanced to the New England coast. The barometer is highest over the East Gulf and Pacific Coast states. Rather warm weather prevails in the Central Valley states. Rising pressures in the Far West are attended by cooler weather."

Following were last night's lowest temperatures:

"The Story of My Life."

Hy Mayer, in Success Magazine: When I was a child it was my greatest ambition to become a lion tamer. But my mama wouldn't let me. And then it was my ambition to become a detective. My pap's best friend was the chief of police, and through his influence I obtained a position as detective. The first day the captain told me that a gentlemanly criminal had escaped—he showed me his picture and he wanted me to catch him. I caught him. On the way to the station we passed a restaurant and the gentlemanly criminal said he was very hungry. And, because he was one of the most lovely criminals I ever heard of, I said to him: "Very well; go inside and I will wait for you out here."

I must have waited half an hour and he did not come out. So I went inside and said to the proprietor: "Did you see a gentlemanly criminal?"

"Why, yes," said he; "he has just gone out the back way."

So I had to catch him again the next day. And on the way to the station we passed that restaurant again, and again he said he was very hungry. "Very well," I said, "go inside and I will wait for you." But this time I was clever and I ran around the back way. I must save waited half an hour—oh! longer. And I finally went inside and asked the proprietor. "The gentlemanly criminal had gone out the front way. So I had to catch him the next day; and on the way to the station we passed the restaurant again. He said he was very hungry. And because he was such a gentlemanly criminal I said: "Oh, very well!" (but, to myself, "This time he's not going to fool me"). So I said to him: "I will go inside and get you something to eat and you can wait here." • • • And then I became an artist.

SATURDAY NIGHT TALK

Soldiers of Peace.

The tenderest of all the public anniversaries of the year is at hand. Memorial day stands for the lavish outpouring of life and the due recognition of that sacrifice by those who have profited by it. Had there not been men in all parts of the land ready to spring to the defense of the country, to leave behind them their dearest ones, to endure the hardship of forced marches, the ordeal of battle and weary days in hospital and prison, this nation would have become dismembered. How different, then, the history of the last fifty years would have been. In these days of peace and comparative plenty we do well not only to lay garlands on the graves of those who have fallen and to look reverently upon the furrowed faces and bowed figures of the surviving "boys in blue," but to think of the immense debt we owe them, a debt shared by all parts of the civilized world.

When responding to the call for volunteers they left the plow or the forge, the factory and the counter, they may have had no clear vision of the future or even of the significance of what they were doing; they only knew that duty called. Horrible as war is, especially internecine strife, no other way appeared of bringing to an end differences and disagreements which, if allowed to persist, would in time disrupt the Union:

Their's not to reason why,
Their's but to do and die.

But the passing of nearly fifty years puts a new face upon the world; totally new issues like those relating to the tariff and the rights of labor have come to the front, concerning which the division cannot be wholly on sectional lines. Men are absorbed as perhaps never before in the scramble for riches, in the development of industrial resources. The call to youth today is not to the battlefield, but to the service of the state and mankind through peaceful vocations. Oh, that the same valor and self-forgetfulness that led stripplings in the early '60s to do battle with bullets and bayonets, would take possession of the young men and women of today and make them veritable soldiers of peace!

The country wants men of sterling yet fighting honesty in public positions from senators and representatives in congress down to the humblest letter carrier. France is just now putting to test the real patriotism of its postmen and telegraph operators. While a similar situation is not likely to arise in this country, it behooves every man in office and every voter to ask himself if he loves his country well enough to do the humdrum painstaking duties essential to the forwarding of the public business and the public welfare.

We need also soldiers of peace who will persistently and courageously strive to substitute in the minds of all the people ideas of peace for ideals of war. In a store window the other day I noticed the picture of a mother sitting beside her boy before an open fire. The artist had contrived to give a kind of dream effect to the scene. The mother was gazing through the firelight at the shadowy outline of a gowned preacher in a pulpit. But the boy was looking in another direction, his gaze riveted on the outline of a soldier decked out with sword and buckler and in a very militant attitude. The boy and the mother were cherishing altogether different ideals concerning what he would be fifteen or twenty years hence. How can we make it clear to young minds and hearts that military glory is not the only thing worth striving for? The boys and girls who grow up into men and women ready to serve their country in prosaic ways and to serve mankind are just as much heroes as men who grasp their muskets and hurry to the battlefield. These two valiant missionaries, Messrs. Rogers and Maurer, who recently were slain in Armenia while trying to keep the natives from killing one another deserve monuments for their valor quite as much as if they had helped to sink the Spanish fleet.

Oh, yes, there is fighting work enough to do in the world without setting foot on any of the battleships whose multiplication is burdening taxpayers the world over today. As Charles Kingsley said, "The age of chivalry is not past so long as one wrong remains unredressed." He deserves to be called a good soldier of Jesus Christ, who, like Him, will bear witness to truth and righteousness, even at the cost of his own life, and who, like Him, illustrates each day the heroic virtues called by the old-fashioned name of gentleness and unselfishness.

NOT TO BE TAKEN SERIOUSLY.

Caller— New York Weekly: He (desporately)—Tell me the truth. It is not my poverty that stands between us?

She (sadly)—Y-e-s.

He (with a ray of hope)—I admit that I am poor, and so, unfortunately, is my father; but I have an aged uncle who is very rich, and a bachelor. He is an invalid and cannot long survive.

She (delightedly)—How kind and thoughtful you are! Will you introduce me to him?

Cleveland Leader: Pat (waking up)—An' phat happened to me?

Ambulance surgeon—You were asphyxiated.

Pat—Faith, I had done wance before—in my lift arrum—but it didn't take thot time.

Short Stories: Caller—Nellie, is your mother in?

Nellie—Mother is out shopping.

Caller—When will she return, Nellie?

Nellie (calling back)—Mamma, what shall I say now?

Minneapolis Journal: Wiggs—Old Gotrox is devoted to music. There is a clause in his will leaving $25,000 to establish a home for poor singers.

Cleveland Leader: "You say the train was telescoped?"

"It was."

"But how did you escape injury?"

"I was on the through car."

Washington Herald: "Dukes, counts? Bah! Why doesn't she marry an honest blacksmith?

"Go easy, old man. What chance does a New York society girl get to meet a blacksmith?"

Judge: Why hide your light under a bushel when a pint measure will answer the purpose?

Chicago Record-Herald: "Are they people of any standing in the community?"

"Oh, yes. One of the girls is engaged to a titled foreigner and their only son has been in three automobile accidents involving ladies of the chorus."

Chicago Record-Herald: "Pa, what does 'Fiat Justitia' mean?"

"It means that the man who wrote to the editor didn't have the courage of his convictions quite well enough developed to be willing to sign his own name."

Boston Transcript: She—I always begin a novel in the middle.

He—Why do you do that?

She—Then I have two problems to get excited over—how the story will end and how it will begin."

Washington Star: "Dat new neighbor has his place arranged mighty cozy an' convenient," said Miss Miami Brown.

"Yas'm," answered Mr. Erastus Pinkley. "Dat's 'bout de mos' convenientes' place I knows of. He's got de chicken coop right nex' to de back fence, an' de watermelon patch nex' to de chicken coop."

It was decided to call for bids at once for the immediate improvement of the terrace drive. Olaf Benson, the eminent landscape engineer, who has done so much for the Chicago parks, is in the city upon Mr. Rogers' invitation, to advise the commission as to the best methods to pursue. Mr. Benson said today: "It is the most wonderful opportunity for city making which I know of in any country. The fact that there exists in the very heart of the city such a groundwork for a park system is really phenomenal. Other cities have had to create their parks. Duluth has hers, so to speak, ready-made." ROBERT TOWNSEND HOUGH

BY SAVOYARD

A little more than a quarter of a century ago, the hot summer of 1883, I spent some weeks in a little village of North Texas. It was a wooden town, built on the sand, the houses scattered hither and thither south of a little narrow-gauge railroad. The tavern was kept by an old fellow named Ragland, and he fed his guests on passably good fried chicken and miserable porkhouse ham from St. Louis. The biscuits were plethoric with fat, inedible from soda, an opthecosis of indigestion, a provocation of dyspepsia, a challenge to misery. The corn bread was even worse, and seemed to be made of starch. The coffee was execrable and the milk horrible. In some compensation there were a few fig trees, not entirely barren. In the woods rounds about there were scrub pine and scrub postoak, sand like Sahara, and copperhead snakes as like the locusts that plagued Pharaoh.

In that little town convened that hot month of June the circuit court. The district judge, who presided, became chief justice of the state. The district attorney was later attorney general, and after that governor of Texas. A young lawyer at the bar was also elected attorney general, governor, and is now a senator in congress and leader of the minority in that body. Buck Kilgore was another practicing lawyer there, and so was De Graffenreid, another congressman from Texas. There were others who attained to high place in the business world. All of us ate old England's chickens, and some of us cussed out England's table—also his beds, particularly his beds, and especially his beds.

From that day I have never despaired of American citizenship. Here was the best town in the world in which to die, and you could toss a stone "from end to end," of it and yet that community produced enough men who subsequently became distinguished to add luster to a big city.

I am now about to write something of a great and a good man, who came from a little town of Ohio. He is unheralded to the world, but his is a luminous mind and his a heart of gold. The woods are full of such people of the institutions fashioned by our fathers and now in the keeping of a later generation.

• • •

Just across the river from Kentucky is Highland county, Ohio, settled by Quakers and Methodists. Foraker came from there, and so did Beveridge. It was an anti-slavery community and intensely hostile to African slavery as it existed in the South, and Hillsboro was a way station of the underground railroad.

Before the close of hostilities between the North and South and ere the soldiers came from the front there was a wheat threshing in Highland county, such a work as we had in the earlier day, when neighbor helped neighbor and grain was threshed by horse power, and they had a big and sumptuous dinner at the farm house at noonday. On this occasion some twenty men and boys were at work threshing a crop of wheat in a district of Highland county that had not a single Democratic vote. There came down the dusty road a paroled rebel soldier, who had left Ohio before the war and located in the South, where he joined the Confederate army. As he passed along, one of the farmers engaged in the work said to his hands: "We ought to mob that traitor."

A big lusty boy, 19 years of age, sprang from the straw stack, pitchfork in hand, and in impassioned voice exclaimed: "That man has as much right to travel unmolested the highway as any one here." Such talk as this opulent and ignorant farmer had uttered was disloyal. The crowd gathered around the youth and uttered many savage threats against him. He weighed 190 pounds his muscles were as iron, his eyes as fire. He had a giant's strength, and gripping his pitchfork, he uttered the defiance: "Come on, I can whip any ten of you." The entire layout was tamed by the master spirit of that boy and work was resumed and politics dropped.

• • •

Robert T. Hough was the boy, and the boy was father to Robert T. Hough, the man, the jurist, the thinker, the statesman whom I came to know some forty years later. His father was a Methodist and an abolitionist, but this boy became a follower of Vallandigham and a reader of the Cincinnati Enquirer. Character is the only coin that is full legal tender and young Hough, when a candidate for congress in that community some years later, on the Democratic ticket, got forty-eight majority in that very precinct where not a Democratic vote was cast in 1864.

• • •

As was the case of Frank Hurd, the intolerance of fanatic Republicans made an intense Democrat of Robert T. Hough, and he would vote his party's ticket though it were headed by the eternal old cloven-hoofed devil himself.

In 1871, at the age of 22, Robert T. Lough graduated from the Cincinnati law school, and soon thereafter was elected clerk of the circuit court of Highland county. When the term expired he entered actively on the practice of law and took high rank at the bar. Mr. Cleveland appointed him solicitor of internal revenue, and no abler man ever held that responsible office. His history of, and argument upon, the income tax schedule of the Wilson tariff bill is a production of which any leader of the American bar might well be proud; but it is as a practitioner in the courtroom that Judge Hough has gained most reputation. He is that marvel of lawyers —one never taken by surprise, never captive of a flank movement of an adversary.

When McKinley was first elected, Judge Hough resigned and entered upon the practice of his profession at Washington, where his friends are numbered by the scope of his acquaintance. A man of the broadest charity, one of those sinners, "of whom I am one of which," who believe it was the mission of our blessed Lord and Savior to succor "the unworthy poor" and to bring solace to the heavily laden in spirit, Hough is narrow in nothing but his politics. He is a "valler dog" Democrat, and that sentiment is imbedded to the narrow in his great, ponderous Pennsylvania Dutch corporosity.

His most intimate personal friend is Judge Kegain, an Irishman, a Catholic, a fellow lawyer and a Republican. Antagonistic in a thousand ways, religious and political, these two are as closely knit in friendship and fellowship as any brothers in all the land. While I that write this plead guilty to the charge of being something of a ruffian, I envy Hough and Kegain the character universal they have made as perfect gentlemen, a term held all too cheap in our land, but it fits these two as the bark the tree.

I am now going to quote the daily prayer of Robert Townsend Hough, and if any boy in his teens, or of tender years, shall do me the honor to read this account of a rather obscure great man, I want that boy to memorize this prayer, repeat it, morn and even, and live it:

Today let me live content, be clean, refined, worthy,
Act frankly, go slowly, listen well, think quickly.
Fear nothing, do my full share of the world's work, and rest tonight
Knowing I have injured nothing that exists.

That is simpler than the advice old Polonius gave Laertes and just as good. Suppose all men practiced what Judge Hough's prayer implies? Well, he and Kegain would be out of jobs. There would be no use for lawyers, or governments, in "this damned wicked world we live in, Sir Oliver."

• • •

I see Foraker has rung the fire alarm again. See Proverbs xxvi:11. He advises a resort to the anarchist's bomb to destroy the monument to Wirz, whom the South holds a martyr and the North a monster; and yet fewer Yankees died in rebel prisons than rebels died in Yankee prisons, and that, too, when the Christian North made medicine a contraband of war, something unprecedented since Constein ever dreamed of it. As for Jefferson Davis, the obliteration of his name from Cabin John bridge did him no harm, as its restoration did his memory no good. And besides, his image on the silver service of the battleship Mississippi did the navy no harm, as it did his fame no good.

All I meant to say is that Foraker is striving to bring Copperheadism in fashion again in Ohio, and therefore it may become necessary for Judge Hough to return to that state and run for governor on a Vallandigham ticket.

SUSPEND MORRIS ATTORNEY.

J. I. Davis Debarred From Practicing For Period of Six Months.

St. Paul, Minn., May 29.—The supreme court yesterday suspended J. I. Davis, an attorney of Morris, Minn., from practice for six months, as a result of charges made by the state board of bar examiners.

Davis was charged with retaining money secured by him for clients. In one case he was charged with acting as attorney for both the plaintiff and the defendant at the same time.

The court holds that while the charges are not serious enough for actual punishment, his unprofessional conduct calls for censure and a punishment of six months' suspension from practice is prescribed. Davis is quite prominent in Morris.

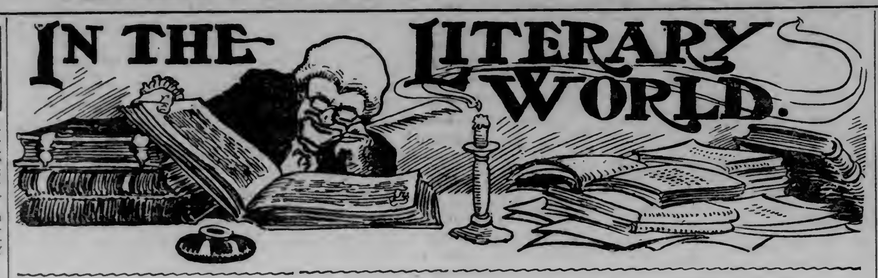
FREIMUTH'S.

IN THE LITERARY WORLD.



THE ROMANCE OF A PLAIN MAN. By Ellen Glasgow. New York: The Macmillan company. $1.50.

In this splendid novel Miss Glasgow again makes Richmond the theater of her drama. Ben Starr, a "poor white trash" lad, son of a weakling marble-cutter father and a sharply shrewish mother, nerve-wracked and tempered-edged by poverty and drudgery, is its hero, and tells the story of his life. His mother's death and the precipitate marriage of his father to a yellow-haired "female" set him adrift on the world, a mere lad but big with ambition. Chief among his aims is a determination not to be "common," because an aristocratic little girl seemed to think it not a good thing to be. The story describes his early struggles, his advancing fortunes, and his success in seeking not to be "common," tells how he delivered groceries as a boy at the back doors of mansions and how later he was welcomed at the front doors of those same mansions, albeit with doubt and suspicion by some. He does battle with the aristocratic traditions of Virginia for the love of a noble woman, and the story of the fight makes an intensely interesting and thoroughly satisfying novel. When he wins the dainty lady the story has only fairly begun, for it is much as though an elephant had won the love of a butterfly, though the comparison is fair neither to Ben Starr nor to Sally Mickleborough. Yet in his absorbed devotion to business, even though it is all for her, and in his neglect of his wife while she is forced to the companionship of a handsome young man of her own class who loves her, Ben Starr shows himself to be a very exasperating ass who doesn't deserve his good fortune. The story is skillfully told, and is wholesomely absorbing. The book isn't one of those that you lay down and forget before the white space at its back is reached. The characters—and there are some very delightful ones—are vivid, appealing and human.

THE FABIAN ESSAYS IN SOCIALISM. By George Bernard Shaw and others. New edition with preface by George Bernard Shaw. Boston: Ball Publishing company. 50 cents net; postage, 10 cents.

A new edition of this classic of sane Socialism is timely indeed. The Fabian Society of England, to whose sensible conservatism the Socialists are generally turning, has done more to give Socialism respectability and to commend it to the fair hearing to which it is entitled as the only economic creed which offers a remedy for evils which creeds deplore, than any other agency. No doubt there are people, readers of his brilliant plays and his still more brilliant prefaces, who think Bernard Shaw something of a madman. Those who read his introduction to this volume can scarcely fail to admit that he is one of the sanest thinkers living. No man should judge Socialism finally without reading this book, to which the name of Shaw has contributed so much brilliancy and sound sense. You will find him destroying with deft rapier thrusts some of the old ideas about the Socialists, particularly those which confound them with their opposites, the anarchists. He speaks of the "catastrophists" of early Socialism, those who thought that their reforms would be certain in twenty years as "romantic amateurs," but it is a matter of centuries, in his view—centuries of education and evolution, of earnest reaching and persistent striving for a definite end—if the achievement of Socialism is to come at all. Like all sane endeavorers at the improvement of the common lot—for that is all any of the creeds are, no matter how unrespectable prejudice makes them look—Shaw deprecates violent methods as defeating their own ends. "The Fabian knows," he says, "that property does not hesitate to shoot and that now, as always, the unsuccessful revolutionist may expect calumny, perjury, cruelty, judicial and military massacre without mercy. But the Fabian does not expect to get thus handled if he can help it. If there is to be any shooting, he expects to be at the state end of the gun, and he knows that it will take him a good many years to get there. Still, he thinks he sees his way—or rather the rest of his way, for he is already on the road." Also: "The old attempt to confuse the issue by asserting that the existence of the family, religion, marriage, etc., are inextricably bound up with the continuance of senseless social theft, no longer imposes on any one." Again: "The evolution of Socialism from the Red Specter on the barricade, with community of wives and compulsory atheism, to the Fabian society and the Christian Social union, constitutional, respectable, even official, eminent and titled, is every day allaying dread of it." No man can honestly say that he knows what Socialism means unless he has read the Fabian Essays.

Eight years ago "Quincy Adams Sawyer" was one of the "best sellers," and the book gained many admirers who have asked for a further history of the interesting folks that populated it. This volume is the result of those requests. Quincy is now governor of Massachusetts, a governor who thinks for himself, who has small patience for bosses and their specially privileged backers, and who is quite willing to balk their plans and does it effectively in his one term. Incidentally, we meet and renew acquaintances with the Mason Corner folks, who are very wholesome and good-hearted folks, with the exception of the designing Obadiah Strout, who is still the villain of the piece. Quincy, this time, has a strangely romantic experience, being lost for many years while Quincy Adams Sawyer, Jr., is growing up to young manhood. The author is not skillful in plot-weaving. His story rambles discursively, and at times becomes so involved with the character studies that it is not easy to follow it in some of its by-paths. The main thread, however, is clear and vivid, and Mr. Pidgin has a natural faculty of putting real life on the printed page that gives his stories a strong human interest which makes them popular in spite of technical defects. This new volume is no exception, and it will pleasantly interest those who love their fellow man and like to read realistic stories about him.

HOW I KNOW THAT THE DEAD RETURN. By William T. Stead. "An account of the remarkable personal experience of the author which dispelled all doubt in his mind as to the reality of a future life." Boston: Ball Publishing company. 75 cents, net.

The stalwart and vigorous-minded editor of the English Review of Reviews gives his personal experiences in this volume in a matter of thrilling interest. It isn't intended to be conclusive as to the immortality of the soul; in one form or another everybody worth while agrees to that. The question is whether, having achieved a sentient immortality by passage through the gates of death, we can and do return to tell our former neighbors, relations of blood or of accidental juxtaposition, all about it. Mr. Stead's argument is interesting. If Christopher Columbus had never returned from the voyage in which he discovered America, he says; if other venturesome voyagers had followed his trackless path and had never returned, the conviction that they had perished would have been strengthened to a certainty. Yet they might have been living in the New World all the time, without being able to send back word of their fate. Yet in time they, or we, might have discovered a means of communication, and those who first received the mystic intelligence would be looked upon, says Mr. Stead, very much as those are looked upon who now profess to have had messages from the other world. Yet in the meantime those who had heard Columbus' dream of another world would have grown skeptical, and from his failure to return or to send word would have argued that there was no such other world. This he deems a logical parallel with that final journey which all must take. He believes, too, that our mystic voyagers to the other world, who are constantly going out, do return and do send messages, and he gives some very interesting personal experiences to prove it. Whatever may be said of his judgment of these proofs, his sincerity is not to be questioned. When he says that he has the gift of automatic handwriting—that by making his mind passive his hand will write messages from those at a distance or even those who are dead—we must believe that he believes it. And his experiences, as related in this book, are remarkable indeed.

Editor of Review of Reviews and Author of "How I Know That the Dead Return."

Here is a very practical and useful book for those who submit to the call of the woods and the open places, and who leave the comforts of civilization behind them and go out to live in tents and cook their food over camp fires. While they are doing this they might as well do it properly and take with them, in a small compass, as many of the comforts of civilization as they can manage. It is just as easy to be warm and dry and comfortable and well fed as not, and it is the object of this book to tell how to be that way in camp, an object which is fully accomplished. It describes camp outfits, tents, cooking utensils, clothing, food—their quantity and kind, how much you will need and what kinds are best. It tells how to make mosquito "dopes," how to make a camp fire, how to provide shelter, how to clean and keep fish, what to do if lost in the woods and how to cook with the materials likely to be at hand in camp, including that crowning delicacy of the woods, beans baked in a "bean hole." The book is small enough to be easily handled, but full enough to meet every demand.

ITALIAN HIGHWAYS AND BYWAYS FROM A MOTOR CAR. By Francis Miltoun. Boston: L. C. Page & Co. $3, boxed.

This admirable book is elaborately illustrated with excellent pictures by Blanche McManus, handsomely bound, and filled with faithfully accurate and interesting descriptive matter. Miltoun has the happy faculty of making his travel stories pleasant to read, furnishing as they do entertainment as well as instruction, and this is one of the best of his numerous travel books. The motor journey permits a departure from the beaten paths, which have been trodden by so many thousands and described by nearly as many, and therefore introduces the novelty, in travel literature, of freshness, which is all the more pleasing for its rarity. The narrative style is light and breezy, though dignified, and the book is more than a handsome showpiece for a library shelf—though it is that, too. It is good to read for the entertainment it provides, not to speak of its abundance of valuable information.

A GENTLEMAN OF QUALITY. By Frederic Van Rensalaer Day. Boston: L. C. Page & Co. $1.50.

Lord John Hertford, leaving his beautiful bride during the wedding festivities to go on an errand apparently trifling, does not return. Jack Ashton, a foundling, in the next chapter leaves his foster father in New York because the latter's daughter, to whom Ashton was engaged to be married, repudiated him on account of a false tale told her by a designing woman, and goes adrift upon the world. A year later, and exactly a year after Lord John's disappearance, Ashton is accosted in a London street by the missing lord's valet, who mistakes him for his master. Ignoring the old fellow, Ashton goes home with him, only to find, to his amazement, that the strangely bereaved bride insists that he is her husband. Here is a pretty pickle, and much perturbation of mind it causes him. Finally, driven by circumstances as well as by a new-born love for the lady, he accepts the gifts of fortune and takes the missing man's place, insisting, fortunately, upon a new marriage ceremony. These are the materials of a deep mystery, which the story untangles interestingly.

Of Books and Writers.

In "The Elements of Hygiene for Schools" Miss Isabel McIsaac has prepared a text-book which will be of the greatest assistance in the task, difficult at best, of teaching children how to care for their bodies and their homes. The book, published this week by the Macmillan company, is based upon the same author's successful "Hygiene for Nurses." Extensive revisions and alterations, however, have been made in order to adapt the material to school use. The result is a manual marked by condensation, directness and the presentation of the facts in a matter calculated to arouse interest and stimulate memory.

Probably no man in the world has traveled or seen more than John Foster Fraser. While this may be an open question, one fact is certain: no man can so keenly appreciate what he sees and can so vividly tell his experiences to those who would know as the author of Cassell & Co.'s new book, "Quaint Subjects of the King." Mr. Foster Fraser has quickly earned a high reputation by his delightful books of travel. In "Life's Contrasts," published last year by Cassell & Co., he broke new ground. Having been immersed in journalism for over twenty years, he has seen every side of life, the ups and downs of society, the humor and pathos of the people. In "Life's Contrasts" Mr. Fraser placed before his readers a brilliant panorama, showing the lives of the wealthy and the poor in different parts of the world. In his new book, "Quaint Subjects of the King," he tells, in his bright and chatty manner, true stories as thrilling as any novel, in each chapter he brings the reader face to face with almost unknown peoples. Very often, when we learn truth about things, the glamor of imagination fades, but in reading through the pages of "Quaint Subjects of the King" we find that truth is, indeed, far stranger than fiction.

Mrs. Humphrey Ward has gone to Cadanabbia, Lake Como, to work on her new novel. This will be a story of Canada. "Marriage a la Mode," published this month by Doubleday, Page & Co., is the first of Mrs. Ward's stories in which the scene is set partly in the United States. The novel is much stronger than the story as it appeared serially, and deals interestingly with the especially American problem of the international marriage.

Kirkpatrick; "Recitations for Assembly and Classroom," by Anna T. O'Neill.

Coincident with the retirement of Dr. Eliot from the presidency of Harvard university, the Houghton Mifflin company is publishing a notable little book by Dr. Eugene Kuehnemann, professor of philosophy in the University of Breslau, on "Charles W. Eliot, President of Harvard University, May 19, 1869-May 19, 1909." His study of Dr. Eliot's lifework is marked by the thoroughness of plan and detail that characterizes the work of German scholars. Although much has been published during the last few months on Dr. Eliot and his work, and has been of a journalistic character and no one has undertaken to put into book form a thoughtful, careful and dispassionate study of the influence of Harvard's great president on American education. Prof. Kuehnemann has been for two terms exchange professor at Harvard, as arranged for by Emperor William, and therefore his point of view is especially interesting.

There is no excuse for hesitancy in accepting proffered information under extraordinary conditions. "All the latest popular novels!" sang out the train boy. Then holding out a copy of "The Guest of Quesnay" to a prosperous looking passenger, he urged, "Buy Booth Tarkington's latest work, sir!"

The man looked annoyed. "No!" I am Booth Tarkington himself."

"Then buy a copy of "Marriage a la Mode," persisted the boy. "You ain't Mrs. Humphrey Ward too, are you?"

A revision by Marianna Wheeler of her authoritative book entitled "The Baby, Its Care and Training," is announced by the publishers, the Messrs. Harper. Revision of such a work is particularly important, because of the rapid advances continually being made by medical science, the last few years having shown special development along these lines. The author was for nearly twenty years head worker and general director of the Babies' hospital in New York. Her book, from the date of its publication, has borne the stamp of high authority. The first demand, surely, of all who need such information as it gives.

E. E. Squires, assistant forest ranger on the Clearwater national forest, and Charles E. Blush, deputy forest ranger on the Blackfeet national forest, have been restored to duty.

William C. Latane, forest assistant, has been transferred from the Bighorn to the Kaniksu national forest.

FIVE CENTS ON DOLLAR FOR TRACY CREDITORS.

New York, May 29.—Creditors of the bankrupt stock brokerage firm of Tracy & Co., 40 Wall street, will not get more than 5 cents on the dollar if they get anything at all, judging by a preliminary report issued by the receiver.

In that report the receiver says the assets of the firm, so far as the New York office is concerned, are not worth more than $100,000, while the liabilities are almost $700,000. What the assets and liabilities will be when the reports from the numerous branches of the company have been decided he cannot say, but it is not expected that the conditions will be improved from the viewpoint of the creditors.

CLUBS AND MUSICAL

FIRST CONCERT IN MAY FESTIVAL

Duluth Welcomes Minneapolis Orchestra in Whole Hearted Way.

The first formal concert in the series in the May festival, which enthusiastic music lovers and loyal Duluthians have insisted upon providing for Duluth, was given last evening at the Lyceum before a large audience, with the Minneapolis Symphony orchestra, under the direction of Emil Oberhoffer, as the attraction.

The festival promises to be a success from every standpoint. Artistically the music was most satisfying, and especially to those Duluthians, who have waited long for some taste of the larger musical life which Duluth is denied in great part. The orchestra, with the soloists presented, appeared in a program that was completely satisfying. The theater presented a gala appearance, the stage and boxes being banked in ferns and palms, and a large graceful bouquet of peonies in pink and white in the place of honor, gave a suggestion of spring and beauty.

The feature of the evening's concert was the playing of the great Tschaikowsky Symphony, No. 6, that commands attention, with its insistent note of tragedy and struggle. The reading of the score by Mr. Oberhoffer was entirely satisfying. Mr. Oberhoffer evidently prefers that the symmetry of his reading of the symphonies should not be interrupted by applause between the movements, but last night's audience was so pleased, and contrary to custom, so anxious to express its approval, that every opportunity to do so was seized. But the director refused to receive the applause until the last note of the colorful intense tragedy, had died away.

The other numbers played by the orchestra last evening were the Berlioz overture "Le Carneval Romain;" Wagner's "Song of the Rhine Daughters," and "March Hungroise," from "Damnation of Faust." The soloists were Arthur Middleton, basso; Esther M. Plumb, contralto, and Richard Czerwonky, concert master of the orchestra, who in his solos "Fantasia Appassionata," by Vieuxtemps, displayed a technical facility that was entirely adequate, and in the encore demanded, a beautiful tone quality and phrasing. He was well received.

The Prologue from "Pagliacci" was finely sung by Mr. Middleton, and in response to the enthusiastic encore he sang the Toreador song from "Carmen." Miss Plumb sang an aria from "La Favorita," by Donizetti, that displayed her voice to good effect, and she was recalled.

This evening's concert should have even a wider appeal than last night's program, and every Duluthian who was not present last evening should make every possible effort to have a part in this treat, the like of which will not be in Duluth again for many months. Every music student should, if possible, hear this orchestra.

Overture to "Tannhauser" ..... Wagner
Bass solo—"She Alone Charmeth My Sadness" (Queen of Sheba) ... Gounod
Mr. Middleton.
"Spanish Caprice" .. Rimsky-Korsakow
Duet—Tower scene from "Trovatore"
Manrico ..... Garnett Hedge
Leonore ..... Louise Ormsby
Alsatian scenes—"Under the Linden Tree" ..... Massanet
'Cello solo, Carlo Fischer; clarinet solo, Salvatore Nirella.
Sontdaito aria—"My Heart is Weary" (Nedeschda) ..... Gorin Thomes
Miss Plumb.
Quartett from "Rigoletto" ..... Verdi
Misses Ormsby and Plumb; Messrs. Hedge and Middleton.
Hungarian rhapsody, No. 11 ..... Liszt
With Original Harp Cadenza by Henry J. Williams.
Sextet from "Lucia" ..... Donizetti
Assisted by Quartett: Walter L. Smith, tenor, Duluth; Philip Gordon Brown, bass, Duluth.
Grand trio finale from "Faust" .....
..... Gounod
Miss Ormsby and Messrs. Hedge and Middleton.

To Sing "The Holy City."

The choir of the First Norwegian Lutheran church of this city will appear in an oratorio concert Monday evening at the church, in conjunction with the Bethlehem choir of Minneapolis, making a choir of sixty-five voices. The directors will be J. Sether and John Olsen, and the solosists will be Ethelyn Abbott, soprano; Oscar Gronseth, baritone; Gina Finseth, contralto; Carl Huaal, tenor; Oliver Colbentson, violin, and Miss Alice Olsen at the piano. The oratorio, "The Holy City," will be sung.

OSCAR GRONSETH,
Who Will Appear in "The Holy City" at the Norwegian Lutheran Church Monday Evening.

Pupils' Recital.

The junior members from the music class of Miss Nellie A. Le Duc will appear in a recital Friday afternoon of next week at her home and studio, 1207 East Superior street.

Pupils' Recital.

Mrs. Mary E. Thorburn presented a few of her pupils in a musicale Monday evening at her studio in the Masonic Temple, the affair being the second in a series to be given during the summer. Little Mendetta Casmir played "Ye Merry Birds" in a way that pleased the audience greatly. Kathryn Flynn played a Brahms "Hungarian Dance," and Zella Burrell played "To Spring," by Grieg, and Chaminade's "Pastorale." Clara Schiller appeared in two numbers, "Arabesque," by Karganoff, and "Air de Ballet," by Chaminade, and Daisy Smart played a Chopin valse and the Schubert-Liszt "March Militaire." Miss Luella Neff played especially well, her number being "Rondo Capriccioso," by Mendelssohn. The little orchestra which Mrs. Thorburn directs appeared in three numbers, and readings by Miss Irene Wardell were much enjoyed.

SETTLERS WILL PULL TOGETHER

United Action in Ditch Matters Discussed at Grygla Meeting.

Grygla, Minn., May 29.—(Special to The Herald.)—A largely attended meeting of the settlers, living in what is known as the Mud and Thief Lake basis in Eastern Marshall and Northwestern Beltrami counties, was held here Tuesday.

It was attended by some 150 farmers, whose lands are at times more or less injured by water overflow, particularly in seasons of heavy rainfall. The meeting was in charge of County Attorney Brown of Marshall county and was for the purpose of securing harmonious and concerted action on the part of the counties of Marshall and Beltrami, that the drainage projects which would benefit this section might be sufficiently comprehensive to prevent any overflows in the future. The drawback in all drainage in the past has been that the efforts have been disconnected and thus unsuccessful. In this case the counties, towns and even the state will co-operate, to establish and construct large ditches and laterals on the plan outlined by the United States geological survey of this section, which was completed one year ago. This will call for the expenditure of some $250,000, which expense will be divided according to benefits among the interested parties. It is the opinion of State Engineer Ralph that these projected ditches will drain all this great and rich section as dry as a bone and that all future danger of floods will be removed. A feature of this plan of drainage is that all the dirt removed from the ditch is thrown to one side, graded down, and forms the best kind of a highway, always dry and hard and running through the settlements on straight lines. The contracts will be let for these series of drains as soon as the surveyors can assess the damages and benefits.

INTERNATIONAL FALLS BUSY SPOT

International Falls, Minn., May 29.—Special to The Herald.)—Good progress is being made on the construction of the big dam across Rainy river here, that is to furnish power for many industries. The American wing of the detaining wall is well under way. The wheel pit is nearly completed. Thousands of tons of rock have been removed and now lie piled up on the bank, waiting to be turned into concrete.

At the site of the paper mill activity is increasing, and the outline of the building is becoming evident. The concrete walls are now under construction. The brick wall which divides the building is nearly completed. Much of the steel frame has been put into place. The bridge work supports for the roof have been received. These are the largest sections of steel work that have yet been shipped in for the different industrial projects now under way.

The whole city has taken on an activity that harmonizes well with the work at the dam. Thus far building operations are confined chiefly to business blocks. The most extensive of these is the store building of Olson, Peterson & Co. The concrete foundation walls have been finished and made ready for the superstructure, contract for which has been let. Many other business places are under construction.

The Cook Construction company has the water works system well under way. Now that the weather has settled, more rapid and satisfactory progress can be made. It is not likely that the company will be troubled with water when the surface has become dry.

CAPT. PURDY'S BIG CATCH.

Ontonagon, Mich., Man Lands a Fifty-Pound Trout.

Ontonagon, Mich., May 29.—(Special to The Herald.)—Capt. Purdy of this place, a well known fisherman, is being congratulated over the record he made a few days ago, when he landed a 50-pound Lake Superior trout, a short distance from here. The fish is said to have measured 4 feet and 1 inch in length and to have been about the largest ever taken from the great lake.

SCANDAL IN BELTRAMI.

Grand Jury Is Expected to Look Into County Affairs.

St. Paul, Minn., May 29.—The financial affairs of Beltrami county are again demanding the attention of state officials. Attorney General George T. Simpson has been at Bemidji investigating acts of the county commissioners, which will be laid before the grand jury there next Tuesday. Lyndon A. Smith, assistant attorney general, returned yesterday. M. L. Kain, deputy public examiner, has been working on the county's books, and has found evidence of the illegal use of county funds.

A similar state of affairs was discovered once before, and after investigation, Governor Johnson removed part of the county board from office, but they were re-elected.

PROMINENT ATTORNEY OF LITTLE FALLS DEAD.

Little Falls, Minn., May 29.—(Special to The Herald.)—There is general regret here over the death, in Minneapolis, Thursday, of Arthur Palmer Blanchard, aged 45, one of the prominent attorneys of this section, who succumbed to complications following an operation.

Mr. Blanchard was born in Zumbrota, Minn., in 1854. After his high school course he entered Carleton college and, graduating, studied law with his uncle, Judge Charles Blanchard, in Illinois.

Mr. Blanchard practiced law in Little Falls for twenty years, and until recently was law partner of C. A. Lindbergh. Their connections were severed when Mr. Lindbergh entered politics. Mr. Blanchard has been ailing for several years, and last week an operation was found necessary.

He is survived by a widow, two daughters and a brother, Edward K. Blanchard of Semore, Mo., and two sisters, Mrs. A. E. Drew of McHenry, N. D., and Mrs. Gilbert Murphy of Zumbrota, Minn. Funeral services will take place from the home in Little Falls Sunday. Interment will be here.

PRIVATE YACHT BURNED.

Boat Belonging to Booth Company Officials Is Destroyed.

Marquette, Mich., May 29.—(Special to The Herald.)—Fire at Grand Marais, east of here, resulted in the total destruction of the handsome private yacht Gloriana, owned by E. G. Endress, superintendent of the fishing operations of A. Booth & Co. in Eastern Lake Superior. The craft was built at Manitowoc, Wis., fifteen years ago. Her keel was 40 feet long, her beam 11 feet and her displacement 8 gross tons. She was operated by a 30-horse power naphtha engine.

The Gloriana was classed among the finest yachts of her size on the Great Lakes. Her upper works were finished in mahogany and her appointments were palatial. The boathouse was destroyed along with the yacht. There is a suspicion the fire was of incendiary origin.

CAUGHT IN LOG JAM LOGGER BADLY HURT.

Au Train, Mich., May 29.—(Special to The Herald.)—Having approached to the pinnacle of a rollway for the purpose of releasing the logs, which were stacked to a height of 100 feet, John Vizena, former president of the village of Munising, marvelously escaped death when, on breaking the jam, he was unable to get out of harm's way in time and was caught in the midst of the swirling and on-rushing big sticks of timber. As it was, he suffered a broken leg and sustained a number of bad bruises and serious lacerations.

EPWORTH LEAGUE MEET AT BEMIDJI, JUNE 8, 9 AND 10.

Bemidji, Minn., May 29.—(Special to The Herald.)—The third annual convention of the Brainerd district of the Epworth league will be held in the Methodist Episcopal church here, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, June 8, 9 and 10.

The members of the local Epworth league are making preparations to so conduct the arrangements for the meeting that it will be one of the most successful in the history of the district and the following entertainment committee has been appointed: F. A. Newton, Rev. J. H. Denison; Misses Nell Shannon, Inez Woodruff and Carrie Hayden.

The district includes the territory from Brainerd north as far as International Falls, west to Polk county and east to Itasca county. It is expected that there will be many delegates present from all parts of the district.

GRAND FORKS FAIR PROSPECTS ARE BRIGHT.

Grand Forks, N. D., May 29.—(Special to The Herald.)—With the officials of the North Dakota State Fair association bending every effort towards making the fair this year the greatest that has ever been held in North Dakota, the prospects for the exposition to be held here July 20 to 24 are very bright.

BANQUET WAS A BIG SUCCESS

More than 150 members of the Longfellow Alumni association banqueted last evening at the school building. The spread was elaborate, and the serving was done by the young ladies of the association. After the feast an after-dinner program was given, followed by a dance.

The toastmaster was Curtis Sliger, and the following program was given: "A Better Alumna," Miss Adaline Backlee; piano duet, Mabel and Florence Moell; "Rules in the School of Life," Miss Laura Govett; violin solo, Ragnar Larson, accompanied by Pauline Solum; [illegible] song, Miss Gladys Stoller; "A Toast to the Graduates," Miss Carlson; piano solo, Miss Pauline Solum.

The class this year is the largest ever graduated by the school. The members who were guests of honor at the banquet are as follows: Lillian Frank, Violet Sedell, May Anderson, Lillie Johnson, Ellen Johnson, Annie Carlson, Emma Anderson, Mabel Borgstrom, Esther Friedman, Aleda Frank, Hazel Kent, Mabel Melin, Irene Morin, Borgheld Ness, Ida Benertson, Astrid Rude, Vivian Saylor, Gladys Serrell, Garda Schlosstett, Caroline Sorenson, Emma Wangaard, Margaret Wright, Olga Sand, Margaret Salter, Fred Anderson, Earl Brooks, Trygve Balgard, Conrad Brassgard, George Frank, George Glum, Oscar Henrikson, Joseph Janoski, Erhard Larson, Arthur Nelson, Charles Pollock, Albert Peterson, Merle Saylor, Robert Scott, Alfred Snorahlen, Henry Thorp, Bernard Dixon, Joseph Highmark, Helmer Johnson, Daniel Johnson, Earl Galbraith, Walter Larson, Erwin Anderson, James Sorenson, Reuben Fanlson.

IRVING ALUMNI GIVE BANQUET

Nearly 250 Members Sit Down at Annual Feast.

The annual banquet of the Irving Alumni association was held last evening. The graduating class, guests of honor, together with alumni, made nearly 250 banqueters, one of the biggest social events of the past season in West Duluth.

R. E. Kenny, assistant city attorney, appeared on the program. He gave a talk on the importance of keeping the pupils in school. He told how the Irving School Alumni association had the distinction of being the first a lumni association formed in the city.

Miss Maude Wallace acted as toastmistress. The following were called on for toasts:

Thomas J. Doyle, the president, "Address of Welcome; Mrs. L. M. Downs, "The Graduating Class;" Guy Winton, "The Alumni;" Miss Eva L. Ketchum, "The Girls;" and Principal S. A. Foster made an address. The music was furnished by Frank A. George, Miss Ellen Messler, Ray W. Abbott and the Professor trio. The members of the trio are Messrs. Boyle, Carey and Laurance Boyle.

The supper was served by the ladies of the Plymouth Congregational church. A reception and dance followed the banquet and program. The officers of the association are:

President, Thomas J. Doyle; vice president, Henry Sullivan; secretary, Miss Madge Bradlin; treasurer, Leon Bird.

VICTORY FOR LAKE SHORE

Judge Cant's Decision Favors the Concern in Telephone Suit.

A decision handed down by Judge Cant in district court this afternoon practically means a victory for the Lake Shore Telegraph & Telephone company in the suit it brought against the Zenith City Telephone company to secure control of the Zenith corporation by enforcing another election of directors.

Judge Cant in his decision, instructed Secretary De Groat of the Zenith company to call another meeting of the stockholders, and it was this that the Lake Shore people desired.

In their suit, the Lake Shore people brought forth the argument that their elections should come before those of the Zenith corporation. If the order was changed, the Lake Shore would gain immediate control, but if things were left as they were, the control could not be gained for two years.

PORK BARREL IS MADE AN ISSUE

Constitutionality of Act of Legislature Argued in Court.

St. Paul, Minn., May 29.—(Special to The Herald.)—The constitutionality of the famous "pork barrel" provided by the recent legislature for the purpose of constructing and repairing roads and bridges, was the subject of argument before H. R. Brill in the district court this morning. The question arose on the request of Senator L. O. Cook for a restraining order to prevent the state auditor, Samuel G. Iverson, issuing warrants under the terms of the law. The court took the case under advisement.

TIGERS HAVE CHOICE KNOT HOLE SEATS FOR BIG GAME

When the West Duluth Tigers found out that the White Sox were going to play the Superior league team at Athletic park this afternoon they promptly and nobly called off their contest, scheduled for the same time with the Invincibles, in order that none of their number miss the big game.

Every Tiger with "the price" attended the game and those without, held down the choice knot holes. The Invincibles, with no game of their own to engross them, did likewise.

In the above picture in the top row from left to right are Joe McDonald, pitcher, and manager; Earl Edwards, catcher and Gust Lindor. On the bottom row, Pete Foucault, third base; Frank Wade, shortstop; George Spooner, mascot; Herbert Cavanaugh, first base and captain; Russell Killten, right field.

He was 50 years of age and was at one time a member of the executive council of the American Bankers' association. Mr. Anderson had been ill for several years.

SEARCHING FOR NEW EVIDENCE

Hearing in Hansen E. Smith Case Will Be Resumed.

The taking of testimony in the case of Hansen E. Smith against Thomas A. Merritt and others will be resumed in the federal courtroom Tuesday morning before Judge W. D. Edson, special master in the United States court for this case. The hearing was postponed May 17, owing to the inability of Judge Edson to be present last week.

Both sides have been busy in the interum searching for new evidence that will bear on the main object of the hearing, which is to establish grounds for setting aside title to certain lands on the Mesaba range, near Buhl.

The plaintiffs contend that the defendant purchasers of the land, after the failure of the old Merchants Bank of West Duluth, acted in collusion with the trustee in bankruptcy of Hansen E. Smith to secure the land for a sum far less than its value and that such a transfer is in defraud of the Smith creditors, who have so far received about 50 per cent of their claims against the estate.

The nature of the new evidence has not been disclosed, and will not be known until the witnesses are called. The hearing may occupy a week or more.

BROKER BUYS BUSINESS SITE

Martin Rosendaht Pays $24,000 For First Avenue West Property.

The largest real estate deal of the week was closed this morning, when the final papers were signed in the purchase of sixty feet on First avenue west, between Superior and First streets, by Martin Rosendahl the local copper stock broker, from Thomas Michaud of the St. Louis Hotel company.

The consideration was $24,000.

The lot now has on it a frame building which is occupied by the Independent Meat market. It is on the west side of the avenue and just above the alley.

The property will be improved by its new owners. While he is undecided as yet just what sort of a structure will be erected, he bought it for the purpose of building, and will soon begin to figure on the building.

HE KNEW GIRL'S AGE.

Pipestone County Teacher Must Serve Time For Perjury.

St. Paul, Minn., May 29.—The supreme court yesterday affirmed the sentence of one year in prison given John M. Day of Pipestone county for perjury, in obtaining a license to marry a girl under age.

Day was a school teacher and his bride was Eva Sample, a pupil who, on her own admission, was only 15 years of age. In securing the license he gave her age as 18.

The fact that the application for the license was duly signed and attested by the clerk, the court holds, is prima facie evidence that the oath was administered. As to his knowledge regarding the girl's age, the court declares that the evidence tends to show that he was fully aware that she was not of age.

DUMMY GAVE MEMBERS OF AUTO PARTY A BAD SCARE

The automobile was spinning along at a merry clip. The hearts and minds of the occupants, Louis Michaud, A. C. Boggs and W. E. Fadden, were light and free from care. Suddenly they were horror-stricken; their countenances paled.

The swiftly moving automobile had run over a man. Lying there prone on the boulevard they saw him.

Quickly the machine was brought to a stop. With quaking heart and limbs shaking with the horror of the whole dreadful experience, Mr. Boggs leaped from the automobile and ran back in the direction of the scene of the accident.

With numbing fear he approached the dark object in the middle of the road. Frantically he called to the object. He hesitated to touch the figure that neither moved nor uttered a groan.

Boggs called to his companions. He feared to learn the truth. Hurriedly Fadden was dispatched for aid, and in the meantime the other two men stood still, fear making them undecided.

Cautiously and nervously Boggs approached the figure. Suddenly he gave a wild whoop that sounded like the signal for an Apache onslaught. He leaped into the air and alighted, with both feet out at an aggressive angle, right on the back of the dark object lying in the middle of the boulevard.

Michaud paled, shrank back, and suddenly gasped with the thought that the strain of the whole situation had turned the mind of his companion in misery. He was on the point of running wildly to the machine, when Boggs yelled in a voice filled with exultant relief:

"The thing is a dummy."

Then Fadden came breathlessly running up to the scene of the glad discovery with some man that he had frantically routed from his home. Then the three men, for the fourth man, who had been routed from his bed, did not see anything very humorous in the situation, lay upon the ground and laughed, boisterous laughs of relief.

The man who had been routed from his bed left in the midst of the exhaustion of feelings of the trio. To him the matter appeared in the light of a prearranged affair to rout him from a well deserved rest.

The dummy was placed in the front seat of the car and taken to the Hotel St. Louis. It is there at the present time.

This morning, when Boggs left his room, he placed the dummy in his bed, covered it in such a manner that only part of the old black coat and hat was visible, and locked his door. He then went down to breakfast.

Shortly after 12 today there was an alarm that ran through the fourth floor to the hotel. It was given by the chambermaid, and re-echoed by different employes of the third story.

Clerk Bouchard and other employes of the lower floor of the hotel were sent for. A man in Room 310 had committed suicide.

And so, as excitement spreads in a hotel, ten or more people hastened to the scene of the suicide. The maid stood outside the door. Her face was pale, and she wrung her hands. She had vainly tried to rouse the sleeping man, shortly after 11 o'clock. She had touched him and he did not move and he did not breathe. She then gave the general alarm.

Duffy, the porter, was the first man to pull the covers from the supposedly dead man. Duffy is a nervy young fellow, but his face was slightly blanched. Then he took another quick look. Suddenly Duffy burst into a fit of laughter, and those who were gathered outside of 310 thought the man had an attack of "the nerves."

Then Duffy spread the news. Again it was the dummy.

The members of the automobile party from St. Paul are thinking seriously of taking the dummy back to that city with them. It is such an ingeniously constructed thing, that they hate to part with it. They are thinking of leaving it in the road, somewhere between here and St. Paul, with the hope that some one will be as badly scared as the three autoists were when they ran over it upon the boulevard.

SUES TO RECOVER $4,000 LOST IN MACHINES

F. C. Gadeau of Cloquet, filed papers in the district court this afternoon in one of the most novel actions ever brought in St. Louis county. The plaintiff alleges that for the past six years he has been in the habit of playing the slot machine in his home town, and that during that time he has lost about $4,000.

These machines were manufactured by the Brunswicke-Balke-Collander company, a Michigan corporation that does an extensive business throughout the Northwest. The suit is brought against this company and numerous saloon keepers of Cloquet jointly and severally in an effort on the part of Mr. Cadeau to collect the full amount lost.

The feature of involving a non-resident corporation manufacturing gambling devices in a suit for money lost in playing the game is new in the St. Louis county courts.

SUPERIOR NEWS

FATHER OFFERS REWARD OF $100

Increases Price Placed on Head of Superior Murderer.

S. A. Nelson of Superior has offered a reward of $100 for the arrest and conviction of the party who brutally murdered his son, Rudolph, in the Itasca railroad yards on May 14. He says he will pay $25 for the return of the watch carried by the boy, and $75 for the apprehension of the murderer.

A total reward of $350 is now offered for his capture. Although the police are still working on the case, they entertain but faint hopes of hunting down the criminal. What is supposed to be a description of the man wanted has been printed and hundreds mailed to authorities all over the country.

IS GOOD NEWS FOR SUPERIOR

Governor's Signature to Chapelle Bill Means $30,000 Annually.

Taxes to the amount of $30,000 and upward may be collected annually from the railroads entering Superior if Governor Davidson signs the Chapelle bill, which yesterday passed the upper house of the Wisconsin legislature.

The bill provides that cities may collect taxes on ore and merchandise docks, which formerly went into the state treasury. The assessable property of this kind in Superior amounts to about $1,000,000.

Advices received from Madison this afternoon were that the governor would probably sign the bill. Telegrams were sent from Superior asking him to sign the measure.

SHAW REPORTED DEAD.

Reported to Be Also a Victim of Cass Lake Tragedy.

Word was received at the Great Northern shops here this afternoon that Abe Shaw of Proctor, boiler maker foreman in the Missabe shops, who was rescued from Cass lake today when Peter Rozer, foreman of the local shops, with whom he was fishing, was drowned, has since died. Shaw was unconscious when dragged from the water, and according to the report received here, never regained consciousness. e has a wife living at Proctor.

Schools Honor the Dead.

Memorial day was observed yesterday in all of the public and parochial schools of Superior. Some portion of the day was devoted in all of the schools, to paying respects to the soldier dead. War veterans spoke at the schools.

Spaldings vs. Treadwells.

The Treadwells of Superior and the Spaldings of Duluth will play Monday afternoon on the Superior league grounds. As this is the first meeting of these two aggregations this season, a fast contest is expected.

May Be State Warden.

A. F. Chadwick, alderman from the Sixth ward, has announced his candidacy to succeed State Game Warden J. F. Stone of Madison. He has the support of a large circle of friends in Superior for the position.

Jury Still Out.

Late this afternoon the jury in the $35,000 personal injury case of Matt Charron vs. the Northwestern Fuel company was still out, having retired at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

Charron is asking damages sustained while in the employ of the defendant company at Washburn. He says he will always be a cripple. The case is on in the circuit court.

NO SESSIONS OF STOCK MARKETS

MADDEN GUILTY, SAYS THE JURY

Chicago, May 29.—"Skinny" Madden, Pouchot and Boyle guilty and fined $500 each.

This is the verdict returned in the labor graft case this afternoon. The jury had been out since Thursday.

Madden and his associates were charged with blackmail and extortion in the settling of strikes.

CONTEST EDITOR KEPT VERY BUSY

The contest editor, who is reading all about Borden's Peerless Evaporated milk, and judging pictures of cows, is being kept so busy that he almost wishes that Monday was to be a holiday for him, too. But the cash prizes will be given out just the same, and the letters and pictures have to be judged just as carefully.

Few contests in Duluth have ever caused more interest, and boys and girls are working hard to earn this money. Every day $8 in prizes is given away, and there is no reason why you shouldn't have a part of it.

The best letters were written yesterday by Margaret Grimes of 116 First avenue west, who received the prize of $3, and Bennie Kanner of 123 First avenue east, who received the second prize of $2.

The best picture of a cow was drawn by Albert Sellin of Duluth Heights, and he will receive $2. The prize of $1 went to Lenore Dwyer of Cloquet, Minn.

Regretted His Act.

Two Turkish missionaries have been canvassing Duluth for money with which to build a church in Turkey.

They are in Duluth and have been here before in their money quest. Yesterday they secured a letter of introduction from a Superior clergyman, but today the police were asked to recover the letter of introduction, as the clergyman regretted his act. The police found the men and secured the letter.

Memorial Day Proclamation!

Whereas, the legislature of our state recognizes the significance of Memorial Day, have, in their wisdom, at various times enacted laws for its observance for a legal holiday, prohibiting its desecrance and providing for punishment thereof. Having in mind to keep it sacred in the hearts of the people of this generation and those to follow, and whereas no law can operate to its greatest good without the support of the people; now, therefore, I appeal to patriotism and most earnestly request that all places of business close on Monday, May 31, 1909, and work of all kinds cease, and it is hereby ordered that all departments of city government observe this request and so honor the day.

ROLAND D. HAVEN,
Mayor.

Duluth, May 29, 1909.

PRISON CERTIFICATES ARE DECLARED VALID.

St. Paul, Minn., May 29.—(Special to The Herald.)—The new state prison certificates of indebtedness to the amount of $2,250,000 authorized by the last legislature are valid.

Judge Lewis of the Ramsey county district court so holds in an order issued today sustaining the state demurrer to the complaint in which it was sought to enjoin State Treasurer Dinehart from delivering $560,000 worth of the certificates to the Capitol National bank.

The point raised was that the certificates were in effect bonds, the issue of which is limited by the Constitution. About $2,000,000 in state capitol certificates were issued.

John Miller's Will Filed.

The will of John Miller, the well known grain man, who died last winter, was filed for probate today.

He leaves an estate of $96,347 in St. Louis county and his heirs are his widow, Addie S. Miller, and his daughter, Adeline Miller.

Candle to Burn Nearly Five Years.

A great candle that will burn four years and seven months, claimed to be the largest ever manufactured, is to be enshrined at the birthplace of Joseph Petrosino in Italy. Petrosino was assassinated while on a secret mission to Sicily for the United States. The candle is 9 feet high, 3½ feet in circumference and weighs 178 pounds. It is almost covered with 14-k gold leaf, and its composition is Austrian beeswax, to which a substance has been added to retard combustion. The cost of the candle was about $400, and it is the present of the manufacturer, in whose home Petrosino lived when a boy. Every family should have a case of Golden Grain Belt beer in their cellar. It is the home beverage and within reach of all. Order of your nearest dealer, or be supplied by Duluth branch Minneapolis Brewing company.

THE PARK POINT SIDEWALK PLAN

Mass Meeting of Property Owners Decide on Details.

At a mass meeting of interested Park Point property owners, held last night at Mission hall, it was decided that the new cement sidewalk to be laid on Minnesota avenue, between Twentieth and Thirty-eighth streets, should be placed two and one-half feet from the lot line.

There has been a difference of opinion as to the distance the walk should be from the lot line, and it was finally found necessary to call the mass meeting. There was quite a lot of discussion last night before an agreement was reached, but the final vote was practically unanimous. To begin with, some wanted the walk all the way from one to three feet from the lot line.

The expense of the improvement will fall equally upon the property owners on both sides of the avenue. A number of pine trees will have to be removed in laying the walk, and it will also be necessary for the Duluth Telephone company to move some of its poles.

MERGER IS ANNOUNCED

Believed to Be Combination of the Independent Companies.

What is believed to be a merger of the many independent steel and iron interests of the country is announced in Eastern dispatches, stating that the Imperial Steel corporation has just been incorporated under the laws of Delaware. It is capitalized at $3,000,000 and provision is made for future increase of its capital to $750,000,000.

There are many strong iron and steel interests that are not affiliated with the United States Steel corporation, and it is supposed the success of the latter concern has led the independent companies to form a corporation similar to it.

That Duluth will benefit from the new concern is beyond doubt. The independent holdings on the Mesaba range are heavy and this city is a natural headquarters for range operations. Among the independent companies whose Mesaba interests are important are the Shenango Furnace company, M. A. Hanna & Co., Pitt Iron & Steel company, Pickands, Mather & Co., Rogers, Brown & Co., Republic Iron & Steel company and Jones & Laughlin.

The future plans of the Imperial Steel company are not yet known, but whatever they are, they cannot but be beneficial to Duluth. The possibilities for the future are many, including blast furnaces at the Head of the Lakes, the locating of large offices in Duluth, and increased activity in the exploration and purchase of ore lands.

Several of the independent companies now maintain offices in this city. As the greater part of the iron ore supply must come from Northern Minnesota the base of operations would naturally be at the most convenient place, which is Duluth.

WAR DEPARTMENT PROBE OF WEST POINT BANDMASTER DRIVES HIM TO SUICIDE

West Point, N. Y., May 29.—Band Master George Essigke, in charge of the Military Academy band for more than fifteen years, committed suicide yesterday by inhaling illuminating gas. Worry over investigations recently begun by the war department into his official conduct is assigned as the reason.

Essigke was under charges concerning the manner in which he induced three German members of his band to come from Munich to enlist as musicians at West Point. The three, Johann Fischer, Benedict Liemer and Heinrich Mueller, alleged that the bandmaster grossly misrepresented conditions here to them. They further charged that Essigke while acting as interpreter, altered their ages in their enlistment papers.

An investigation also had been ordered relative to allegations that Essigke recommended that the government purchase band instruments which he himself had bought a short time before and turned over to a Newburgh dealer.

NEGRO DIALECT WON.

Barron, Wis., Girl Carries Off State Declamatory Contest.

Neenah, Wis., May 29.—Miss Lillian Ayne of Barron, Wis., representing River Falls district, took first place in the annual declamatory contest, Wisconsin high school lyceum, speaking negro dialect.

Her selection was "Ole Mistis." Second place was awarded to Miss Laura B. Strong, Ashland, Wis., representing the Superior district, speaking "The Sign of the Cross." Third place went to Miss Ventura Matts of Verona, representing Whitewater district, speaking "The Man in the Shadow." There were seven speakers on the program, representing seven normal school districts of the state.

By winning this contest, Miss Ayne will represent Wisconsin at the interstate high school declamatory contest held in June, at Chicago, date to be decided later.

COURT AT WALKER.

Damage Suit Against Pine River Editor One of Cases Coming.

Cass Lake, Minn., May 29.—(Special to The Herald.)—Judge McClenahan will open district court at Walker, next Tuesday. There are only a few cases of any great importance to come up at this term. The case between Attorney Ladue and Editor Holeman of Pine River is causing considerable interest. Ladue is suing the editor for the sum of $5,000 because of some unpleasant statements alleged to have been made by the editor concerning Ladue during the political campaign last fall. Another $5,000 damage suit is being brought against the village of Cass Lake by Mrs. Peter Gamache, who was injured on a sidewalk here a few days ago.

Easy Medicine

you will find Cardui on sale. It is easy to get.

It acts easily, gently, safely, surely.

It is an easy home treatment for every sick lady who does not want to be bothered with treatments, examinations and applications, etc.

Best of all, Cardui does the work.

Cardui is a woman's tonic. It acts especially on women. It has been found to give them strength; to renew their exhausted nerve force, to revitalize their flagging vitality.

It has done this for others.

Why not for you?

"I think Cardui is the best medicine I ever took," writes May Fry, of Lloyd, Wis. "I have used it for about a year. I had been bothered with various troubles for six years, and had doctored with many doctors but none seemed to do me any good, so I tried Cardui and it helped me so much that I continued to take it and now I feel like a new girl, and am gaining right along."

Cardui should surely do for you what it has done for others.

HAS any one ever called on you an intellectual exotic? Or have you ever secretly suspected that you might be one? In either event don't worry about it—and above all, please to remember that if you are a human being endowed by nature you are certainly in very distinguished company, a fact that may compensate you, in part at least, for having constantly to meet with the stock remark of friends and relatives anent yourself. "He's so entirely different from all the rest of the family on either his father's or his mother's side."

Take the case of that modern Croesus—of railroads—Edward H. Harriman. In the many character sketches and more or less extended biographies narrating his truly phenomenal career for the benefit of his $3,000,000 odd fellow countrymen, the fact has been emphasized that Mr. Harriman is the son of a modest clergyman, that his ancestral family on either side was not conspicuous for intellectual ability, but instead for cultivation and the refinement which scholarship gives, so that its only really distinguished member seems to be, in a sense, an intellectual exotic. Indeed, it is exceedingly interesting to discover that almost all of the great men conspicuous in American life, for instance, railway construction, or finance, have been distinguished in development from other members of their families by their peculiar and exceptional gifts, the only noteworthy exception to the general rule that the great financiers of the United States have come from humble life and from the plain people is found in J. Pierpont Morgan, whose father in his day was also pre-eminent as a banker.

That remarkable quartet which created and developed the Southern Pacific railway—C. P. Huntington, Mark Hopkins, Charles Crocker and Darius O. Mills—had in their early life no training in family associations, no traditions with business capacity or genius which would have justified the prediction that they, in their maturity, would gain conspicuous authority and great wealth in the development of railway systems and in finance.

So, also, O'Brien, Mackay, Flood and Fair, who gained vast fortunes by reason of their extraordinary ability as miners, their skill as financiers and a swift adaptation of their intellectual gifts to the peculiar atmosphere of California life in the years following the coming of the Argonauts, were, each of them, of humble birth, not receiving anything by tradition or inheritance which would have explained in some measure the extraordinary exotic mentality which made their great successes possible.

Thus the full list of railway and financial kings, right down to and including those enthroned of today, might be run through and marked after almost every name with the one phrase, "intellectual exotic."

Lincoln and Roosevelt Intellectual Exotics.

But the most impressive and inexplicable of the phenomena associated with what may be called exotic, or unexpected development of high intellectual powers and a temperament which enables one to secure mastery over men and measures—the markedly exceptional case, so to speak, in the family—are those which the career of Abraham Lincoln records. In the recent centenary celebration of Lincoln's birth the one common thought in all of the addresses or communications then made was that this master intellect, this pre-eminent moral and personal authority, this man who compassed the most momentous reform in all modern history, came of a family in which there never was a trace of more than average intellectual power, and lived his early life in an environment which was calculated to stultify or stagnate intellectual capacity.

This exotic intellectuality, possessed in such startling degree by Lincoln, is perhaps best typified and illustrated at this time by the career of the man who has lately gained the unusual record of being the mightiest hunter and slayer of lions in British East Africa.

Theodore Roosevelt, by inheritance, by family association, by tradition, reflects in his personality his family's original Dutch ancestors of Manhattan. They were, for the most part, discreet and successful merchants. Their influence in developing Manhattan as a commercial metropolis and in creating whatever of refinement or social cultivation prevailed, was as great as that of any of the other Dutch families of Manhattan. Col. Roosevelt's father was a man of simple life, charming personality and a quiet dignity which was remote from self-consciousness and was often spoken of as typifying or suggesting the true American gentleman. And, indeed, all the Roosevelt family were of that quality. They were diligent in business, having inherited the fine Dutch art of reasonable thrift, and it would have been a fair inference when Theodore Roosevelt was a lad and before his career was determined upon, that he, too, would faithfully maintain the quiet and gentle traditions of his family. Increase his inheritance by sound, but not brilliant, business activity, and maintain the station in social and civil life in New York which had characterized the Roosevelt family for generations.

But it was discovered when Theodore Roosevelt was still a lad that in temperament and in intellectual qualities he differed so greatly from the immediate Roosevelt family and from his ancestors that the wonder was what career was possible for him. He himself early discovered that he had no special gift for business; his inclinations were in the direction of literature, and some of his friends have reported that at one time he contemplated investment and partnership in a publishing house.

When Roosevelt Found Himself.

After Roosevelt was graduated from Harvard university and had spent a year in Europe he returned to New York in some doubt as to what his career was to be or what his capacities best fitted him for. Almost by chance he was elected a member of the New York legislature, being then only 24 years of age. He was a member of that body only a few weeks when he discovered himself, as the term is. Then, for the first time, he realized that he had a capacity for organizing and marshaling public sentiment, and before the session of the legislature ended he was aware that he possessed, in more than ordinary degree, a gift for measuring or understanding public sentiment, especially upon great moral questions. That, he knew well, was an intuitive gift, one not to be acquired or strengthened—although it might be guided somewhat—by experience in public life.

Now, these were qualities unlike any possessed by the immediate or remote members of young Roosevelt's family, and they also unanimously lacked the trait which attracted attention beyond his years to the young man when he was a delegate to the Republican state convention held in Utica, N. Y., in the winter of his first term as a member of the New York legislature.

The delegations from Albany and from New York city were almost snowbound, for a furious storm prevailed on the evening before the convention was organized. Late that evening the train arrived in Utica, and the delegates made their way hastily through the snow to a neighboring hotel, forming in line for the purpose of registering at the hotel office. At the far end of the line, near the door, there was a persistent calling to attract the attention of the hotel clerk. It was so loud and long continued as to attract attention, and these were the words of the repeated call: "I'm Roosevelt—telephoned ahead."

A veteran of political life who had arrived at the hotel earlier in the day had his attention centered upon the young man who thus vehemently announced himself, and asked: "Is that young Roosevelt, son of Theodore Roosevelt, whom I know well? You never would have heard his father demonstrating himself in that way, but the boy is so self-assertive that he may succeed better than his father did. You know, that when President Hayes nominated Roosevelt's father for collector of the port of New York, he was obliged to withdraw the nomination, since it could not be confirmed, because Mr. Roosevelt simply would not make any effort to secure the confirmation."

The Exceptional Roosevelt.

Therefore, at 24 years of age, in the first months of his service in public life, Theodore Roosevelt demonstrated to those who knew his family well, how exotic or exceptional with respect to temperament in intellectual qualities, he was. So, also, in that wild life of romance, danger and excitement which Roosevelt led upon his ranch in the Far West, he revealed how thoroughly he was apart in temperament, disposition and ideals of life from all the other members of his family, past and present. Then again, in his tendency to literature, an ambition which he never has lost, notwithstanding his almost unparalleled successes in public life—certainly unparalleled when his age is considered—Col. Roosevelt differs wholly from any other member of his family, although it has been the popular understanding that by maternal inheritance he did possess an appreciation of and a critical faculty for literature, both pure and applied.

When Roosevelt was civil service commissioner he had occasion to call upon President Cleveland, and after the business which brought them together was ended Mr. Cleveland asked him if he found politics attractive, or if he had any disposition to remain in public life. Mr. Roosevelt replied that it seemed to him there was no more inspiring or stimulating ambition for a young man than that which public life would gratify. For, he said, there was opportunity to lead, to councils and to direct, to organize victory, moral and political, and the very agitation necessary for success in public life were in his opinion, admirable qualities to cultivate. When Mr. Roosevelt had finished, the president, much as a father would have done, warned his young friend not to permit himself to be carried away too far by any political ambition. There was no other member of the Roosevelt family, of his father's generation, or of Col. Roosevelt's, or any ancestor, so far as is known, to whom political activity and leadership ever appealed, so that in this respect Col. Roosevelt is markedly exceptional an exotic of his family.

William Gillette, Puritan Actor and Dramatist.

A few weeks ago the announcement was made that William Gillette, who has achieved international fame as an actor and a playwright, was to retire from the stage—at least so far as acting is concerned—although he is still to have professional associations as a manager or producer of plays. Mr. Gillette is another well-known living example of exotic intellectuality, for there is nothing in his family associations, his early life or the conspicuous relations of some members of his family to public affairs that might explain the actor's possession of his peculiar gifts—talents which manifested themselves in his early boyhood.

The traditions of William Gillette's immediate family were Puritans. His home was in Hartford, Conn., a home which was the center of the religious and moral influences which have characterized the capital of the Nutmeg State. A little colony of men and women who had gained distinction in literature or public life centered around the home. Harriet Beecher Stowe lived near by. Across the street, in a grove-sheltered cottage, was the home of Charles Dudley Warner. Mark Twain's house, representing his first considerable profits as a writer, was within a stone's throw of the Gillette front gate. Mr. Gillette's father had served as United States senator, and the moral influences that dominated the family may be summed up in the statement that Senator Gillette had national fame as an Abolitionist and as an advocate of total abstinence.

Living in such an atmosphere William Gillette, the boy, first revealed his histrionic talent by impromptu or amateur entertainment of his friends, by his power of mimicry, his gift for expression by his face, various motions and a peculiar command of his voice imitative of the passions of men as they are revealed through vocal utterance. He had no taste for that kind of amusement which practically every boy sometimes delights in, namely the getting up of a "show." But he would occupy himself for hours with the building of a stage, or the planning of scenery—dwarf stage and dwarf scenery, of course, as needs must be.

Thus it became early apparent to his family that the boy's undoubted talent for things histrionic was one which probably would have its way when he became a man. And so it happened. For, when he had reached the years of discretion, William Gillette, of perfectly correct deportment, having absorbed the moral and religious atmosphere of his family, nevertheless felt that it was possible for him to become an actor or a playwright and yet maintain the highest moral standards of conduct. And it was with an understanding of this kind that he made his first venture upon the stage, chiefly through the friendly interest in him which Mark Twain had.

Today—every bit as much as when

BROOKSTON

Brookston, Minn., May 29.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Cloquet Cubs defeated the local baseball team here Sunday in a 7-innings game by a score of 14 to 13. It was the first game of the season, and neither team was in condition to put up a good quality of the national game. Each side used two pitchers, as the members of both teams seemed to have their eyes on the ball, making lots of work for the fielders, most of whom were decidedly off color. The locals will go to Grand Rapids Sunday and play two games before returning home. On June 6 the Floodwood aggregation will appear on the Brookston diamond.

Frank Ireseneal an operator on the Duluth, Missabe & Northern railway at Burnett spent Sunday evening here with local friends. Mr. Brosseau was endeavoring to arrange for a ball game between Burnett and Brookston to be played in the near future.

Walker, Minn., May 29,—(Special to The Herald.)—A special program for Memorial day has been arranged at the Indian agency by agency employes, Indian school children and Walker people. Addresses will be given by Agent John T. Frater, Hon. De Witt C. Hayes, agency property clerk, and Attorney Daniel De Lury of Walker.

The big steamer Northland, belonging to the Northland Pine company, made its first trip of the season across the lake this week, coming into Walker from Headquarters' camp for supplies.

Dr. Bemis of Minneapolis was in town Friday, accompanied by Deputy Sheriff Chyrklund, who had in custody three men who were charged with burglary, having broken into the doctor's summer home near Gull lake. The case was tried before Justice Dare.

Mrs. J. S. Scribner has purchased a fine piano for her home of the Metropolitan Music company.

Mrs. Julia Snyder and sister, Miss Hansse of Duluth, visited this week at the J. B. Spencer home.

Ed I. P. Staede was called to Minneapolis this week by news of the serious illness of his wife. Mrs. Staede was conveyed to the Mayo hospital at Rochester.

Mayor Brumund was able to leave the hospital this week and is now recuperating at his home. He was operated upon last week for an ear affection.

Robert Mahony, head bookkeeper for the Northland Pine company, was in town this week, en route to camp from Minneapolis, where he had been to visit his family.

Rev. B. A. Barker of the local M. E. church went to Minneapolis this week on matters of a business nature.

Mrs. Ben Myers of Park Rapids has this week been visiting her nelce, Mrs. Fred Billings.

Mr. and Mrs. John Andrews are stopping at the A. L. Cole cottage. Mrs. Cole, mother of Mrs. Andrews, will join them in a few days.

George Lott left Thursday for Moline, Ill., to visit a daughter whom he has not seen for four years. He will be absent about three weeks.

Forest Ranger Charles Ensign, who has been assigned to the Leech Lake forest reservation, has been promoted to the position of lumberman in the service, and has received orders to report at San Francisco. Mr. and Mrs.

SLOW BUT SURE IS THE PROGRESS

Dun Notes Continued Trend Toward Renewal of Prosperity.

New York, May 29.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade says:

Progress slow, but constant, is again the record of the week. The growth of business confidence is indeed more notable than the increase in the volume of trade, but the revival in iron and steel is of such remarkable dimensions as to justify the most hopeful outlook for the entire industrial and mercantile situation as soon as the tariff agitation is out of the way. The period of uncertainty as to crops, is however brought out, but it is significant, that, notwithstanding the lateness of the spring, which has interfered not a little with certain lines of merchandise, and particularly with retail distribution, weather conditions for the crops are reported favorable and are steadily improving.

In the primary dry goods market a better undertone is manifest, although the level of the raw material compels manufacturers to demand higher prices than buyers are as yet generally willing to pay. Western jobbers report a better business for fall merchandise from salesmen on the road. Spring business is seasonably quiet. There is an entire absence of export demand at existing quotations. Print cloth yarn is moving slowly although prices are firm. Printers are operating less freely on narrow gray goods, but in the finer qualities prices are firm, and this division of the market is well sold ahead. Prints are not moving as actively as had been hoped for, although a better export business on staple prints of the lower grades has resulted since the decline. Bleached goods are being taken with moderate freedom, while ginghams are firm with prices unchanged. In the woolen goods division duplicate orders are coming in slowly owing to the radical advance, and attention is now concentrated on the coming season and the prices which it will be necessary to ask on spring goods.

All domestic hide markets are dull, but the entire situation is firm with no further tendency toward an advance in prices. Prices have been well sustained on both sole and upper leather, and although no large individual transactions in sole leather are reported, there have been a number of fair sized contracts. Supplies of desirable grades and weights of hemlock sides are scarce while light and spready leather are in better demand. Oak sole continues strong with heavy leather closely sold up.

ONE SUMMER OF FOSTER MOTHERHOOD

A modest Experiment by Pure Milk Commission of the Indianapolis Children's Aid Society—One Hundred Tiny Patients All Saved—Simple Methods by Which Any Child-Saving Agency May Hope to Effect Equally Good Results.

By HELEN W. ROGERS, Superintendent.

(Exclusive Service The Survey Press Bureau.)

The report of the pure milk commission of the Children's Aid association of Indianapolis for its initial summer season sums up its results as follows.

Four distributing stations in operation, five nurses—four graduate and one assistant on duty; six examining physicians in bi-weekly attendance; fifteen weeks in session; ten thousand bottles of pure milk distributed; seventeen hundred visits made by the nurses, ten thousand dollars expended, one hundred babies supervised and not one death.

Modest as this experiment in foster-motherhood was in numbers, it was significant in result, reducing to zero the mortality of those babies under supervision—many of them suffering from intestinal diseases—and thereby becoming a factor in the general reduction of the city's death rate for children under five years of age to one-half that of the preceding season.

In Indianapolis, as elsewhere, the infant mortality had been in inverse ratio to the purity of the milk supply: 53 per cent of the deaths of children under 2 came from intestinal-preventable-diseases, and 60 per cent of the milk upon which these children had depended for food was unfit for consumption. These facts were sufficient incentive for action. Accordingly, in April, 1908, Dr. Eugene Buehler, secretary of the city board of health, appealed to the Commercial club for assistance in reducing the mortality of the approaching summer by the distribution of pure milk to the city's needy babies.

This appeal finally resulted in the appointment by the Children's Aid association, to whom the matter was referred, of a committee representative of the state and city boards of health, the Commercial club, the local council of women, the German House and Catholic organization. The first definite step was, of course, the raising of funds, ultimately derived from three sources; subscriptions received in response to circular letters sent out in five series—to names selected by the members, to those not responding to the first appeal, to club women, to pastors of churches and to physicians; collections from "bottle-banks" placed in the stores, and from the sale of milk. From these sources came a total of $1,490.

The second step was the selection of a pure milk supply. Having no "certified milk" the commission was fortunate in having a Walker-Gordon laboratory established in the city almost simultaneously with itself. After a careful inspection of both farm and laboratory, this was accepted as the source of supply for the initial season. From the first the commission stood for pure, rather than purified (pasteurized or sterilized) milk, and for individual, rather than group modifications. Both of these requirements the Walker-Gordon system was able to meet. Frequent tests made by the state board of health showed a bacterial contact as low as 1,100 per cubic centimeter. The laboratory, moreover, was to fill individual prescriptions for infant feeding, thus saving the expense of a central station. Percentage modifications were furnished the commission at the rate of 25 cents for each day's feeding, and whole milk at between 11 and 12 cents a quart, the retail price being 15 cents.

The next step was the establishment of distributing stations. Ten places were immediately available, rent free. As the commission was limited to four stations for the first season, it chose, with one exception, quarters in institutions already recognized as friendly centers—a settlement, a rescue mission, and an institutional church. Then followed the selection of nurses and physicians—chosen not only for special training, but for temperamental fitness as well.

The stations determined, the equipment was quickly installed: a refrigerator, a hot plate, utensils for sterilizing, a set of statistical cards, and a bundle of pamphlets for distribution. Then came, prior to the opening day, a house-to-house canvass of the district for bottle-fed babies. The stations thus opened with an encouraging number of babies, and the daily routine was quickly established.

This routine was as follows: All babies were undressed, weighed, and careful personal and family histories recorded before prescriptions were given. The dictum that "each individual infant must be a law unto himself" was accepted without qualifications. Stock formulae, therefore, were never used, and all prescriptions were given by the physicians; never by the nurses. As far as possible, children were weighed weekly; in serious cases, twice a week.

The stations were open daily from 8 to 12 for the distribution of milk. All milk was repacked in ice before leaving the station. A deposit fee of 2 cents for each bottle was required, also a charge of 3 cents for each bottle when broken. Modified milk was sold for 1 cent for tubes containing three and four ounces; 2 cents for six and eight ounces; whole milk for 7 cents. In cases of poverty, tickets were, after investigation, furnished and accepted as cash.

The afternoons were spent by the nurses in visits, sick children receiving the first attention all cases being visited at least once a week. The daily birth-returns were also watched, and homes in the district visited. Only in cases where mothers were unable to nurse their babies were they, however, asked to come to the stations.

By far the most important aspect of the work was the education of mothers in the care of their own children. This was carried on by individual instruction at the bi-weekly clinics and in the homes by the distribution of literature, and by social incentive. Monthly socials, with addresses on the care of children, helped engender among the mothers a wholesome spirit of companionship and rivalry in the care of their children. Physicians and nurses may give instruction in the care of milk and the child, but it is, after all, the social intercourse which is most likely to supply the incentive for carrying out these instructions. We believe that was largely due to this spirit of co-operation between all the forces entering into the care of these children, that not one under supervision died, but on the other hand, showed by actual gains in weight that this experiment in foster-motherhood was a success. Insignificant as it is in numbers, it carefully corroborates the conclusion of other cities; that it is possible to secure a decrease in the rate of infant mortality from intestinal diseases at comparatively small expense to the community. It has, however, taught us to specify further that the greatest decrease is to be obtained under the following conditions:

That the milk supply be certified purity (10,000 per cubic centimeter) and unpasteurized.

That each child be given individual rather than group modifications, prescribed by specialists in infant feeding.

That each case be constantly supervised in the home by trained nurses, working under the direction of the prescribing physician.

That distributing stations be placed as near as possible to the districts of greater infant mortality, and in recognized social centers.

That the educational aspect of the work be developed and the small social group encouraged.

SOCIALISM AND LABOR UNIONISM

The National Manufacturers' association, through its apostles, has declared for the "open shop," and together with Prof. Charles W. Eliot, have symbolized the "scab" as an uncrowned hero—the true American, who will not surrender his liberty to become a slave and tool of the "Labor-Socialist," as Mr. Post terms the non-organized wage-worker.

The writer, in taking issue with these gentlemen, does not claim to speak for labor unionism, neither does he approve the acts of such labor unionists as Parks, Schmitz, Shea, Madden, et al, nor does he agree with many of the tactics pursued by labor unions which, in controversies between capital and labor, use their organized energies to defeat their union brothers at times when they should stand with them—as, for instance, in the lockout of a year ago in this city. We are told that every man who is free and independent, and not allied to some union, can readily find a job. Now, if that be true, how comes it that all over the country hundreds of thousands of non-organized laborers are jobless? How comes it that in industries where labor organizations are weak, the tendency is towards a decrease in the wage paid the laborer? How comes it that the property-owning (employing) class generally oppose legislation that aims to safeguard from danger the lives of the workers in the industries?

How comes it that the "kicker" is always weeded out of the shop? How comes it that before important elections many of the workshops throughout the land are covered with placards advertising the dire catastrophes that will befall labor if such or such a candidate is elected? Can any instance be cited in affirmation of the doctrine that the individual who as a wage-worker goes it alone can attain success? This deals with averages, not with the one individual in the mass who may, by accident, evolve out of his class condition. Is it not a truism that existence pre-supposes struggle not only with the elements, but also with the species, and within the species as well, where there is not a sufficiency for all? Is it not true that the ancestors of the human race started out as independent units, each striving to maintain himself as a complete and individualized entity? Is it not true that centuries of experience has demonstrated to man that only through collective effort can results beneficial accrue to the human race? Is it not true that competition between master and man is giving way to class organizations and class bargainings?

Is it not true that the wageworker in any endeavor to better his condition as a wageworker in any plea—as an individual—to his employer would find himself at a great disadvantage?

Is it not true that in our modern social and economic life, skill is fast giving way to the machine and that, as a consequence, the average wage in any industry is about the same, whether the labor employed be white or black or yellow, other conditions being equal?

Is it not true that there are more job hunters than there are jobs and that it essentially follows that the tendency is for wages to go downwards toward bare subsistence level?

Is it not true that, in countries where there are no labor organizations, civilization, education, and art, are not est, and illiteracy is the rule, ignorance and superstition being everywhere in evidence?

Is it not true that under a class system of society, such as is in evidence in every capitalistically governed country, there is a perpetual war waging between the antagonistic classes—not always class uprisings—but very frequently factional and divisional differences manifesting through strikes, lockouts, boycotts, blacklisting, and sundry other weapons developed for the purpose of gaining the ends in view?

Is not the motto, "All is fair in love and war" equally applicable to labor troubles, for are not strikes and lockouts economic wars? Is it not true that capital united—meaning the capital class—is better able to combat and withstand dangers to itself? Does this not apply as well to labor, when organized for mutual protection and defense of its rights?

The writer admits that labor unions, in so far as they follow along the old and antiquated lines of craft organization, find themselves helpless to cope with capital organized along class lines. The tendency, however, is for the labor unions to move in the direction of industrial organization, which is essentially the recognition of making the concern of the one individual (with grievance) the concern of all—not divisional unity, but class unity.

The labor unionist deals only with the present system—looks at things as they are and seeks to benefit himself in his immediate environment. More wages, shorter hours, etc. are with him important steps. The Socialist stands with him in his every endeavor to obtain present day concessions, but at the same time endeavors to point out that these aims are mere palliatives, that there can be no lasting benefit either to him or to society until society as a whole becomes the collective possessor of the industries of the nation.

TWIN BUTTES CAMP LIVELY

Shipments Being Made Regularly to El Paso --- No Intention at Present to Erect Smelting Plant on the River at Sahuarita.

Tucson, Ariz., May 29.—E. T. Davis of the Twin Buttes Copper Mining & Smelting company arrived from the Canoa ranch and Twin Buttes camp. Mr. Davis said Manager McDermott is pushing the drifts in ore from the levels on the Morgan mine to the fourth and an upraise of forty feet on the new shaft, 700 feet east of the Morgan, has been made. There is no work being done on the fifth level in the Morgan.

With reference to establishing a smelting plant on the river at Sahuarita, Mr. Davis stated that it was not the intention of the mining company to do anything in that connection at present. Before seriously considering the installation of a smelting plant an investigation will be made regarding the best and most economical methods of treating ores near the mines. The matter will not engage attention until some future date.

Shipments to El Paso were being made two days each week in the usual amount.

Conditions at the Canoa ranch are excellent, Mr. Davis said, barring some delay in repairing the connections between several wells, which were partially destroyed by fire on the night of May 7, resulting from the flames extending below from the pumping plant house, which was destroyed. The engines and boilers were not damaged and the loss will not exceed $1,500 in other respects.

There are 1,000 acres in cultivation of the 18,000 in the Canoa tract, water in good supply and the additional 200 acres will be broken this year for cultivation. In a short time the pumping plant and wells will be restored to their normal condition.

Mr. Davis will confer with J. C. McClure, resident engineer of the Randolph mines on matters to be submitted by the latter. He expects to return on Thursday morning to Twin Buttes.

VERY RICH COPPER FOUND.

agements have decided to erect a stamp mill for the joint use of both companies on King Philip territory midway between the two mines. Excavating on the site selected preliminary to the laying down of the foundations of the structure is now in progress. The mill will have two steam stamps of 750 tons daily capacity each, and is expected to be ready for service about June, 1910. Underground exploits in the Winora mine reveal uniformly good copper ground at and below the ninth level, the ground at depth showing a decided improvement over that opened on the levels above. The company has upwards of 1,500,000 tons of rock blocked out ready for stoping. This rock will probably average eighteen pounds refined copper per ton of rock. Present operations underground are confined to ground tributary to the No. 4 shaft. Seven machine drills are in service engaged in shaft sinking and drifting. The shaft is sinking for the twelfth level.

Superior.

Superior's activity continues centered in opening work in ground tributary to the No. 1 shaft. The shaft has reached the eleventh level, at which depth a further investigation of the lode is being made. There have been no developments recently comparable with the sensational showings made early in the year, but the general average of ground being opened up continues satisfactory and will probably carry better than twenty pounds fine copper per ton of rock with a proper selection that will be possible when stoping begins. The bulk of the company's daily shipments to the mill is coming from the big stockpile. This rock was taken out in the course of developments in the upper levels and is not as rich as that opened in the bottom of the mine.

Isle Royale.

Isle Royale has finished cutting a plat at the 400-foot level in shaft "A" on the Baltic lode and sinking is again in progress. The inflow of surface waters which for a time seriously interfered with shaft sinking, has ceased with the coming of drier weather, and better progress in shaft-sinking may be looked for. There is little likelihood that a lateral investigation of the lode at this point will be made before another 100 feet of depth has been attained. The character of the rock exposed by the shaft alternates between the gray and red rock of the Baltic formation, and though occasional specks of copper are noted the rock for the greater part appears quite barren.

BUTTE COALITION COMPANY.

company is short of funds, it is free of debt, has money in the treasury, and a lot of treasury stock. The Butte & London has one of the best surface plants for development in the district, being sufficient for mining.

Colusa-Leonard.

The Colusa-Leonard, which is believed to carry the extension of the big veins of the Boston & Montana company, is in pretty much the same fix as the Butte & London. The officers were far-sighted and saw the coming of the financial panic long before it actually burst upon the country, and they stopped work with a good treasury and all debts paid. The Colusa-Leonard shaft is 800 feet deep and has cut several fine stringers of copper ore, one especially, about six feet wide, containing commercial ore. It is probable that drifting on this vein will open shipping ore and a large body.

Amazon-Butte.

The Amazon-Butte Copper company owns several hundred acres of mineral ground south of the Pittsburg & Montana mines, developed by a shaft and crosscuts at a depth of 450 feet. The Amazon-Butte continued its exploration work after financial troubles came and incurred a considerable indebtedness by the time the property was finally closed, but the stockholders got together and made the stock assessable. Three assessments of 1 and 3 cents were made and all paid, and the debts of the company liquidated and the company put in good shape. The treasury has a large block of stock. The Amazon-Butte has one of the best showings among the new companies, and considerable high grade ore was shipped from several shallow shafts by lessees.

Ida-Montana.

East of the Amazon-Butte the Ida-Montana company has a partially developed property and was gettig into good ore at a depth of 400 feet, when the company ran out of the funds and the mine was shut down, nearly two years ago. Several schemes for refinancing and consolidation have been under consideration, but none have yet been carried out.

East Butte.

Among the first to get out from under the troubles of finances was the East Butte Copper Mining company, which was refinanced nearly a year ago by the issuance of a block of treasury stock. Development work has been pushed since then and, independent of the consolidation with the Pittsburg & Montana company, the East Butte is developing a good mine. The action of the stockholders in increasing the capitalization from 300,000 to 600,000 shares of $10 put to take over the Pittsburg & Montana, will make of the East Butte one of the most important operating companies in the Butte district. In point of acreage it will be the largest and in the Pittsmont mine it already has a substantial producer.

Butte Central.

The Butte Central Copper company, organized to succeed the Butte Central & Superior Copper corporation in the ownership of the Ophir mine, has been completely financed and is now in shape to carry on exploration work indefinitely.

Old Butte Copper Company.

There is even talk of making an attempt to resurrect the old Butte Copper company, through which so many Butte people and outsiders lost heavily. It still owns some of the ground that was originally claimed for it, and has, with active management, a chance to make good. Next to Barnes-King it was the biggest bug with the longest sting.

Find in New Mexico.

Several well known Butte mining men made a trip through Arizona and New Mexico recently in search of copper properties and came upon what they call "one of the biggest copper showings in all out doors" in the South Oscuro mountains of New Mexico, about fifteen miles from San Marcial. Inquiry disclosed the fact that the property was owned by Capt. Jack Crawford, the poet-scout, known all over the world as a poet, mining man, Indian fighter and public entertainer. The ground has been prospected and worked sufficiently for patent. Capt. Jack discovered the big copper ledge in 1880, while on the trail of the old Apache chief, Victoria. It was at that time he discovered some copper float and recognized its meaning. After the campaign was over he went back to the mountains, followed the trail of float until he discovered the ledge. He located the lead and also established a camp, and has owned it ever since. The Butte men say there are millions in it.

LAKE SUPERIOR IRON MINES.

active search is being made for new ore bodies. A number of diamond drills are in commission, and as the season advances the exploratory work will be prosecuted more aggressively. The old Isabella mine, a portion of the Riverton property, will be reopened and operated this season, after an idleness of a number of years. The mine is connected with the Dober and its ore will be taken out through the workings of that property, one plant of machinery sufficing for the operation of both tracts.

At the Mansfield.

Ore is going forward from the stockpiles at the Mansfield mine, as well as direct from the shaft. Approximately 100 men are employed, but this force will be increased as the season advances. As much ore as it is possible to produce will be sent out this year. Oglebay, Norton & Co. have made heavy sales of their Bristol mine ore, and the property will be wrought practically to the limit of its capacity this season. The working force is being increased to 250 men. The Bristol is without a peer as a producer in the Western Menominee country, and it will make an exceptionally big output this year, a very large amount of ore being in stock. The biggest stockpiles on the Western Menominee are those at Corrigan, McKinney & Co's Great Western and Dunn mines. It will be necessary to forward this ore if the properties are to be operated to any considerable extent after the season of navigation closes, and it is the earnest hope of the community that heavy shipments will be made. Just at present, however, mining is not being pushed at either property, and the mines of the Crystal Falls group that have been idle the past year still remain on the inactive list.

Pickands, Mather & Co. of Cleveland are shipping briskly from their Baltic, Caspian, Fogarty and Hemlock mines, all four of which are located on the Western Menominee, and probably more than 500,000 tons will be forwarded from the properties this season. The Baltic and Fogarty are giving work to 250 men, the Caspian has 200 and the Hemlock 140. A night shift has been put on at the De Grasse property, where development is now in progress, and in addition to this work Pickands, Mather & Co. is engaged upon extensive exploratory operations. The Mineral Mining company, in which Milwaukee men are interested, is shipping from its new James mine in the Iron River district, and an output materially in excess of the 60,000 tons sent out last season is expected. The present shaft has been sunk an additional 100 feet to the 400-foot level, and a new and permanent shaft is being put down at a point a few hundred feet distant. The James ore ranks with the best produced in the field and there is no trouble in finding a market for all that can be taken out.

The Gleason Property.

Adjoining the James on the northwest is the Gleason property of the Gleason company. The showing there is entirely satisfactory and there appears little question that the property will make a mine, and a good one. Ore has been found in a number of test pits, and to develop the deposit there is being sunk a shaft which is now down approximately 200 feet. The Florence Iron company, controlled at New York, has a number of diamond and churn drills at work on the Hall and Yackel properties. Much ore has been encountered. A shaft is going down. For the purpose of authorizing a sale of a 40-acre tract, described as the southwest quarter of the southeast quarter of section 35, town 43, north of range 35 west, to the Munro Iron Mining company, a special meeting of the stockholders of the Hiawatha Mining company has been called to meet at Deep River, Conn., June 25 next. The property mentioned is that in which the Hiawatha mine is opened. The Munro Iron Mining company is a subsidiary concern of the Buffalo & Susquehanna furnace interests, and it is now operating the mine under lease.

The Saginaw Mining company, which is operating the former old Perkins property near Norway, at the eastern end of the Menominee range, is shipping its daily product of 125 tons to the furnace of the Lake Superior corporation at the Canadian Sault and will continue to do so during the summer. The Millie mine at Iron Mountain also is being drawn upon for ore by the same consuming interest, and occasional shipments to the Sault are made from M. A. Hanna & Co.'s American mine on the Marquette range. The Hanna people have resumed operations at their Richmond property in the Cascade district of the Marquette range. A force of about 100 men will be worked. Both stripping and mining are in progress, and some 75,000 tons of ore are expected to be taken out this year. Since it is an open pit, the Richmond is in commission only during the shipping season.

To Detroit and Return $12.00.

Via the South Shore, in connection with steamers of the Detroit & Cleveland Navigation company. Leaving Duluth June 8, 11, 16 and 18. Toledo, $12.50; Cleveland, $13.50; Buffalo, $14.

THESE MEN GAINED FAME BY BEING DIFFERENT

he was a boy—it is a deep mystery to the Gillette family and to his friends by what influence, inherited, Mr. Gillette was gifted with his talent for the stage, both here and abroad, has fully exemplified. In no other way can his possession of it be explained than by saying that he, too, is an exotic, a strange and unexpected variation from traditional family association and life.

Lanman, The World-Famous Orientalist.

Another interesting example of exotic intellectuality as developed on Connecticut soil is found in the career of Charles Rockwell Lanman, professor of Sanskrit at Harvard for almost three decades, and one of the world's most famous living Orientalists.

Prof. Lanman is a descendant of Jonathan Trumble, the great war governor of Connecticut at the time of the Revolution—Washington's "Brother Jonathan." His ancestors' from colonial times were prominent as public citizens of Connecticut or the sister state of Massachusetts. The entire atmosphere of his boyhood home was that occasioned by association of its members with public affairs. A near relative was a high officer in the navy of the United States and the family was identified with the distinctive religious life of New England. If there is anything in the theory of inheritance or environment, certainly Prof. Lanman should have entered public service, either in a civil or military capacity.

But this descendant of a long line of public spirited men when a little fellow seemed to discover a weird, inexplicable fascination in the meanings and the etymology of words. Language, and especially the history of language, had for him the charm which his boyhood associates found in sports or in the reading of adventurous literature. He would wander off by himself, searching mentally for an explanation of the mystery which is behind words, attempting to grasp the figurative meanings which are in so many nouns.

This was a disposition and a talent remote from anything known in the Lanman ancestry, and among his relatives, near and remote, there never was comprehension of the inherited or accidental impulse which, in this boy's case, was to bring to him the reputation of being one of the world's foremost Oriental scholars. He was a master of Sanskrit, that most difficult of ancient languages, when he was only 23 years old. At 30 he had become so noted a Sanskrit scholar as to be singled out for and offered the chair of Sanskrit at Harvard. While still under 40 he traveled through India searching for rare Sanskrit and Prakrit manuscripts, and in the course of years he has become an associate member of all the leading Oriental societies of the world.

Today Prof. Lanman is unquestionably America's leading Orientalist, while Europe can boast of but few Oriental scholars who are his peers. And all this is the result of a boy's following an inborn impulse, a talent which is so great as to justify the characterization of genius; for besides receiving from his blood no inspiration to the study of dead languages, and especially the Oriental tongues, Prof. Lanman, as a boy, was not influenced in this direction by associations of any sort in his boyhood home.

Louis Comfort Tiffany, Artist.

For many years Louis C. Tiffany has been recognized as America's leading authority in the art of mosaic, which he introduced into this country. In art circles throughout the world he is known as the inventor of a decorative glass with wonderfully delicate refracting qualities rivaling those in ancient glassware affected by decomposition. In the form of windows, three of the country's great universities—Harvard, Yale and Columbia—have specimens of his decorative handiwork. He has beautified numerous churches, and his paintings, mostly Oriental scenes, are to be found in not a few notable art collections of America and Europe. An ardent and widely known devotee of art, surely—yet Mr. Tiffany's ancestors were all merchants, with never a bent for art, except the art of getting along well in business.

Prominent among the young men who were tempted from New England to New York city after the opening of the Erie canal had determined New York's place as the commercial metropolis of the Western Hemisphere, was this artist's father, Charles Louis Tiffany, who was accompanied by his brother-in-law, John D. Young. They came to New York for business purposes only, and they were destined to achieve not only national but international reputation as great merchants, and to amass fortunes which rank them among the earliest of the multi-millionaires of the country.

But though the son of this Tiffany pioneer in New York city is now as famous in art circles the world over as his father was famous in his day in the world's business circles, there was a time when it seemed that the son was eminently successful not as an artist, but as a follower of Mars. In the summer of the first year of the Civil war youn Tiffany, who then was a lad of about 14 years, fired by the same patriotic spirit that caused his father to turn over his store to the government for a depot, organized a military company among the boys of his town. He trained as an assistant a boy about his own age of the boys of his town. He trained as an assistant a boy about his own age of the name of Augustus C. Tyler, and made him first lieutenant of his company of youngsters, and these boys drilled their 100 "soldiers" so perfectly as to command the admiration of the officers of the Union army, who were engaged in the town in recruiting volunteers in response to the call made by President Lincoln.

At that time these real soldiers were unanimous in their predictions of a brilliant career in the army for "Capt. Tiffany," if he should elect it for his life's work. And had he become an army man and a brilliant soldier, he still would have been an intellectual exotic, just as much as today he is in this interesting and brilliant class as an artist. Of course, in his latter years, when he had millions to indulge in the hobby. Mr. Tiffany's father became a patron of the arts, but before he had reached this stage his son, Louis, had fully developed his bent for that sort of fame-giving artistic production which is inspired by the imagination.

It is rather interesting to note the grown-up career of Louis Tiffany's right hand "man" in the days when he was absorbed in his duties as "captain." Through his summer's experience as "lieutenant" young Tylor discovered his vocation and talent. He entered West Point when the opportunity came to him to do so, graduated high in his class, and as Col. Tyler was in command of the defenses at the eastern end of Long Island Sound at the time of the outbreak of our war with Spain.

The Strange Gift of the Hero of Fort Fisher.

The first major general in the army to succeed to its supreme command, under the president, who had not graduated from West Point was a marked type of the intellectual exotic. This was Gen. Alfred H. Terry, who is known to all Civil war veterans and students of American history as the hero of Fort Fisher, where, by the way, another American hero was lamed for life—Rear Admiral Robley D. Evans.

Of a long line of ancestors who were quiet, studious and peace-loving, Alfred Terry, before the outbreak of the Civil war, was a lawyer who was somewhat interested in politics, and who served for some years as clerk of a court. But it was observed by his friends at the time of the Crimean war and later, when Louis Napoleon was fighting the battles of Solferino and Marengo, that Terry was incessantly occupied with studying these campaigns. Then it became his habit with pencil and paper to plan his own campaigns and work out military problems—and this despite the fact that no member of the family ever had evinced any interest whatever in military matters.

With the outbreak of the Civil war came Terry's opportunity to make good use of his exotic possession. He was put in command of one of the first regiments enlisted for the war, was promoted rapidly and his ability as a tactician and disciplinarian so impressed Gen. Halleck, then in command of the Armies of the North, that the latter was reported to have said of Gen. Terry that he was born with a genius for the command of an army. This gift was demonstrated when, after several failures on the part of others, Gen. Terry planned and compassed the capture of Fort Fisher, inflicting thereby one of the most damaging of the blows received by the Confederacy up to that time.

It was an occasion for wonder not only to his friends, but also to Gen. Terry himself, by what inheritance, remote and untraceable, or by what strange gift of fate, it happened that he should have received a talent for military command that was so widely recognized as to cause him to be retained in an important command in the regular army after the country had no further need for its volunteer legions.

Why Overheat Yourself?

Much of your summer pleasure depends upon having a cool and comfortable kitchen. Why not be prepared for hot days before they come.

Ask your dealer to show the New Perfection Wick Blue Flame Oil Cook-Stove. It's a wonder.

Does the work of your big range in every particular; but has this great advantage over it, that it never heats the kitchen.

Has a spacious top shelf for holding dishes and for keeping food warm after it is cooked. Also has drop shelves for holding small utensils, and is fitted with racks for towels. No other stove approaches the "New Perfection" in convenience, comfort and simplicity.

Made in three sizes. Can be had with or without Cabinet Top. At your dealer's, or write our nearest agency.

The Rayo Lamp is a center draft lamp of great illuminating power. Suitable for living room, dining room or parlor. Free from all objectionable features—a splendid family lamp. If not with your dealer, write our nearest agency.

REAL ESTATE DEALERS REPORT AN ACTIVE WEEK

Lots in East End Hillside District in Great Demand for Residence Sites—Building Operations Are Very Heavy—Fond du Lac Lots Selling Freely Exodus to Park Point.

The real estate situation is unchanged.

Property of all descriptions is on the move. Until this week the suburban property has been the more popular, but during the past week lots centrally located have been in demand, and there have been many sales. A glance through the transfers printed below will prove this statement. Particularly on Sixth street between Second avenue east and Twentieth avenue east, is this true. There has probably been more inquiry and more real buying this week than at any time this spring. Even so far up as Seventh, Eighth and Ninth streets property is considered a good speculation, and the way lots for home purposes have been bought up during the past week has been a big surprise to local realty dealers.

Property in the vicinity of Chester creek is becoming more and more popular, and those who have long thought of buying are getting in now. This land lies beautifully for residence purposes, and holds a commanding view of the lake. Dealers who have this property for sale report a week of unusual inquiry, and some transfers have been made.

Woodland lots are in as big demand as ever. For the past month this pretty suburb has enjoyed a period of prosperity in the real estate line, and the buying has been brisk. Many are buying two, three and four lots, so that they may have ample room for the improvement of their surroundings. These lots are as yet reasonable in price, and the small-sized boom that part of the city has enjoyed is expected to continue the rest of the summer. Not only in Woodland proper, but all along the car line is the building of homes going on.

Lakeside residence property is moving along at a satisfactory rate. The lake shore suburb seems to have a quiet growth the year around, and business conditions do not change to any extent except in moving time, when things pick up.

The move that was started in the Duluth Heights direction some time ago seems to gain in popularity each week. The lots in the hill top village are not bought singly, but the purchaser usually takes three or even four. Property here is still very cheap, and the move is more general among those who wish inexpensive building sites.

West end and West Duluth property while dealt in mostly by the owners themselves, is changing hands constantly. During the past week inquiries have been made as to possible corner sites for grocery stores, meat markets, and small shops. The rapidly increasing population demands these shops and as fast as the property can be bought, they are being established.

The amount of building surprises one, as he walks west on First, Second, Third and Fourth street and even farther up the hill. It seems as though every other house is a new one, or one in the course of construction, and in some places whole blocks of pretty cottages are going up. Apartment houses, brick flats, duplex houses, and family homes, are going at a great rate and particularly in the West end there is a decided building boom.

Fond du Lac summer home land is in demand. In spite of the fact that some of it is held at a good stiff figure, the trading has been lively, and many are already at work on their summer cottages. One Duluth firm at the beginning of the week, put on sale fifty Fond du Lac lots and on twenty-six of them they have earnest money deposited. The little suburb by the river is one of the most popular summer home locations about the city, and with the improved transportation facilities, it is bound to be more popular than ever.

• • •

Every real estate dealer in the city sent many of the "prosperity" numbers of The Herald to outside parties and this is bringing much inquiry. A man down in Elgin, Ill., in a letter to a Duluth firm said:" My! I had no idea you had such a town up there. And you say you can honestly raise potatoes, garden truck and all that. I was under the impression like many others that it never grew warm enough up there for that. I am interested in the city. I think it is in a grand location. I am not in the market just at present, but keep me posted. I may be later on."

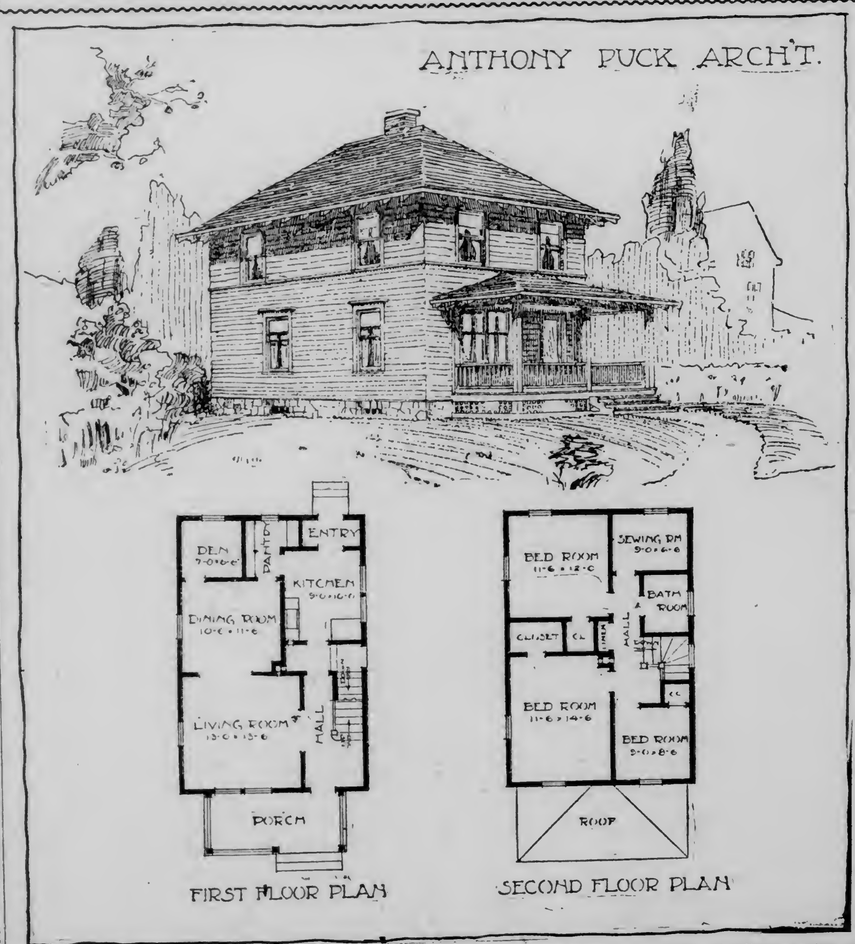
SIMPLE AND COMFORTABLE HOME WHICH WOULD COST $3,000 IN DULUTH



A practical, convenient and comfortable house of artistic design is possible for a family of moderate means. A little study and forethought in planning and a careful selection of material make it possible to build an economical home of satisfactory appearance.

The above illustration shows a design that should appeal to a family desiring a roomy, comfortable home at a modest cost. The design shows a house simple in design and construction, containing eight practical rooms of good relative size.

The arrangement in general is not unusual, but shows a thorough utilization of space to good advantage. The rooms, though not large, are of most serviceable size and arranged conveniently. The living room and dining room open well together, almost as one large room. At the rear of the dining room is a den—a good feature for the smoke-loving members of the family. A pantry, complete with cabinet, connects the dining room and kitchen, the double doors serving to effectively exclude odors of cooking from the dining room. The same is true of the passage and double doors between the kitchen and front hall. The basement stairs are conveniently accessible from outside door on landing opening out at grade level. The rear entry would serve for a refrigerator and a few shelves.

In the second story are two large bedrooms, a smaller bedroom, sewing room and good bathroom. Each bedroom has a good-sized closet, and a linen closet opens into the hall. A separate sewing room is a good feature in any house.

A home as above illustrated and described, and including maple floors, birch and pine finish, small concrete cellar, furnace heat and plumbing, would cost to erect in Duluth or vicinity, $2,950.

East End Restricted District! Fifth Street and Sixth Street

There is nothing like it in the city!

$50 per front foot for the best property on Fifth street. It will continue to advance till it brings twice that price within a short time.

Sixth street with all street improvements paid, about one-third less. Next year it may be worth as much as Fifth street. If so, a purchase now will yield you a profit of 50 per cent without counting the general advance that will take place throughout that locality.

REAL ESTATE DEALERS REPORT AN ACTIVE WEEK

Second avenue west and Superior has not as yet been let, but it is expected that it will be on the return to the city of W. A. Hunt, the architect, who has been out of the city for some time.

The annual exodus to Park Point is on and the moving vans are headed down Lake avenue. Almost any kind of a house will do, so long as it has four walls and a roof, and the dealers who have them for rent are flooded with inquiries. "It seems as though everybody wants to live on the point this summer," said a local rental agent this morning. "It will be known that you have a house to let, they line up before your office door in the morning."

The building line is being extended quite a distance beyond the end of the car line and the time will soon come when it will become necessary for the street railway company to lengthen its lines. In fact, it is said that there would be a building erected for every 100 feet all the way down, if the company would let it be known that it intended building.

There is quite a little going on on the point now. Some of the houses being erected are not very elaborate affairs, but they, do for the summer months and that, in most cases, is all they are intended for. There are also some very fine cottages, bungalows and houses being built, but these are mostly owned by those who intend to remain on the point the year around.

The effort of the Orpheum people to invade the city by offering a prominent Superior street merchant $14,000 for his lease, which had but five years to run, caused much comment among local brokers during the week.

Superior street property is screwed down pretty tight and it seems almost impossible to get a look in at almost any price. In the opinion of most of the realty men the new theater will have to take one of the avenues, or a site further east on Superior street. Nothing has been heard since the proposition of last week was made, but it is said the backers are still figuring on several sites.

• • •

The transfer of the thirty lots in Harrison's division fronting on Greysolon road has been made to T. F. Cole. The consideration was $30,000.

The new owner will soon commence the building of a magnificent new home, for which the plans drawn by Keys & Colbourn of Minneapolis have been approved.

One of the features of the house will be a series of art windows, to be drawn by Mr. Weston, representing Duluth scenes.

Building operations in the city for the first five months will be much heavier than those of 1908. The total for the five months will be about $1,100,000 as compared with $1,060,546, the amount for the same period of last year. Up to this time each month this year has shown an increase over the same month of last year.

• • •

The demand for good dock property was brought out forcibly during the week in the fight between the Northern Pacific Railroad company and the La Rue Investment company and other smaller owners for frontage bordering on St. Louis river at the several points the river touches the railroad right-of-way. All the dockage about the city is held at a high figure.

• • •

C. L. Rakowsky & Co. report the sale of a house and lot at 323 North Twenty-eighth avenue west for O. M. Hanson to William McFarlane. The consideration was $2,400.

• • •

The Lakeside Land company reports the sale of lots 9 and 10, block 60, London addition. The consideration was $350. The lots are at Forty-fourth avenue east and Gladstone street. They also report the sale of lot 15, block 55, London addition. The consideration in this case was $750. This lot is on McCullough street, near Forty-first avenue east.

• • •

The architects are busy. A number of them are out of the city, but those seen this morning reported some new work, said they were swamped with back work and that there was no immediate danger of a lull.

Radcliffe & Price are making plans for a residence for M. A. Nichols to be located at Buhl. It will cost $4,000. This firm is also making plans for a new residence for E. R. Kreimer to be located on East Fourth street and Twentieth avenue east. It will cost $3,000.

During the week this firm let the contract for the erection of the residence of Mrs. Anna Berg to be located on Twenty-fourth avenue east and Third street to Appleby Bros. The residence will cost $7,500. They are also advertising for bids for the repairs to be made on the city hall at Virginia.

• • •

J. J. Wangenstein has let the contract for the $25,000 residence of Henry Bridgeman to Joseph Roy. This house will be located at Forty-seventh avenue east and London road. It will be thoroughly modern in every detail.

Mr. Wangenstein is preparing plans for a residence to be erected between Eleventh avenue and Twelfth avenue east on Superior street by L. S. Loeb. It will cost $7,500.

Olson & Magney are preparing plans for a Catholic church to be built at Eveleth. It will cost $35,000. This firm is also preparing plans for the Whitney Wall company for five houses to be built on East Fourth street between Seventeenth and Eighteenth avenues east. They will cost in the neighborhood of $3,500 each. Bids are being taken for a flat building to be erected between Twenty-third and Twenty-fourth avenues east on Second street for E. Lofgren.

Plans for the residence of Capt. H. H. Thompson to be located between Twelfth and Thirteenth avenues east on Fourth street are also being drawn by Olson & Magney. The cost will be $5,500. This firm is also making plans for the new theater to be erected at Eveleth for P. E. Dowling. The cost will be $20,000.

• • •

Idlewild, the new tract platted by the Silvey Investment company, will be put on the market in two weeks time.

• • •

The building permits for the week of $1,000 and over follow:

Oscar Lingvall, frame dwelling, south side of West Second street between Twenty-ninth and Thirtieth avenues. Cost $3,000.

Charles Ekstrom, frame dwelling, south side of West Second street, between Twenty-fourth and Twenty-fifth avenues. Cost $1,000.

Dee Brown, frame dwelling, east side of Minnesota avenue, between Thirty-fifth and Thirty-sixth streets. Cost $2,000.

Louis S. Loeb, frame dwelling, south side of East Superior street, between Eleventh and Twelfth avenues. Cost $7,500.

G. G. Hartley, log cabin, north side of East Superior street, between Thirteenth and Fourteenth avenues east, Cost 1,000.

Mathilda Peterson, frame dwelling south side of East Seventh street, between Seventeenth and Eighteenth avenues. Cost $1,000.

Dr. Frank Lynam, brick dwelling to be located on East Second street, between Twenty-fifth and Twenty-sixth avenues. Cost $2,500.

I. N. Tate, frame dwelling between Hardy and Lewis streets, on Woodland avenue. Cost $5,000.

Hulda Ericson, frame dwelling north side of East Third street, between Twentieth and Twenty-first avenues. Cost $1,850.

• • •

Tuesday evening, at the Spalding hotel, the members of the Duluth Real Estate exchange, together with their guests, numbering about 100, from this city and from outside cities, will sit down to their annual banquet.

The several committees in charge of the affair have been busy for weeks on the arrangements. They hope to make the arrangements. They hope to make it the most successful in the history of the organization.

The list of speakers, while not as yet complete, will include several well-known Duluth real estate men, and remarks on the condition of the market in neighboring cities will be made by the visitors.

ELKS HAVING BIG TIME AT EVELETH

Lodge to Be Instituted and Thirty New Members Taken In.

Eveleth, Minn., May 29.—(Special to The Herald.)—Purple and white, the Elks' colors, are seen on every side here today in celebration of the institution of the new Elks' lodge and the initiation of a large class into the secrets of the antlered herd.

District Deputy Grand Exalted Ruler William Regan of Minneapolis arrived here yesterday morning and began to get things ready for the lodge institution today. Many of the grand lodge and other Elks arrived on the afternoon trains today from Duluth, Two Harbors, Hibbing and Virginia. Grand Trustee Mills of Superior is expected early this afternoon, while many other Elks arrived in town this morning. About thirty candidates will be initiated tonight and a grand banquet will follow at the Glode hotel.

The merchants were busy yesterday and this morning decorating with white and purple bunting, the Elks' colors, and United States flags. The local bands have been engaged to play all day and the visiting Elks will know there is such a place as Eveleth when they leave for home Sunday.

Frank Webb, who has a reputation as a speaker, will probably act as toastmaster at the banquet tonight at the Glode hotel. District Deputy Grand Exalted Ruler Regan will be called upon, and he will tell something about the order of Elks and its origin. He says "The boys don't like long speeches, so I will give them something short." H. W. Irwin of the Eveleth Electric company will give a couple of solo numbers, as will also Dr. E. K. Meller. William McCormick of Duluth is expected to answer to a toast, as will also P. E. Dowling of Eveleth, famous for his happy remarks at the banquet table. B. O. Greening, who will become exalted ruler of the order, will also be called upon, as will several of the other to be elected officers and well-known Elks.

HIBBING COUNCIL HAS PLENTY OF WORK AHEAD.

Hibbing, Minn., May 29.—(Special to The Herald.)—If the council gets through with all the work that it has to do at its next regular meeting it will certainly be busy. Many very important steps will be taken, among which will be the submitting of bids by the committee of streets for the excavating and macadamizing of Third avenue. Bids for the furnishing of the new city hall will be taken under consideration. The bids now in the hands of the council for the new hook and ladder truck will be opened and the advisability of granting the Northern Traction company a further extension of time on their franchise also gone into.

At the last meeting the committee on finance requested that the different departments give an accounting of the village expenses and this will be presented at the next meeting. Treasurer A. D. Smith's compensation has been reduced from 1 per cent to three-fourths of 1 per cent and his bond fixed at $10,000.

HIBBING BALL GAMES FOR SEASON STARTED.

Second avenue west and Superior has not as yet been let, but it is expected that it will be in the return to the city of W. A. Hink, the architect, who has been out of the city for some time.

The annual exodus to Park Point is on and the mowing vans are headed down Lake avenue. Almost any kind of a house will do, so long as it has four walls and a roof, and the dealers who have them for rent are flooded with inquiries. It seems as though everybody wants to live on the point this summer and a local rental agent this morning said: "Let it be known that you have a house to let, they flock up before your office door in the morning."

The building line is being extended quite a distance beyond the end of the car line and the time will soon come when it will become necessary for the street railway company to lengthen its lines. In fact, it is said that there would be a building erected for every car that ran that way down, if the company would put it to be known that it intended building.

There is quite a little going on on the point now. Some of the houses being erected are not very elaborate affairs, but are in for the summer months and that, in most cases, is all they are intended for. There are also some very fine cottages, bungalows and houses being built, which will be permanently owned by those who intend to remain on the point the year around.

• • •

The effort of the orpheum people to induce the city to offering a prominent superior street premium" $10,000 for its lease, which had five years to run, caused much comment among local brokers during the week. The opinion of all property is screwed down pretty tight and it seems almost impossible to get a look in at almost any price. In the opinion of most of the realty men the new theater will be built on one of the avenues, or a site further east on Superior street. Nothing has been heard since the proposition of last week was made, but it is said that the backers are still figuring on several sites.

• • •

The transfer of the thirty lots in Harrison's division fronting on Seymour road, it is been made to T. F. Cole. The consideration was $40,000.

The new owner will soon commence the building of a magnificent new home, for which the plans drawn by Koch & Colburn of Minneapolis have been approved.

One of the features of the house will be a series of art windows, to be drawn by an Italian artist, representing Duluth scenes.

Building operations in the city for the first five months will be much greater than those of 1908. The total for the five months will be about $1,100,000 as compared with $1,060,550, the amount for the same period of last year. Up to this week each month this year has shown an increase over the same month of last year.

• • •

The demand for good lots property was brought out forcibly during the week in the fight between the Northern Pacific Railroad company and the La Rue Investment company and other smaller owners for frontage for docking in St. Louis river at the several points on the river bordering the railroad right-of-way. All the lookers about the city is half at a big figure.

• • •

C. L. Rakowsky & Co. report the sale of lots and lot 21 Forty-fourth avenue east and Raleigh street. They also report the sale of lot 15, block 55, London addition. The consideration in this case was $750. This lot is on Mc-Culloch street, near Forty-first avenue east.

• • •

The architects are busy. A number of them are out of the city, but those seen this morning reported some new work, while many were swamped with work and that there was no immediate danger of a lull.

Radcliffe & Price are making plans for a residence for M. A. Nichols to be located at Duluth. It will cost $1,000.

This firm is also making plans for a flat building for E. R. Kreimer to be located on East Fourth street and Twentieth avenue east. It will cost $3,000.

During the week this firm let the contract for the erection of the residence of Mrs. Anna Berg to be located on Twenty-fourth avenue east and Third street to Appley Bros. The residence will cost $7,500. They are also advertising for bids for the repairs to be made on the city hall at Virginia.

• • •

J. J. Wangenstein has let the contract for the $25,000 residence of Henry Bridgeman to Joseph Roy. This house will be located at Forty-seventh avenue east and London road. It will be thoroughly modern in every detail.

Mr. Wangenstein is preparing plans for a residence to be erected between Eleventh avenue and Twelfth avenue east on Superior street by L. S. Loeb. It will cost $7,500.

• • •

Olson & Magney are preparing plans for a Catholic church to be built at Eveleth. It will cost $35,000. This firm is also preparing plans for the Whitney Wall company for five houses to be built on East Fourth street between Seventeenth and Eighteenth avenues east. They will cost in the neighborhood of $4,500 each. Bids are being taken for a flat building to be erected between Twenty-third and Twenty-fourth avenues east on Second street for C. Iverson.

Plans for the residence of Capt. H. H. Thompson to be located between Twelfth and Thirteenth avenues east on Fourth street are also being drawn by Olson & Magney. The cost will be $8,500. This firm is also making plans for the new theater to be erected at Eveleth for P. E. Dowling. The cost will be $20,000.

• • •

Idlewild, the new tract platted by the Stivey Investment company, will be put on the market in two weeks time.

• • •

The building permits for the week of $1,000 and over follow:

Oscar Lingvall, frame dwelling, south side of West Second street between Twenty-ninth and Thirtieth avenues. Cost $3,000.

Louis S Loeb, frame dwelling, south side of East Superior street, between Eleventh and Twelfth avenues. Cost $7,000.

G. G. Hartley, log cabin, north side of East Superior street, between Thirteenth and Fourteenth avenues east. Cost 1,000.

Mathilda Peterson, frame dwelling south side of East Seventh street, between Seventeenth and Eighteenth avenues. Cost $1,000.

Dr. Frank Lynam, brick dwelling to be located on East Second street, between Twenty-fifth and Twenty-sixth avenues. Cost $2,500.

L. N. Tate, frame dwelling between Hardy and Lewis streets on Woodland avenue. Cost $5,000.

Hulda Ericson, frame dwelling north side of East Third street, between Twentieth and Twenty-first avenues. Cost $1,850.

• • •

Tuesday evening at the Spalding hotel the members of the Duluth Real Estate exchange, together with their guests, numbering about 100, from this city and from outside cities, will sit down to their annual banquet.

The several committees in charge of the affair have been busy for weeks on the arrangements. They hope to make it the most successful in the history of the organization.

The list of speakers, while not as yet complete, will include several well-known Duluth real estate men, and remarks on the condition of the market in neighboring cities will be made by the visitors.

PROCTOR EVENTS OF CURRENT WEEK

St. Rose's Church Card Party Success—Other Social Doings.

Proctor, Minn., May 29.—(Special to The Herald.)—The card party given by the ladies of St. Rose's church at the village hall last evening proved to be the usual success. Twenty-five tables were in operation and eight games were played. The ladies' head prize went to Mrs. P. McCabe and the gentlemen's head prize to Ed Scanlon. The consolation prizes went to Harold Fosfield and Miss Mary Miller. Refreshments were served at a late hour.

J. S. and M. Bover returned Monday from a fishing trip to Pengilly. They report a catch of 175 pounds of pike.

Louis Seese was arraigned for trial last Wednesday evening before Justice Dockstader. He was found guilty and his fine placed at $30 and costs.

Reuben Barnes left Thursday afternoon for his home at Wilkesbarre, Pa. His father, who has been ill for some time, is not expected to live.

Mrs. W. A. Colberg and two children of Biwabik have been the guests of Mr. and Mrs. George Govett the past week.

George Govett, a merchant, fell Wednesday evening while returning from lodge in West Duluth, sustaining a sprained knee. He is now able to be out again.

Mr. and Mrs. Robie and two daughters, who moved to Spokane, Wash., about a year ago, have returned and expect to make their home in Proctor.

Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Gratto and two children of Duluth spent Sunday with relatives in the village.

Miss Fern Rappold assisted in the recital given by the pupils of Miss Florence Gill in Superior last Wednesday.

Mrs. T. St. Cyr spent a few days this week with relatives in Superior.

The fourth of the series of dances given by the Proctor Outdoor Athletic association will be given Friday evening, June 4. Blewett's orchestra will furnish the music.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Lockhart were pleasantly surprised on Monday evening in honor of their first wedding anniversary. Cards furnished the amusement for the evening and at a late hour lunch was served.

The regular morning service at the Methodist church Sunday will be held at 11 o'clock. In the evening a Memorial service will be held at 7:30 in memory of those who have died the past year. There will be special music.

Save your pennies for the children as they are collecting them by the "coin" to get a "mile." These pennies are to go toward the erection of a new M. E. church, which has been badly needed for some time.

Mr. Hilliard, who has been seriously ill for the past two weeks, suffering from blood poisoning, the result of a slight scratch on the hand, is gradually recovering.

Ekblad & Johnson expect to move into their new building the first of next week.

The state board of examinations were held this week necessitating garnier attendance at school on the part of the pupils.

A number of women surprised Mrs. P. G. Sautter at her home yesterday afternoon in honor of her birthday. In a guessing contest Mrs. Thomas Reid carried away the prize. The visitors presented Mrs. Sautter with a beautiful hand-painted plate. A dainty luncheon was served.

Mr. Needham, a brakeman who was operated on at St. Mary's hospital for appendicitis last week, returned home Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Proffitt expect to leave soon to make their home in Trenton, Mo. He will sell his residence here before his departure for the South.

Miss Cora Blewett of Duluth spent Sunday with Miss Jennie Bishop.

Ed Schmidt of Chillicothe, Ill., spent a few days this week with Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Wombacher and family.

Harvey Scanlon of Hovey, Minn., spent a few days last week in the village.

Frank La Chance, a railroad brakeman, returned to Proctor Monday from Escanaba, Mich., where he has been spending the winter. He intends to move his family here in a short time.

Oliver Hamilton of Corning, N. Y., is visiting with Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Stewart and family.

North Butte Mining Company, Dividend No. 14.

A quarterly dividend of $400,000, being $1 per share, on the outstanding stock of the company has been declared out of the surplus earnings, payable on June 26th, 1909, to the stockholders of record at the close of business on June 12th, 1909.

The transfer books will be closed from June 14th, 1909, to June 26th, 1909, both inclusive.

YOUNG GIRLS GETTING GIDDIER

According to Chief Matron of Chicago Police Department.

Chicago, May 29.—Women are becoming better in Chicago, but "young girls" are getting giddier, the pace of the big city is too fast, and the feminine hunt for amusement is too strenuous, if the annual report of Anna L. Murphy, chief matron of the Chicago police department, can be taken as a guide.

The number of young girls arrested has been increasing for several years until in 1908 the number reached 1,824, the year previous showed 1,146, and in 1906 there were only 1,068. The offenses of the girls are not given, but the police asserted that more were taken in for intoxication and boisterousness than anything else.

The number of runaway girls returned to their parents has increased nearly 29 per cent in two years. In 1906 they numbered 111, while last year there were 312 of them. The statistics don't tell how many runaways the police were unable to find.

The number of children lost and returned to their parents increased from 1,445 in 1906 to 1,929 in 1908.

While the women seem to be getting better, the number of them who have become insane in the two years has increased from 63 to 135 and, while the old saying is, "be good and you will be lonesome," these figures seem to indicate a change to "be good and you will go crazy."

The matron's report for several years shows that a woman is most likely to get into trouble with the police between the ages of 20 and 25, and that a majority of all females arrested are unmarried. A total of 8,695 women were arrested last year, against 10,087 in 1906.

The abandonment of wife or children has enormously increased in two years, the cases in 1906 numbering 541, while in 1908 there were 963.

ELKS HAVING BIG TIME AT EVELETH

Lodge to Be Instituted and Thirty New Members Taken In.

Eveleth, Minn., May 29.—(Special to The Herald.)—Purple and white, the Elks colors, are seen on every side here today in celebration of the installation of the new Elks' lodge and the initiation of a large class into the secrets of the antlered herd.

District Deputy Grand Exalted Ruler William Rogan of Minneapolis arrived here yesterday morning and began to get things ready for the lodge installation today. Many of the grand lodge and other Elks arrived on the afternoon trains today from Duluth, Two Harbors, Hibbing and Virginia. Grand Exalted Ruler Mills of Superior is expected early this afternoon, while many other Elks arrived in town this morning. About thirty candidates will be initiated tonight and a grand banquet will follow at the Glade hotel.

The merchants were busy yesterday and this morning decorating with white and purple bunting, the Elks colors, and United States flags. The local bands have been engaged to play all day and the visiting Elks will know there is such a place as Eveleth when they leave for home Sunday.

Frank Webb, who has a reputation as a speaker, will probably act as toastmaster at the banquet tonight at the Glade hotel. District Deputy Grand Exalted Ruler Rogan will be called upon, and he will tell something about the order of Elks and its origin. He says the boys don't like long speeches, so he will give them something short. H. W. Irwin of the Eveleth Theatre company will give a couple of solo numbers, as will also Dr. E. K. Sohl. William McCormick of Duluth is expected to answer to a toast, as will also P. E. Dowling of Eveleth at the banquet table. H. O. Greening, who will become exalted ruler of the order, will also be called upon, as will several of the other to be elected officers and well-known Elks.

HIBBING COUNCIL HAS PLENTY OF WORK AHEAD.

Hibbing, Minn., May 29.—(Special to The Herald.)—If the council gets through with all the work that it has to do at its next regular meeting it will certainly be busy. Many very important steps will be taken, among which will be the submitting of bids by the committee of streets for the excavating and macadamizing of Third avenue. Bids for the furnishing of the new city hall will be taken under consideration. The bids now in the hands of the council for the new hook and ladder truck will be opened and the advisability of granting the Northern Traction company a further extension of time on their franchise also gone into.

At the last meeting the committee on finance requested that the different departments give an accounting of the village expenses and this will be presented at the next meeting. Treasurer A. D. Smith's compensation has been reduced from 1 per cent to one-fourth of 1 per cent and his bond fixed at $10,000.

HIBBING BALL GAMES FOR SEASON STARTED.

Hibbing, Minn., May 29.—(Special to The Herald.)—Today the crack Colored Keystones will arrive in Hibbing for a series of five games, following which the locals will take a trip of ten days through the southern part of the state, playing all the best teams in that part, including a series at Minneapolis with the Keystones. Upon the teams return they will be at home continually until the first of September. Among the attractions booked so far by Manager Brady are the following teams: Wahpeton, N. D., five days starting on the 17th of June; Hastings, Stillwater, Gophers, Brainerd, Alexandria, and Ironwood. The team will leave again on its second trip about the first of September, playing Ironwood and all of the strong semi-clubs throughout Wisconsin and Michigan. There are a great number of players here at the present time among the new arrival being "Red" Donohue from the I

SENSATION IN FLAX AT THE CLOSE IN DULUTH

May Option Drops Eight and Half Points On One Sale.

May Wheat Is Inactive and Option Ends Without Feature.

Duluth Board of Trade, May 29.—This was the last day for delivery of May wheat and flax. Wheat was very quiet, but flax furnished enough excitement for both, tumbling 8½ points and closing down.

The sharp break from $1.80 to $1.72½ during the last of the session here was upon the sale of 1,000 bu, which, by the way, was the only May flax traded in during the day, although prices fluctuated wildly. There were fireworks at the close, but it was all display; there was no trading.

The market for the seed has been very narrow, and most of the bear drives were attributed to shorts, but they availed little, as the quotations were merely nominal, no flax coming out.

The only May flax that came out this morning was 1,000 bushels at $1.80, but in spite of this the price for May dropped 8½ points from the opening, which was the same as yesterday. Other flax options showed a similar weakness, although there were few trades in them. Local flax has been practically cornered all year, and when the shorts had covered, the longs let the market go.

Wheat was firm at the opening, but eased off during the latter part of the session. The market was devoid of features. May wheat, in which started this new famous bull market, was inactive and closed half a point under yesterday. July, which is the old crop, closed half a point, while September, the new crop, closed firm.

Liverpool closed ½d to ¾d lower.

The wheat option closed ½c lower in Duluth, 1c higher in Chicago, ⅝c lower in Minneapolis, 1¼c lower in St. Louis and 1⅛c lower in Winnipeg. The July option closed ½c lower in Duluth, ⅝c lower in Chicago, a shade lower in Minneapolis, ⅜c higher in New York, ¼@⅜c lower in St. Louis, ½c lower in Kansas City and ⅜c lower in Winnipeg.

July corn closed ¼@⅜c higher and cats ⅜@¾c higher.

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool: "The speculative wheat market was quiet at the start and prices half lower. Offerings were larger, owing to the expectations of the heavy world's shipments last week. During the early morning the market developed some steadiness as shorts covered with the holidays but later pressure again developed on the cheap offerings of new Danubian wheat, continued favorable European crop advices, decline in spot and reports of rain in Argentina. At the close the market was easy and ½d to ¾d lower than yesterday, with the principal pressure in the distant month.

"Corn was ½d lower at the opening in sympathy with America, and later the decline was recovered, due to the less pressure of parcels due to an improved demand.

"The Liverpool grain market is closed until Wednesday morning."

Car receipts of wheat at Duluth were 1, against 14 last year, and at Minneapolis 103 against none last year (holiday). Chicago received 1. Winnipeg received 49, against 24 last year.

Primary receipts of wheat were 157,000 bu, last year, holiday. Shipments, 125 bu. Clearances of wheat and flour were 158,000 bu.

Primary receipts of corn were 723,000 bu. Shipments, 505,000 bu. Clearances of corn were 6,000 bu.

Wheat was rather quiet during the session in Duluth. May wheat was inactive and closed ½c lower at $1.29. July wheat opened ¼c higher and $1.29⅜, advanced to $1.29⅝, declined to $1.28½ and closed there, a loss of ½c from yesterday. September wheat opened ¾c higher at $1.10¼, declined to $1.10, rallied to $1.10⅜, went off to $1.10⅛ and closed at $1.10⅛, a gain of ⅜c over yesterday.

Durum wheat closed ¾c lower and cash spring wheat was selling on a basis of 2c over May for No. 1 northern.

Flax prices fluctuated in a lively fashion, but there was little trading. May flax opened unchanged at $1.81, declined to $1.79½, rallied to $1.80, sank to $1.72½ and closed there, a loss of 8⅛c from yesterday. July flax opened ½c lower at $1.76½, declined to $1.73 and closed there, a loss of 4c from yesterday. September flax opened unchanged at $1.54, declined to $1.51 and closed there, a loss of 3c from yesterday. October flax opened unchanged at $1.45¾, sold off to $1.42½ and closed at $1.43, a loss of 2¾c from yesterday.

Oats closed ½c lower, rye 3c higher and barley unchanged.

Following are the closing prices:

Wheat—No. 1 hard on track, $1.31½. On track: No. 1 northern, $1.31; No. 2 northern, $1.29; May, $1.29; July, $1.28⅝; September, $1.10⅛. Durum on track, No. 1 $1.17⅛; No. 2, $1.16¼. May durum, $1.16¼; July durum, $1.16⅛; September durum, 96¾. Flax on track, No. 1 northern, $1.81; No. 2 northern, $1.79; May, $1.72½; July, $1.73; September, $1.54; October, $1.43. Oats to arrive, 57 cents; oats on track, 57 cents; rye, 84@88 cents; barley, 70@72 cents.

THE CHICAGO MARKET.

Extreme Quietness in Pit Instead of Wild Excitement.

Chicago, May 29.—Early trading in the wheat market today was a disappointment to those who had prophesied a sensational advance in the price of the May delivery, as the result of a wild scramble among shorts to cover sales before the expiration at noon of the spectacular deal in that option. Instead of the predicted wild excitement in the pit, extreme quietness prevailed, and during the first half hour the only quotation recorded on the May delivery was that made on initial transactions, which was 1c higher than the previous close at $1.34. The market in general was firm, notwithstanding a decline of ½d to ¾d in Liverpool. July opened ¼c lower to ¼c higher at $1.16½@1.16⅞ and quickly advanced to $1.17½. Offerings in the pit was light and only a moderate demand caused the rally.

The market continued dull the remainder of the day and prices moved within narrow limits. There was only the one quotation for the May option, namely $1.34. The market closed steady with May ½c higher at $1.34. July was up ⅝c at $1.17⅛.

Buying of the May delivery of corn by shorts caused an advance of nearly 1c in the price of that option and resulted in fair strength in the more distant months. May opened ½c to ⅝c higher at 73⅝@74c and soon advanced to 74½c. July, which opened a shade lower to a shade higher at 69⅜@69¾c, sold up to 70c.

A firm tone prevailed throughout the entire day. At the close May was up ⅝c at 74½c and July up ¼@⅜c at 70c.

Trade in oats was quiet and the market was fairly steady. Shorts were moderate bidders and commission houses seemed to have plenty of selling orders. May opened unchanged to ⅛c lower at 59⅜@60c and for a time held within the opening range. July opened a shade lower to a shade higher at 52⅜@52⅝c and sold up to 53@53⅛c.

Provisions were easy at the start, owing to liberal hog receipts, but rallied early in the day on buying by local shorts. Prices at the opening were 5c lower to 5@7½c higher.

THE MINNEAPOLIS MARKET.

Elevator Stocks Show Decrease Compared With Week Last Year.

Minneapolis, Minn., May 29.—Local elevator stocks decreased 573,104 bu for the week against 761,386 for the previous week. For one day of the week opening today there was a decrease of 75,00 bu. The season was very quiet and almost without a feature. May wheat went out at $1.30⅜, 18c lower than the opening. The fluctuations in the deferred months were in a narrow range. Minneapolis today received 105 cars against a holiday; Duluth 1 against a holiday; Winnipeg 49 against 24. September opened at $1.09⅝; high, $1.09⅞; low, $1.09¾; close, $1.09⅞. July opened at $1.29; high, $1.29½; low, $1.28⅝@1.28¾; close, $1.28⅝@1.29. Cash wheat was inclined to be easier today. Millers were the only buyers and they showed no eagerness in seeking the offerings. No. 1 northern sold for 3½@4c above the July option and No. 2 northern for 1½@2c above. No. 1 northern cars, spot and to arrive, $1.32½@1.32⅝; No. 2 northern, $1.30¾@1.30⅞; spot to arrive. No. 3 wheat, $1.27⅜@1.28⅝. No. 2 yellow corn, 70¾@70¾c. No. 3 white oats, 55⅝@56c. No. 2 rye, 84¼@86½c.

Flax—Receipts 6 cars today against a holiday; shipments, 3. Light offerings made the market inactive. Demand from the local crushers was fair. Prices were 1c above Duluth July option. Closing price, $1.73¾.

Barley—Receipts were 22 cars today against a holidays; shipments, 18. Heavier offerings made the market inactive. Demand was slower for all grades. Prices were steady to ½c lower. Closing ranged at 70@71½c.

Millstuff—Shipments, 1,435 tons. The market was inclined to be easier today and prices as a result were lower. Demand was fair to good. Shipments were normal. Bran in bulk, $23.50@24.00.

Flour was in only fair demand. Orders continued to be mostly for split cars, and foreign inquiry was light. Prices were steady and shipments were fairly heavy with 50,658 barrels. First patents, $6.40@6.60; second patents, $6.30@6.50; first clears, $5.10@5.25; second clears, $3.65@3.85.

Gossip of the Trading Room and the Pit.

R. W. Snows wired from Stafford, Kan.:

"For three days I have motored through seven of the best wheat counties in Kansas, with an average of 1,250,000 acres, west of Hutchinson. The crop poor, no stooling on the thin land, headed out very low and the heads short. Rains this week came in time to save the crop and heads are filling well and straw showing some growth. The distance covered will average about ten bu, but much must be cut with a header and some with Ballaklava also looks very good. It holds strong at 12¼. We recommend the purchase. The management could not be better. It will be a great success.

Butte & Superior is trading strong at 2½. We believe that this property will develop into one of the biggest copper mines in Butte.

Regarding St. Mary's: This issue should begin to advance about the middle of next week. The mine has the possibilities of soon becoming another Red Warior. It is a low-priced stock and can therefore easily advance to 75c or 85c a share in a very short time.

We are entering on one of the biggest copper stock moves that has ever taken place in this part of the country. Nearly every stock on the board is a purchase. Take Butte-Alex Scott. There has been a lot of liquidation going on in this issue. The mines are the same as before and we tell you that the stock has been sold that has been pressing on the market. The Scotts are the safest and best buys of any now before us, and if you buy Scott at this level you will make a lot of money. We can not help it if some people get so hard pressed that they simply have to sell. We can not take it all, or we would. Remember what we say regarding the Scotts, for if you do not buy this issue you will lose a chance of a life time to make sure big money.

We handle every stock listed in this country. We have the best copper stock wire in the Northwest. We can give service. We are absolutely responsible. Give us your business. This is as live a curb stock office as any in the city of Duluth.

IN THE GREAT SOUTHWEST!!!

17 cents a day—$1.20 a week—$5.00 a month—will buy a 5-acre farm that will yield from $1,000.00 to $5,000.00 in the ideal spot of the Great Southwest, and no interest charged on deferred payments, not in a wilderness or totally undeveloped country, but right near a thriving and prosperous town, where the climate is almost perfect, with mild winters and moderate summers, with abundance of the purest water, splendid roads—no mud roads, and soil of unexcelled fertility that will produce almost anything.

PROFIT $200 TO $500 PER ACRE.

Land in this section is now yielding to farmers in various crops $200 to $400 per acre net, and even as high as $1000 per acre. All kinds of fruit grows in abundance, including strawberries, blackberries, cherries, plums, apples, cantaloupes, blackberries and huckleberries, both wild and tame; currants, gooseberries, etc. It has the finest apple orchards. It is the home of timothy and clover. It leads in poultry raising. Best corn and oats grow as well as anywhere. Let us send you descriptive matter of this wonderland, including indorsements from banker, postmaster, probate judge, merchant, newspaper, attorney, farmers, school superintendent, railroad officials, and others. It will be sent free upon request. Send for it today.

MEMORIAL DAY MARRED

Street Car Strike at Philadelphia Demoralizes All Plans.

Autos Rented at Fancy Figures—Strikers Are Jubilant.

Philadelphia, May 31.—Although the Philadelphia Rapid Transit company brought men to this city yesterday and during the night to take the places of motormen and conductors who went on strike Saturday for higher wages and better working conditions the street car service is worse today than at any time since the trouble began. Only 25 per cent of the regular number of cars operated by the company, which controls every surface line in the city was running today.

President John B. Parsons of the company and Charles O. Kruger, general manager are still optimistic, and say the company will win the struggle and fill the deserted places with new men. On the other hand, there is joy and gratification among the strikers over the demoralized situation they have brought about. C. O. Pratt, chairman of the committee of the Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway Employes, who is in charge of the strike, said if the men out remain steadfast they will win.

The strike seriously interfered with the observance of Memorial day, thousands being forced to give up visits to cemeteries etc.

Automobiles are being hired at high figures, and thousands of teamsters are earning money by carrying people at 5 and 10 cents a ride. The strikers have a sympathetic following, due in a large measure to feeling stirred up by the action of the train company in raising the rate of fare a month ago from six rides for a quarter to 5 cents straight. Every car is carrying two policemen and on some lines four.

ZEPPELIN SOARS ON RETURN TRIP

Airship Goes Back to Friedrichshafen From Bitterfeld.

Schweinfurt, Germany, May 31.—The airship Zeppelin II passed over Schweinfurt at 3:30 this morning on her way back to Friedrichshafen from Bitterfeld.

The vessel left the floating shed on Lake Constance a little after 9 Sunday night. The objective point was Berlin, where Emperor William yesterday awaited the arrival of the count, but the dirigible got only as far as Bitterfeld, some 100 miles from the starting place and he decided to return. There are on board, Count Zeppelin himself, two engineers and a crew of seven men. The airship has now been sailing aloft for something over thirty hours without stopping or coming to the ground.

VETERAN IS KILLED BY CANNON EXPLOSION.

MUST SAVE RESOURCES

Taft Issues His First Statement as to Conservation.

Warns of Danger of Leaving An Impoverished Country.

Chicago, May 31.—The following letter, said to be President Taft's first authoritative utterance on the conservation of national resources, was received here today by W. A. Shaw, editor of a business men's magazine:

"The conservation of natural resources is a subject which will properly claim from the present administration earnest attention and appropriate legislation.

"The necessity for a comprehensive and systematic improvement of our waterways, the preservation of our soil and of our forests, the securing from monopolistic private appropriation the power in navigable streams, the retention of the undisposed coal lands of the government from complete alienation,—all these matters are vitally important to the people of the United States and to your constituency, the business men of the country.

"Without the resources which make labor productive, American enterprise, energy and skill would not in the past have been able to make headway against hard conditions. Our children and their children will not be able to make headway if we leave to them an impoverished country. Our land, our waters, our forests and our minerals are the sources from which come directly or indirectly the livelihood of all of us. The conservation of our natural resources is a question of fundamental importance to the United States now—to the business man today."

STEAMER SAVED BY WIRELESS

Passengers Are Panic Stricken—Locked in Their Berths.

Guaymas, Mex., May 31.—Through the use of wireless telegraphy the American steamer, Precorser, rendered helpless by a broken propeller, was rescued from a dangerous position and towed into port. The Precorser drifted helplessly for three days. Some of the passengers became uncontrollable from fear and had to be locked in their berths.

IS GORED BY A BULL.

Menominee County Farmer Saved By Timely Arrival of Sons.

Menominee, Mich., May 31.—(Special to The Herald.)—While passing through his pasture early last evening, Frank Howell, a Menominee county farmer, was attacked and fearfully gored by a big bull, which he imported from Europe recently. He sustained seven long gashes in his side, hips and legs and has only a fighting chance for recovery. The timely arrival of his sons with pitchforks prevented a fatality.

LINCOLN STATUE IN BIRTHPLACE

Thousands at Hodgenville See the Monument Unveiled.

Hodgenville, Ky., May 31.—In this quaint little town today there was unveiled a staue of Abraham Lincoln. Three miles away is the farm on which the emancipator was born. The ceremonies will be simple. Mrs. Ben Hardin Helm of Louisville, a close relative of Mrs. Lincoln, pulled the cord that dropped the drapery and showed the martyred president, sitting in a chair, his face bearing the old, careworn, kindly expression familiar to the people of the entire world.

Special trains from Louisville and other points nearby began arriving early and by the time the ceremonies began—11 o'clock—several thousands were crowded about the platform surrounding the statue.

DO HONOR TO JOHNSON

Seventeenth President's Memory Is Revered in Tennessee.

Association to Perpetuate Admiration for Old Time Statesman.

Greeneville, Tenn., May 31. — Scattered over the greensward in and surrounding the national cemetery, which for the last thirty-four years has served as a resting place for the body of Andrew Johnson, the seventeenth president of the United States, thousands of the descendants of his old-time neighbors and friends in Eastern Tennessee today took advantage of the first memorial celebration, since the transformation of the private cemetery into a national institution to do honor to the memory of the former distinguished citizen by organizing the Andrew Johnson Memorial association.

The people came from all portions of the vast and picturesque Eastern Tennessee country, and while most of them were of the present day generation, there were some old-timers who boasted of having known the Tennessee commoner in his day, and who spoke of the fact with much pride. The orator of the occasion, Martin W. Littleton, came all the way from New York to speak in terms of highest eulogy of the

Washington, May 31.—Memorial day was generally observed here today. All the government departments and practically all of the business houses were closed that tribute might be paid the nation's dead.

At the Soldier's Home, Representative Hollingsworth of Ohio, author of the resolution protesting against placing the head of Jefferson Davis on the silver service of the battleship Mississippi, was one of the speakers. He referred to the discussion in the house on the subject and declared, "It would be a dark day indeed for the republic when the name of Abraham Lincoln ceases to be revered above all other figures of the Civil war period, or when it shall be replaced by that of Jefferson Davis to any extent in the hearts and affections of the American people. The thought of it is as shocking as the first thrill of horror that followed the firing on Sumter."

JOHN MITCHELL GOES TO NEW YORK TO LIVE.

Spring Valley, Ill., May 31.—John Mitchell, former president of the United Mine Workers of America, and now national secretary of the Civic federation, left Spring Valley today with his family for New York, where he will live. Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell were married in Spring Valley seventeen years ago, and have made their home here ever since. Mr. Mitchell's first employment here was in the capacity of a coal digger.

LEMONS UP FOR DEBATE

Smith of South Carolina Speaks on the Cotton Schedule.

Washington, May 31.—Further considering the agriculture schedule of the tariff bill, the senate today discussed the rate on lemons, and following this the cotton and woolen schedules. Considerable time was devoted to each schedule, many speeches being delivered. Senator Smith of South Carolina addressed the body on the cotton schedule.

Progress on the tariff bill is being made steadily between speeches, and while the leaders are unable to predict the end, they feel that the time for the final vote is gradually approaching, and they now predict that the work will be disposed of in time to permit congress finally to adjourn early in July.

The outlook for the present week is for many speeches and for slow progress on schedules. The probability of night sessions is not so great as a week ago.

If the house succeeds in obtaining a quorum when it meets tomorrow, it will continue discussion of the Porto Rican bill. When action is taken on it, the bill making appropriations for the next census will be taken up.

TAFT ATTENDS THE DEDICATION

President at Gettysburg When Monument Is Unveiled.

Gettysburg, May 31.—In memory of the regularly enlisted men of the United States army, who gave up their lives or fought in the Gettysburg campaign of 1863, the granite monument erected by act of congress was unveiled on the famous battlefield today in the presence of President Taft.

The great shaft, one of the most conspicuous on the field, stands close to the "bloody angle," where the hottest action in that struggle occurred.

The old town of Gettysburg was gaily decorated today and the streets were crowded with people when President Taft arrived after an all-night ride from Pittsburg. A great crowd surrounded the station.

SERVICES OF THE DAY

Lieutenant Governor Eberhart Pays Tribute to the Veterans.

Thinning Ranks of Grand Army Honored By Citizens.

School Children and the Citizens' Staff in Annual Parade.

In line with the custom that has prevailed since the closing days of the Civil war the business and commercial activities of the nation paused today to pay the annual tribute of reverence and respect to those who laid down their lives in its defense.

Throughout the country, every city, hamlet, and village today accords to the soldier dead the honor that is their due. The ranks of the Grand Army are fast fading away and each year brings nearer the time when the veterans will no longer occupy their place of honor in the Memorial day parades.

The weather in Duluth was cloudy and heavy with occasional rain, but it did not serve to halt the parade or to dampen the ardor of the younger generation of soldiers in their epic and span new uniforms. The parade, which was the main feature of the day, preceding the exercises at the Methodist church formed at the Armory at 9 o'clock.

The Line of March.

The line of march from the Armory was as follows: From Second avenue east and First street to Superior street, west on Superior street to Fifth avenue west, north on Fifth avenue west to First street, east on First street to Fourth avenue west, north to Second street, east to Third avenue west, north to Third street and thence to the Methodist church.

The Parade.

The parade was in seven divisions, each under separate commanders. First were the police, headed by Chief Troyer and followed by Col. F. E. Resche, chief marshall of the parade and his staff. Then came the Third Regiment band, followed by Companies A, C and E of the Minnesota National Guard under command of Maj. H. V. Eva.

Dr. R. W. Bowden was in charge of the second division, which comprised the Citizens' staff and the speakers at the Methodist church, in carriages.

In the third division the high school, Jefferson, Endion, Washburn, Lakeside, Lester Park and high schools were represented. They were in charge of Carl J. Ulrich and Dr. C. M. Wilson. Leading the third division was the Trinity Cadet corps under Capt. Benjamin Taylor. The boys made an excellent showing and many of their impromptu maneuvers showed the results of their hard military drills.

The school children, marching in the fourth division, attracted considerable attention. They marched in ranks of four each, carrying a small American flag. Perhaps most conspicuous among the boys was Teddy Marion, a fourth grade pupil in the Lowell school. He was mounted on a bull guided by an ordinary bridle. During the maneuvers incident to the swing from First street west into Fourth avenue, Teddy and his mount followed the line unswervingly. The boys in this division represented the Lowell, Nettleton, Emerson, Franklin, Washington, Whittier and Webster schools and were in charge of Prof. F. N. Burrall. The precise and orderly appearance of the school children brought forth favorable comments all along the line of march.

S. A. Foster and H. G. House were in charge of the Fifth division of the parade. This was the West Duluth division and the schools from that part of the city made an excellent showing. The boys of the parochial school, led by Bishop McGolrick, followed as the sixth division.

In the seventh and last division appeared the members of the German and Culver posts of the G. A. R. The veterans formed in front of the city hall and reviewed the parade as it passed from the Armory up Superior street. After all had passed they fell in line in the rear and marched to the Methodist church. Leading the division was the G. A. R. drum corps. Then followed the Sons of Veterans and the veterans of the Spanish-American war. M. W. Bates was in charge.

YESTERDAY AND TODAY

"UNANSWERED."

—By Bischoff.

"Unanswered yet? Faith cannot be unanswered,
Her feet are firmly planted on the rock;
Amid the wildest storms she stands undaunted,
Nor quails before the loudest thunder shock. * * *
She knows omnipotence has heard her prayer

Washington, May 31.—Dr. John W. Bischoff, the "blind organist of Washington," who lost his sight when 2 years old, died yesterday. For the last thirty-five years Dr Bischoff has been organist for the Congregational church and was considered one of the greatest composers and organists of this country, among his compositions being "God Night, Sweet Dreams," "Unanswered" and "Bb-o-Link."

WEATHER — Local showers this afternoon, tonight and possibly Tuesday, not much change in temperature; moderate easterly winds.

Decoration Day

Our store is closed today in order that we may pay the tribute due the heroes of the BLUE and the GRAY.

THE SERVICES AT THE CEMETERY.

DULUTH TODAY BARES ITS HEAD TO MEMORY OF MEN WHO FOUGHT TO PRESERVE THE UNION

in Duluth in years. Most of the veterans marched on foot, though carriages had been provided for those who did not feel able to march up and down the hills.

The parade was disbanded at the First Methodist church. The veterans of the Civil war were given the preference in seating and other military bodies afterward. Long before the hour set for the exercises the church doors were besieged by crowds anxious to get admittance and every foot of standing room was taken.

The High School Meeting.

There was a large overflow meeting held at the central high school, where a special program for the school children had been arranged. The boys did not break ranks at the church, but marched on to the high school building. The following program was carried out:

Presiding, B. F. Neff, vice president citizen's staff.

Music ..... Cadet Band.
Address ..... R. W. Bowlen (President citizen's staff.)
Music ..... Cadet Band.
Address ..... Gen. Marcus W. Barto.
Address ..... Rev. Arthur Wurtele.
Music ..... Cadet Band.
Address ..... Watson S. Moore.
Hymn—"My Country 'Tis of Thee".. Congregation.

The Mass Meeting.

The big mass meeting at the First Methodist church commenced at 10 o'clock. Mayor R. D. Haven presided and introduced the speakers. The following program was carried out.

Music ..... G. A. R. Drum Corps.
Invocation ..... Comrade Palmer.
Vocal selection ..... Arion Quartet.
Recitation—"Decoration Day" ..... Miss Effie Brotherton (Daughter of German Post.)
Music ..... G. A. R. Drum Corps.
"Gettysburg Address" ..... William S. McCormick
Solo—"Star Spangled Banner" ..... Miss Gladys Reynolds.
Address ..... Lieutenant Governor Eberhart.
Benediction ..... Dr. M. S. Rice.

The principal address of the day was made by Hon. A. O. Eberhart, lieutenant governor of Minnesota. Mr. Eberhart is an able and fluent speaker and his address was listened to with the greatest attention.

Mr. Eberhart's Address.

Mr. Eberhart spoke in part as follows:

"It is with a feeling of pleasure, not unmixed with misgivings, that I am speaking to you this morning, not merely on account of the grandeur of my subject, but the insignificance of my effort. It matters not how much I might exalt the patriots who gave up their homes and everything that was dear to them and who willingly obeyed the call of duty to sacrifice their lives upon the battlefield for the welfare of their country, I should still feel that I had deserved your reproach for falling so far short of doing them justice. La Sage was right when he said that 'their deeds alone can praise them,' and upon this solemn Memorial day I could pay no greater tribute to their memory than by giving you the simple story of their deeds.

"The purpose of our Memorial day is not merely to pay tribute of love and respect to those patriots and to commemorate their heroic and glorious deeds, but principally to impart to the rising generations that unselfish patriotism and love of duty, which inspired the boys in blue and the boys in gray to accomplish deeds of valor unsurpassed in the history of military and naval warfare. They seem to forget that the purpose of these exercises is also to inspire our youth with that determined endurance which enabled the volunteers to stand up day after day through those indecisive contests, where overwhelming victory was impossible, because neither side would run or surrender when defeated. It seems to me that we cannot interest ourselves in the impressive ceremonies which make this day the most sacred of the year, without at least in some degree being touched by a spirit of patriotism and brotherhood and also to some degree imparting it to others. I firmly believe, with Holmes, that our memorial halls, the statues and tablets covering our cemeteries, the tattered and torn flags of our regiments collected in the halls of our state capitol, and this our sacred day with its funeral marches, its decorated graves and its memorial exercises, are worth far more to our young men and women by way of patriotic inspiration than all the monuments of a hundred years of peace. It is, therefore, appropriate that on this day, when the patriot dead have come back to life and are living with us, we should recount their deeds of valor and ask their inspiration for victory in the great conflicts that may yet come to disturb our national life."

Two War Scenes.

Here the speaker presented two scenes, one a portrait of the hero of the battlefield and the other the heroine of the home. The first was a vivid description of the First Minnesota, at the battle of Gettysburg, where this regiment made the most memorable charge ever recorded in history and which practically turned the tide of battle at Gettysburg. In the second scene he portrayed the mother who had willingly given up her father and her husband in the Civil war and her only son in the Spanish war, and who when her son returned from the Spanish war, exclaimed at his deathbed, "I have given up my father and my husband and my only son, and if I had six more boys, and my country needed them, it would have given them up as freely as I gave George."

"This is the hero and the heroine, whose memory we cherish in our hearts and whose suffering and devotion we recall today," he said. "She represents thousands of American women, some of whom are within my hearing this afternoon, who have sacrificed more than mortal man will ever know. It is under that we might today enjoy the fruits of her loyalty and love. Members and friends of the Grand Army of the Republic, today in reverent silence we pay to the hero of the battlefield and the heroine of the home, our tribute of sincere gratitude. Throughout the length and breadth of our land we cover the graves of those who have left our midst with beautiful flowers, 'those sweetest of all the dumb children who draw their nourishment from mother earth, and over whose cradle heaven sets the watch of fragrance and beauty.' On the cross we place the wreath in honor of the unknown dead, no matter whether they wore the blue or the gray, no matter whether they fell fighting side by side or opposing one another. They are all the nation's dead and the whole nation joins today in paying to the memory of these departed heroes and heroines its just tribute of praise and gratitude.

Warfare Over.

"But we are no longer living in an age of warfare. War is a relic of barbarism. The greatness of a nation is no longer measured in terms of military armaments, but in the intelligence, prosperity and happiness of its citizens, not in thundering volleys of cannon dealing death and destruction, but in heart throbs that fill the nation with more life and energy and hope. Whoever teaches mankind to be better, more truthful, kind and loving; whoever teaches humanity to do right, because it is right, is greater than Alexander, Caesar, or Napoleon, and whoever devotes his life to the uplifting and betterment of humanity is the greatest gift of Providence to the human race. Such a benefactor is so great that 'no country can claim him, no age appropriate him, his fame is eternity and his residence creation.' I sometimes think that great calamities like the Chicago, Baltimore and San Francisco fires cannot teach any lesson of sufficient importance to warrant this enormous destruction of property, not to mention the loss of human lives, but after all, it is paying, merely a small price for the knowledge that all the world is one great brotherhood.

"The crowning glory of our age is such a reciprocal interchange of gratitude and love as shall make the departed happy in death and the living happy in life. The glittering gold of selfish greed and vain glory is but a vanishing splendor soon destined to be swept away by the breakers of time into the sea of oblivion, but the tender, sympathetic and loving deeds performed for the betterment of humanity shall live forever and shine with undiminished luster as stars of the first magnitude in the galaxy which illumines the heavenly throne.

A Greater Enemy.

"I have called your attention to the two scenes because I wish to inspire you to join in an attack upon a greater enemy than any that ever threatened us or any other nation, and that is the enemy of disease. Three hundred thousand lives were lost upon the battlefields during the Civil war, but we are today losing annually 200,000 lives from preventable and communicable disease. Nearly 70 per cent of our national funds are spent for the purpose of pensions and for armaments of war, but very little attention is so far paid to the question of public health. As to this we have an enormous responsibility and we must join all our forces to fight this common enemy. We require all the loyalty and patriotism exemplified by the Grand Army of the Republic. Shall we prove to the world that we are worthy of citizenship and self-government, that we have the right conception of law, freedom and justice; that in the achievement of an unparalleled industrial development we have granted equal rights to all and special privileges to none; that we have maintained a strict national integrity; that we have banished prejudice and nationality, and are leading the nations of the world in the establishment of universal peace and brotherhood? Yes, I believe we shall fully realize the vision of the great Puritan poet Milton, in which he says: 'Methinks I see in my mind a noble and puissant nation, rousing itself like a strong man after his sleep, and shaking his invincible locks.' It is true that our republic shall not endure forever for nothing in nature is eternal, but the principles of right and justice on which our institutions are founded shall live forever and flourish even in the midst of unlimited material wealth, bringing out the purest and noblest sentiments in human heart and mind. We cannot expect to eradicate selfishness and approach perfection, for that is impossible on this side of the millennium, but we have a right to expect that public conscience shall continue to quicken and civic virtue continue to spread, until character, honesty, integrity and ability shall be the standards by which personal worth is determined, and until the record of every public officer shall resemble a torch, so that the more it is shaken, the brighter it will burn. We have a right to expect that our cosmopolitan republic shall be true to itself, true to its traditions, and true to every principle of right on which it was founded, so that justice shall be meted out to all alike, and every law of the land shall be enforced against the strong and the weak, the rich and the poor, equally and without fear or favor. We cannot stand still, we must perform our duty to disseminate knowledge and mete out right and justice. He who hesitates is a moral coward. Let the childish glee of every home, and the bells of every school and church ring out the message of devoted service, with hope in Almighty God, until every human heart shall echo and reecho the purest blessings of truth, justice, liberty and brotherhood. Let us look forward to the twentieth century, whose sunrise long since filled our vision, hoping that it may be an era of more perfect happiness and joy, when all the world shall know that our republic is a temple of peace consecrated to liberty and brotherhood.

The Noblest Life.

"No lives on earth can be nobler than those spent for the upliftting and betterment of mankind. For them there is no death. Every step towards the heights of progress is hallowed by sacred memories of benefactors, whose influence for good have made us all purer, stronger and better. Could that radiant glow of joy and happiness which might have poured into the dark and desolate homes of the distressed, be reflected upon their deathbed, we could see them pass from this life to that of the realms above in a halo of heavenly glory. The voices that through such a noble life have been whispering words of cheer and encouragement to the sorrowful may be silent; the hands that patiently and mercifully administered to the weak and suffering may be folded in the embrace of death; but life itself and the memory of their deeds shall live forever.

"These shall resist the empire of decay,
When time is o'er and worlds have passed away,
Deep in the dust the perished heart may lie,
But that which warmed it once can never die."

"Permit me therefore, to say in conclusion, that I can conceive of no greater reward for the sacrifice of the Grand Army of the Republic than that its members might have the satisfaction of knowing that the principles of union and liberty, which they sealed forever with their blood, have become ineradically fixed in the mind of every American citizen, and that the sacred memories of their valiant deeds are the dearest treasure of his heart, and to say we must not think of its departed members as dead; they live forever. It seems to me that I can see their great columns marching onward majestically before us; that I can hear their earnest and enthusiastic voices join with ours in songs of triumph to the Lord of Hosts, and that our joint concords are rising higher and higher in one solemn symphony, until they touch the heavens, bearing upon their swelling tides of harmony the praises of Him who occupies the heavenly throne and so wisely guides the destinies of man, and bringing before the eternal altars of the Almighty, who once set the greatest example of self-sacrifice, the love offerings of an independent people, whose observance of Memorial day does not consist merely in tributes of praise and song, or floral decorations, but principally in sincere gratitude, in a noble character, and in deeds of unselfish love."

SERVICES IN CHURCHES.

Duluth Pastors Deliver Sermons to Veterans and Militia Men.

Special memorial services were held in many of the churches yesterday. Members of the G. A. R. some time ago accepted the invitation of Rev. J. C. Faries to attend morning service at the Glen Avon Presbyterian church.

Members of the Gorman and Culver posts met in their respective halls at 9 o'clock yesterday morning and marched to First avenue west and Superior street. Special cars provided by the street car company for the occasion conveyed the veterans to the Glen Avon church.

It was planned to march from the church to the Forest Hill cemetery immediately following the morning services. A steady downpour of rain made it impossible to carry out the program, but in spite of the inclement weather, many of the old soldiers visited the cemeteries later in the afternoon and placed flowers and flags on the graves of their dead comrades.

In the evening the two posts again assembled and, joining ranks at Ninth avenue east and Superior street, marched to the First Baptist church, where they listened to an eloquent Memorial day sermon by Rev. J. S. Kirtley.

STREW FLOWERS ON LAKE.

Services in Honor of Dead Sailors Are Carried Out.

The prettiest feature of today's Memorial program is being carried out this afternoon by the ladies of the Women's Relief corps. It consists of strewing the waters of the bay with flowers in memory of those who lost their lives in the naval service of the United States during the Civil war.

For days past the school children have been searching the suburban woods for wild flowers, and thousands of them were brought to the water front today for the use of the relief corps. Strewing the water with flowers has become an annual event, established by custom, and the ladies always take great pride in their part of the day's ceremonies.

The ladies of the corps were accompanied to the Lake avenue slip by the Trinity Pro-cathedral Cadet and Drum corps, in charge of Rev. A. H. Wurtele. The ladies embarked in boats furnished by the naval malitia. It was intended to use the Gopher, but the vessel is at present undergoing repairs.

Fifty invitations had been issued, but several hundred people were on the waterfront to witness the ceremonies. The canal piers and shores were lined with sightseers.

The party in charge of Mrs. Margaret Anderson, president of the Women's Relief corps was taken to the basin north of the north pier. Services were there held, conducted by Rev. N. J. Upham, chaplain of the post, followed by the ceremony of scattering the flowers over the surface of the lake. Mrs. Anderson and the ladies of the corps were assisted in this by eight school girls.

After the ceremonies the party was taken back in the boats under convoy of the steam launch of the Gopher.

It is not an unusual sight in England to see a motor 'bus belonging to one city running with a load of excursionists around the streets of another town twenty or thirty miles distant.

Dr. Price's Delicious Flavoring Extracts do not have the turpentine odor observable in those usually sold.

THE June White Sale Puts Its Shoulder to the Wheel and Gives the Rebuilding Sale Another Boost.

When we started making over our building, we weren't satisfied to stop at what we first planned—So June 1st finds the Newer Gidding Store still not ready. But we already have a great many garments on hand that were designed to grace the newer store and many of them will have to be sold before the additional floors are ready.

So the Rebuilding Sale takes them in hand and prices are badly clipped. Among the things most affected are New York and Paris Pattern Hats, Tailored Suits of all descriptions, Silk, Wool and Lingerie Dresses, Vast stocks of Undermuslins, Corsets and Girls' Wear.

WEST END

REJECTED THE OFFER

Had Opportunity to Go On Stage at Big Salary.

Rejecting an offer from a New York theatrical manager of $1,000 a week and a promise of a full season's booking, Prof. C. Wermine of Chicago, who has been assisting Rev. C. P. Ecklund in the series of revival meetings here at the West end churches, refuses to give up his work as an evangelist singer at the meager salary of $20 a week.

Prof. Wermine has a remarkable voice and has attracted considerable attention with it during his two weeks' stay in Duluth. He has just received the call to the stage, but has already notified the theatrical people that the ties that bind him to the work of an evangelist will not be broken.

The last of the series of the revival meetings was held last evening at the First Norwegian-Danish M. E. church. A record-breaking crowd turned out and the meetings have been largely attended throughout.

ALMOST BLINDED.

Almost blinded by a flash from one of the electric motors at the distributing station of the Great Northern Power company at Fifteenth avenue west, Howard J. Underhill, chief operator, is today confined to his home, wondering if he will lose his eyesight.

The full extent of the injury to the eye does not become apparent to one subjected to an unusual bright flash for several days after it has been received. Mr. Underhill was very near one of the motors when the flash came.

Anniversary Service.

The second anniversary of the present pastorate of the Second Presbyterian church at the West end was celebrated yesterday, when special services were conducted by Rev. J. L. McBride.

Rev. Mr. McBride spoke on "Early Memories and Later Visions." A memorial service was held in the evening. The pastor spoke on the "Battle of Lookout Mountain," the topic being a discourse on the existing religious and social dangers.

Memorial Day Program.

The Parthenio society of the Swedish Mission church at the West end will entertain this evening with a Memorial day program at the church, Twenty-first avenue west and Second street.

The principal feature of the program will be an address to be delivered by the Rev. O. F. O. Kling, Minneapolis, formerly pastor of the Swedish Mission church. Remarks will also be made by the pastor, Rev. C. O. Nelson.

The remainder of the program will be as follows:

Song—"The Lord Is My Shepherd"..
Ladies' Octette.
Invocation ..... Esther Vik.
Vocal solo ..... Rose Skogstrom.
Recitation—"Joe" ..... Ella Nordeen.
Piano solo—"Polonaise" ..... Chopin
Rose Skogstrom.
Piano duet .....
Esther Eckholm and Anna Wester.
Vocal duet .....
Adolph Anderson and Walter Kittridge

ANNUAL MEET BIG SUCCESS

Famous Handcar Club at Blackduck Entertains Large Number.

Annual Outing Attended by Many People From Other Points.

Bemidji, Minn., May 31.—(Special to The Herald.)—That Northern Minnesota's hospitality is unbounded was demonstrated Saturday and Sunday at Blackduck, when the fourth annual meeting of the Blackduck Handcar club was held at Blackduck Spur. Fully 150 people were present at the headquarters of the club, Trondson & Witting's logging camps, and many of these were from outside cities and towns.

Among the outsiders who participated were: W. H. Squier of Minneapolis, one of the presidents of the club, and general manager for the Chicago Coal and Lumber company; H. W. Squier of Minneapolis, Eastern representative for the Panhandle Lumber company of Spokane; T. L. Cassady, a grain dealer of Minneapolis; C. A. Cassidy, lumber dealer of Minneapolis; Charles A. Allen, retired merchant of Minneapolis, who was for many years engaged in the general mercantile business in Blackduck; Edward A. Donnelly of Grand Forks, N. D., traveling freight agent for the Northwestern line; H. A. McCormick of International Falls, agent for the Minnesota & International railway; Dr. M. E. Withrow, mayor of International Falls; Mr. Tibbetts, attorney from Fort Frances; Charles S. Carter of Hines, a member of the firm of Kaye & Carter of Minneapolis, and the following from Bemidji: T. J. Burke, president of the Northern Grocery company; J. O. Harris, register of deeds; George A. Hanson, of the owl drug store; W. T. McNamara, a commercial traveler, and A. L. Rutledge of the Bemidji Daily Pioneer. In addition to the visitors from outside points, there were fully 100 Blackduck people who visited the camps during the two days.

Festivities Began Saturday.

The festivities in connection with the outing and meeting began Saturday morning, when Blackduck members of the club, headed by Charles Trondson, president of the Santa Fe, Topeka & Kansas railway, met the Minneapolis delegation at the spur of the Minnesota & International railway, and escorted them to the camps, where a beautiful breakfast had been prepared by Chef Carl Nelson and his assistant, William Prudise.

W. H. Squier, manager of the Chicago Coal & Lumber company, acted as chaperon, and after breakfast he took the entire party across the lake in a launch to his farm, where an elegant bouillon and splendid general feast had been prepared for the party.

The party returned to the camp late Saturday afternoon, and in the early evening met the Bemidji and other delegations at the spur.

Supper was served, and then the campfire was lighted and with Charles Trondson acting as general host, and H. A. McCormick as chief of the commissary department, the "feast of reason and flow of soul" began.

William Josie of Little Falls, official historian and "orator of the club, was called into the light of the campfire and started his tale-telling, which lasted well into the night. Josie is the premier French-Canadian story-teller of Minnesota, and he kept the party in a continual uproar.

The official orator was ably assisted by Dr Withrow of International Falls, who is also an adept at French dialect yarns, and also by Mr. Bennett, the Fort Frances attorney. Whosoever tales were thoroughly enjoyed, being entirely original, and told with a rich accent of "Old England."

Mr. Erwin, horticulturist and prune producer for Trondson & Witting, sang several selections, telling in a voice broken with emotion how an ancient Irish gentleman attempted to purloin the Blarney stone in "Ould Ireland."

At about midnight C. E. Borsedenagent at Blackduck, and Bert McLaughlan secured a battery and some wire and charged several of the seats about the campfire, and also put an extra amount of electric fluid into the handle of the refreshment box. There was a resultant "mix-up," and the entire party became surcharged with the electricity.

Memorial Services Are Held.

After several hours' rest the party fished for the better part of the forenoon, and in the afternoon assembled at the headquarters for the purpose of holding memorial services.

T. L. Cassidy presided as chairman of the services, and addresses were delivered by J. O. Harris and William Josie.

Mr. Harris spoke for half an hour on "The Landing of the Irish Brigade on Plymouth Rock," and the subsequent conquest of the Red river valley by the Pages closing his speech with an eloquent tribute to King Edward.

C. A. Cassidy of Minneapolis led the quartet in a sacred selection, "Shall We Gather at Milwaukee, the City Famous for Amber Fluid?"

William Josie was the principal speaker. He told of strewing the graves of departed lumberjacks with bacon rhinds and tin cans; said the lumberjack was the real American bird, and finished by singing "Asleep in the Deep," in a heavy bass that was good to hear.

As a farewell action the guests unanimously adopted resolutions thanking Messrs. Trondson and Witting for their unexcelled hospitality, Mr. Josie for his excellent singing and the balance of the entertainers for their silent approval.

Mayor McDougald extended the freedom of the village and assisted very materially in making the meeting a success.

SUICIDE'S BODY FOUND IN RIVER

Plumber Lykseth of Grand Forks Made Good Threat to Kill Self.

Grand Forks, N. D., May 31.—(Special to The Herald.)—The body of O. A. Lykseth, the Grand Forks plumber who disappeared on May 18, after leaving his home with a threat to commit suicide, was found yesterday afternoon in the Red river at a point about four miles north of the city. The body was bloated almost beyond recognition, but papers helped to establish its identity.

Lykseth had been out on May 17, taking part in a Norwegian celebration as a member of the Bjarne chorus, a Scandinavian musical organization of this city. He came home early Tuesday morning in a somewhat intoxicated condition, and when his wife refused to stay in the house with him, he left again, going to East Grand Forks.

From there he wrote a short note to his wife, in which he said that he would commit suicide. This was the last heard of him.

Since he disappeared it developed that a payment was made upon Lykseth's insurance policy on May 22, four days after he disappeared, by his wife. The policy had already lapsed, and will not net the widow woman anything.

An inquest will be held this afternoon. There is little doubt about a verdict of suicide being found.

SEARCHING FOR ROSAR'S BODY

Cass Lake Refuses to Give Up Body of Superior Man.

Cass Lake, Minn., May 31.—(Special to The Herald.)—Search for the body of Peter Rosar, foreman of the Great Northern carshop at Superior, who was drowned in Cass lake last Saturday afternoon by the capsizing of the boat from which he was fishing, with Ame Shaule of Proctor, continues. Abe Shaule was not drowned, as reported. He has regained consciousness, but is still very weak. His condition, however, is not serious. When asked today how the accident occurred, Shaule stated that the drowned man was standing up in the boat, and with a long pikepole was testing the depth of the water. While doing so he struck a "drop-off" and the pole did not strike bottom. There was nothing to hold Rosar back and he fell headlong into the water, causing the boat to capsize. When he came to the top he disregarded the boat and started to swim ashore. The shore was about 100 feet away and the water was exceedingly cold. When about fifty feet away he apparently took cramps and sank to the bottom. Shaule, who was also tipped out in the water, grappled on the boat and hung until assistance came.

Every effort possible is being made to locate Rosar's body. A large delegation arrived yesterday morning from Duluth and Superior and are assisting in the search. There is a strong undercurrent where the accident happened and it may be possible that the body will not be found until it comes to the surface of its own accord.

Grand Forks, N. D., May 31.—(Special to The Herald.)—The funeral of C. H. Robinson, one of the prominent commission men of Grand Forks, was held yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock, from St. Paul's Episcopal church, interment being made at Memorial park.

Mr. Robinson died Saturday, following an apoplectic stroke, which he suffered yesterday. He was 52 years of age and leaves a wife and two children. The pall bearers were Thomas Corrigan, H. B. French, John Disher, W. K. Nash, W. H. Shultz and James Elton.

TWO LAW VIOLATORS FINED IN CASS LAKE.

Cass Lake, Minn., May 31.—(Special to The Herald.)—S. C. Bailey of Bemidji and William Munch of Crookston, state game wardens, secured the convictions here of two men for violation of the state game and fish laws, the case being tried before Frank Ives, justice of the peace.

A Cass Lake merchant was allowed to plead guilty, under the name of "John Doe," to the charge of having in his possession fish that had been netted. The fine imposed on the merchant was $10 and costs.

A resident of North Dakota, who is in Cass Lake quite frequently, was fined $20 and costs for shipping Minnesota fish out of the state.

NEW DULUTH GRAND STAND.

New Duluth, Minn., May 31.—(Special to The Herald.)—A grandstand is being erected on the New Duluth baseball grounds. A roof is to be put over the stand and a screen backstop is to be put up in front of the grandstand to protect the audience. The grandstand will seat about 200 people.

PENINSULA BRIEFS

Houghton—United States Engineer Banks has received instructions to advertise for $2,000 worth of dredging in the Portage river. Of the amount set aside for the maintenance and operation of the canal, there remains about $2,000 and the engineering department has decided that it can be put to no better use than the deepening of the channel in the river.

Hancock—John Reinwald and Mike Crowley have returned from Fort Arthur, Ont., where they had been employed on the Fort William water works tunnel.

Houghton—Dr. W. S. Jackson, the county physician, states that his five smallpox patients at the Houghton county detention hospital near Franklin are making a rapid recovery, and that none of them at any time has been seriously ill.

Staples—W. A. Hill and family left last week for Paso Robles, Cal., where they will make their future home. Some of their relatives have been there a number of years and like the country very well.

Fosston—A farmers' institute is to be held here Thursday, June 10, commencing at 10 a. m. and 1:30 p. m. Prof. William Robertson of the Crookston School of Agriculture will be in charge of the institute, and will be assisted by Mrs. Ida E. Tilson of West Salem, Wis., O. A. Storvick of the dairy and food department and Supt. T. A. Erickson of Alexandria.

Walker—Forest Ranger Charles Ensign has received word from the department headquarters at Washington that he has been promoted in the service to the position of lumberman and will be transferred in a few days, probably to California, at a salary of $1,800 and expenses.

Ailen—W. M. Washington, colored, who has been in jail for several months on the charge of stealing a watch belonging to Mrs. D. L. Young, which he pawned at the Gateway jewelry store, was found guilty by a jury and sentenced to two years in the state penitentiary.

St. Cloud—Nearly all of the state school land in this county, 342.42 acres in all, was sold by State Auditor S. G. Iverson at the courthouse Thursday afternoon. Some of the land brought a fair price while other tracts went for a nominal sum. Five dollars per acre was the lowest amound paid for any parcel. The highest amount paid was $25 per acre.

Brainerd—Dr. Camp has returned from the state sanitarium at Walker, where he went to attend a meeting of the board of control. About $100,000 was appropriated by the board for the construction of a main administration building, cottages, etc.

Stillwater—Harold, son of Mr. and Mrs. August Johnson, 204 North Owen street, died Thursday morning at 7 o'clock of pneumonia, aged 15 months and 6 days. The funeral took place from the house Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

DAKOTA BRIEFS

Fargo, N. D.—Joseph H. Storrs, who was reared in Fargo and is remembered by a number of local people, has been arrested in Seattle. He is wanted in Lincoln, Neb., on the charge of embezzling $7,000 of the estate of John Horn. He was captured after a long chase by detectives, going across the continent and into Canada.

Kenmare, N. D.—An agitation has been started here for the adoption of the commission form of government, which was recently adopted in Minot. A petition has been prepared, it is understood, and will be circulated so that it may be presented to the council at their next meeting. The citizens seem to be about equally divided in their opinions.

Steele, N. D.—Fred Kist of Kist Bros., butchers, has started a suit against J. E. Anderson, another meat dealer here, on a claim of damages for being charged, in a conversation, with having set fire to the latter's barn Friday night, May 21. The barn and ice house burned about midnight.

Fargo, N. D.—Mrs. Anna Lundeby, aged 52 years, died Thursday at a local hospital of pneumonia and a complication of other diseases. She leaves a son and stepdaughter. The latter is Miss Gudrid Lundeby of this city. The funeral services were held at the Pontoppidan church Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

Devils Lake, N. D.—News was received Friday of the death of Miss Edna Haig, aged 18, of Starkweather, daughter of W. R. Haig of that place, and a niece of County Superintendent Haig of this city. The deceased had been ill with typhoid fever for several weeks.

Minot, N. D.—The resignation of Duncan Cameron as city treasurer was accepted by the city council at the last meeting. Mayor Clark presented a petition signed by bankers and business men of the city recommending William Snell as city treasurer and Mr. Snell was unanimously elected to fill the unexpired term.

Grand Forks, N. D.—John Nelson, the tombstone man, met with a serious accident Thursday afternoon while cutting the Knights of Pythias monument at the cemetery. A piece of steel from the chisel Mr. Nelson was using struck him in the eye inflicting serious injury. He was taken to the hospital where he underwent an operation.

Bismarck, N. D.—Uriah Ross, one of the richest farmers in the county, was struck and instantly killed by the train at Apple Creek, a few miles east of here. Ross, who was deaf, was returning from a visit with an old friend at Apple Creek. The accident occurred at the turn of a sharp curve.

WISCONSIN BRIEFS

Ashland—By a vote of the Ashland board of education, a committee was appointed some time ago to collect relics and specimens for the museum located in the high school building. Rev. Stanley E. Lathrop was appointed chairman of this committee, with the title of museum director.

Waupaca—Maj. T. L. Jeffers, adjutant of the soldiers' home for the last thirteen years, died suddenly Friday of neuralgia of the heart. Maj. Jeffers was 64 years old. During the Civil war he served with the Tenth New York Heavy Artillery and in the navy.

Beaver Dam—Wayland academy brings the work of its fifty-fourth year to a close with exercises covering the days from June 12 to June 16.

Milwaukee—E. G. Brode, an educated, well known man-about-town and related by marriage to a wealthy family on the West side, was Friday sentenced to ninety days in the workhouse for forgery on the complaint of his mother-in-law, Mrs. George Schultz.

Watertown—An explosion of powder, being used to load shells in preparation for a sham battle, resulted in four students at Northwestern university being badly injured, one perhaps fatally.

Milwaukee—The Rev. Henry Stauffer, for six years pastor of Hanover Street Congregational church, has resigned to accept a call to the Congregational church of Neenah, Wis. Mr. Stauffer will succeed the Rev. A. E. Leonard, who has resigned to accept a pastorate in the West.

Sparta—The La Crosse Valley Baptist association has closed the most successful meeting ever held and voted Sparta loud praise for the entertainment. The Rev. Schaffer, Bangor, was elected moderator, and the Rev. G. W. Fogg, La Crosse, secretary and treasurer.

WIFE DEAD, HUSBAND SAYS ROBBERS USED CHLOROFORM ON BOTH

Chicago, May 31.—Mrs. Norah Clemenson, 29 years old, was found dead in bed from the effects of chloroform this morning, and her husband, Dr. Clemenson, 27 years old, who found the body and was also suffering from the effects of the chloroform, is being held by the police.

Dr. Clemenson insists that both he and his wife were the victims of robbers, who chloroformed them while they ransacked his apartments. According to the police a piece of cloth found near the dead woman's head was gauze such as is used by physicians.

According to the reports of the hospital, Dr. Clemenson showed little effects of chloroform poisoning. The Clemensons have two sons, one 3 and the other 5 years old.

ADVENTURES BY WHOLESALE OF ROBBERY AND RUNNING FIGHTS ARE DISCLOSED BY ARRESTS

Chicago, May 31.—A wholesale career of highway robbery and running battles with two policemen last night, was disclosed by the arrest of Ernst Halvorson, 22 years old, and Peter Dumont, 19 years old. They were arrested for shooting Policeman James Horan, while driving about in a buggy, and robbing two men.

After the arrest they confessed to two robberies Saturday night, three robberies on Sunday night, May 23, and Halvorson also confessed that he had threatened to shoot Detective O'Keefe, who had arrested him twice before. Halvorson said he intended to kill O'Keefe on July 4, probably because of the large amount of shooting on that day.

According to Dumont's written confession they were driving on the North side last night, when they saw a man walking alone. Halvorson jumped out and robbed him at the point of a revolver. He got a watch and 75 cents. A little farther along Halvorson jumped out after another man and told him to hold up his hands. The man started to run and Halvorson fired one shot at him.

Halvorson jumped back into the rig and they drove on until they saw a policeman, who tried to stop them. Halvorson fired four shots at him and the policeman returned the fire. Further on another policeman tried to stop them and Halvorson lashed the horses with a whip. Further on he saw a wagon load of policemen coming toward him. Dumont says he jumped out and ran. He was arrested at his home today.

Dumont said that a week ago tonight he and Halvorson held up three men from a horse and buggy. They secured two watches and $6.50.

When Helvorson saw the confession he said it was true except that it neglected to say that Dumont went through the men while he held the gun at their heads.

"When I saw the 'Bull' coming at me 'I gave him all the 'pills' I had,' nonchalantly added Halvorson and he laughed.

Then in the next breath Halvorson calmly admitted shooting Policeman Horan, who was discharged from the hospital today.

Several victims of the young highwaymen have been found and will be given a chance to identify the prisoners tomorrow.

The death of Joseph Menard, who was shot and killed by Policeman M. J. Hartimaan early this morning can be directly attributed to the robberies.

After the escape of Halvorson and Dumont, all policemen were instructed to question all occupants of buggies. When Hartigan told Menard to stop Menard whipped up his horse. Hartiman fired several shots, one of which killed Menard.

ZEPPELIN SURPASSES ALL DIRIGIBLE BALLOON RECORDS

Berlin, May 31.—Count Zeppelin, whose remarkable performances in his first airship have brought unbounded honors to the inventor, yesterday accomplished the most striking feat in his career. He guided his Zeppelin II from Friedericlshafen to Bitterfield, 456 miles, without landing. The journey lasted nearly two hours. He beat all records for dirigible balloons, with the opportunity of greatly improving the performance.

Count Zeppelin, who was personally in charge of the airship and whose hand was on the tiller in the greater part of the journey, had not allowed a word to be made public relative to his intention of undertaking an endurance trip.

Conditions Not Favorable.

The voyage began under rather unfavorable conditions. There was a lowering sky, rain clouds and a strong side wind when the airship left the floating hall shortly after 9 o'clock Saturday night.

The residents did not pay much attention to this, as they were accustomed to night flights. The ship ascended directly for a few hundred feet and, passing over the town of Friedrichshafen, proceeded northward.

Early in the morning the people of Treuchtlingen, a small city in Central Bavaria, were awakened by the noise of the propellers of the craft, which was passing slowly. This was the first occasion he had journeyed over Bavaria, and his arrival an hour and a half later at Nuremberg caused the greatest surprise to thousands of pleasure-seekers who were preparing for holiday excursions.

Maneuvers Over City.

The ship maneuvered over the city. Count Zeppelin continued his cruise onward without interruption in a direct line towards Berlin, passing over several towns at a low altitude amid cheers of the people, until he reached the frontiers of Saxony, where the airship was headed straight for Leipsic. He then went on, crossing Halle to Bitterfield. There he turned and sailed to the south.

In the meantime military authorities at Berlin were absolutely without advices as to the count's plans. Local authorities, however, learned from private dispatches that the airship was approaching and so informed the emperor and empress. Orders were given to prepare a space in the Tempelhof field. This was surrounded by lines of police and troops and virtually the entire population of the capital swarmed thither and waited until long after dark. Then a special newspaper spread the depressing news of the airship's return. The crowds at first refused to give credence to this report, but finally dispersed. When the emperor and empress left the field, the troops marched away.

ORE SHIPMENTS WERE HEAVY

The May shipments of the three iron ore carrying railroads in Minnesota reach the total of 2,400,000 tons, which is about 2,000,000 tons more than in May, 1908, when the shipments were only a little over 300,000 tons.

The outlook is good and iron ore shipments will gradually increase, it is expected. Today four boats are tied up at Two Harbors, and a number more expected to come, indicating that there will be heavy shipping all this week at that port.

The Duluth, Missabe & Northern handled 396,078 tons of ore last week, as compared with 51,951 tons for the same week in 1908. The Missabe's record for the month is 1,168,717 tons, compared with 86,691 tons for May, 1908. The Duluth & Iron Range has shipped 666,874 tons of ore this month.

The heaviest month ever experienced by the railroads was May, 1907, when the Missabe shipped 1,870,921 tons; the Iron Range road, 1,221,594, and the Great Northern, 986,457.

FUNERAL OF JOHN T. BLACK

Body of Duluth Fire Chief Will Be Laid at Rest.

The funeral of the late John T. Black is being held this afternoon at the Masonic temple under the auspices of the Duluth Masons, of which order Mr. Black was a prominent member and for many years a subordinate and grand lodge officer.

The officers of the Grand Commandery of Minnesota, headed by Grand Commander Smith of Faribault, arrived in Duluth this morning and delegations from the Brainerd and Bemidji commanderies attended the funeral services at the temple. All of the Duluth Masonic bodies were present and the Knights of Pythias and Elks were represented by special committees. The Superior Knights Templar attended in a body.

Committees from all of the Duluth fire companies attended the service and a large delegation from the fire department of Superior was present. The out-of-town Masons were met at the trains this morning by the knights in full uniform and escorted to the temple. Hundreds of friends and admirers of the late fire chief were present at the service.

Full Masonic honors were accorded the deceased. The body lay in state in the inner room of the temple yesterday, and throughout the day a solitary sentry in the full regalia of knighthood paced the corridor. From early morning until late in the evening hundreds thronged the temple to pay their tributes of respect.

Private services were held at the family residence, 128 West Third street preceding the Masonic rites at the temple. The funeral sermon at the home was preached by Rev. M. S. Rice, pastor of the First Methodist church. The casket was then taken to the Masonic temple for the final services.

After the Masonic bodies and the delegations from other fraternal orders with which Mr. Black was connected during his life time, had been cared for, the general public was admitted.

Attended by the Knights Templar and other Masonic organizations, the remains will be taken late this afternoon to Forest Hill cemetery for interment.

In Masonic circles Mr. Black has for years been one of the most prominent figures. At the time of his death he was grand generalissimo of the Grand Commandery of Minnesota of the Knights Templar and he was also a past commander of the Duluth organization. As an officer of the grand commandery he has frequently visited lodges in Brainerd, Bemidji, and the Twin Cities, all of which were represented at the funeral today.

Atlantic Disasters.

During the fall and winter season of 1908-09 which ended March 21, 221 persons perished by shipwreck and 89 vessels met with disaster off the New England and British North American coasts, while engaged in the New England or Canadian trade. Of the 89 vessels cast ashore or lost at sea, 6 steamers and 56 sailing craft were totally wrecked. The financial loss exceeded $2,000,000. Think how many cases of Golden Grain Belt beer this amount of money represents. A case should be in every home and a glass served with each meal. Order of your nearest dealer, or be supplied by Duluth branch Minneapolis Brewing company.

PAGEANTS IN GOTHAM

In Honor of the Veterans of the Civil War.

Wall Street's Eyes Now Fixed on Henry H. Rogers' Son.

New York, May 31.—With a whole week-end full of flags, flowers and civic ceremony, Gotham is today celebrating its heroes of the Civil war with more enthusiasm than Memorial day has called forth here in years. Pageants, parades, excursions and thousands of neighborhood rallies in honor of the older war veterans have this year met with ready response and support from a generation that now walks the town with real memories of the great cemeteries of this metropolis, vast loads of spring flowers are being laid by the grandchildren—and even great-grandchildren—of the men who fell for their countrymen who are now passing rapidly away. Bravely closing up its few remaining files, the great army that younger New York's fathers knew is standing for its annual review, which each years draws nearer to passing away entirely.

Ruling For Rogers.

Through every loophole along the financial fortresses of Wall street every eye is now focussed ceaselessly upon the young man who is stepping into the titanic shoes of his father, the mighty H. H. Rogers, at the age of less than 30. The public here has known young Rogers heretofore as merely a stripling, whose energies have been apparently devoted solely to a college course and playing officer in the militia. From the grave of the suddenly stricken magnate, however, this boy has returned to the Standard Oil fastnesses downtown as the accredited ruler of the money power which his father wielded with a force that often made things rattle in the Morgan stronghold across the street. While all the money world is holding its breath to await the issue, the grim Morgan has today forced his own son into an important director's seat, which the senior Rogers left vacant, but could not will away. The passing of the elder oil baron promises to make things exciting for some time in the arena of Wall street.

Deadly Dope.

With an emergency fund of several thousand dollars, which one woman of this city has hastened to supply, the health department officials have worked wonders this week in beginning to lay hold upon the sources of supply of the cocaine victims whose recent increase in this city is seriously alarming the authorities. Unless the underground purveyance of this deadly drug can be in some measure restrained, the health experts predict, its illicit use will soon eat deep into the core of the life and stamina of this metropolis. Much of this noxious powder and the raw matrial from which it may be extracted is now known to be quietly brought into port from abroad and circulated with no chance of government supervision through the hidden channels of the underworld to every section of this country. Medical men, welfare workers and social logical experts throughout this town are today joining the movement, which has been begun here to urge congress to place a prohibitive duty and internal revenue restrictions on cocaine for the real protection of every community and family in the land.

Guards As Guests.

With private detectives constantly gliding on gum shoes at her elbow, the widow of Charles T. Yerkes is settling down in her Fifth avenue mansion, in a hopeless attempt to make the place seem more like a home than a police station. Now that decision has been deferred by the courts on the right of the receiver of the Yerkes estate to board and lodge a squad of sleuths in the shadow of every piece of statuary throughout the palatial house, it is practically assured that these precautions against the removal of any of its treasures will be kept up day and night. The strange plight of this mistress of the house who must harbor alien detectives within her walls is exciting a great deal of interest and some sympathy among New Yorkers. Every one is anxious to know the final disposal of this rich treasure house of art objects, which the Western magnate built up here apparently only to slowly be scattered and lost to the public.

Opening an Oasis.

To supply the sight of one tiny plot of green grass to the crowds of lower Broadway the heads of good old Grace church are ready to celebrate the end of a century of their activities by devoting a priceless building site, which they have bought, to extending their front lawn at the familiar turn of the thoroughfare. Gardening upon this bit of Broadway will be expensive work, but no one who knows the town believes the memorial fund could be better spent than in preserving natural greensward in the midst of this waste of city structure. Where stone shafts and steeples might make a more pretentious show to some minds, the people of this city believe the strange sight of a few square feet of nature will prove the more impressive spectacle here.

S.S.S. DRIVES OUT RHEUMATISM

Rheumatism is due to an excess of uric acid, an irritating, inflammatory accumulation, which gets into the circulation because of weak kidneys, constipation, indigestion, and other physical irregularities which are usually considered of no importance. Nothing applied externally can ever reach the seat of this trouble; the most such treatment can do is soothe the pains temporarily; while potash and other mineral medicines really add to the acidity of the blood, and this fluid therefore continually grows more acrid and vitiated. Then instead of nourishing the different muscles and joints, keeping them in a normally supple and elastic condition, it gradually hardens and stiffens them by drying up the natural oils and fluids. Rheumatism can never be cured until the blood is purified. S. S. S. thoroughly cleanses and renovates the circulation by neutralizing the acids and driving the cause from the system. It strengthens and invigorates the blood so that instead of a sour, weak stream, depositing acrid and painful corrosive matter in the muscles, joints and bones, it nourishes the entire body with pure, rich blood and permanently cures Rheumatism. S. S. S. contains no potash, alkali or other harmful mineral, but is made entirely of roots, herbs and barks of great purifying and tonic properties. Book on Rheumatism and any medical advice free to all who write.

SUPERIOR NEWS

Two Superior Boys Injured While Celebrating Memorial Day.

In a premature observance of Memorial day, two Superior boys, Frank Konkel and William Murphy, both 13 years of age, were painfully, though not seriously, injured, Saturday by exploding dynamite.

They were planning to celebrate Memorial day, and purchased a piece of gas pipe, which they filled with the explosive. After lighting the fuse, they failed to get to a place of safety in time before they were struck with pieces of flying iron.

Has Narrow Escape.

F. B. Carter, a switchman on the Terminal road, narrowly escaped being killed late Saturday, when he was knocked from the top of a freight car, at the Wisconsin Central transfer. He only sustained a broken ankle. He lives at 1807 Butler avenue.

Jury Disagreed.

The jury in the $35,000 personal injury case brought by Matt Charon against the Northwestern Fuel company, failed to reach an agreement Saturday afternoon, in circuit court, and was discharged by Judge Vinji.

This is the second trial, and the case will be tried again. The plaintiff at one time settled with the company for $250, but claim that at that time he had not recovered from his injuries enough to be competent to make a settlement.

He was crippled for life in an accident at Washburn a few months ago.

PLAN BIG ILLUMINATION.

Red Jacket to Be Lighted By 10,000 Incandescents on Fourth.

Calumet, Mich., May 31.—(Special to The Herald.)—Architect F. W. Hessenmueller, chairman of the committee on decorations, is authority for the statement that the special decorations of the streets of Red Jacket for the various conventions and for the Fourth of July will contain no less than 10,000 incandescent lights. While this number seems enormous, Mr. Hessenmueller gives figures which indicate that the grand total will be realized.

The general decoration committee has contracted for 5,600 lights, which are being installed as rapidly as possible and form an interesting display. In addition, to, this number, 1,200 lights have been installed on the town hall and theater and 400 lights have been installed on the fire station. One hundred and fifty lights are at present located on the corner of Oak and Sixth streets. In addition to these general decorations a number of the individual business men are making arrangements for decorations which will bring the total up to at least 10,000.

CAPITAL OF PERU HAS REBELLION; QUIET AGAIN.

Lima, Peru, May 31.—Following exciting events of Saturday, when bands of revolutionists attacked the palace and seized President Leguia, only to be charged by the government troops and compelled to liberate the president, order is completely re-established. At intervals in the night guards set about the city found it necessary to fire upon groups of the insurgents and thieves who attempted to loot Chinese stores.

President Legula has issued a proclamation thanking the people for their refusal to support the revolutionary movement and asking their co-operation in the way of progress.

The office of the newspaper Perensa was sacked by troops.

ROADS MUST OBEY LAW.

North Dakota Supreme Court Turns Down Application for Stay.

Bismarck, N. D., May 31.—The motion of the counsel for the railroad companies to be allowed a stay of judgment putting into effect at once the maximum freight rates prescribed by the legislature, has been denied by the supreme court, and the contention of the attorney general to the effect that under the constitution the rates ordered by the legislature must be used until their unreasonableness was declared upheld.

The effect of the court's order is to make the statutory rates effective until otherwise determined by the supreme court of the United States.

The railroad companies offered to put up a bond indemnifying shippers and others under the present rates, but this bond was not received. It is understood that the attorneys for the railroads will take a copy of the state's supreme court's record before a justice of the federal supreme court and try to have a supersedeas bond allowed.

WILL PLEAD LATER.

Indicted Saloon Keepers Need Not Go to Eau Claire June 1.

Ashland, Wis., May 31.—(Special to The Herald.)—Sanborn, Lamoreux & Pray have received word that their clients will not have to appear at Eau Claire on June 1, to plead in the indictments against them. They are attorneys for fifty-two saloon keepers who were arrested by Special Officer Johnson on the charge of selling liquor to unallotted Indians, he using an unallotted Indian to get his evidence. They also represent eight others arrested on different charges. Those arrested may have to appear at a later date, either at Eau Claire or Superior or their cases may be disposed of without them appearing.

MUST PAY ATTORNEY'S FEE.

John Johnson Will Furnish Wife Funds to Sue for Divorce.

Judge Ibbell of the district court Saturday issued an order compelling John Johnson to pay $50 attorney's fees to his wife so that she can go on with the divorce proceedings she started against him some time ago.

The wife, Mrs. Emma Johnson, says that her husband is living in West Duluth and earning $2.75 a day. She says that she is employed as a domestic earning $15 a month.

Johnson claims that his wife deserted him and says also that at the present time she is much more able to support herself than he is.

Olson-Peterson.

The marriage of Miss Amanda Olson to Edward Peterson, both well well known West Duluth young people, will occur Wednesday at the Swedish Baptist church at West Duluth. Rev. Nylander will read the wedding service.

The bride-to-be has been living with her aunt, Mrs. Brost on Hiland avenue and Mr. Peterson has been employed as a clerk at the Johnson & Jernstad store at West Duluth.

Real Estate Deals.

Julius H. Barnes has purchased from Charles M. Bailey of Winthrop, Minn., all of his real estate holdings in West Duluth and other sections of the city amounting to forty-eight lots. They sold for $31,000.

Through the L. A. Barnes real estate agency of West Duluth, Jacob Glum has purchased for $900, lots 43 and 45, block 4, West Duluth, Central division.

Failed to Appear.

The failure of the Fitwells to make their appearance yesterday afternoon on the league baseball grounds was the cause of the game between the Fitwells and the Oak Halls being called off.

Manager Jack Gram of the Oak Halls and his men were on the spot at the appointed time, and expected the Fitwells would be there also.

Takes Vacation.

Rev. Frederick J. Mooney has left for Boston, where he will take a recreation from his duties as pastor of the Holy Apostles' Episcopal church at West Duluth and of St. Luke's Episcopal church at the West end.

While in Massachusetts, Rev. Mooney will visit his old home and the parents of his wife besides other friends and relatives. He will be gone for about three weeks.

TO HAVE HELP ON LIABILITY BILL

New York and Wisconsin to Help Minnesota Solve Problem.

Don D. Lescohier, who has been employed by State Labor Commissioner W. E. McEwen as an expert statistician, says that New York and Wisconsin will work with Minnesota in working out the problem of an employers' liability law.

The headquarters of the American association for labor legislation is at Madison, Wis., and the library at that place contains complete information on the subject. It was gathered at great expense and is said to be the most complete in the country. Mr. Lescohier will study these during the entire month of June.

The new law requiring reports of all accidents goes into effect June 1. The employers who employ large numbers of men have lately been conferring with Mr. McEwen as to their form.

They have been reluctant to give all the details of the accident which might reflect and show negligence in one form or another. To protect themselves a form has been devised whereby names will not be shown on the blank. The employes in the labor bureau will not even know the location of the accident, and information on the forms a key will be supplied, however, and only the head of the department will have the privilege of its use.

ACTING CHIEF.

Randall Will Serve Until July Meeting of the Board.

The board of fire commissioners will select a successor to Chief John T. Black at a meeting in July. Assistant Fire Chief Randall was made acting chief last Friday night at a special meeting of the board.

Whether he will be chosen as a permanent successor to Chief Black or not will be decided upon by the fire commissioners at their next meeting.

SOLD INDIAN LIQUOR.

Cass Lake Bartender to Be Arrested Under New Order.

Cass Lake, Minn., May 31.—(Special to The Herald.)—The first arrest under the agreement between the saloon keepers and the village council not to violate the government order against selling or giving liquor to Indians has just been made, and Mike Golden, a local bartender, has been held to the next grand jury at Walker on the charge of selling John Duff, an Indian, a bottle of liquor. The bottle of liquor was offered in evidence while Duff and others were quite certain as to the time and place of the transaction.

CENTRAL LEAGUE UMPIRE IS HURT BY A CAR.

Dayton, Ohio, May 31.—Umpire Gardner of the Central league was severely injured last night alighting from a car in front of the Wehner hotel. He had barely reached the ground when he was struck by a motor car that was speeding by. Gardner was hurled to the sidewalk and received a scalp wound three inches long and leg contusions. He will be laid up ten days.

CALIFORNIA FAST MAIL WRECKED: ONE DEATH.

Topeka, Kan., May 31.—Santa Fe passenger No. 9, known as the California fast mail, was wrecked at Peabody early today and H. C. Thompson, postal clerk of Kansas City, was killed.

ARE KILLED BY TORNADO

Thirty-Two Persons Meet Violent Deaths in Texas.

Fifty Other Victims May Die From Their Injuries.

Brownwood, Tex., May 31.—A tornado struck the little village of Zephr in the eastern portion of Brown county at 1 a. m. Sunday, killing thirty-two persons and perhaps fatally injuring fifty. Twenty others are more or less seriously injured. The partial list of dead is as follows:

C. A. CABLER AND WIFE.
THAD CABLER, WIFE AND TWO CHILDREN.
C. M. CARTER, WIFE AND CHILD.
GERTRUDE HOUSTON.
OSCAR WARE WIFE AND THREE CHILDREN.
M. G. SIMMONS, WIFE AND THREE CHILDREN.
MRS. W. A. RAMSAY AND CHILD.
B. F. BROWN AND WIFE.
MRS. TOM HART AND CHILD.
GIBSON CLOYES.

The storm formed half a mile southwest of Zephr, and swept down upon the village, cutting a wide swath directly through the residence and business district.

Nearly fifty houses were entirely demolished. Lightning struck a lumber yard and started a conflagration which destroyed one entire business block. No effort was made to fight the fire, as the care of the dead and injured victims demanded all the attention.

Spread The Alarm.

A section hand rode a handcar to Brownwood and spread the alarm. In two hours the Santa Fe railroad was speeding a special tarin to the scene of the storm with nine surgeons and a score of Brownwood citizens.

Hundreds of persons caught in the storm's path saved themselves by taking refuge in storm cellars. More than a dozen bodies were horribly mutilated. County Clerk Thad Cabler and wife and two children, who had gone to Zephr to spend the night, were killed. The big stone school building and two churches were entirely demolished. By early morning surgeons were working on the wounded. Brownwood hurried her second relief train at noon today loaded with provisions, clothing and forty nurses.

PRIZES STILL BEING GIVEN

Duluth Children Win Pocket Money in Picture Contest.

The cash prizes continue to be given to Duluth children who are working faithfully in the Borden letter and picture contests. There are still some children who do not read the directions carefully. With their letters or pictures they must send a coupon from The Herald and a label from a can of Borden's Peerless Evaporated Milk. Not very difficult conditions, but boys and girls are often not careful enough. If you have not received a prize, maybe this is the reason.

Saturday's prizes for the best letters were won by William Johnson of 5915 Nicollet street, and the second prize of 22 was won by Mabel Edwards of 2126 West Fifth street.

Floodwood Commencement.

Floodwood Minn., May 31.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Lincoln school graduating exercises were held Friday evening in the town hall under the auspices of Principal Butler and these graduated: Hazel Wolfe, Gertrude Auger, Laura Kespohl, Pearl Stevens and Alvin Stugeberg.

The class motto was "Perseverance Precludes Failure."

THE FAIR LILLIAN LOVES INTERVIEWERS AS THE HOUSE CAT DOES THE BULL PUP

"Beauty enshrined in Elysium" sounds very attractive and it no doubt is, but for all purposes of approach Beauty might just as well be enshrined in the Pyramid of Egypt along with any number of uninteresting and frightfully old mummies.

Elysium was sidetracked on to a spur or a switch or something in the Northern Pacific yards. Lillian Russell, it is alleged was within. Elysium is a private car. Around about Elysium sported plenty of factotums, whatever they are, and a request murmured to a man who was washing windows, was howled to a gentleman of color, who in a chef's cap was superintending the job, who called it to a man at the end of the car, who told it to one who was just coming out, who turned to another, who needed a shave, who passed it on to Mr. Hinton.

He laughs just like a melodrama villain when one even suggests speaking to Miss Russell any time before 4 in the afternoon.

"Miss Russell," he says. "Ha! Ha! The 'ha ha' is supposed to suggest surprise, incredulity, mirth at one's temerity, the absurdity of the whole thing, and then some.

"Ha! Ha" says Mr. Hinton again.

Miss Russell, according to Mr. Hinton, and there's no good reason for doubting his word, wakes every morning at 10 o'clock. It makes no difference when she goes to sleep she wakes at 10 o'clock.

"At 10 o'clock," said Mr. Hinton.

Miss Russell, then, according to Mr. Hinton, has breakfast in bed.

And right here one might just as well stop and explain why there aren't more beautiful women in the world. Anybody could be beautiful if they awakened at 10 o'clock and not until then, each morning, and then had a breakfast of grape fruit, and beautiful coffee, and omelettes, and hot rolls, and glasses of creams, and pork chops, and a few eggs, and things like that brought to them.

"In bed," insisted Mr. Hinton.

Mr. Hinton then began in professional parlance "to hit the track" for town, and he did just as well as if he never had known or seen the inside of a private car.

Meantime Elysium kept on enshrining beauty.

CONCERNING WOMAN.

Despite the fact that Memorial day is to the veterans and those who lived during the awful days of the war, one of the most solemn and sacred days of the year, to the younger generation it has come to be looked upon as a holiday and time of recreation. The old soldiers and their friends who realize the sorrows of that time of conflict and the deaths that left blights on many lives, can see in Memorial day only a time to pay honor to the memory of those who took so active a part in the conflict that saved the union.

The weather this morning has been of a kind in sympathy with the memories dear to the old soldiers, and a moody gray day dampened many prospects for picnics and outings, for in spite of the sad memories of the older people, youth will plan picnics on Memorial day. There were several week end parties and this evening the informal dances at the main house of the Boat club and at the Oatka branch will be largely attended. The cafe at the main house was opened for the first time for the season today, and a number of informal dinner parties will be given there before the dance this evening.

FESTIVAL A SUCCESS.

In Finance and Art Concerts Satisfy.

The May festival was concluded on Saturday evening with a splendid program of operatic music by the Minneapolis Symphony orchestra and the assisting soloists. A large audience was present, and at the matinee performance also the Lyceum was well filled.

"Duluth has so patronized a musical affair," said Mr. Reyner today, "that at the conclusion of the concerts there is a small surplus on the right side of the ledger. It is not so large that many people will desert copper stocks for the impressario business, but it is encouraging, and there will not be much hesitancy another year to bring a musical feast to Duluth.

"We are greatly satisfied with the support which Duluth gave the orchestra and every one is delighted at the brilliant artistic success which the concerts proved."

PESKY HOUSE FLIES.

The State Will Help to Get Rid of Them.

The state entomologist has just issued Circular No. 17, showing how the house fly carries germs of typhoid, tuberculosis and other diseases, and what a menace it is in a dwelling house, both to children and adults. The circular is well illustrated, and tells how to eliminate the fly, or reduce its dangers to the minimum. The same circular advises housekeepers how to keep their woolens and furs during the summer months away from the clothes moth and other insects which attack these fabrics.

This circular will be mailed free of charge to citizens of Minnesota who request it. Requests should be addressed to the entomological division of the experiment station, St. Anthony Park, Minnesota.

Circulars on other household pests, such as fleas, ants, bedbugs and cockroaches, will be issued later.

WED IN GEORGIA.

Miss McLeod to Become Bride of Fred Gallagher.

Invitations have been received in Duluth for the wedding of Miss Lucille McLeod of Savannah, Ga., to Fred B. Gallagher, formerly of this city. Mr. Gallagher is a son of Mr. and Mrs. William Gallagher of Duluth. The wedding will take place Wednesday of this week at Savannah, and Mr. Gallagher and his bride will be at home at Glenville, Ga., where he is engaged in the lumber business.

To Attend Wedding.

A. C. Kienly of this city has gone to Lafayette, Ind., to attend the wedding of his sister, Miss E. Louise Kienly, to George L. Hunt. Miss Kienly visited in Duluth two years ago and will be remembered by many here.

Personal Mention.

Mr. and Mrs. William Dalrymple of Minneapolis are planning to spend the summer season in Duluth.

• • •

Dr. and Mrs. W. H. Magie have leased their home at 1401 East Superior street for the summer and will be at their country home, Pleasant Hill Farm, for the season.

• • •

Mrs. James D. Ray, who has been visiting friends in Boston, is now in New York and will return home the last of this week.

• • •

Mrs. Julius D. Howard has returned from a several weeks' Eastern trip and is at the Spalding.

• • •

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Cross, Mr. and Mrs. Bently P. Neff, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Church spent the week-end at Solon Springs.

• • •

Mrs. E. H. Orr of Northfield, Minn., will arrive in the city this week to be the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Orr of 1114 East Second street.

• • •

Mrs. Seybolt Lawson of Scranton, Pa., is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hazen of 1111 East First street.

• • •

Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Dowse are week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Hartman at their home on the Brule.

ITALY'S QUEEN

Eager For Advancement of Country's Women.

While Queen Helena has not been too eager for the honors of royalty, she has labored hard in fulfilling the duties of her rank, says the American Review of Reviews. She began at home. The frugality of the Montenegrin was shown in the way in which she cut down all the unnecessary and extravagant expenses of the palace, both the kitchen and the servants' hall. The same spirit is shown in her simplicity in dress. The ladies of Rome—especially the millinners—complain that she has no love of finery, but singular to say, the aristocrats are actually following her example At a recent afternoon meeting of ladies, held for the promotion of female education, there appeared to be a noticeable lack of rich or elaborate toilets, and the queen was as simply dressed as any of them. Plenty of beautiful faces and the sound of soft, sweet voices, but no laces or jewelry. There were dresses of blue, gray, or brown, and street bonnets in abundance, and the queen set the example of showing that business is business. The particular business of the meeting was the education of girls and women to such a degree as would enable them to earn a comfortable living for themselves and their families.

Queen Helena is no feminist in the extreme meaning of the term, but she is anxious that her fellow country women should enter all the walks of life in business education or scientific professionalism for which they manifest capacity or aptitude. It is said that she has not only roused the fashionable drones of Italy to take some interest in professional pursuits, but she has done much to help girls who work in shops and factories to study at the night schools of Rome and acquire attainments, or even accomplishments, which enable them to obtain better and more lucrative positions.

STEAL AUTO; ARE CAUGHT

Machine is Demolished and Culprits Held on Larceny Charge.

For stealing an automobile belonging to Joseph B. Cotton, Mathew Veale and William Forden were arraigned in municipal court this morning on a charge of grand larceny in the first degree.

Mrs. Cotton went to the Symphony orchestra concert Saturday afternoon and left the auto in front of the theater. The machine had recently been repaired, at a cost of several hundred dollars, but something had gone wrong with the batteries. Mrs. Cotton telephoned to the garage, and the people in charge there said they would take care of the car, so when Mrs. Cotton came out of the theater and found the auto missing she thought nothing of it.

Messrs. Veale and Forden had taken the machine, it is claimed. They were under the influence of liquor, and took the automobile for a spin out Greysolon road. En route they got into an argument as who should run the machine, and during the dispute ran the machine into the ditch.

Over and over it turned, and when it finally landed it was a complete wreck. How the unlawful occupants escaped uninjured is a mystery.

Mrs. Cotton thought the machine was at the garage being repaired so she did not worry immediately, but finally the wreck of the car was reported to the police. When they found it the machine was demolished beyond all repair.

The two culprits were arraigned in municipal court this morning and their hearing was set for Thursday afternoon. They are held on a charge of grand larceny in the first degree.

Veale was employed as a chauffeur by George C. Stone and Fordin had been employed at the garage, but was discharged.

TAFT TALKS OF ARMIES

President Makes Address at Monument Dedication at Gettysburg.

"We are gathered at this historic spot today to dedicate a monument to the memory of the officers and the enlisted men of the regular army who gave up their lives for their country in the three days' battle. It is but a tardy recognition of the nation's debt to its brave defenders whose allegiance was purely to the nation, without local color or strengthening of state or municipal pride.

"The danger of a standing army entertained by our ancestors is seen in the constitutional restrictions and the complaints registered in the Declaration of Independence. It has always been easy to awaken prejudice against the possible aggressions of a regular army and a professional soldiery, and correspondingly difficult to create among the people that love and pride in the army which we find today and frequently in the history of the country aroused on behalf of the navy.

"This has led to a varied and changeable policy in respect to the regular army. At times it has been reduced to almost nothing. In 1784 there were but eighty men, who constituted the regular army of the United States and Battery F of the Fourth Artillery, had fifty-five of them. But generally the absolute necessities in the defense of the country against the small wars which embrace so large a part of our history, have induced the maintenance of a regular force, small in number, but well trained and effective as always to reflect credit upon the nation. In the war of 1812, had we a regular army of 10,000 men, trained as such an army should have been, we should have been spared the humiliation of the numerous levies of untrained troops and the enormous expense of raising an army on paper of 400,000 and 500,000 men, because with an effective force of 10,000 men we might have promptly captured Canada and ended the war.

"The service rendered by the regular army in the Mexican war was far greater in proportion than that which it rendered in the Civil war, and the success which attended the campaigns of Taylor and of Scott were largely due to that body of men.

"To the little army of 25,000 men that survived the Civil war, we owe the opening up of the entire Western country. The hardship and trials of frontier Indian campaigns, which made possible the construction of the Pacific railroads, have never been fully recognized by our people. And the bravery and courage and economy of force compared with the task performed shown by our regular troops, have never been adequately commemorated by congress or the nation.

Larger Than Ever.

Today, as a result of the Spanish war, the added responsibilities of our new dependencies in the Philippines, Porto Rico and for some time in Cuba, together with a sense of the importance of our position as a world power, have led to the increase in our regular army to a larger force than ever before in the history of the country, but not larger in proportion to the increased population and wealth than in the early years of the republic. It should not be reduced. The profession of arms has always been an honorable one and under conditions of modern warfare it has become highly technical and requires years of experience and study to adapt the officers and men to its requirements. The general purpose of congress and the American people, if one can say there is a plan or purpose, is to have such a nucleus as a regular army that it may furnish a skeleton for rapid enlargement in times of a war to a force ten or twenty times its size, and at the same time be an appropriate instrument for accomplishing the purpose of the government in crisis likely to arise, other than a war.

"At West Point, we have been able to prepare a body of professional soldiers, well trained, to officers in the army and numerous enough at the opening of the Civil war to give able commanders to both sides of that intercine strife.

"Upon the side of the North, many officers were drafted to command the volunteer troops from the states, while the regular army, aggregating about 16,000 at the opening of the war, was increased to about 25,000 during its first year. More than half this army was engaged in the battle of Gettysburg.

Pride in the Army.

"Time does not permit me to mention the names of the heroes of the regular army whose blood stained this historic field, and whose sacrifices made the union victory possible. With my intimate knowledge of the regular army, their high standard of duty, their efficiency as soldiers, their high character as men, I have seized this opportunity to come here to testify to the pride which the nation should have in its regular army, and to dedicate this monument to the predecessors of the present regular army on a field on which they won undying glory and perpetual gratitude from the nation which they served. They had not the local associations, they had not the friends and neighbors of the volunteer forces to see to it that their deeds of valor were properly recorded and the value of their services suitably noted in the official records by legislative and congressional action, and they have now to depend upon the truth of history and in the cold, calm, retrospect of the war as it was, to secure from congress this suitable memorial of the work in the saving of the country which they wrought here.

"All honor to the regular army of the United States. Never in its history has it had a stain upon its escutcheon. With no one to blow its trumpets, with no local feeling or pride to bring forth its merits, quietly and as befits a force organized to maintain civil institutions and subject always to the civil control, it has gone on doing the duty which was its to do, accepting without a murmur the dangers of war, whether upon the trackless stretches of our Western frontier, exposed to arrows and the bullets of the Indians, or in the valleys about Santiago in Cuba, or in the tremendous campaigns of the Civil war itself, and it has never failed to make a record of duty done that should satisfy the most exacting lover of his country.

"It now becomes my pleasant duty to dedicate this monument to the memory of the regular soldiers of the republic who gave up their lives at Gettysburg and who contributed in a large degree to the victory of those three fateful days in the country's history."

DIES OF BROKEN BACK.

John Isaacson Lives Fourteen Days With Fatal Injury.

John Isaacson of Gilbert, Minn., died Sunday afternoon at St. Luke's hospital, after lingering since May 17 with a broken back.

The injury was sustained when he fell from the top of a building, on which he had been working.

Doctors entertained no hope for his recovery, when it was found that his back was broken. His great vitality enabled him to prolong the struggle for life.

He was 46 years old and unmarried.

WILL DINE AT THE SPALDING

Banquet of Real Estate Exchange to be Held Tuesday.

The annual banquet of the Duluth Real Estate exchange will be held Tuesday evening at the Spalding hotel.

The men who deal in Duluth realty will sit down to the banquet table at 6:30, and it is expected that at that time there will be 125 present.

The membership of the Duluth exchange numbers seventy, and there are seventy-five invited guests. Representatives from the exchanges of St. Paul and Minneapolis will be present, as well as those of other cities.

The program of speeches has not as yet been fully arranged. This part of the program will probably consist more or less of little informal talks by members of the local exchange, as well as those from outside.

Luther Mendenhall is president of the Duluth exchange; W. B. Getchel, vice president; Whitney Wall, secretary; and J. L. Cromwell, treasurer.

It was at first planned to hold the annual election at the banquet. This idea has been given up, however, and it will take place at the next regular meeting of the exchange.

Stole Pork Loins.

MEMORIAL DAY.

Once more it becomes the duty of this nation to pause in its busy life to pay its respects to the memory of those who fought that it might live, and whose devoted ranks have been dwindling steadily ever since the war was ended, until now the annual havoc is as great as it was in some of the deadliest periods of conflict. To those that fought and lived, but have since joined their comrades in the eternal bivouac, not less than to those who fought and died, this nation owes the profoundest debt of gratitude, and to set aside one day in the year for the purpose of showing that gratitude is doing little enough.

And when that one day in the year arrives, it is fitting that it should be held sacred, that it should not be marred by unseemly merrymaking, and that in honoring the dead those still living should also be honored. The esteem in which they are held, the reverence which their enfeebled and battle-scarred forms arouse, the honor that is paid those who laid down their regular pursuits and took up the sword nearly half a century ago, deepens with the years. They gave up years out of the springtime of their youth, sacrificed everything and risked life itself, that this nation might pursue its path in peace and plenty and harmony. On the one day in the year set apart to do them honor, honor should indeed be done; no outlay of expense and trouble can make the day too splendid for their deserts.

Thanks to these brave men, today the nation is great and strong and progressive. The abyss of rebellion is closed, the wounds of war are healed in prosperous peace, the bitterness of strife is softened by a new brotherhood, a new national entity which would not have been possible had it not been for the bravery of those whom we honor today. Their years among us are few, their strength is not great. Others are taking up the burdens as they lay them down. It should be the pleasure as well as the duty of the generation that has come up since the last shot was fired to make their last days among us comfortable and full of honors. The spirit of the day could not be better or more fittingly wounded than it is in Governor Johnson's Memorial day proclamation:

> This is not a new bereavement, but one which time, the healer of even the most poignant grief, has softened. These are not new-made graves we garland, for over them all nature has already spread the memorials of her love. They have received the benediction of the sunshine and her tears, and above them her vines and grasses have spread the mantle of immortality. The Civil war ended long ago, and but a remnant of the grand army of veterans remains. Those spared to life's activities are worn by the ravages of ease. Soon will the lone survivor be gathered at the silent portals, and the annual march of the boys in blue become but a memory. Other lips and other hands will perform the service of love and decoration that belongs to the heritage of the soldier. But the army of the soldier dead will be with us as long as patriotism swells the heart; its campfires burn as long as liberty lives. Time enriches their memories, and to the farthest day the heroes who gave their lives for their country will be honored by a grateful posterity.

SOMETHING WORTH INVESTIGATING.

The United States government has begun suit in Montana to recover title to mineral lands claimed to have been improperly included in the land grants given that railroad by the government.

In view of the nasty stories that have been uttered and published about the Northern Pacific's mountain land grants, it is a very good thing that the government is at last going to look into the matter, and its investigations should be thorough. It has been charged that the railroad so worked upon the sympathies of the government agents who surveyed and parceled out the land that it was enabled unlawfully to get the cream of the Montana mineral lands. The way it was done, according to these stories, was this: The railroad's grants were to be of non-mineral lands. In surveying the territory covered by the grants, it was the fashion of the commissioners to designate good mineral lands as non-mineral lands, and assign them to the railroad; while worthless mountain peaks that nobody would care for were designated as mineral lands and left in the public domain. It may be that these charges are untrue; it is to be hoped that they are: but if they are correct, the railroad ought to be forced to turn back all of its illegally acquired gifts.

AN INTERESTING CONTRAST.

The American people are apt to compare their own political institutions with those of Great Britain, for instance, vastly to the disadvantage of the latter. This is a republic, and that is a monarchy. Here the people rule, and there a king rules. Monarchies are obsolete, and popular rule is the thing; hence the United States is more free than Great Britain.

This is a very superficial view, however. It isn't institutions but practices that count. Britain's monarchy is the shadowiest thing imaginable, and in spite of certain time-honored atrocities like the nobility and the exemption of landlords from taxation, the British people are free.

On the other hand, nowadays it looks as though our republic were pretty shadowy, too. Theoretically, the people rule; actually, Aldrich and Cannon rule, and that means that Morgan and Rockefeller and the institutions they stand for rule. There is great need of a tariff system, for instance, that will work for the greatest good to the greatest number; and we can't get anything but a tariff system that works the greatest good to the few and the greatest evil to the many. The difference is that the British government is not conducted for the benefit of its rich people alone, not even for its kingship and its nobility alone: it is conducted pretty much for all the people, though London's tremendous problem of poverty shows that something is very wrong yet. On the other hand, Aldrich and Cannon, mere servants of the people though they may be in theory, are absolute monarchs and tyrants if there ever were such.

Take for instance the income tax, which spreads the burden of public expense so that those who have most pay most, and those that have least pay least. That is a very democratic system of taxation; the fairest to the plain people ever devised. You would expect to find that in the republic, where the people rule, and you would expect to find in the monarchy the system of taxation that exempts the rich and makes the poor pay. No; it is the other way about: Great Britain has the income tax, and the United States has the tariff tax.

The income tax has long been established in England as a standing source of revenue. In the United States it has only been used as a war tax, and was promptly repealed when the war was over. Now parliament is proposing to make heavy increases in the British income tax, and the rich folks of Great Britain will not be able to stop it. In this country a scattered few senators stand for an income tax, but the majority of the senate stands against it, and will beat it.

A FINE MEMORIAL DAY SENTIMENT.

So completely in harmony is it with the spirit of the day that the time will come when the reading of Abraham Lincoln's classic Gettysburg speech will be as indispensable an adjunct of Memorial day as the reading of the Declaration of Independence used to be of the Fourth of July.

That splendid speech is not only a classic of English style but it is a lofty and inspired utterance of American patriotism. Strong in its simplicity, profound in its sincerity, eternal in its voicing of the hopes and aspirations of democracy, it cannot be brought too often to the attention of the American people, and Memorial day is a most fitting occasion for its use. It follows; read and remember it:

> Fourscore and seven years ago our fathers brought forth on this continent a new nation, conceived in liberty and dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal. Now we are engaged in a great civil war, testing whether that nation, or any nation so conceived and so dedicated, can long endure. We are met on a great battlefield of that war. We have come here to dedicate a portion of that field, as a final resting place for those who here gave their lives that that nation might live. It is altogether fitting and proper that we should do this.
> But, in a larger sense, we cannot dedicate—we cannot consecrate—we cannot hallow—this ground. The brave men, living and dead, who struggled here, have consecrated it, far above our poor power to add or detract. The world will little note, nor long remember, what we say here, but it can never forget what they did here.
>
> It is for the living, rather, to be dedicated here to the unfinished work which they who fought here have thus far so nobly advanced. It is rather for us to be here dedicated to the great task remaining before us—that from these honored dead we take increased devotion to that cause for which they gave the last full measure of devotion—that we here highly resolve that these dead shall not have died in vain—that this nation, under God, shall have a new birth of freedom—and that government of the people, by the people, for the people, shall not perish from the earth.

WHAT THE TARIFF TAX MEANS.

If the average American citizen had to go to a custom house and pay in direct taxes to the government what he pays indirectly through the tariff tax, the situation on the tariff throughout the country would be a great deal hotter than it is. But the tariff tax is buried in the prices of the things he buys, and he knows of it only in an abstract, unconvincing way. So there is a great deal more public indifference about the tariff than there ought to be.

But suppose, instead of paying the tariff tax indirectly, it were paid directly. Suppose, for instance, that instead of sugar being 5 cents a pound, in which price there is 3 cents for sugar and 2 cents for a tariff tax less than half of which goes to the government while the rest goes to the sugar trust, the price of sugar was 3 cents a pound, but every time the householder bought a hundred pounds of sugar for $3, he had to pay $2 in taxes. Then the householder would see the point, and the congressional game of rigging the tariff for the benefit of plutocracy wouldn't be so easy or so safe.

The Richmond Times-Dispatch, to emphasize this very point, reports this imaginary dialogue between a customer and a shop keeper about a suit of clothes:

> Shopman—This suit will cost you $15 altogether, sir; $10 for the suit and $5 for the tax.
>
> Taxpayer—Him. That tax strikes me as pretty steep. What does the government do with all this tax money you collect?
>
> Shopman (surprised)—Government! Why, bless you, sir, I don't send this tax money to the government.
>
> Taxpayer—Indeed! Pray, where do you send it, then?
>
> Shopman—Why, I put it in an envelope and mail it to Walter Q. Williams, a manufacturer up in Massachusetts.
>
> Taxpayer (amazed)—The mischief you do! Why in the dickens should I be bled for $5 just so you can send it to Walter Q. Williams?
>
> Shopman—It is the law, sir.
>
> Taxpayer—Who in thunderation made such a fool law?
>
> Shopman—Well, some say that Mr. Williams wrote it with his own hand. But, bless you, sir, you don't want Mr. Williams' labor to have to compete with them cheap heathen Europeans, do you?
>
> Taxpayer—I don't care a continental hillbilly who Mr. Williams' labor has to compete with. But, as a cold matter of fact, shopman, if I make Mr. Williams a present of this $5, will he give it all to his workmen?
>
> Shopman—Well, sir—no, sir, he won't. He'll give 25 cents of it to his workmen and he'll put the rest of it in his pocket.
>
> Taxpayer (in a fury)—Keep the wretched suit and be hanged to you! I'll go without clothes before I'll be robbed this way. And my congressman shall hear of this as quickly as a telegram can reach him.

It is just exactly as this polite shopman deferentially explained it to his irate customer—only if the incident were true the taxpayer's language would probably be unquotable. That is just how the tariff works, and congress today is busily engaged in doing the service of men like Walter Q. Williams by enabling them to levy a tax for private profit upon every buyer of a pair of shoes, every buyer of a suit of clothes, every buyer of a piece of cotton goods, every buyer of any article that is in common use.

Do you want to keep on electing men who give away to Walter Q. Williams and his tribe the right to plunder you for their private profit?

HOTEL GOSSIP.

"What will be the result of the exploration work that is being done at the present time in the range district of the northern part of the state?"

This is the question asked by Horace Hodgson, a mining man of Pittsburg, who was at the Spalding hotel Saturday.

"I have noticed that the pit work of the mining companies has approached well within the city limits of Hibbing. It is the same at Virginia. It is more or less the same at Coleraine. Gradually the exploration work of the mining companies is bringing the open pits of the mines right up to the village streets.

"In my mind it is only a question of time until these towns will be compelled to move some of the stores and houses to make room for the progress of the mines. It is a situation unique in mining. Out West I have seen camps moved because of the advance of the mine work, but I have never in my experience seen large towns like Hibbing and Virginia threatened with being moved from their present sites by the fact that there is mineral in the ground beneath the foundations of the buildings.

"I understand that the property owners have not the right to remain on the land if the mining companies decide to mine the ground. At Coleraine I was informed that the topography of the country in the vicinity of Coleraine and Marble had changed greatly within the past five years. It will be only a question of time, they say at Coleraine, before the whole contour of the country is changed. If that is the case my imagination goes further, and I am of the opinion that it is only a question of time until some of the cities upon the range will be entirely changed.

"This idea struck me the moment I saw the closeness of the approach of the open pit work to the streets of Hibbing. Already homes upon the outskirts of the village have been moved to make way for the progress of the mining industry. With the further development of the mines in the vicinity of Hibbing and Virginia the construction of the town will begin to change. Just at the present time I am of the opinion that the industrial situation, as far as the mining industry is concerned, is changing for the better. A fact I noticed in the news items, and one that I think is significant, is that E. H. Harriman, acting for the Harriman system, has placed a large order for steel cars. This is the largest order that has been placed by the Harriman system since the panic of 1907. Things of that nature show which way the business of the country is going. I have read many of the reports of the Western railroads, and in many instances the conditions for the past six months are much improved over the six months previous. This is encouraging and leads me to the belief that after the retrenchment of almost two years, the railroads will begin to construct and improve, and will add to their rolling stock, in cases where this is necessary.

"If the crop this fall is a good one, I am of the firm opinion that the last vestige of the business depression will disappear."

J. A. Boggs of Fort Dodge, Iowa, who is at the St. Louis, has traveled over seven Western states and territories in his automobile. He adopts this method of selling paints, and accompanied by his wife, each summer covers over 10,000 miles through the states of the West. Mr. Boggs says that the roads between Duluth and St. Paul are among the very worst that he has ever traveled over. He is of the opinion that if a state road was constructed between St. Paul and this city, hundreds of automobiles would make the trip to the Head of the Lakes every week.

Mr. Boggs has traveled from Fort Dodge to Denver, from there to Arizona and the Indian Territory, down through New Mexico, through Wyoming, Kansas, Idaho and Nebraska. At the present time he is upon a trip through Minnesota and Wisconsin. He came up from St. Paul the other day, and will be in this city for three or four days. He intends to break all his former distance records the present summer. Mr. Boggs says that many salesmen of the Western country, where the railroads are not of the best, are covering their territory in automobiles.

Another Castle Crumbles.

Lincoln State Journal: Maj. Seaman returns from Africa to confirm the worst. It is true, then, as lately rumored, that the lion is a skulking coward. "My respect for the lion has disappeared," he says. "The lion never fights except as he is wounded or driven to bay."

That refusal to fight except in self defense justly forfeits respect not everybody will agree. Most of us do not seek a fight, will even sacrifice dignity to peace, yet wish to be respected. Maj. Seamen's views on that score may, however, be passed undebated as natural to one whose business it is to fight. The crushing point to the news is the fact, not our opinion of it. The lion is not what he was cracked up to be.

Well may the standpatter pale at the thought and its consequences. The roaring lion seeking whom he may devour is a whining whelp seeking a hole to crawl into and pull in after him. The king of beasts is the subject of fear. Who is brave as a lion? Bob Acres. Who dares put his head into the lion's mouth? A chicken. How much is the lion's share. What he can beg of the hounds. Lancelot's "Lion in the way" was a shrinking shadow and Lancelot a shrieking bluffer. Samson, if half a man, could have killed his lion with his own jaw bone.

How can we talk, with the lion dellionized? Spelling reform, disfiguring the language, is bad enough, but this disfiguring of the language, is worse it strikes at the fountain of our rhetorical faith. Who can now be sure but the loon is not crazy after all, or the fox sly, or the fish cold, or the serpent wise, or the dove sad, or the rabbit meek. Our philological feet are slipping over the brink. To the rack with Maj. Seaman. Make him recant before the language tumbles about our ears.

A Possibility.

New York Sun: In the Ju Ja country, to which the Contributing Editor is now moving his paraphernalia to continue his studies as a faunal naturalist, it would not be surprising if he stalked and caught a dodo. Surely there is great promise and inspiration in the name of the new hunting ground.

THE WEATHER.

It is not a very fine brand of weather that the weather man handed out for Memorial day, but the showers did not interfere with the parade, although it placed a damper on the program of holiday sports.

A year ago today it was clear and fine.

The sun rose this morning at 4:17 and will set this afternoon at 7:54, making fifteen hours and thirty-seven minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"A disturbance of moderate intensity has been stationary over South Dakota and Nebraska since Saturday morning. During the past twenty-four to forty-eight hours light to copious rains have fallen throughout the Northwest as a result of the storm. Temperatures have been moderate generally, although rather high in the central valley states. Clear weather attends rising pressures in Western Canada and Montana, but conditions are likely to remain unsettled at the Head of the Lakes today, tonight and probably Tuesday."

Following were last night's lowest temperatures:

Battleford	48	Marquette	48
Bismarck	56	Missoula	52
Calgary	48	Madison	60
Chicago	64	Medicine Hat	54
Devils Lake	56	Miles City	52
Duluth	42	Milwaukee	52
Edmonton	48	Minnedosa	58
Escanaba	56	Moorehead	58
Green Bay	56	Pierre	56
Havre	48	Port Arthur	50
Helena	54	Prince Albert	46
Houghton	52	Qu'Appelle	60
Huron	52	St. Paul	60
Kamloops	54	Williston	36
La Crosse	60	Yellowstone	44

Department of Agriculture, Weather Bureau, Duluth, May 31.—Forecast for twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m. Tuesday: Duluth and vicinity, including the Mesaba and Vermilion ranges—Local showers this afternoon, tonight and possibly Tuesday; not much change in temperature; moderate easterly winds.

H. W. RICHARDSON,
Local Forecaster.

Chicago, May 31.—Forecast for twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m. Tuesday:

Upper Michigan—Showers tonight and Tuesday.

Wisconsin—Showers and thunderstorms tonight and Tuesday; warmer in southeast portion tonight.

Minnesota—Showers tonight and probably Tuesday; colder in west and south portions tonight.

"THE OLD FOOLS."

Inauguration day of 1909 will long be remembered in the city of Washington as a day of blizzard conditions—raging winds, snowdrifts, slush and mud. Amidst it all the comrades of the G. A. R. proudly marched as an escort of President Taft to the capitol. One of that fading column felt deeply hurt by a remark overheard from a group of young men on the sidewalk, "Look at those old fools," hence these lines.

"The old fools," glib and lightly said,
These cruel words by thoughtless youth
Of those whose life blood freely shed,
Proved loyal faith to God and truth.

Oh, foolish boy, so swift to chide
The while yet we linger round your way,
We men who in our patriot pride
So gladly marched in life's young day.

These strenuous fools, dear youthful friend,
Once helped to make our nation great.
But now their footsteps slowly trend
With feeble move to sunset gate.

In halls of state, or simpler life,
By glowing forge, in marts of trade,
In every field of civic life,
These fools a blazing trail have made.

These fools! They stretched the battle line,
They breathed the cannons' deadly breath,
Drank to the full the battle wine,
And more than once shook hands with death.

On Marye's fire swept gory height;
On Antietam's blood red stream;
And Gettysburg—fierce battle's light
Flashed round these fools with lurid gleam.

The Wilderness its gruesome shade
Spread o'er them, like a funeral pall,
Beneath, for days dread battle raged,
While crackling flames enveloped all.

Back numbers! Yes, not once were we,
When echoing plaudits shook the skies
With loud acclaim of nation free,
And glist'ning tears from beauty's eyes.

But now our fading vision falls,
On brighter skies beyond the shore,
For us beyond the bugle calls,
These fools, dear boy, return no more.

—WILLIAM EDGAR ROGERS.

Government by Party.

New York Post: We have already reached the period of tariff recrimination. The two political parties are charging each other with the responsibility for making the Aldrich bill so bad. "You are not keeping your pledges," assert the Democrats, "to make an honest revision of the tariff downward." "But you were pledged to that more stiffly than we were," retort the Republicans, "yet here you are voting for a duty on iron ore, and for every other tariff tax that you are interested in locally."

The trouble goes deep. It is not a mere question of a particular issue, like the tariff, or any given election, but of the whole theory and operation of government by party. We have always been taught, and the whole experiment goes upon this basis, that when one party in office becomes unresponsive to the popular will, or visibly corrupt, the thing to do is to turn it out and put in the other. That was the normal process, as President Taft himself has described it, when the Democrats under Cleveland ousted the Republicans in 1884. The latter had been too long and too unchecked in power, and the country turned from their inefficiencies and vices to the opposition party. But that remedy for political ills, that weapon in the hands of the people, we seem to have been losing in recent years. It is not only that the Democratic party has been in the hands of a leader with an unequaled capacity for repelling support, and a perfect genius for disaster. That might in time be outlived; but when we see the practice of the two parties, no matter what their professions, very much alike, and are deprived of the power to get done by one what the other refuses to do, we cannot help feeling that both the present fact, and the future outlook are disquieting. Government by party, we suddenly seem to be finding a broken reed.

Spring Fever Patient's Prayer.

Ship me somewhere west of Ennui,
Yother side of Have-to-Work;
Pin a blooming tag upon me, bill me to the town of Shirk;
Purge my sordid recollection of the jester's bells and cap;
Find me some Utopian section where there's no one does a tap!

Get me bait and then, doggone y', go away and let me be!
Never mind about provisions from a grocer's musty shelf—
Deviled crabs and like divisions!—let me forage for myself!

Let me stay there, west of Ennui, 'way beyond the toiling zone—
I am selfish but, doggone me, I prefer to be alone!
Ho! my bones are fairly achin' for a camp along a crick,

TWENTY YEARS AGO

Taken From the Columns of The Herald of This Date, 1889.

Fred Sagemiller has arrived from Bessemer, Mich., to take charge of the brick and stone work of the Iron Bay company's buildings at West Duluth.

The contract for the construction of the Hammond avenue bridge across the Nemadji at West Superior has been let to August Zachan. The bridge will be 1,600 feet long 16 feet wide, and will cost about $6,000.

The Fontanel block at the corner of Eighth avenue west and Michigan street is nearly completed.

Memorial day was fittingly observed in Duluth. The parade in the afternoon included four divisions, headed by Chief of Police Doran and a platoon of police. Judge I. E. West was chief marshal and Asa Dalley, A. S. Morgan, Frank I. Tedford and Harry Armstrong were special aides. The assistant marshals were George N. Lavaque, Lieut. Col. J. K. Shaw, Walter Van Brunt and L. L. McDonald. The Grand Army post, Company K of the National Guard, all the secret societies and the labor unions were represented in the parade. At Forest Hill cemetery the program included music by Walker's and the French bands, singing by the glee club, composed of Messrs. Johnson, Hodge, Buneman and Moody, reading of orders by Adjt. N. A. Gearhart, ritual service of the G. A. R. led by Commander S. R. Norris, singing by the public school children under the direction of Prof. Denfeld, decoration of the graves, firing of a salute to the dead by Company K and an oration by Attorney General Moses E. Clapp.

Fully fifty sportsmen went to Spirit Lake yesterday to try their luck among the bass and pickerel.

Neil McLachlan has gone to Mount Clemens, Mich., and will return with his wife and family.

Capt. McLaughlin hoisted a magnificent flag on the city hall yesterday—the first flag in Duluth containing forty-two stars.

At the semi-annual election of Gate City lodge, Knights of Pythias, the following were elected: Chancellor commander, J. L. Cromwell; vice commander, J. E. Davies; prelate, A. G. Brown; master-at-arms, J. E. Capron; trustee, S. M. Lester.

David Cook was shot dead at Tower yesterday afternoon by John Simmons, who was arrested by Deputy Sheriff Loraine at a dance at Vermilion Lake. The trouble arose over Mrs. Mike Simmons, a sister-in-law of John Simmons. The latter claims Cook spoke disrespectfully of her, and they got into a scuffle, when Cook drew a knife and Simmons shot him. Another story is that the two were seated on a bench behind the First National bank talking together. Both got up and some words passed, when Simmons drew a revolver and shot Cook.

MINNESOTA OPINIONS.

A. M. Greeley in Big Falls Compass: Only the fool thinks money is a substitute for manhood.

This is a very wrong world to one who has no charity of the soul.

Even a man finds it difficult to keep a secret when he has done a good deed.

If he could realize how people delight in dealing with honest men, the crooked man would try harder to be straight.

Albert Lea Standard: Answer frankly the children's questions—tell them. More young men and women go wrong through the fault of their parents in not explaining to them that we know of or would care to confess.

North Branch Review: The Aldrich clique in the senate claim that the tariff must be revised upward in order to produce sufficient revenue. Reduce the tariff and pass the income tax and there will still be revenue enough, and the best part of it is, the money will come from the people who are able to pay it.

New Ulm Review: The tariff may not be a local issue, but there are certain congressmen who will think so by the time the next election is over.

Austin Transcript: It is reported that Senator Aldrich is contemplating a tour of this country. He may rest assured that the Northwest will give him a hot reception.

Anoka Herald: The scramble of congressional honors is already on again in this district. It is claimed by some that J. Adam Bede will again be a candidate against his successful rival, C. B. Miller. Meanwhile the peewee chirp of the Democrats in the district may be heard claiming that they have found a Moses.

Walker Pilot: One of the arduous duties of the country editor these days, is to be obliged to work with one foot jammed down in the waste basket to keep the over supply of spring poems from getting out into the news columns.

Aitkin Age: T. B. Walker now rushes into print to let us know that there is no lumber trust. Bless you, T. B., Mr. Weyerhaeuser told us that several months ago. Certainly there is no lumber trust—that is, not for publication.

Bemidji Pioneer: When a man in search of a home or business location goes to a town and finds everybody full of hope and enthusiasm over the prospects of the place, he, too, soon becomes imbued with the same spirit, drives down his stakes and goes to work with equal interest. That's the kind of people we have in Bemidji.

Stillwater Gazette: Probably the northern part of Minnesota has been getting the short end of the deal, but it hardly appears necessary for a special session of the legislature to be called in order to reapportion the state. There is no telling what might happen if the boys assembled in St. Paul another time this year. Let us play safe and not do anything rash or reckless.

Pointed Paragraphs.

Chicago News: Only a fool attempts to make headway by butting in.

Never judge a man's line of thought by the talk he lets out.

As a rule a smart baby soon outgrows its alleged smartness.

"Thank you" is more appreciated when accompanied by a $5 bill.

Too many virtues in a man are apt to make his friends long for a few vices.

It is difficult to convince the officeholder that one bad term doesn't deserve another.

For more than a week after marriage a man will eat things he doesn't like just because wife cooked them.

It's hard for any man to keep in the straight and narrow path unless he has a good woman to guide his footsteps.

Many a city man boasts of his boyhood on the farm—but he doesn't make a strenuous effort to get back to it.

The average girl may not be a success as a stone tosser, but when it comes to throwing a hint she is Susie-on-the-Spot every time.

Reflections of a Bachelor.

New York Press: A woman can forgive her husband for anything if nobody else will.

An impossible thing for any man to do is to tell the truth about how many cigars he smokes a day.

Generally a man can support his family fairly well if there is nobody who will support him.

The only time a woman doesn't fret over the gas bills is when they're because her daughter is engaged.

The thing that fascinates a man about a girl is the way she pretends to be afraid he might kiss her, so as to remind him.

The Man Who Sulks.

The world has little pity and few favors to be spent
For the man who is disgruntled and sits sulking in his tent;
If your ventures have not prospered do not idly curse your luck,
But get out and make the people wonder at your manly pluck.

Men will never come to coax you, if you hang back in despair,
To have courage and keep trying to put off the frown you wear;
They will not arrange new chances to replace the ones you lose
While you haunt a gloomy corner clinging to a case of blues.

They are foolishly self-chested who keep harping on their woes
After they have been defeated, thinking all men are their foes,
And the praise the world is willing to bestow is never meant

—S. E. KISER in Chicago Record-Herald.

MEANT TO BE FUNNY.

Louisville Courier-Journal: "How did you happen to become a lightning change artist?"

New York Sun: Knicker—Why did you ride with such a reckless chauffeur?

Bocker—To keep from being run over.

Washington Herald: "I hope you never nag your husband."

"Only when he's beating the rugs. When thoroughly irritated he makes a much better job."

Washington Herald: "You were held up, weren't you?"

"I was."

"Tell me, how did you feel?"

"I felt relieved."

Cleveland Leader: "Every man in this enlightened land has a voice in the government."

"Yes, I've noticed it. But what we really need is less voice and more brains."

Lippincott's: Checkers—Years ago I had money to burn and I burned it!

Neckers—How?

Checkers—On an old flame of mine!

Puck: "One-half of the world does not know how the other half lives."

"Well, it is gratifying to think that one-half of the world attends to its own business.

Cleveland Leader: The Employer—Young man, I don't see how with your salary you can afford to smoke such expensive cigars.

Atlanta Constitution: As they passed a fruit stand Brother Dickey said: "Apples wuz de cause er de fall er Adam."

"Yes," replied Brother Williams, "but, praise God, dey tastes mighty good!"

Catholic Standard: "Is it really true," asked Miss Chellus, "that you're engaged to Mr. Ridley?"

"It is," calmly replied Miss Bute.

"My!" exclaimed Miss Chellus: "he was a grand catch."

"I beg your pardon," retorted the other haughtily, "catcher."

Chicago Record-Herald: "So you have broken your engagement to Charley Nippersons?"

"Yes. I simply could not stand for his slang. Why, the line of junk that he handed out was so fuzzy that he had me going half the time. I couldn't get to help him at all."

Washington Star: "Do you know how to use a chafing dish?"

"Yes," answered Miss Barker. "I have some novel ideas on the subject."

"What are they?"

"The best way I know of to use a chafing dish is to punch a hole in the bottom of it, paint it green and plant flowers in it."

Modern Society: Helen—Why, he yawned three times while I was talking to him!

Myrtle—Perhaps he wasn't yawning. He may have been trying to say something!

The Telephone Girl.

Vernon, Tex., Call: The telephone girl sits still in her chair and listens to voices from everywhere. She hears all the gossip, she learns all the news, she knows who is happy and who has the blues; she knows all our sorrows, she knows all our joys, she knows every girl who is chasing the boys; she knows of our troubles, she knows of our strife, she knows every man who talks mean to his wife; she knows every time we are out with "the boys," she hears the excuses each fellow employs; she knows every woman who has a dark past, she knows every man who is inclined to be "fast"; in fact, there's a secret beneath each saucy curl of that quiet, demure looking telephone girl. If the telephone girl told us all that she knows it would turn half our friends into bitterest foes; she could sow a small wind that would soon be a gale, engulf us in trouble and land us in jail; she could let go a story which, gaining in force, would cause half our wives to sue for divorce; she could get all our churches mixed up in a fight and turn all our days into sorrowing night; in fact, she could keep the whole town in a stew if she'll tell a tenth part of the things that she knew. Oh, brother, now doesn't it make your head whirl when you think what you owe to the telephone girl?

Initiating a New Goat.

Birmingham News: One of the nerviest and most absurd things which has yet been reported in the senate is the effort by several senators to shift the blame for the high prices of commodities in constant use upon the retailer. This is a desperate attempt to find a goat, and gives some idea of what a close corner the friends and allies of the trusts in the senate have gotten themselves into. Their logic would do justice to the most visionary rainbow chaser.

Monstrous Ingratitude.

Pittsburg Dispatch: Corporations, as well as republics, seem to be ungrateful. Here are some of the express company people trying to turn Thomas C. Platt out of his job, after his faithful service to the express business in the United States senate for many years.

For the JUNE BRIDE

BEST WISHES
and a Pleasant Journey!

Of course, you're going housekeeping as soon as you return.

This starting married life an boarding house is all wrong. When you're married you want a home of your own.

Isn't it much better to have a few cozy little rooms furnished to suit YOUR individual taste, where you can come and go when you please? Isn't this better than being cooped up in a boarding house, where there is no privacy except in your own room?

You can't afford it? Sure you can. Think of how much you would have to pay out for room and board each month, and when you're through, there's nothing to show for it.

Come in and let us show you a snug little outfit for YOUR HOME. The low prices will surprise you. You can pay a small amount down (about one month's boarding), and we'll deliver the outfit at once. The balance can be paid in amounts to suit YOU. Isn't that fair? It's the Kelly way.

Dining Tables

Arts and Crafts Furniture.

Limbert's Arts and Crafts can only be had at this store. We are their sole representatives for Duluth —You'll find a complete assortment of this famous line on our floors, ready for your inspection. The rich fumed oak, covered with genuine goat skin, in various shades—will harmonize with almost any surroundings. The low prices on this line will appeal to you.

Steel Range, has 16-inch oven, large fire box, duplex grates for wood or coal; high warming closet; full nickel trimmings; other stores would charge $28.00 for one like it. Kelly's price, only $18.50

Monarch MALLEABLE
The "Stay Satisfactory" Range

The MONARCH Range is especially designed to do the same work as an ordinary range with one-half to one-third less fuel.

To obtain this result, range construction was REVOLUTIONIZED.

With this tough unbreakable material a new construction became possible. Seams and joints were RIVETED permanently "air-tight" instead of being bolted and puttied to APPEAR tight, while the range was being sold.

A range built in this manner don't ever wear out. After many years of use it will do its work just as economically—just as quickly—just as well as when new.

We Take Your Old Stove.

We'll take your old heater, range or cookstove, and allow you all it is worth as part payment on a Monarch. The balance we can arrange on Easy Payments as low as One Dollar a Week.

LION HUNTER WAS A CONVICT

Paris, May 31.—Fresh from the Fatherland, but bronzed and looking as if he had just come from the African deserts, and with a name that recalled the Crusaders, Godfrey has come to Paris, with the intention of selling lion skins, the prizes, he alleged, of his own intrepid hunting. Whenever he found a possible customer he gave glowing details of his life in the desert, his hairbreadth escapes and other incidents, which formed the usual jet of a trapper and hunter of wild beasts. He thus obtained very high prices for his skins, the stock of which seemed to be inexhaustible.

Some detectives, who had from the first watched him with interest, soon suspected him, and on the pretext of seeing his papers, they invited him to the prefecture of police. Investigation proved that the self-styled lion hunter had obtained his bronze complexion to a great extent while breaking stones as a convict. He had never been so far as Africa, and had never had an opportunity of levelling a rifle at a live lion in the wilderness. His means of obtaining the skins were much more expeditious. He visited the depots at various seaports and simply made a specialty of stealing the skins of lions kept in warehouses and he succeeded in appropriating such a large number that he had to charter a small sailing vessel, on which he brought his booty to Calais.

The merchandise which he had thus secured amounted in value to more than $26,000 and at the hotel where he was stopping he had a large collection of magnificent lions' skins stored away. Many of these skins, it is believed, were stolen from merchants at Odessa.

MAY EMPLOY DOG CATCHER

"Taft" Is Becoming Very Popular Name for Duluth Puppies.

There are still over 1,600 unlicensed dogs in the city, according to the calculations of the force in the city clerk's office.

It is estimated that there are about 2,200 dogs in the city of Duluth, and up to Saturday afternoon only 986 of these had license tags. Thirty-four of these were females, and the remainder males.

While there is such a very large number of unlicensed canines, the poundmasters report that very few unlicensed animals are to be seen on the streets, indicating that the owners have some respect for the law requiring a license fee. Evidently they are keeping their dogs home, for fear they will be taken by the poundmaster.

The city is still laboring along under an inadequate ordinance governing dogs. Even when an unlicensed canine is encountered, there is so much red tape attendant upon getting the owner into court that it is discouraging to the dog catchers.

Municipal authorities are still talking of employing a regular dog catcher, provided the money for the purpose can be raised, and the probabilities are that, with the beginning of hot weather, such a man will be hired. It will be his duty to drive about the city with a team and wagon, and to catch all dogs not wearing tags. If the owners do not show up and pay the license fee, together with a penalty for their delay, the animals will be shot, or otherwise disposed of. This system is employed in many large cities of the country, and it has been found to work out very successfully.

As is usual at this season of the year, the employes of the city clerk's office are afforded much amusement over the names of the dogs placed on the books. It is a noticeable fact that with every new president, dogs of the younger generation are named after the latest chief executive of the nation. At the present time, for example, there are seventeen dogs by the name of Taft down on the license books. The popularity of Teddy Roosevelt is still given proof in Duluth, for there are no less than forty-seven "Teddies" wearing tags, and the god of dogs alone knows how many there are of this name which are not thus adorned.

A few Bryans dot the list, and one black, handsome bird dog goes by the name of Democrat. Whether this is because his tendencies are so Democratic that he points robins, woodpeckers and all other classes of birds, instead of chickens alone, the owner did not state.

CONFERENCE OF BRITISH PRESS

London, May 31.—The imperial press conference opens next Saturday with a ceremony which promises to be worthy of the occasion. The banquet of welcome by the press of Great Britain will be held in the finest hall of the White City. Lord Burnham will preside and Lord Rosebery is to make the speech of the evening. Practically all the leading newspaper men of the United Kingdom will be present. The dinner is open to any one connected with the press, and the attendance promises to be very large.

Royalty, the government, parliament, the leaders of both political parties, the heads of our great houses, the war office, admiralty, lord mayor and the county council will unite in tendering hospitality to the visitors. On Monday, June 7, as well as a reception at the house of commons and a garden party at Marlborough house, the visitors will be entertained to tea by the Labor party. On Saturday, June 12, while the men visit the fleet, the ladies will go to the opera.

The military review provided for the delegates will consist of a great sham fight, in which 70,000 troops are to take part. The visitors will arrive on the scene in motor cars when the fighting has developed, and will be taken from point to point in the cars. The naval program includes, among other things, a submarine attack on Whale Island. The plans for the tour in the provinces embrace all varieties of British life. On Monday, June 14, the party will visit Coventry, Stratford-on-Avon, and Warwick, lunching at Leamington and arriving at Oxford in the evening. At Oxford they will be entertained on Tuesday by Lord Curzon as chancellor of the university, and then proceed to Sheffield. Here a very full Wednesday has been arranged. In the morning the delegates are to go over Vickers, Sons & Maxim's great works and be entertained at lunch there. On Thursday the party will arrive at Manchester. The ship canal will be first visited, the lord mayor tendering hospitality, and the guests will not leave until Friday evening, when they return to London. On Saturday they go to Windsor, where they will attend the presentation of colors by the king to the territorials. On Sunday, June 20, they start out again, this time to Scotland. There are sixteen delegates from Canada, eight from India, fifteen from Australia, six from New Zealand, ten from South Africa and one from the West Indies.

PRICES RECEDED FROM HIGH LEVEL

Labor Bureau's Report on Wholesale Prices for Last Year.

Washington, May 31.—The annual report on wholesale prices, just published by the bureau of labor, department of commerce and labor, in Bulletin No. 81, shows that wholesale prices in 1908 receded as a whole from the high level of 1907 and were only slightly in excess of the prices for 1906. The report gives wholesale prices for 258 representative staple articles for 1908 and completes a series of prices for the nineteen years, 1890 to 1908.

The average price for 1908 was 5.2 per cent below that for 1907—the year of highest prices during the nineteen-year period. It exceeded the average for every other year of the period, but was only 0.2 per cent higher than the average for 1906. As compared with 1897, the year of lowest prices during the period, the advance in 1908 was 36.9 per cent, and as compared with the average for the ten years, 1890 to 1899, the advance was 22.5 per cent.

The decline from the prices shown by the October, 1907, data continued without interruption until August, 1908, with the exception of a slight advance in July. Prices were at their lowest point of the year 1908 during the month of August, when they were 1.1 per cent below the average for that year and 7.3 per cent below the average for October, 1907, the highest point in the nineteen years covered. The prices in December, 1908, show an advance of 1.8 per cent over the prices in August.

Of the 258 articles for which wholesale prices were obtained, 162 showed a decrease in the average price for 1908 as compared with 1907, 33 showed no change, and 63 showed an increase.

Of the nine groups under which the commodities are classified, seven showed a decrease in price in 1908 as compared with 1907. In farm products, taken as a whole, there was a decrease in price of 2.9 per cent in 1908 below the average for 1907, this decrease being the least of any of the seven groups showing a decrease; food increased 2.4 per cent in price; cloths and clothing decreased 7.7 per cent; fuel and lighting decreased 3.1 per cent—which was the heaviest decline of any of the groups; lumber and building materials decreased 9.4 per cent; drugs and chemicals increased 0.7 per cent; house furnishing goods decreased 3.8 per cent, and the miscellaneous group decreased 5.7 per cent.

The average wholesale price of raw commodities for 1908 was 5.9 per cent below that for 1907, and the average wholesale price of manufactured commodities for 1908 was 5 per cent below that for 1907.

WILL MEET IN SPOKANE AUG. 9

Spokane, Wash., May 31.—Regarding the importance of the work of the National Irrigation congress, which will have its seventeenth session in Spokane, Aug. 9 to 14, R. Insinger, chairman of the board of control, says:

"The national reclamation act was passed in 1902. At that time there were in the government's name, in the sixteen states affected, 600,000,000 acres of arid land, of which it was estimated possible to reclaim sufficient to support 50,000,000 people. By 1911 the reclamation service will have reclaimed nearly 2,000,000 acres, at an estimated cost of $70,000,000. There are 40,000,000 acres of arid lands susceptible to reclamation by irrigation. The construction cost of the reclamation works is returned to the government from the sale of land, the proceeds to be again used in furthering irrigation development. Irrigation is making a garden spot and an empire of the 'great American desert,' and the work of the irrigation congress is yet in its infancy."

George E. Barstow of Texas is president of the congress; B. A. Fowler of Phoenix, Ariz., secretary; R. Insinger of Spokane, chairman of the board of control, and Arthur Hooker of Spokane, secretary of the board of control.

MEMORIAL DAY AMUSEMENTS

LYCEUM—Lillian Russell, in "Wildfire."
BIJOU—New vaudeville bill.

Lillian Russell.

The Seattle Times of Sunday, May 2, commenting on Lillian Russell's successful engagement at the Moore theater supplemented its original hearty indorsement of "Wildfire" in a lengthy and carefully written review, of which the following is an extract:

"The fair Lillian Russell has gone away from Seattle, and she has carried with her the freely bestowed favor that the theater-goers of this city lavished upon her delightful self and her eminently pleasing comedy 'Wildfire.' It seems superfluous to remark that Miss Russell is certain to receive the same enthusiastic welcome wherever she may care to lead her present production.

"It is seldom that Seattle folk are given the opportunity to see such a thoroughly delightful and natural comedy as 'Wildfire' and perhaps this is a reasonable explanation of the ovation this city laid at her feet during her engagement at the Moore this last week.

"It would seem that Messrs. Broadhurst and Hobart in writing this were entirely conversant with the sort of comedy this famous stage beauty might be seen in to best advantage, in relation both as to a display of her charm and personality, which have been on the tongue of the patron of the theater for many years, and to fit her with a production that gives her such an excellent foundation for a realization of success such as she has attained.

"Much would be taken away from the pleasing effect of Miss Russell's vehicle, were it not filled with parts that are not only delightful, but which are most essential to the effect given.

"While at the proper moment Miss Russell dominates the action of the comedy, as is most natural of a play in which a star of her magnitude is featured, it is a fact that the role of 'Bud,' the stable boy, and that of Matt Donovan, the trainer of the racing stable, are so prominently fixed that at times they may be said to overlap the leading role.

"The plot of 'Wildfire' is quite apparent from the second act until the final curtain. This is perhaps as it should be, for it is not an easy matter to sidestep this in a comedy so full of perfectly natural sequences as is this attraction."

Seat Sale Opens.

There has been a steady purchase of seats for "When Knighthood Was in Flower" since the sale opened at 10 o'clock this morning and it is confidently expected that the house will be sold solidly in advance of the performance, which the Jay Quigley players give for the week of June 7.

CORPORATION PAYS ITS TAXES

Oliver Mining Company Turns Over Nearly a Million to County.

The county's largest taxpayer, the United States Steel corporation, Saturday afternoon paid to the county treasurer $941,522.16, this being their first installment of the spring taxes.

This amount was paid in five checks. The largest of these checks was $544,491 and the smallest $194.62. The checks were sent in by the Oliver Iron Mining company, with offices in the Wolvin building.

The total of the taxes to be collected this year by the county amounts to $4,078,655.88, showing the large proportion of the taxes that is paid by the mining company.

The Mahoning Iron & Steel company paid $88,618.44; the New York Steel company, $6,585.13; Republican Iron & Steel company, $6,381.59; Pickands, Mather & Co., $86,739.14.

Because the last day of the month comes on a legal holiday, County Treasurer W. A. Holgate will keep the office open Tuesday so that the tardy ones may come in.

BUILDING AT WARROAD.

Several Structures Going Up in Northern Minnesota Town.

Warroad, Minn., May 31.—(Special to The Herald.)—Building operations here promise some activity the present season. The following is a summary of the building actually in progress at the present time: In Jones & Lawson's addition, F. H. Fljozdal, nine-room residence; Sidney Helliwell, six-room dwelling; Moody's addition, Roy Fox, nine-room residence; A. B. Larson, four-room dwelling; Hyland Park, Frank Brown, five-room dwelling; Hallberg's addition, William Munro, eight-room residence; Fairview addition, J. Payne, two seven-room dwellings; J. H. Sawyer, nine-room residence. The estimated cost of the eleven dwellings mentioned is $16,000. Other dwelling houses are to be erected during the summer, quite a number of residence lots having been purchased by parties who intend to build in the immediate future.

People Will Talk You Know

And that's the reason why Dr. Pierce's Family Medicines are advertised so little now-a-days. They have made hundreds of thousands of cures in the past 40 years, and some of the grateful people whom they have restored to health are to be found almost everwhere. There's scarcely a hamlet that don't contain some. Look them up. Interview them. They are living, walking, active advertisements

For Dr. Pierce's Family Medicines.

You can believe your neighbors. Therefore ask them. What cured them will very likely cure you, if similarly afflicted—only give them a good, fair trial.

It's a good, sound, common sense policy to use medicines only of KNOWN COMPOSITION, and which contain neither alcohol nor habit-forming drugs. The most intelligent people, and many of the most successful, conscientious physicians, follow this judicious course of action. The leading medical authorities, of all schools of medicine, endorse the ingredients composing Dr. Pierce's medicines. These are plainly printed on wrappers and attested under oath. There's no secrecy; an open publicity, square-deal policy is followed by the makers.

We have a profound desire to avoid all offense to the most delicate sensitiveness of modest women, for whom we entertain the most sincere respect and admiration. We shall not, therefore, particularize here concerning the symptoms and peculiar ailments incident to the sex for which Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has for more than 40 years proven such a boon. We cannot, however, do a better service to the afflicted of the gentler sex than to refer them to Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, a great family doctor book of 1000 pages, bound in cloth and given away gratis, or sent, post-paid, on receipt of 31 one-cent stamps—to cover cost of mailing only, or 21 cents for paper covered book. All the delicate ailments and matters about which every woman, whether young or old, single or married, should know, but which their sense of delicacy makes them hesitate to ask even the family physician about, are made plain in this great book. Write for it. Address: WORLD'S DISPENSARY MEDICAL ASSOCIATION, R. V. Pierce, M. D., Pres., 663 Main Street, Buffalo, N. Y.

GRADUATION WEEK IS ON

"The Last Week of School" is Now Under Way.

Largest Class in History Will Graduate at Central School.

That oft-spoken of period, the last week of school has started and before the end of the week, the largest class in the history of Central high school will have been graduated and a large number of grammar students will have received the sheepskins which will entitle them to entrance to the high school in the fall.

The first commencement week function will take place at the Central high school tomorrow night, when the seniors will have their class exercises. "All Tangled Up" is the name of a farce which the members of the class will present. They have been rehearsing faithfully and promise to give a good performance.

Robert Ely, president of the class, will deliver an address, and Harlow Watkins will give the class oration. Erling Mostue, assisted by the rest of the class, will sing "1909." The juniors will join the seniors in an interclass song.

Wednesday afternoon the West end eighth grade students will receive their diplomas at Central high school, and Thursday afternoon the eighth grade students of the Central and East end schools will receive their diplomas.

What is perhaps the most important social function of the year at Central high school will be held Thursday evening at the new Masonic temple. The occasion will be the junior-senior reception and every student fortunate enough to have received an invitation, will be on hand. The use of the new temple was tendered the students for favors done the Masons during the past winter.

Thursday evening at West Duluth, the first graduating class from the Duluth Industrial high school will receive diplomas. This is the first year the West Duluth institution has been a full-fledged high school.

Friday evening, the commencement exercises of the Central high school will be held in the auditorium of the school. Then the members of the recent graduating class will receive their sheepskins from the hands of Supt. Denfeld.

Examination exercises are to be held all the week at Central school beginning at 9 o'clock. In view of this, chapel exercises will be waived and none will be held until Friday. The last chapel exercises of the school year will be held at noon Friday.

Commencement week at the state normal will begin next Sunday, when Rev. J. S. Kirtley will deliver the baccalaureate sermon. The seniors will give their class play, "Princess Kiko," Monday and Tuesday. The commencement exercises proper will be held Thursday morning, when the principal address will be given by Prof. David Starr Jordan, president of Leland Stanford university, Palo Alto, Cal. Graduation exercises in other educational institutions in the city will be held the second week in June.

DO HONOR TO JOHNSON

Mr. Littleton is a native of East Tennessee, and he expressed high appreciation of the honor conferred upon him in asking him the orator of the occasion. He reviewed at great length the life of the distinguished man in whose honor the people had assembled, and predicted that the day would come when the entire country would be pleased to do homage to the memory of Andrew Johnson.

The place at which the celebration was held was on the edge of the city burial place, which, a year or two ago, was purchased by the government and has since been made into a national cemetery. It is a beautiful spot just outside of the town in which, for several years in his early life, Mr. Johnson worked as a tailor. It is splendidly wooded and commands a fine view of the mountain range which separates Mr. Johnson's adopted state from North Carolina, the state in which he was born. Many visitors came from the outside and the residents found especial pleasure in relating out the still preserved sign of "Andrew Johnson, Tailor," which continues to decorate one of the smallest buildings here. The people also manifested much pride in the fact that notwithstanding the almost successful effort to forcibly eject Mr. Johnson from the White House, the private cemetery in which he is buried is the first of such cemeteries to be given a national character by congress.

Among those present and participating in the proceedings was Walter P. Brownlow, member of congress from this district and a relative of the late Parson Brownlow, Mr. Johnson's most distinguished compeer. Mr. Brownlow was largely responsible for the creation of the national cemetery.

In addition to Littleton's speech, the program consisted of the singing of "America" and the "Star Spangled Banner" by 200 voices; an invocation by Rev. John S. Eakin, and the introduction of Littleton by James C. Park, closing with the organization of the Memorial association. There was an orchestra in attendance several members of which were old-time fiddlers, who furnished music at the political gatherings during the notable Johnson-Gregory campaign for governor before the civil war.

HONOR COL. COLVILL.

Replica of State House Statue Unveiled at Cannon Falls.

Cannon Falls, Minn., May 31.—In the presence of about sixty survivors of the famous First Minnesota brigade, some of whom participated in the same charge at Gettysburg, and a distinguished gathering, including Governor John A. Johnson the statue of Col. William Colvill was unveiled in the cemetery here Saturday afternoon.

The exercises opened with a prayer by Rev. I. A. Edland, pastor of the Swedish Lutheran church. The statue, which is a replica of the one placed in the Valhalla of the state capitol last winter, was presented to the state by Capt. J. N. Searles in behalf of the Colvill commission, consisting of Maj. H. H. Heffelfinger, Capt. R. L. Gorman, H. H. Revere, J. N. Searles and M. F. Taylor, all members of the First Minnesota. Governor Johnson made the address of acceptance.

An address prepared by Maj. Martin Maginnis of Helena, Mont., was read by Maj. W. D. Hale. Frank M. Wilson of Red Wing was the orator of the day.

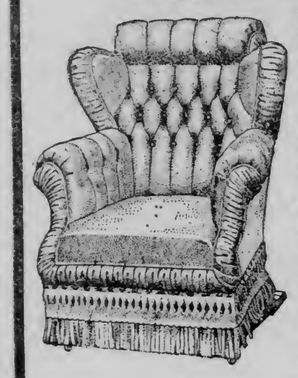
Turkish Rockers
Genuine Leather

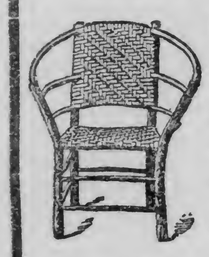


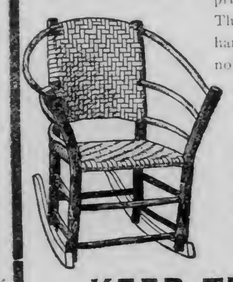
We are offering some exceptional values in genuine leather rockers this week. As an example of the saving offered in this line, we quote the following. A large size, comfortable rocker, same style as shown here, but plain seat and back instead of tufted. Best steel springs are used in its construction and the covering is of genuine leather. This rocker is mounted on Harrington spring base, which makes it a more comfortable rocker than the old style platform base. Come in and see it. We offer the regular $41.50 rocker at $27.75.

The Ideal Gas Range

An ideal stove for people who consider economy. That's the main point for you to consider in the selection of a gas range. You'll have to pay for every cubic foot of gas that goes through your meter whether you get the full benefit of it or not, so consider carefully the stove you buy. We suggest The Ideal Gas Range for high-grade construction and economy in the use of fuel. By actual tests and years of satisfying service it has proven itself to be the most economical stove in the market. We'll guarantee it to give perfect satisfaction and refer you to the many satisfied users of this stove in Duluth.

Porch and Lawn Furniture





We're selling lots of this class of goods right now and really there is no reason why we should not. It's right in season and we are showing the best assortment of this line ever brought to Duluth. Every good article in porch and lawn furniture can be found here. Variety of styles and prices to suit every taste and purse. The famous "Old Hickory" line is handled by us exclusively. You can not imagine anything more appropriate or more effective in porch furniture than this rustic furniture.

Lawn settees in a great variety, porch swings that will please every one. In fact, we are satisfied that our assortment and values are unequaled by any other store in this city.

KEEP THIS IN MIND!

Our business policy is to give every patron of our store the best service possible, and our energies are ever working toward improvement and betterment of that service—wherever we see an opportunity for better service we are glad to give you the benefit of it. Our constant aim is toward better service, better goods, better values, making this store always THE SAFEST PLACE TO TRADE.

Refrigerator Season Is at Hand

And no store was ever better prepared to take care of your wants in that line than Bayha's. No larger or better assortment has ever come to this city and we say without hesitation that we are showing this season the biggest and best line of refrigerators in this city. When it comes to prices on these goods, we can say we allow no one to undersell us in anything. Quality in this line, as in other goods we handle, is the strong feature. Take the Bohn Syphon system line for instance, they're all porcelain lined this year, (not common white enamel), and will not turn yellow or crack and chip off.

Other lines and other styles in a great variety enables us to suit every desire.

WANTS HER LETTER PUBLISHED

For Benefit of Women who Suffer from Female Ills

Minneapolis, Minn.—"I was a great sufferer from female troubles which caused a weakness and broken down condition of the system. I read so much of what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had done for other suffering women I felt sure it would help me, and I must say it did help me wonderfully. My pains all left me, I grew stronger, and within three months I was a perfectly well woman.

"I want this letter made public to show the benefit women may derive from Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. JOHN G. MOLDAN, 2115 Second St., North, Minneapolis, Minn.

Women who suffer from those distressing ills peculiar to their sex should not lose sight of these facts or doubt the ability of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to restore their health.

If you want special advice write to Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. She will treat your letter as strictly confidential. For 20 years she has been helping sick women in this way, free of charge. Don't hesitate—write at once.

POWER SERVED WITH NOTICE

Douglas, Ariz., May 31.—The wild chase of Deputy Sheriff Frank Clark of this city in pursuit of W. J. Power, president of the Carman Consolidated Mining company, upon whom he wished to serve a complaint, ended in a victory for the deputy sheriff. Power overtaken at Cochise. Both pursuer and pursued were in powerful automobiles, both were resourceful and both evidently determined to win.

When Power learned that J. P. Casey, whom he had been trying to oust from the presidency of the Carman company, had, through his attorney, Joseph E. Morrison secured some kind of a service on him from Tombstone, the president of the Carman company is said to have thrown dignity to the winds and "hiked for the east" with the high speed lever down. It is said Power believed that a warrant for his arrest had been sworn out.

By having served notice on Power at Cochise, Casey and the others, known as the minority stockholders, will secure an auditing of the books and an investigation into the alleged overissuance of some 187,000 shares of stock.

According to Attorney Morrison, the charges of crookedness against Power will be placed before the territorial grand jury, and it is just barely possible that some other officials of the company may have to answer charges in the district court before the Carman affair is settled. Just where the stockholders get off in the meanwhile is a matter of conjecture.

MAY THE HEAVIEST MONTH IN IRON AND STEEL THUS FAR IN '09

New York, May 31.—Great vitality was exhibited in all branches of the iron and steel industry last week. The volume of business placed in May has been not only the heaviest of any months this year, but in some branches has eclipsed all previous records. The most notable activity has been in wire products, contracts for which have aggregated 370,000 tons, a record never before equalled. Last week contracts booked by the American Steel Wire company have averaged 10,000 tons per day.

Additional heavy contracts have been placed for office buildings, stores, manufacturing plants and bridges calling for an aggregate of 40,000 tons of fabricated steel, bringing the May orders booked to 225,000 tons—the heaviest month this year, and only equalled ones in the history of the industry. The principal new contracts just placed include 4,000 tons for the Boston & Albany main elevator, 3,000 tons for the Seaboard Air line, 4,000 tons for the Pennsylvania Tunnel & Terminal company, and 6,000 for the Puget Sound Realty company, Denver, Colo.

Ambrose Stanmard was the lowest bidder for the sub-structure of the postoffice at the Pennsylvania station, New York city, 9,000 tons of steel will be required.

Rail contracts placed in the week have aggregated more than 100,000 tons, including 40,000 tons for the Gould line; 26,000 tons for the Santa Fe and 10,000 for the Chicago & Northwestern, 15,000 tons for the Lake Shore and 10,000 tons for the William Kenifeck company.

The Harriman lines are inquiring for 75,000 and the same interests are represented to have placed orders for 1,500 cars with the Pullman company. The Chespeake & Ohio has ordered 1,000 additional cars.

Heavy orders for plates and shapes have been placed East and West.

Contracts for 50,000 tons basic iron were placed last week in the Eastern Pennsylvania territory making the total for May 140,000 tons. Including gray and malleable foundry the total pig iron contracts have been 300,000 tons in the territory east of the Alleghany mountains. Prices for basic have advanced 50 cents per ton.

SOME OF THE ODD THINGS HAPPENING

TRIAL MARRIAGE SUCCEEDS; COUPLE WED FOR LIFE.

Orange, N. J., May 31.—With what they called a "ten-year trial marriage," Mr. and Mrs. William Muir Glover are satisfied with each other and were remarried today at their home, 115 Second street, South Orange. The first ceremony was solemnized May 30, 1899.

According to the agreement signed by the principals then, either was allowed to quit at the end of ten years. The trial has proved satisfactory. One hundred invitations were issued for the second marriage.

HEARS HIS OWN FUNERAL SERMON THEN DIES.

Gas City, Ind., May 31.—Elias B. Burns, who, knowing death was near, called his preacher and his friends to his bedside three weeks ago and heard his funeral sermon, died yesterday.

His body was buried today without further services, as he requested. He was 88 years old.

HEAVY TOLL OF TORNADO

Five Are Killed at Langdon and Three at Ypsilanti.

Grand Forks, N. D., May 31.—(Special to The Herald.)—Two death-dealing tornadoes visited North Dakota Saturday afternoon, killing eight and injuring more than two score others. Besides fatalities, the property loss will total well into the hundreds of thousands of dollars. The first of the tornadoes struck Ypsilanti and Jamestown, in Stutsman county, while the second struck Langdon. At Ypsilanti three were killed, while at Langdon five met death and others were so seriously injured that there is grave question as to their recovery.

The dead are:

MRS. J. B. BOYD, aged 40 years, Langdon, N. D.

MRS. F. W. BLAKELY, aged 45 years, Langdon, N. D.

MRS. GEORGE GRAVES, aged 36 years, Ypsilanti, N. D.

The seriously injured are: Mrs. John Sheehan, internal injuries; little hope for recovery; Mrs. J. Lee, Langdon, N. D., leg broken in three places; Mrs. —— Burke, both legs broken; Master Diamond, collar bone and one leg broken; Dorothy Dickson, legs fractured; W. N. Gordon, bruised and cut by flying glass; Miss Mary Boyd, leg broken.

Storm Strikes Langdon.

The Langdon tornado was the most destructive. It was just two minutes to 6 o'clock when the huge black clouds bore down upon the city from the southeast. Coming with a swiftness that was apalling, the storm bore down upon the people so suddenly that they were unable to seek places of safety. The dead, as shown by the lists, are women and children, who were caught at home before they were able to get out. Their homes were demolished by the force of the tornado, many of the finest residences of the city of Langdon going down before the elements.

The Langdon tornado struck the town at the railroad yards. Two elevators, those of the Amenia Elevator company and of the National Elevator company, were the first to go, both of them being razed to the ground. The Great Northern water tank went next, while six boxcars on the track were blown from their moorings.

The storm then reached the residence portion of the city where the homes of many of the most prominent citizens were demolished. It was in this section of the city that the casualties occurred. The homes destroyed and their value follow:

Mike Sullivan, $6,600; William Bolton, $2,000; J. B. Boyd, $2,500; W. B. Gordon, $1,000; F. W. Blakeley, $1,000; Mrs. B. Woolner, $1,500; George M. Price, $1,500; J. H. Harlan, $2,500; John Sheehan, $3,500; J. H. Bain, $3,500.

Fifteen other residences were more or less wrecked by the force of the elements, while forty to fifty barns are a complete wreck. The Baptist church was moved from its foundation, and into the middle of the street, while the Methodist church, a frame edifice, was destroyed.

The rescuing parties that went to work at the abatement of the storm made the most gruesome discoveries. A heavy rain helped the men in their work, and pitiful indeed were the sights that met their eyes when they came upon the bruised, bleeding and in some cases lifeless bodies of their wives and children.

Mrs. J. B. Boyd's body was found just a few feet away from the place where their home had stood. She had been struck on the head by a timber, her face being mashed almost beyond recognition. The child of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Bain had been hurled through the air a distance of 200 feet, while other members of the family took a similar flight. Mrs. Bain was badly injured.

Mrs. F. W. Blakely was picked out of the debris of her home, dying four hours later. Miss Donalda Sheehan, aged 6 years, lived till Sunday afternoon, at 2 o'clock, when death claimed her.

Joseph Powers, who was 12 years of age, was about 500 feet from the direct path of the storm, but was struck by a flying timber, nearly half of his head being carried away by the force of the blow.

The total property loss will be about $150,000.

In the tornado at Ypsilanti and Jamestown, in Stutsman county, the deaths of the three at Ypsilanti were most tragic. The mother and her two children were at home, Mr. Graves being in a nearby field plowing.

The residence was struck by the storm and rent to pieces, Mrs. Graves being struck by a flying timber, death taking place within a short time. Bertha Graves, aged 4 years, was blown into the James river, where she was drowned. Florence Graves, 2 years of age, was killed in the debris of the home.

Mr. Graves was a witness of the entire horrible tragedy, but was unable to give us loved ones any assistance.

At Jamestown the terrific wind wrecked a portion of the Northern Pacific roundhouse and the storehouse, entailing a loss of about $20,000. The buildings at the Stutsman County Fair association grounds were destroyed, the loss being in the neighborhood of $10,000. At the state asylum for the insane, $1,000 damage was done. Several small residences in the city were also destroyed.

Heavy storms are also reported from several other sections of the state. At Lakota, Saturday evening, lightning struck the Episcopal church and the A. J. Hutchins home, but no one was injured. The Robertson Lumber company's sheds were completely demolished.

At Fargo a veritable cloudburst fell between 5 and 6 o'clock. The heavy rain was such that the sewers were entirely inadequate, and the result was that many of the downtown basements were flooded.

At Walpeton the buildings of the fair association were razed to the ground.

Telephonic and telegraphic communication is badly disrupted in all directions, this fact making it almost impossible to secure definite information as to the exact extent of the storm in other sections of the state. It is feared that there may have been still further casualties and that these will be shown by the later reports.

MURDERER GIVEN TWENTY-ONE YEARS.

Fargo, N. D., May 31.—Edward Simpson was convicted here of the murder of William Clark. Both were negroes. Simpson was sentenced to 21 years at hard labor. Simpson had been released from jail, but a few hours when he went into Clark's restaurant. The men quarreled. Simpson went to a pawn shop and got a revolver and came back to Clark's place and shot his victim five times.

GOOD ROADS ABOUT NEW YORK FOR AUTOMOBILE TOURING

The Hotel St. Regis a Perfect Home for Automobilists Visiting New York City.

There are 70,000 automobiles registered at the state capitol at Albany, with more than two-thirds of this number in New York city and vicinity, proving that the roads about the metropolis are perfectly suited to the enjoyment of this king of sports. Where can be found better roads than those of Long Island? Or more attractive scenery than the Hudson river valley, the Delaware Water Gap, the Berkshires, the Adirondacks, or the White Mountains? All of these are readily reached by automobile from New York city in short and delightful trips over perfect roads. The visiting automobilist, who comes to New York to enjoy these delightful daily excursions, can do no better than make his headquarters at the St. Regis, at Fifth avenue and Fifty-fifth street, a hotel that has won for itself the reputation of America's finest, a reputation richly deserved in every respect. It is the highest class in every feature, with a restaurant equal to the very best in Europe. Its restaurant charges are the same as other first-class hotels, and rooms may be had as low as $3 and $4 a day for a large, handsomely furnished singe bedroom; the same with private bath for $5 a day (or $6 for two people); or $12 a day and up for an elegant suite consisting of parlor, bedroom and private bath.

Fanatical Pride of Country Is Not It, Says Pastor.

The True Patriot Stands First of All for Humanity.

Said Rev. George R. Gebauer, at the First Unitarian church yesterday: "Patriotism, noble and indispensible as it is, is after all not the highest expression of love."

"No matter how much we love our country, and we can never love it enough, we must not forget that 'before man made us citizens, great Nature made us men.' True patriotism is a 'manly' thing; it is more than merely a somewhat widened egoism, as Herbert Spencer would tell us. In the soul of a true man it is the special love he has for his country, but a love which is in harmonious subordination to a wider human love. The love of America must not make us forgetful of our just obligations to the world. Too many there are who think they honor their country by despising other lands. The youth of our land is apt to speak with contempt of other nations, and to daub with a derisive nickname the natives of other lands dwelling among us. Many a citizen believes himself a true patriot when he strikes his breast and says, 'I thank Thee, God, that I am not one of those miserable foreigners.'

"And wherever such unjust and fanatical love of country exists, there, too is found that morbid sensitiveness to any criticism from without. There is dominant the queer notion that the mere letter of the Constitution gives to every man free freedom and happiness, and that in a land where majority rules, there must needs be justice. Few men are ready and eager to hear the truth, if this truth reflects upon our institutions, worse still, if no flattering comparisons are drawn with conditions in other lands. Of course, we may not be worse in this morbid sensitiveness than other nations, but if we be as enlightened as we claim, then we should have an enlightened patriotism which welcomes all well meaning criticism. Let the Star Spangled Banner wave over men and women free from national conceit, men and women brave enough to see the evil existing in our midst, brave enough, too, to see the good in other lands. Let us hold our flag not in contempt or defiance of others, but in the thought that we are marching together with other nations toward the goal of a higher culture and civilization. Not for antagonism, but helpfulness stand the symbol of the nation. It serves best the nation when it most helps the onward march of humanity.

"Well," remarked President Andrews of Brown university, some years ago, "We err if we expect to attain this end of true patriotism to any helpful extent by Fourth of July oratory, or by purchase and raising of flags, according to the pleasant fashion now in vogue. Indeed, while I heartily commend this custom, notwithstanding I fear that there is some danger, lest to many the United States flag shall become a fetish. As the mere wearing of the cross and the crown cannot constitute one a Christian, simply to fly the national emblem over our school rooms will never by itself make us staunch devotees of the nation's weal. Not the Stars and Stripes, but what the Stars and Stripes stand for—liberty, union, law, power for good among nations—these are the legitimate spurs of our enthusiasm as citizens.

"The true patriot, then, is the man who will work and labor that his country will stand foremost among nations in everything that is of help to humanity. He will open his eyes wide to the good of all nations, and try to emulate the good he sees. He will be ready to learn from others."

INDOLENCE HIS THEME

Not Richness But Idleness to Be Censured, Says Pastor.

"The Indolent Man" was the subject of the evening sermon by the Rev. M. S. Rice at the First Methodist church.

"Indolence is alike blameable and contemptible," said Mr. Rice, "in the professional loafer and lounger and in the idle man who lives on money which has come to him through no effort of his own. The man who does not have to work is to be more pitied than envied."

The great accomplishments achieved by men, who were urged to effort by poverty, were spoken of and the fault to be found, said Mr. Rice was not with the rich, but with their indolence.

McEWEN OUT OF IT.

Will Not Be Candidate for Office of State Secretary.

W. E. McEwen, state labor commissioner of St. Paul, formerly of Duluth, will not be a candidate for re-election to the office of secretary of the state federation of labor at the annual meeting on June 14 at Red Wing, Minn.

Although he would have no opposition to the office, Mr. McEwen has refused to consider re-election on the grounds that he should not remain an officer of organized labor and act in the capacity of state labor commissioner.

Mr. McEwen has been secretary of the state federation for fifteen years.

ANNUAL REUNION.

The third annual reunion of the Maccabees of Minnesota in St. Paul began today and will be continued tomorrow.

Duluth is represented by delegations from each of the three tents in the city—Duluth, No. 1; West Duluth, No. 2, and New Duluth, No. 3. Besides the delegates a number of other Maccabees from the local orders are in attendance.

In St. Paul preparations have been made to entertain a great number of visitors. The Duluth coterie reached St. Paul this morning in a special car.

A feature of the reunion will be a contest between the degree teams of Duluth, No. 1, and Modin tent, No. 20, of St. Paul, the two largest in the state.

TESTING GRAVEL PIT.

Canadian Northern Official Looks Over Proposition Near Ranier.

Ranier, Minn., May 31.—(Special to The Herald.)—Supt. M. A. Murphy of the Canadian Northern railway was here Friday testing the prospects of a 40-acre gravel find, which is located upon the George Greek homestead. Mr. Murphy stated that it is the best find of gravel he had ever seen. An effort to secure the land is now under consideration. The depth of gravel ranges from ten feet to twenty-two feet over the entire acreage, and is unquestionably the best pit in the Northwest. A steam shovel and crew of 100 men will be placed at work in the near future to open up this valuable find.

SECRET ORDERS MEET.

Fargo, N. D., May 31.—(Special to The Herald.)—There are Masons of high degree from many sections of North Dakota here this week in attendance at the spring reunion of the Scottish Rite, which began here this morning. There is a class of from twenty-five to thirty.

The Knights of Columbus had a stated session yesterday, at which large delegations from many sections of the state were present. Many candidates were initiated.

CHICAGOANS IN FARGO.

Fargo, N. D., May 31.—(Special to The Herald.)—A large delegation of members of the Fargo Commercial club left this afternoon for Winnipeg Junction to meet the special train bearing the Chicago Association of Commerce. A band was taken along and on arrival here the Chicagoans will be given an auto ride, followed by a club reception and banquet.

A number of interesting speakers are down for responses to toasts. The Chicago party will remain in the city twelve hours, leaving at 4 tomorrow for a trip across the state, which includes stops at several of the most important towns.

WOODSMAN'S SKULL FRACTURED BY TRAIN.

Menominee, Mich., May 31.—(Special to The Herald.)—Joseph Janowski, a Polish woodsman, was struck and perhaps fatally injured by a passenger train in the Bird & Wells company's lumber yards at Wausankee. He sustained a fractured skull and terrible bruises and is hovering between life and death in the Menominee river hospital.

INDIAN CAUGHT ROBBING.

Menominee, Mich., May 31.—(Special to The Herald.)—Less than a week out of states prison, Joseph Cota, a Menominee Indian, was caught in the act of robbing the Exchange hotel office early today. Cota had secured $7 and was on his way to the cash register, containing $117 when captured. He entered through a rear window and the sound of breaking glass, aroused the proprietor sleeping overhead. The burglar made no resistance.

GAME WARDEN ATTACKS OLD MARQUETTE MAN.

Negaunee, Mich., May 31.—(Special to The Herald.)—Deputy aGme Warden Harrington, widely known throughout Northern Michigan and Wisconsin, brutally attacked John McLean, an old and broken-down fishermen, in Marquette Friday. Harrington accused the old man of not having a license. The fisherman told him that because of his broken-down health he was unable to get the money to procure one with at once, but that within a week or ten days he would get one.

People who witnessed the assault were very indignant and it may go hard with the game warden.

WHITE SOX TAKE TWO

Duluth Fans Are Pleased With the Reorganized Team.

And they met again in Superior.

More than 2,500 people saw the game and Duluth won, 10 to 8.

The grounds were in bad shape, at times it rained, and the day was too cold for fast ball.

According to all accounts, Superior should have had the game. After allowing Duluth to get a lead of five runs, the members of the Superior team began leaning on the ball so hard in their half of the seventh that Marion, the boy who had been performing from the embankment for the Duluth team, was glad to leave the box. Thorsen went in to relieve him, but before they could be stopped the Superior players had registered five runs.

Superior got a run in the next inning, giving them a lead of two, and some of the spectators who had got chilled clear through and could see no other ending of the game, went home.

In the first of the ninth Baertschi, the Superior pitcher, was unsteady. He allowed two bases on balls. These combined with costly errors and a hit by Marion and a two-bagger by McCrone, counted for five runs, winning the game.

Superior succeeded in getting a run in its ninth. They made a great effort to pull victory out of defeat, but the lead of the Zenith City team was too great to be overcome.

The two teams will meet again this afternoon at Athletic park.

Saturday's Game.

Before one of the largest crowds that ever assembled at Athletic park, Al Kaufman's white-stockinged ball tossers Saturday snatched the opening game of the season from Manager Duff's Superior aggregation. The score was 4 to 3.

It was a little chilly from the spectators' standpoint, and the chilliness of the crowd got into the players at times and of course this called for errors. For the most part, however, the soxlets played mid-season ball, and those who saw the game came away from the park loud in their praise of the aggregation that represents Duluth in the Wisconsin-Minnesota league.

There was a parade before the game, and a band let out soothing airs up until the seventh inning, when the Duluth team came to bat and got four hits, which counted for two runs, making the score 3 to 2 in Duluth's favor. This brought the crowd to its feet, and it took up the sound of "Cheer, Cheer, the Gang's All Here," which floated in no gentle manner from the center of the stand, where the band was assembled.

Mayor Haven asked to be excused from throwing the first ball on account of the death of Chief Black of the fire department. The score:

Cubs Drop Two.

Chicago, May 31.—Pittsburg took both games from Chicago yesterday. Overall struck out ten men in the first, but issued nine passes and made a wild pitch, three of the battery errors helping the visitors to three of their five runs. Willis pitched perfect in the second contest, doing much better head work in pinches. One of the largest crowds ever drawn to the West side park witnessed the contests, ground rules accounting for the numerous two-baggers. Score:

DAMPER ON HOLIDAY SPORT

Weather Man Interferes With the Program in Duluth.

The weather man has put a damper on Memorial day sports in Duluth.

The Duluth and Superior teams are scheduled to play a game this afternoon at Athletic park, and it will be pulled off unless the rain interferes. The Sox have taken two straight games on the home grounds, and are coming up in the league race with a rush. Another victory today will place them within sight of the coveted .500 mark.

The boat club will hold an informal program this afternoon and this evening at the clubhouse on Park Point. The two branch houses are not yet open for the season. There will be some informal sailing races and the junior and senior eights will be out on the water.

SPORTING FORECAST

Spring Regatta on Harlem River—Another Marathon Race.

Many and varied contests in all classes of outdoor games will be held on Memorial day in practically every city throughout the United States. There will be baseball morning and afternoon, horse racing, rowing and track events of every description. Memorial day events in New York city include the spring regatta on Harlem river, in which rowing clubs from Philadelphia, Baltimore and other cities will contend; a Marathon at Brighton Beach and the spring games of the Irish-Amerfcan Athletic club at Celtic park. The appearance of Gus Render, California runner, in the Brighton Beach Marathon is awaited with interest, as the Westerner has been hailed as a second St. Yves. He is credited with having gone the Marathon distance in the West over a hilly road in 2:42:20. Red Hawk, an Indian, another newcomer in the metropolitan section, will also compete, while Dorando, Longboat and Fred Simpson will represent the old guard.

An event of interest in the college world will be the rowing race between Harvard and Cornell eights on Cayuga lake, at Ithaca, on Monday.

Horse racing in the East, which is attracting increased attention as the season advances, will shift from Belmont park this week to the old and popular course of the Brooklyn Jockey club at Gravesend. Thursday will be the opening day, and one of the classics of the turf, the Brooklyn handicap, will be decided on that day. The stake, though sadly reduced so far as money value is concerned, having been cut from $20,000 to $5,000, will still attract a fine field of thoroughbreds. James R. Keene's Celt, last year's winner of the stake, has been given top weight of 127 pounds and is considered a sure starter. He made his initial appearance for the year last week and won galloping, so that he will probably be the favorite. Other high-class performers who will probably start are King James, Jack Atkin, Fitsherbert, Joe Madden, High Private and Wise Mason.

On Saturday the yachting world will turn its attention to motor boats and sailing yachts with the start of the New York-to-Bermuda ocean contest. A cup for the winner of the motor boat race has been donated by James Gordon Bennett, and five motor boats have entered for the 650-mile race. Eight sailing yachts will contest for the cup for sailing craft.

Ten automobiles are expected to start Tuesday on their transcontinental run from New York to Seattle for the prize offered by Robert Guggenheim.

There will be bowling all this week on the alleys in Madison Square Garden for the championship in the annual Bowling association.

SVANBERG WINS BIG MARATHON

Swedish Runner Lopes Home Three Laps Ahead of Hayes.

Chicago, May 31.—John Svanberg, Swedish champion, won the international Marathon derby Saturday against a field of eight of the best long distance runners of the world. The champion's time was 2 hours 48 minutes and 11 1-5 seconds. This was more than eight minutes slower than Henri St. Yves' time in the Marathon derby at New York. St. Yves led the race until the fifteenth mile was passed, when he was forced to drop out, owing to a blistered foot. St. Yves was fifty seconds ahead of Svanberg. The Swede passed him in a sprint as St. Yves fell. It looked as though Svanberg had tripped the Frenchman, but St. Yves explained that he had limped off the track—that he could not have run any farther anyway.

Johnny Hayes finished second, in 2:52:57 2-5. Fred Appleby, an Englishman, finished third in 3:01:7 2-5. After the accident to St. Yves, Svanberg kept the lead until the end. Tom Longboat, the Ojibway Indian, dropped out after the fourteenth mile. He explained that he felt the effects of an old sunstroke and did not dare run any more. The others who finished in order were: Matt Maloney, fourth; Simpson, Canadian Indian, fifth, and Alex Thibeau, Chicago amateur who turned professional for this race. The crowd poured into the track and carried the winners away on their shoulders.

The day was perfect for an outdoor race. The sun shone brightly and the air was soft, with a mild breeze. There was a big crowd in the grandstand and bleachers. Many carried flags of the various countries which had been represented in the race. The race started at 3:09 o'clock, when James J. Jeffries fired the pistol. The track was eight laps to the mile, marked out around the diamond by flags. A band played in the center of the green. Appleby took the lead at the start, but St. Yves passed him after the first lap. His time for the first mile was 5:04 3-5. Longboat kept second place until the eighth mile. At the fifth mile St. Yves led Svanberg by two laps, with Appleby third. In the sixth mile St. Yves' time was 33:42 4-5, eight seconds faster than his New York record. He increased this lead until he was three laps ahead of the Swede. Longboat sprinted after the eighth mile, passing St. Yves and Svanberg. Hayes forced up to third place. There was little change until the fourteenth mile was passed.

Svanberg was fifty seconds behind. The crowd went wild with excitement when St. Yves dropped out, cheering him as he held a big cloth to his foot and limped away. After this there was little change in the position of the runners. At the nineteenth mile Hayes sprinted on the soft ground and gained a lap.

His admirers urged him on, but he could not keep up the pace. Svanberg had no doubt of winning after the twenty-second mile, judging from his cheerful way, and waved to his friends. At the twenty-fifth mile Hayes was three laps behind and the finish was seen by all. The runners all ran the distance, 26 miles and 385 yards, and each will get a share of the $10,000 prize money.

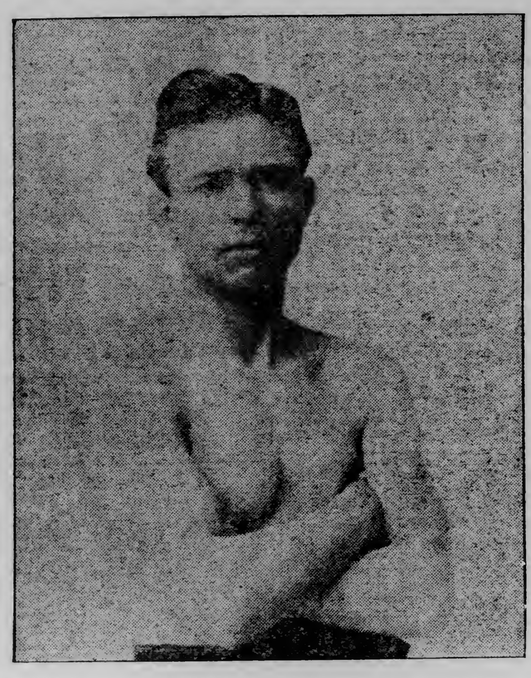
NELSON PUTS HYLAND OUT IN TWENTY-THIRD ROUND



"BATTLING" NELSON.

San Francisco, Cal., May 31.—Battling Nelson of Illinois knocked out Dick Hyland of California Saturday afternoon in the twenty-third round of a scheduled 45-round bout. The contest was one of the most vicious ever seen in a local ring. The fight was fairly even up to the thirteenth round, after which Nelson took the lead. Hyland was knocked out by a left hook to the stomach, after he had been floored several times in the two preceding rounds.

Throughout a dozen rounds Hyland and the champion hammered each other with vicious swings and upper cuts that cut short all promise of a 45-round contest. In the early stages, Hyland was the master, although it could not be said that Nelson was extending himself. In the last three rounds, however, the Dane went after his opponent without an instant's rest, knocking him down time after time, and staggering the game Californian with blinding volleys of right and left swings, to be varied by an occasional straight left to the stomach. In the final round Hyland was almost at the champion's mercy.

Nelson frequently offered his face as a target, while he tried for body blows, but only after the fight was half over, until the climax, the Grass Valley fighter had confidence in himself, meeting rush with rush, and generally carrying the fight to his opponent's territory.

Nelson was hissed continuously for his attempts to rough it, and throughout the fight the men exchanged unfriendly comments.

The receipts were $18,000, of which Nelson receives $6,500 and Hyland $1,500.

The scales barely vibrated as Nelson stepped on them. Referee Ed Smith thereupon declared both men were within the agreed limit—133 pounds.

Both men stated that they had eaten two full meals since arising in the morning and there was nothing to choose between their declaration of absolute confidence. Nelson entered the ring at 2:55. He was preceded by Willis Britt, who acted as director general in the Battler's corner. Hyland entered the ring one minute later. The betting remained stationary at 10 to 4 when the fight was about to begin. Even money was offered that Hyland would be fighting at the end of twenty-five rounds.

The time was called at 3:11 p. m.

CASS LAKE EVENS UP WITH THE BEMIDJI CLUB.

Cass Lake, Minn., May 31.—(Special to The Herald.)—The baseball game yesterday afternoon between Bemidji and Cass Lake was one of the most exciting and closest ever played on the local diamond. The Cass Lake team won by the score of 9 to 8. Grady was on the slab for Cass Lake and did excellent work. His support was generally very good, although several errors were netted up against the different players. Baumgartner for Bemidji also pitched a good game. Although the local players found little trouble in hitting him, hits were well scattered.

This game evens things up as far as Bemidji and Cass Lake are concerned, since the Bemidjites defeated Cass Lake a week ago by the score of 4 to 2 on the Bemidji grounds.

Chicago to Have Racing.

Chicago, May 31.—The revival of the racing game in this city before the end of the coming summer is the prediction of John Condon, the blind turfman, who owns the Harlem track near this city. Condon yesterday said that Myron H. Tichenor, a prominent local horseman, has promised him enough financial backing to permit racing. The betting now in use in the East probably will be used.

Tom Carey, who recently purchased the Hawthorne track from Ed Corrigan, is said to be one of the main backers of the plan.

There has been no racing around Chicago since betting was stopped in 1904.

Abbott Reinstated.

Milwaukee, Wis., May 31.—Manager Abbott of the Toledo baseball club who was suspended for indulging in an argument on the field with Umpire Hayes on Saturday, has been reinstated and will be allowed to play today. Upon investigation of the case President O'Brien of the American association found that the umpire was in the wrong and that Abbott as manager of the Toledo club, had a right to protest.

The Picketts Win.

Grand Forks, N. D., May 31.—(Special to The Herald.)—The game between Arvilla and the Grand Forks Picketts Sunday afternoon resulted in another victory for the Picketts. The final score was 12 to 9, the soggy condition of the field being responsible for the large number of scores. Another game is being played this afternoon. Score:

	R.	H.	E.
Grand Forks	12	7	7
Arvilla	9	9	5

Batteries—Alrick and McIlraith; Fox and Martin.

College Baseball.

Grand Forks, N. D., May 31.—(Special to The Herald.)—The University of North Dakota baseball aggregation was defeated by the Hamline university Saturday afternoon. The game was played on a wet field. The final score was 7 to 5. Hamline landed on Wenzel's delivery almost at will. Score:

Hamline	7	11	4
North Dakota	5	9	1

Batteries—Hambleton, Peterson and Meachem; Wenzel and Kyllo.

ILLINOIS SOLON IN FIST FIGHT

Blood Streams Down Face After Early Morning Encounter.

Springfield, Ill., May 31.—After a session lasting until almost 7 o'clock yesterday morning, the house and senate were unable to complete their work and adjourned sine die. The legislators will not return to work until Thursday. A fight in the senate chamber, from which Senator James A. Henson of Decatur, emerged with blood running down his face, marked the closing hours of the senate session early in the morning. Thomas Sherman of Lincoln, an assistant sergeant-at-arm, was the other combatant. He was exonerated by Lieutenant Governor Oglesby after Senator Henson's apology was accepted by the senate. The trouble began with the almost unprecedented procedure of locking the doors. Senator Henson tried to leave, but was restrained by Sherman and the fight followed.

SOO LINE LEAGUE.

A New Northern Wisconsin League Has Been Organized.

Bruce, Wis., May 31.—(Special to The Herald.)—A meeting of baseball men was held at this place Friday and a new baseball league was organized. The name adopted was the Soo Line League, and officers and board of directors were elected for the season. A schedule will be drawn up at once and a pennant will be provided for. The league comprises the teams at Bruce, Ladysmith, Glen Flora, Ingram, Hawkins and Kennan, and the business men at all these places are giving the new project a hearty support.

Northome Beats Kelliher.

Northome, Minn., May 31.—(Special to The Herald.)—The local ball team defeated the Kelliher club in a very ragged game on the local diamond Saturday afternoon. After the second inning a drizzling rain set in, which continued throughout the remainder of the game, and good playing was impossible. As a result of this, numerous errors were made on both sides, and when the game finally ended the score stood 15 to 12 in favor of Northome.

The new grandstand just erected was used for the first time in Friday's game, and a large crowd of spectators turned out to the game in spite of the unfavorable weather.

Clippers Defeated.

Cloquet, Minn., May 31.—Cloquet took a hard fought game from the Clippers of Superior Sunday by a score of 4 to 3. Superior was in the lead until the eighth inning when Cloquet tied the score. In the ninth Loisel hit for three bases and Roy singled, bringing in the winning score. Disregarding a few costly errors, the game was well played, giving local fans their first chance this season of witnessing a close game. Carlson, who pitched for Cloquet, struck out fourteen men and allowed but three hits, while Conley struck out seven and allowed seven hits. Both pitchers were very effective. The features of the game were three base hits by Gaskill and Loisel of Cloquet. Score:

	R.	H.	E.
Cloquet	4	7	5
Clippers	3	3	5

Batteries—Carlson and Loisel; Conley and Conley.

VIRGINIA VOTES TUESDAY.

Question of Adopting New Charter Is to Be Decided Then.

Virginia, Minn., May 31.—(Special to The Herald.)—Tomorrow the voters of Virginia will decide whether to accept or reject the new charter prepared by the charter commission. One of the important features of the new charter is provision for a police and fire board or commission, similar to that of St. Paul, which will divorce both departments from the politics, the commissioners being responsible for the enforcement of laws and ordinances, the same as any other city officer.

The city charter provides that at city elections a ballot shall be prepared which shall contain the name of no political party, so the city will be governed by local issues and not by national or state issues.

The proposed charter provides that abutting property may be assessed for 40 per cent of the cost of the most important local improvements and for the entire cost of some others.

MINISTER'S TRIBUTE.

Rev. R. C. Johnson of Eveleth Lauds Valor of Veterans.

Eveleth, Minn., May 31.—(Special to The Herald.)—Memorial services were conducted last night at the Methodist Episcopal church by Rev. R. C. Johnson. The church was crowded, and Company F of the local militia was present in uniform in a body. Civil war veterans as well as Spanish war veterans were also present. Martial and patriotic music was furnished during the services by a male quartet composed of H. W. Irwin, Fergus R. Ellsworth, Cass Jenkins and R. M. Dungan.

Rev. Mr. Johnson took as his subject "Our Nation's Fighting Men." He said that the best fighting men produced was the "cub" private in the rear rank. Everything else could be done away with and the world would move on, but the common soldier was essential. He spoke of the land and duty of the Republic, what it means, who compose it, and the respect that should be shown members of it.

SHENANGO BALL TEAM BEATS HARTLEY TEAM.

Chisholm, Minn., May 31.—(Special to The Herald.)—Several good ball players are being employed by the Shenango Furnace company at the Shenango mine and have organized a ball team to represent Shenango. They expect to play other mining teams from nearby towns. They played the first game of the season with the Hartley team, the latter being victorious by a score of 4 to 3.

HEAVY SLANDER FINE.

PLAYED IN RAIN.

Eveleth, Minn., May 31.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Eveleth Lyceum Stars and the Virginia Stars played a five-inning game yesterday afternoon at the ball park through a drizzling rain. The score at the end of the fifth inning when the game was called on account of rain, stood 6 to 6. Batteries for Eveleth, Richards and Shapiro; Virginia, Eddy, Johnson and Eddy.

CHISHOLM JUDGE AND VILLAGE ARE SUED.

Chisholm, Minn., May 31.—(Special to The Herald.)—Alleging that the village and Judge Freeman have failed to return the $200 cash bond he deposited for an alleged blindpigger last September, Louis Kellanj has sued Judge Freeman and the village for that sum. After being arrested, it is alleged the blindpigger pleaded guilty and was fined $75.

Before the fine was paid Mr. Kellanj is said to have asked Judge Freeman how much bail was necessary to appeal and he turned in the required amount, $200. An appeal has not been taken, however, and evidently will not be.

Hibbing School Picnic.

Hibbing, Minn., May 31.—(Special to The Herald.)—Despite the lowering skies and threatening weather, a large number of pupils of the Hibbing schools are enjoying a picnic today in the big Norway pine forest a few miles east of town.

There will be a regular meeting of the Commercial club tonight.

MANY LOGS BURNED.

Forest Fires Do Considerable Damage Near Ely Lake.

Eveleth, Minn., May 31.—(Special to The Herald.)—The fire department was called out about 3 o'clock yesterday morning to fight a forest fire near the pumping station at St. Mary's lake. About 75,000 feet of logs belonging to the Brooks-Scanlon Lumber Lumber company who are cutting near Ely lake, are reported burned.

The fire team returned after doing what it could to stop the spread of the fire. The heavy rain that fell all day yesterday did much to put out the fires that have been springing up in various places at some distance from the town.

Dean Buechler Preaches.

Grand Rapids, Minn., May 31.—(Special to The Herald.)—About fifty veterans of the Civil war and the Spanish-American war marched to St. Joseph's Catholic church yesterday in a procession led by Rev. Dean E. Buechler and forty altar boys, where special memorial services were held and the priest delivered a notable address, paying tribute to the valor of the soldiers of two wars.

STOCKING THE STREAMS.

W. D. Tomlin, secretary of the Duluth Fisheries' association, is busy getting promises of trout fry for Northern Minnesota streams.

Senator Clapp has just promised him 10,000 fry for Temperance river, and as soon as they arrive they will be planted under the personal supervision of Mr. Tomlin.

Temperance river is but a short distance from Grand Marais, Minn. It is fifty miles in length.

Log driving and mill dams have long kept these streams free of the speckled beauties, and now that the lumbering is about over an effort is being made to restock all the North shore streams.

POKES FUN AT NELSON

Says the Minnesotan Has Scuttled the Protective Citadel.

Washington, May 31.—Senator Rayner of Maryland today made a speech abounding with humorous references to many senators who have taken a prominent part in discussing the pending tariff bill.

"The other day," said Senator Rayner, "the senator from Rhode Island (Mr. Aldrich), when a great speech had been delivered attacking the rates of duty in the woolen and cotton schedules, remarked that to change those schedules would destroy the very citadel of protection. Never in my experience was a citadel in such a state of tumult and commotion."

The speaker declared that the other day, when Senator Bristow of Kansas was "hammering the lead schedule, it seemed to disturb the tranquility of the senior senator from Massachusetts. Whereupon senator Gallinger, 'the surgeon of the post,' always ready with his nostrums, administered a stimulant to the senator from Massachusetts."

According to Senator Rayner, the nerves of Senator Aldrich were badly distracted on another occasion, "when that sturdy old revolter from Minnesota (Mr. Nelson), who has admitted that the blood of Scandinavian pirates is in his veins, commenced to scuttle the citadel, if I may use that word in connection with a citadel, by driving with his sledge hammer blows large holes in the bottom of the structure. When the master called, however, and the vote was taken, the damage was repaired."

Senator Crawford of South Dakota, having been engaged in dismantling the citadel by toting away the iron girders, Mr. Rayner said, the Michigan senators assured Mr. Aldrich that they would guarantee enough iron from their state to underpin the structure for the next 6,000 years.

The speaker called Senator La Follette "as mild a mannered man as ever cut a throat or scuttled a ship," declaring that "he is underneath the structure all alone, plotting by day and dreaming by night how to undermine its foundations."

Referring to Senator Root, the senator from Maryland pronounced him "not within the citadel," but as having "a little citadel of his own." He said that Mr. Root "seems always figuring and writing," and that the same applied to Senator Beveridge, as to whom, he said, he could not tell "whether he were in the citadel trying to get out, or inside trying to get in." Senator Smoot he dubbed "The chaplain of the garrison." He added that Senator Aldrich, "in his moments of remorse and penitence for the work he is engaged in, is entitled to all the assuaging consolation that religion can afford him."

SUPERIOR NEWS

MEMORIAL DAY IS OBSERVED

Memorial day is being generally observed in Superior.

This morning at 9 o'clock the veterans, their escorts, other participants in the exercises and citizens in general, left the union depot on a special train for Greenwood cemetery.

At the cemetery an address was delivered by Rev. H. B. Bortell. The train returned at noon and a dinner was served at the G. A. R. post headquarters to the veterans.

Rev. H. W. Knowles will give an address at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon at the Sacred Heart auditoroum, open to the general public.

FLOATER FOUND.

Body of Unidentified Man Picked Up in the Slip.

Policeman Holm of the Superior force yesterday morning found the body of an unidentified man floating in Tower bay slip at the ferry landing. With assistance the body was pulled to shore.

The names of William Hanson, 29 West Second street, Duluth, and Larsky Bros. and Berlak & Johnson, Superior, were found on a card in the dead man's clothes.

The absence of marks of violence on his body leads the authorities to believe that the man must have come to his death by accidental drowning. The body was turned over to the coroner.

Charged With Arson.

Joseph Perrault, aged 39 years, was arrested yesterday morning by the Superior police, charged with having some connection with a fire in the apartments of James Griffith, 501 Tower avenue, early yesterday morning.

Until last Thursday Perrault was a roomer at Griffith's apartments. The damage of the fire is about $200. The man under arrest is a porter at the Twilight saloon on Tower avenue.

Clippers Are Losers.

The Clippers of Superior lost to the Cloquet baseball team Sunday afternoon by a score of 3 to 4. The Clippers had the Cloquet bunch bested up to the last half of the eighth inning when Cloquet brought in two scores turning the trick. The game was played in Cloquet.

Still Searching for Body.

Searching parties are still hunting for the body of Peter R. Rosar, who was drowned Saturday in Cass Lake. He was a Superior railroad man and a party of his local friends are searching today for his body. Mr. Rosar has a family residing at 1920 Banks avenue.

Bennett Woman Dies.

Mrs. Elvina B. Rockwell, a prominent resident of Bennett, died at noon yesterday at St. Mary's hospital, Superior. She was 56 years old and had a brother, two daughters and a son. She will be buried tomorrow morning at Hawthorne.

Spaldings vs. Treadwells.

The Treadwells of Superior and the Duluth Spaldings will get together this afternoon at the Superior league park for the first game of the season. A snappy game is looked for.

Almost Shut Out.

The fast Hayward team put the Superior Treadwells away Sunday afternoon, in a game replete with errors on the part of the Superiorites. The score was 17 to 1.

HILL IN QUICK TRIP TO SEATTLE

Seattle, Wash., May 31.—James J. Hill and a party of friends arrived last night from St. Paul on a special train of the Great Northern railroad, having made the journey in the remarkable time of the journey in the remarking.

With Mr. Hill were J. J. Carroll general counsel of the Burlington railroad; W. B. Deams, a director of the Great Northern road; E. C. Lewis, president of the Minnesota Trust company, and W. H. Dunwoody, president of the St. Anthony & Dakota Elevator company.

ALL MARKETS ARE CLOSED

Builders are hurrying the work on that section of the new building at the corner of Fourth avenue west and First street intended for the Duluth Mining Stock exchange.

The building is nearing completion, but the corner to be occupied by the exchange is receiving particular attention, as the exchange is supposed to begin operations there tomorrow.

If the room is not in readiness then, it will be within a very short time, and before the end of the week it is expected that trading will commence on the floor.

There were no markets today. The Eastern exchanges were closed and there was nothing doing on the local curb. Most of the brokers closed their offices.

The different grain markets throughout the country were also closed.

The Bisbee Review says that native copper was struck in the Denn mine last Monday. It is thought the ore will run at least 10 per cent. The strike was made thirty-five feet from the No. 1 on the 1,250-foot level. General Manager M. B. Pattison, in speaking of the strike, said: "It is not desired that too much stress be placed on the find just now. It is the most favorable indication, and adds to our belief in developing a paying mine at this depth. So far the strike has been opened up six feet and the vein is increasing steadily. The find was made on the south drift."

Owing to the thorough drainage in the adjoining Calumet & Arizona properties, but little pumping is required in the Denn. At present the pumps are lifting only 325 gallons a minute compared with an average of 350 last month.

Walker's copper letter in Saturday's Boston Commercial said:

"Copper continues very strong. Lake is 13¾@13½c and electrolytic is 13¾c per pound. The market has been quite active, with a fairly good volume of sales. Deliveries this month are believed to have considerably exceeded production. Producing interests are very confident in the bullish position, and are no longer displaying any eagerness to sell copper. A number of them are sold out completely up to July 1. Considerable copper has been sold for July delivery; but so far as can be learned, producers are not accepting contracts for August account. Except for the fact that ther is a large speculative interest in copper, the market position presents a very pleasing aspect. Production is exceeding all previous records, but notwithstanding this, more than the entire current output is being sold, and this despite the fact that general business has not yet fully recovered from the panic of 1907. It must be realized, therefore, that when business gets back to normal volume, nothing but a further considerable increase in production can keep the price of copper down to its present low level.

"The history of the copper market is a story of fear, despondency and forebodings in the trade whenever the price is low, and wild enthusiasm after it has advanced. Metal prices fluctuate with general business conditions. Whenever there is a slight accumulation of the metal, the belief is generally expressed that production has been too rapid and that it must so continue. The world's output has doubled every ten or twelve years for the last half century. This rapid increase has astounded the statisticians, for the simple reason that none of them could see where the demand was coming from to take care of the steadily growing production. The world's mines are now putting out approximately 5,000,000 younds of copper daily, and apparently that amount is going into consumption. There is no good reason to doubt that the world's mines may be producing 10,000,000 pounds daily twelve or fifteen years hence. Even if they are, it may be taken for granted that in times of great business activity and expansion the demand for copper will exceed the output. Conditions may change at some time in the future, but when the change comes it is rather more likely to increase the demand for copper than to decrease it. I see nothing in the situation to cause apprehension, and there are very many things which give distinct basis for optimistic feeling."

Midway Horse Market.

Minnesota Transfer, St. Paul, Minn., May 31.—Barrett & Zimmerman report: Trade this week will undoubtedly begin to assume summer proportions. The demand for agricultural classes is light and the local retail trade less active than a week ago. The principal demand for horses for the next month will come from railroad contractors and Western lumbermen. Dealers are now busy filling an order of sixty head for shipment to California, and every horse must be a good one and weigh 1,600 or better. Good big mules continue in favor. Drivers and saddlers are less active.
